261 Rev. Turner's Collection of genealogical notes and correspondence concerning about three thousand Delmarva Peninsula families.

27X The records contain information ranging in content from the medieval period to 1935, but are principally from the 17th through the 19th centuries. Other collections with similar material may be found in the small manuscripts collection, especially the Fulton, Adams and Hall papers.

An "card index" exists and appears on the fiche publication but the "index" refers to all items in Rev. Turner's personal collection. The state purchased only a part, not all, of the man's material, thus references appear in the "index" to items not found in our collection.
