261 Mabel Lloyd Ridgely was the State Chairman of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee of Delaware. This organization sold bonds to support the war effort during World War I. These records include a book, correspondence and miscellaneous documents of the Committee.
270 The 1919 book, The Story of the Liberty Loans by Labert St. Clair, is a history of the Liberty Loan campaigns. It is heavily illustrated with color reproductions of many of the posters used to advertise the effort. In the book is a handwritten statement of the amount of money raised in Delaware for the third, fourth, and fifth loan drives and the names of the women who were on the executive committee. Documents include a letter from Mrs. Ridgely to Liberty Loan workers in Delaware, "Delaware's Victory Loan Song," donation forms, "Report of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee of Delaware," and two small posters.
290 The Story of the Liberty Loans. Mrs. Henry Ridgely.
