261 Record of White Clay Creek (1815-1851) and Mill Creek (1832-1866) Hundreds Commissioners' meetings and accounts of taxes raised and funds spent on road and bridge maintenance and construction.
270 The minutes note the date and place of meeting, and may show the names of the supervisors for each of the five districts in the hundred, name of the road tax collector, total amount of tax assessment approved by the Levy Court, road tax rate, total amount projected to be collected, tax delinquencies, bills presented for payment, signatures of the committee who reviewed the Commissioners' records, locations of new roads, and if bonds were posted. Other business of note includes the review of the Newport-Gap Turnpike when it became a public road (1844), labor rates approved, and the time of the year when work was most needed.

The accounts section of the book notes the date, name of tax collector, amount collected, tax rate, amount remaining from previous year, and amount of the total. On the following page is the date of payment, name of person paid, amount paid, sometimes the reason for payment, amount of errors list, tax collector's commission, and balance in the hands of the collector. Minutes note road commissioners established by law passed on January 28, 1803, and amended January 24, 1804.
