 261 Enumeration of social statistics for the year ending June 30, 1850, 1860, 1870 provide a statistical picture of the economic, educational, and social conditions of Delaware for this period.
 270 The census schedules of social statistics were compiled by assistant marshals of the federal government and submitted to the Secretary of the Interior. Each return includes the names of county, hundred, and town or city. For each area of enumeration, schedules provide information on the valuation of estates; annual taxes; colleges, academies, and schools; seasons and crops; libraries; newspapers and periodicals; churches; pauperism; crime; and wages. Entries concerning valuation of estates include valuation of real estate; personal property and total; method of valuation (e.g., county or city assessors' books); and true valuation of estate. Entries concerning annual taxes include type [e.g., county, school, road], amounts of annual taxes paid; and method of payment. Entries concerning colleges, academies and schools include types [e.g., public, high school] and numbers of schools; numbers of teachers employed and pupils enrolled in each type; and amounts of funds raised by taxation, realized from endowment, received from public funds, or received from other sources for each type of school. Entries concerning seasons and crops include types of crops that fell short of harvest expectations; percentage of shortage; and quantity of crops (e.g, bushels) normally yielded per acre. Entries concerning libraries include types (i.e., public, private, legal); numbers of each type of library; and number of volumes in each library. Entries concerning newspapers and periodicals include title circulation; type (e.g., local); and frequency of publication. Entries for churches include types of dominations and numbers of churches; number of persons each church can accommodate; and valuation of property for each denomination. Entries concerning pauperism include numbers of native-born and foreign paupers supported for full and half year and cost of support. Entries concerning crime include numbers of native and foreign criminals convicted within the year and in prison on June 1st. Entries concerning wages include average monthly wages paid to farmhands with board; average weekly wages paid to female domestics with board; and cost of board per week for laborers. Each return also includes name and certification of assistant marshal. Returns are included for New Castle, Kent and Sussex Counties.
