261 Copies of grant applications and progress reports made to the U. S.
Center for Disease Control (CDC). The CDC funded a five year cooperative agreement between the Delaware Department of Education and Division of Health to reduce the incidence of chronic disease among school-age youth by promoting and implementing coordinated school health programs. These grants focused on the Youth Risk Behavior Survey (YRBS), infrastructure, asthma programs, food borne illness programs and HIV prevention.
270 Files include grant applications (2002, 2005, 2006) and reports (2004, 2005) detailing the accomplishments for the reporting period. Also included is "School Health Profiles, 2004, Characteristics of Health Programs among Secondary Schools," by the CDC which includes statistics for Delaware.
