261 Original notes, sketches and drafts of essays donated by Weston H. Blake of the historic building survey project conducted in Delaware.
270 Includes written and typed drafts of essay, rough notes and sketches, lists of structures catalogued with state maps noting locations, informational bulletins issued from the Historic American Buildings Survey in Washington, DC, catalogue of completed records nationwide, photographers, field note books, photographs of sites, Weston Blake's travel log and notebook of structure's numbers, copy of 10/21/36 article by William P. Frank concerning the efforts of the project, and project manual for measuring and recording information.
"The Historic American Buildings Survey," Mr. Blake explains, "is an important step forward in the conservation of the state's national historic resources. The buildings being recorded have been selected for measuring and photographing in the approximate order of their historic and architectural importance. The record is made as a form of insurance against less of data through future destruction, and also as a contribution to the study of historic architecture." Abstract from William P. Frank News Journal article, October 21, 1936.
