261 John Hunn Brown was a prominent Kent County businessman and land developer, owning a large peach orchard in Dover and the T. R. Brown Lumber Company in Wyoming. The records reflect these activities.
270 The records include a self-written biography, brochures relating to raising peaches, radio scripts for advertising his peaches, a plot of his orchard showing the types of peaches grown, brochures and correspondence about subdivisions, a plot for the Eastover Hills subdivision in Dover and its regulations, including a Caucasian only restriction, plans for a Capital View subdivision, plot and deed restrictions for Henlopen Acres in Rehoboth, price lists for Brown Lumber Company, and stationary for T. R. Brown Research Laboratories.
