261 The records document the Women's Joint Legislative Committee of the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs, an organization made of up various in-state women's organizations. The committee was responsible for following and reviewing the activities of the state legislature. They identified legislation for each session that they would either support or oppose.
270 The Committee appears to have been formally organized in 1921. However, by-laws were not approved until 1927. "Legislative Programs" were printed for each legislative session from 1915 to 1959 listing bills to be supported or opposed and noting delegates from each participating organization. The organization meeting minutes begin in late 1926 and end in 1963.
The Delaware General Assembly during these years met only every other year, in odd numbered years. The Women's Joint Legislative Committee was most active during the months the legislature was in session. The records support this with little or nothing published in the even years.
