TWELVE years ago I began an effort to locate and photograph all of the churches and former churches in Delaware. Up to the present time I have located nearly 900 of them, about one-half of which are still active. As this work progressed I decided to attempt to get a brief history of each church.

In the pursuance of this task I have interviewed hundreds of persons and I have been “brushed off” unceremoniously many times; I have written hundreds of letters with indifferent success in getting them answered. I have combed through 20,000 newspapers in Wilmington, Newark, the University of Delaware, Smyrna, Dover, and Milford. I have examined the Deed Records back to the earliest days and I have made notes from more than 3,000 church deeds in Wilmington, Dover, and Georgetown. I have searched through the Annual Diocesan Reports of the Episcopal Church, the Annual Conference Reports of the Methodist (M.E.) Church and various histories and books concerning Delaware.

Undoubtedly errors will be found in this book; it would be a miracle if there were none, yet, every statement made has been obtained from a source that I believed to be reliable.

Some churches have excellent records but many of the churches have no records or poorly-kept ones. Some church records have been destroyed in fires, while in extreme cases, the records have been loaned to unidentified persons and not returned.

I would appreciate receiving, at any time, further or better data on any of the churches as I intend to continue assembling Delaware church history.

In 1638, when the Swedes sailed up the Christina Creek and landed at the Rocks, now Wilmington, their first concern was to build a fort. It was here in Fort Christina, named for the Queen of Sweden, that the first regular religious services, by authorized persons, were held in the State of Delaware. This was the first organized congregation of Lutherans in America and the forerunner of all Delaware churches.

The first church was built previous to 1655 at Swanwyck, a small settlement one mile north of New Castle. In 1667 Cranehook Church was built near the present Marine Terminal. These churches, both Swedish Lutheran, were built of logs and no evidence of them remains. The site of Cranehook Church was suitably marked, in 1896, with a stone monument by the Historical Society of Delaware.

When the colonists decided to build a new church, a site closer to the growing village was selected and Holy Trinity Church, better known as "Old Swedes," was built in 1698. In 1791, when Lawrence Girelius, the last Swedish minister, sailed away, the regime of the Swedish Lutheran Church in Delaware came to an end.

The second denomination to secure a foothold was the Dutch Reformed Church. They built a log church in New Castle in 1657. The life of this church came to an end in 1689 when Petrus Teschemacker, their minister, moved to Schenectady, N. Y., where he was murdered in an Indian Massacre the following Feb. 9th.

Of the denominations that have survived in Delaware the first to become established were the Friends or Quakers. They built a meeting-house, in 1687, in Brandywine Hundred, on land donated by Valentine Hollingsworth. It was known as New Wark Friend's Meeting and was located on the present site of Newark-Union Methodist Church.

The second denomination was the Episcopal Church. The history of the Episcopal Church in Delaware begins with the founding of Immanuel Church at New Castle in 1689.

The third denomination was the Presbyterian Church. The Presbyterians began holding meetings in New Castle in 1685. By 1707 they were strong enough to proceed with the building of a church. This church is still standing and is used as a church-house by the present Presbyterian Church.

The fourth denomination was the Baptist Church. Welsh Track Baptist Church was built, of logs, in 1703. The present brick church was built in 1746; there is a patch in each of the sidewalls where it is claimed a cannon-ball from the Battle of Cooch's Bridge passed through the church.

The fifth denomination was the Roman Catholic Church. In 1785, they built a church, on land purchased in 1772, four miles outside of Wilmington, on the old Lancaster Pike. This church was named "St. Mary's" but was popularly known as "Coffee Run Church" from the name of a nearby stream.

The sixth denomination was the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1765, Captain Thomas Webb, a retired British officer, was preachingMethodism in Marcus Hook and in the Isaac Tussey home at the top of Penny Hill. In common with other early Methodist missionaries he was badly treated by the members of the other denominations. In 1780, at least six Methodist churches were built in Delaware: Bethel Church near Zebley's Corner, in Brandywine Hundred, Barratt's Chapel, Thomas' Chapel and White's Church in Kent County, Mt. Pleasant Church and Bethel Church, near Oak Grove, in Sussex County. All six of these churches are active today.

The following denominations were established, in Delaware, in this order: the German Lutherans in 1848, the Swedenborgians in 1858, the Unitarians in 1867, the Hebrew Congregations in 1880, the Seventh Day Adventists in 1892, the Christian and Missionary Alliance in 1897, the Christian Scientists in 1902, the Russian Greek Catholic Church in 1906, the Pentecostal Church in 1918, the First Independent Church in 1936, the Nazarenes in 1939 and the Greek Orthodox Church in 1939.

The oldest inscribed tombstone in Delaware is that of Margaret Huling who died on Feb. 16, 1707 and is buried in St. Peter's P. E. graveyard in Lewes. The second oldest tombstone is that of Hercules Coutts who died on Sept. 30, 1707 and is buried in a crypt in Immanuel P. E. Church at New Castle. The third oldest tombstone is that of Riceus Rychiough who died in 1707 and is buried in Welsh Tract Baptist graveyard.

The oldest date-stone on a church in Delaware is a gable-stone dated 1746 in Welsh Tract Baptist Church.
Holy Trinity Swedish Lutheran Church, familiarly known as "Old Swede's Church." When the Rev. Eric Bjork became pastor, he preached his first sermon at Cranehook (Tranhook) Swedish Lutheran Church on July 11, 1697. That church, built in 1667, was located near the present Marine Terminal. Almost immediately Pastor Bjork began a movement to erect a new church in a better and more convenient location. At a congregational meeting held on July 30, 1697, small difficulties were ironed out and it was decided to proceed with the work.

A compromise was effected with the members living on the other side of the river by which the members of this side agreed to help finance the building of a church on the southerly side if the time came when it was desirable to erect a church there. Also, a canoe was purchased from Hendrick Tossa of Boston and placed in the care of Staffen Juranson of Pumpkin Hook. It was to be used by the members crossing the river.

The site of Crane Hook Church was suitably marked by the Historical Society of Delaware on Oct. 17, 1896. The principal address at the unveiling of the monument was delivered by the Hon. Charles B. Lore.

The site chosen for the new church was behind Fort Christina on a knoll where a graveyard had been located since the first settlement. The land upon which to build the church was secured from John Stalcop for 4 pounds which was to offset his contribution toward the building. Mr. Stalcop died before the land was transferred and it was Aug. 20, 1722 before his two sons deeded the land to the church trustees.

The first stone was laid on Sat., May 28, 1698, at the north end of the east gable. According to most historians the church was consecrated on Trinity Sunday, July 4, 1699, at which time the name Holy Trinity was adopted. Without trying to dispute this date, the fact is that in 1699 Trinity Sunday fell on June 4, under the old Julian calendar which was used by both Sweden and England until 1752.

The service was followed by a feast at the home of John Stalcop, which was attended by hundreds, of all denominations. The building, of Brandywine granite, was an unpretentious rectangular building with a hipped roof. The floor was of brick, the pews were of the family box type and the high pulpit was surmounted by a canopy. This pulpit, with only minor changes, is believed to be the one in use today, undoubtedly the oldest pulpit in this country. The church bell hung in a walnut tree close to the church. After serving the church for fifteen years, during which time he married Christina Stalcop, Pastor Bjork returned to Sweden to assume charge of Kopparberg Church.

The second outstanding pastor of Old Swedes Church was the Rev. Israel Acrelius, author of "History of New Sweden," a collector's item. He served the church from 1749 until 1756. About 1750 the walls of the church showed signs of settling and bulging so the south porch and two additions on the north side were built, partly as a support to the ancient walls. The first stove was installed in November, 1770. The bell having become cracked a new bell was secured in November, 1772. It was brought from London by Captain Falconer. The gallery was added, with the stairway outside in the south porch, this work being completed on Feb. 23, 1774. In August, 1777, two companies of British soldiers were quartered in the church.

When the Rev. Lawrence Girelius sailed away from Delaware in 1791, the regime of the Swedish Lutheran Church in Delaware came to an end. The congregation selected the Rev. Joseph Clarkson, a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church, to take charge. The regime of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Wilmington was begun with his first service on Sept. 25, 1792.

FRIENDS

Wilmington Friend's Meeting, Hicksite. On Nov. 7, 1737, Friends living in Wilmington, asked New Wark Preparative Meeting for permission to hold meetings. On Dec. 4, 1737 the request was granted by the Monthly Meeting. Wilmington Meeting was constituted on Dec. 13, 1737. The first meetings were held in the one-story brick temporary home of Wm. Shipley, below 4th St., and 50 ft. west of Shipley St. The sanction of the Chester Quarterly Meeting was granted on Dec. 13, 1737. When the large home of Wm. Shipley, on the s. w. cor. of 4th and Shipley Sts., was completed, the meetings were held there. An elder and two overseers were selected in 1738. Wm. Shipley donated a lot at the n. e. cor. of 4th and West Sts., where a small Meeting-House was built. The date, 1738, was laid out in the front wall with glazed bricks. A sundial was placed on the south wall and it remained in place for at least sixty years. On June 8, 1739 Wilmington requested the privilege of a Preparative Meeting, which was granted.

In 1748, a much larger Meeting-House was built on the site of the present one. It was two stories in height and contained a gallery. The first Meeting-House was then used exclusively for school purposes. On Mar. 14, 1750, Wilmington joined with New Castle to form a Monthly Meeting.

Because the Friends refused to take any part in the Revolutionary War, they were subjected to many indignities, including fines and imprisonment. When they refused to pay the fines, their possessions would be restrained and sold. On Aug. 27, 1777, the Meeting-House was forcibly taken over by the Revolutionary soldiers as a barracks. While thus occupied, the Friends held their meetings under a tree outside of the Meeting-House. In September, 1777, the British having occupied Wilmington, they used the Meeting-House as a hospital for wounded soldiers.

The present Meeting-House was started in 1816 and it was completed and opened on Sept. 25, 1817. Elias Hicks visited the Meeting on Nov. 16, 1817, Oct. 23, 1819, Dec. 3, 1826 and Dec. 14, 1828. The Friends of Wilmington continued as one organization until the split in the Society in 1827. At this time the followers of Elias Hicks, known as "Hicksites", secured possession of the building at 4th and West Sts., and have continued to worship there. The Orthodox branch then built a frame Meeting-House at the n. e. cor. of 9th and Tatnall Sts.

In 1920, a new heating system was installed and a social-room was equipped. This room was opened with a house-warming held on Dec. 7, 1920. The Meeting-House property comprises the entire block, 4th to 5th, West to Washington Sts. There is a large burying-ground. Former Governor Caleb P. Bennett and John Dickinson, former President of Delaware are among the prominent Wilmingtonians buried here. In 1933, the Historical Markers Commission of Delaware placed a bronze plaque at 4th and Washington Sts., honoring John Dickinson. It recites some of his many activities including his authorship of the famous "Letters from a Farmer in Pennsylvania" and the fact that he was a founder of Dickinson College.

Beginning about 1916 the Hicksite and the Orthodox Meetings frequently met together for business, for worship and to celebrate historical events which emphasized their common origin. The two Monthly Meetings first met together to discuss mutual concerns on Sept. 16, 1932. In May, 1938, they joined in celebrating the 200th Anniversary of the building of the first Friend's Meeting-House in Wilmington. In November, 1938, the two Meetings joined for worship. The Meetings were held at 4th and West Sts., from October to June and at 10th and Harrison Sts., from June to October. The two Monthly Meetings have been joined since January, 1942.

The two groups of Friends in Wilmington decided to merge, on May 18, 1945, under the name "The Wilmington Monthly Meeting of Friends." Their first services as a united group were held at Fourth and West Sts., on May 20, 1945.

The Friend's School at Alapocas was developed by the Friends from the little school at 4th and West Sts., founded in 1748.

Wilmington Orthodoxy Friend's Meeting. In 1827, at the time of the separation in the Religious Society of Friends, the Hicksites kept possession of the Meeting-House at 4th and West Sts. The Orthodox members built a frame Meeting-House, in 1828, at the n. e. cor. of 9th and Tatnall Sts. This building was two stories in height, faced 9th Street and there was a wide front porch. The site was enclosed with a high brick wall. In 1832-33, Samuel Canby donated additional land and built a one-room frame schoolhouse. The school had been established in June, 1831 at 11th and Market Sts. A second room, of brick, was added in 1874. The property at 9th and Tatnall Sts. was sold on Oct. 30, 1913 and on Nov. 24, 1914 the site at the s. e. cor. of 10th and Harrison Sts. was purchased. The stone Meeting-House was built in 1915 and it was opened for services in the autumn of that year. The Orthodox and Hicksite Friends in Wilmington later joined for all services. Meetings were held at 10th and Harrison Sts., from June to October and at 4th and West Sts., from October to June.

After deciding to merge, on May 18, 1945, the two groups of Friends held their first united meeting on May 20, 1945, at Fourth and West Sts.

The following notation appears in the Journal of George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends: "Justice Bennett of Derby was the first that called us Quakers because I bid them tremble at the word of the Lord. This was in the year 1650."

PRESBYTERIAN

The First Presbyterian Church, The First-Central Presbyterian Church.

The Presbyterians in Wilmington, on Dec. 30, 1737, purchased from Timothy Stidham an acre of land at the s. e. cor. 10th and Market Sts. In 1740, a small brick meeting-house was built and a graveyard was laid out. This church had a high pulpit with a large sounding-board and the seats had high straight backs. The church was used as a hospital for wounded American prisoners after the battle of Brandywine. It was incorporated on Dec. 23, 1789 and Dr. John McKinly, the first President of Delaware, was elected one of the trustees. In 1799, Dr. McKinly donated 100 pounds to provide a low stone wall around the property. In 1772, a group of members had withdrawn from First Church and built the Second or Christiana Church at Fifth and Walnut Sts. In 1838, they sold their church to the German Baptists and returned to First Church.
With this increased membership and interest it was decided to build a new church facing Market St. and south of the old church. The corner-stone was laid on May 7, 1840, the church's centennial year. The old church was used as a Sunday School and a day-school. The day-school was conducted by Miss Mary Mahaffy and Mr. Thomas. The first floor was used for the girls and the second floor for the boys. The last service of any kind was held in the old church on Jan. 17, 1878. It was then rented to the Historical Society of Delaware. The Historical Society occupied the building until 1917 when it was moved to South Park Drive and West St. to become the headquarters of the Colonial Dames of Delaware.

The second church was completed and occupied in 1840. In 1867, an aftermath of the Civil War and the formation of the Southern Presbyterian Church, led to two First Church congregations for two years. One met in this church and the other met in the old First Baptist Church at 1008 King St. After extensive repairs, reopening services were held on Dec. 30, 1877. The manse at the s. e. cor. 10th and Market Sts. was built at this time. The 150th Anniversary celebration was held during the first week in November, 1887. After renovations, reopening services were held on Sun., Sept. 10, 1899, by the Rev. James A. Worden, D.D.

In 1916, the Tenth St. front, 90 feet deep was sold to the Wilmington Institute Free Library. This necessitated the reinterment of many bodies. The marble vault containing the remains of Dr. John McKinly, the first President of Delaware, was moved to the Wilmington and Brandywine Cemetery. It was here that a large number of bodies were reinterred. The centennial celebration of the Sunday School was held on Nov. 26, 1916. The project of merging First Church and Central Church took definite shape at a meeting held on Oct. 31, 1919. The merger was effected on Mar. 3, 1920 under the name "First-Central Church." In 1923, an auditorium was built north of the church on the King St. side of the lot. It was used as a Sunday School and for social purposes. The entire property was sold in 1929 to make room for the Delaware Trust Building. The last service was held on Feb. 24, 1929.

On Dec. 24, 1928, the congregation purchased the Draper property at the n. w. corner 11th and Market Sts. During 1929 and until Sept. 28, 1930 they worshipped at 502 Delaware Ave. and in the New Century Club.

The corner-stone of the present church was laid on July 28, 1929. The dedication services continued from Sept. 28 to Oct. 3, 1930. The dedication service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Aquilla Webb and the sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. This church property including more than fifty rooms is probably the best equipped in the State of Delaware for every activity associated with church work.

Second,-Christiana,-Hanover Presbyterian Church. The Second Presbyterian Church was organized in 1772 by a large group of members from First Church. The first pastor was installed on Oct. 25, 1774. On Oct. 26, 1781, the Rev. Wm. Smith and a board of trustees purchased the lot on the s. w. cor. of Fifth and Walnut Sts., comprising 6215 sq. ft. from Matthew Crips, potter, for 30 pounds. A stone church was built on this site. It had an old-fashioned high pulpit, a brick paved aisle, the door was two-leafed and circular topped and there were galleries on three sides.

The church was incorporated and the name "Christiana" was adopted on Jan. 29, 1788. Dr. Thomas Read, noted for the assistance he gave to Washington previous to the Battle of Brandywine, served the church from Jan.

1798 to 1817. The Female Harmony Society was organized in 1814 and they established the first Sunday School in Wilmington. It was organized in 1814. In 1815, they opened a day-school for children. This Society was incorporated on Jan. 28, 1817, to operate a charity school for destitute orphans or children of free white inhabitants who were proper objects of charity.

In 1817, they asked for State aid. It is claimed that the present school system developed from this school. The first free-school legislation in Delaware was passed by the General Assembly in 1829. In 1820, the church was rebuilt and a “conference-room” was added. This so-called conference-room was a separate brick building and was used as a Sunday School and a day-school. On Mar. 12, 1829, the Female Harmony Society purchased this building from the church trustees for $600.00.

On Apr. 28, 1828, Willard Hall, acting for the trustees of Christiana Church, purchased a lot on the n. w. cor. of 6th and King Sts. In 1828, they built an imposing brick church on this site. The dedication services were held on Mar. 12, 1829. On Jan. 19, 1831, an Act was passed incorporating the church and changing the name from “Christiana” to “Hanover Street Presbyterian Church.” At that time Hanover was the name of 6th Street. The church assumed title to the property of Aug. 29, 1831.

In 1834, upon the death of General Lafayette at his home in France, Wilmington honored his memory by a solemn funeral procession which passed through the principal streets headed by the Governor of Delaware and the Mayor of Wilmington. This was followed by a funeral oration delivered by the Rev. Isaac Pardee in Hanover Church. On May 3, 1841, Dr. E. W. Gilbert resigned as pastor of Hanover Church to become President of Newark College. During Dr. Gilbert’s pastorate, small pewter tokens stamped E. W. G. were used as tokens of admission to the Lord’s table. These tokens were distributed to communicants on the Saturday previous to the communion and were collected by the Elders on the Sabbath as the members were seated at the table. The origin and purpose of these tokens is unknown. The ceremony was known as the “divine right” of tokens and was the cause of many controversies in some churches.

The semi-centennial of the Sunday School, organized at Christiana Church, was celebrated on Dec. 18, 1864, with Willard Hall and the Rev. Geo. F. Wiswell in charge of the ceremonies. The 100th Anniversary of the founding of the church was celebrated on Thurs., Oct. 24, 1872.

The property at 6th and King Sts. was sold on Sept. 24, 1909. Hanover Church purchased the Washington Heights M. E. Church, at 18th and Baynard Boulevard, on Feb. 15, 1908. A new Sunday School building was erected and it was dedicated on Nov. 18, 1917, on the 103rd Anniversary of the Sunday School. Mayor John W. Lawson presided at the ceremonies. The dedication was performed by the Rev. Robert L. Jackson, the pastor. The Rev. Dr. W. S. Holt preached at the evening service.

The cornerstone of the present church was laid on Thurs., Nov. 30, 1922, by the Rev. Charles H. Bohner, the pastor, assisted by the Revs. Wm. Leishman and Irwin F. Wagner. The dedication services were conducted on Jan. 20, 1924, by the Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, Pres. of Princeton Seminary and the Rev. C. H. Bohner, the pastor. Frank N. Overdear of Haddock and Co., the builders, presented the keys of the building to Dr. Bohner who in turn presented them to B. C. Grommon, President of the Board of Trustees. A week of celebration, including the Sesqui-centennial of the church, followed the dedication.

On Sept. 1, 1927, a memorial window in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Porter, was presented to the church by their nieces and nephews. On Sun., June 13, 1937, the Rev. John Herrick Darling dedicated a communion service purchased by the Sunday School from a legacy of Miss Anne P. Porter.

Olivet Presbyterian Church was the outgrowth of a Sunday School started on Aug. 5, 1849 in a frame building known as Hedgeville School with E. T. Taylor as Superintendent. It was located at the corner of Newport Road and Dock Street, now the southerly side of Maryland Ave., about 320 feet west of Front St., Dock St., in the meantime, having been vacated. The Sunday School was sponsored by Hanover Church who purchased the building. Prayer meetings and preaching were maintained for a number of years.

The congregation was organized as a church on Jan. 31, 1863. The cornerstone of a new building, known as Olivet Chapel, at Adams and Chestnut Sts., was laid on Oct. 8, 1863. Judge Willard Hall, known as the father of the Wilmington Public School system, took a leading part in the ceremonies. This property was owned by Hanover Church, who took title to it on Feb. 8, 1864. The church was dedicated on Feb. 7, 1864. The congregation was formally constituted as Olivet Presbyterian Church on Jan. 31, 1868.

After being enlarged the church was rededicated on Mar. 13, 1870. The congregation took title to the property on May 5, 1870, from Robert R. Porter. The property was sold in January, 1887. The present site at the s. w. cor. of 4th and Broom Sts., was purchased on Dec. 31, 1887 from the Trustees of the Poor. It was a portion of the old New Castle County Almshouse property. The erection of a Sunday School building was started in October, 1887. The present church was built in 1891.

The ground was broken on Sat., Mar. 21, 1891, at 5:30 P. M. by the Rev. W. P. Swartz and the pastor, the Rev. George S. Thompson. The cornerstone was laid on Tues. evening May 12, 1891. The prayer was offered by the Rev. Lafayette Marks, D.D. The lecture-room was formally opened on Jan. 24, 1892 by the Rev. George S. Thompson. The church was dedicated on Sun., Dec. 4, 1892. The invocation was offered by the Rev. W. W. Taylor and the dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Charles P. Mallory, a former pastor. Improvements to the building were started in December, 1906. A formal reopening service was held on Mar. 24, 1907. All-day services were held with the following taking part, the Revs. C. P. Mallory, A. Alison Jr., Wm. F. D. Lewis, T. A. McCurdy, Wm. H. Logan, A. J. Snyder and J. C. Lane, the pastor. In 1920, the pews of Central Church were presented to Olivet where they are still in use.

The 50th Anniversary of the occupancy of the present church was celebrated on Sun., Dec. 6, 1942. The 75th Anniversary of the founding of the church was celebrated on Sun., Jan. 31, 1943. The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. William B. Pugh, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian General Assembly. It had been the intention to hold a full week of ceremonies but because of war-time fuel oil restrictions, a one-day celebration was held.

Central Presbyterian Church. In 1855, the membership of Hanover Church having become very large, a group of their members expressed a desire to form a new church. On Mon., Aug. 27, 1855 they held a meeting at the home of Dr. L. P. Bush and committees were appointed. After having dutifully secured the approval of Hanover Church and of the Wilmington Presbytery they proceeded with their plans. Incidentally, there was a schism in Presbyterianism in 1838 and the Wil. Presbytery was identified with the New School until the two groups reunited in 1869.
Central Church was formally constituted on Dec. 6, 1855. They secured the use of the old stone church at 5th and Walnut Sts., where they held their first service on Sun., Dec. 23, 1855, when the Rev. George Duffield Jr., of Phila., preached for them. A Sunday School was organized on the morning of the same day in the small brick building beside the church. On Jan. 1, 1856, Charles Stewart, E. F. Taylor and Joseph W. Day were elected Elders and they were ordained on Jan. 3. On Jan. 30, a board of trustees was elected and a church site on the west side of King St., south of 8th St., was purchased on the same day. Their first pastor, the Rev. George F. Wiswell was installed on May 7, 1856. Taking part in the ceremony were the Rev. Mr. McIntire, who preached the sermon and the Revs. John W. Mears, W. W. Taylor, Wm. C. Dickinson and Geo. Foot.

The cornerstone of the church was laid on June 18, 1856. Among those taking part were the Revs. John W. Mears, Geo. F. Wiswell, A. D. Pollock, Robt. Adair, D. Brainard, Geo. Foot and Mr. John R. Latimer. Among the articles placed in the stone was a copy of Elizabeth Montgomery's "Reminiscences." The top-stone was laid on June 18, 1857. On Feb. 15, 1857, the church services were moved to the new building and held in the lecture-room. The church was built of brownstone with a high square tower above the front vestibule.

The dedication services were held on Tues., Nov. 10, 1857. The consecration took place at the morning service at which time the Rev. Albert Barnes preached on the text "Blessed are they who dwell in your house." At the 3 o'clock service the Rev. John Jenkins preached and the evening service was conducted by a visiting clergyman. On Wed., Nov. 11, 1857 at 3 P. M., the trustees offered the pews for sale or rent.

During the period covering 1858 the Rev. Mr. Wiswell was also Principal of the Delaware City Academy conducted in the Pres. Church of that town.

Central Church was outstanding in its success in establishing missions which developed into successful churches. In June, 1858, the Young Men's Christian Ass'n of Central Church was organized and their work consisted of furthering the success of these missions. They directed the work of these Sunday Schools and also conducted a regular Sunday service at the County Almshouse at 4th and Broom Sts.

In the summer of 1857, a mission was opened in the McDowellville schoolhouse on the northwestern outskirts of Wilmington. This mission developed consistently and in the autumn of 1865 a frame chapel was built at 14th and Rodney Sts. This mission developed into Rodney St. Church, now Westminster, which was formally organized on Dec. 28, 1885. In the summer of 1859, a mission was opened on the second floor of the Phoenix Fire House, 209 e. 14th St., and named Brandywine Mission. In 1868, this mission moved into a new building on the s. e. cor. of 13th and French Sts., and adopted the name "Gilbert Chapel." In 1860, the Monroe St. Chapel was built on the s. w. cor. of 8th and Monroe Sts., where a Sunday School was organized on May 3, 1861. The members of this mission later joined with the West Church group to build the present West Church in 1871. In 1889, Eastlake Sunday School was opened with J. Edgar Franklin as Superintendent. From this group Eastlake Church was organized on May 5, 1896.

The Twentieth Anniversary of Central Church was celebrated on Dec. 6, 1875. Among those taking part were the Revs. N. M. Price, L. Marks and Geo. F. Wiswell. A commemorative poem by E. T. Taylor was read.

In 1899, a new organ was installed, the church auditorium was altered and renovated after which a reopening service was held on Nov. 12, 1899, by the Rev. Dr. T. A. McCurdy. After extensive renovations a formal reopening was held on Sept. 11, 1911, by the Rev. J. H. Crawford, the pastor.

At a congregational meeting held on Nov. 21, 1919 it was decided to merge with First Church under the name First-Central Church. The pews were donated to Olivet Church where they are still in use. The church property was sold on Jan. 16, 1926.

Westminster Presbyterian Church. In the autumn of 1857, Central Presbyterian Church started a Sunday School in the schoolhouse at McDowellville, at that time a village west of Wilmington. A short time later a room over a store at Pennsylvania Ave. and Lincoln St. was secured. In 1865, a frame building was erected at 14th and Rodney Sts. on the property of Robert Smith. This chapel was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 22, 1865, by the Rev. Geo. F. Wiswell and John W. Mearns.

Preaching and prayer-meetings were held occasionally. On Jan. 10, 1882, a lot was purchased at 13th and Rodney Sts. C. G. Graham, Supt. of the Sunday School, and an architect by profession, donated his services and designed the building.

This building was intended for a Sunday School only and to be used as a church until a larger building could be erected on the front of the lot. The corner-stone was laid on Dec. 3, 1882 in the midst of a heavy rainstorm, and it was dedicated on Dec. 2, 1883. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. J. H. Nixon, D.D., at the afternoon service. The prayer was offered by the Rev. M. A. Brownson and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. W. W. Taylor. Regular services were held on Sun. evenings. On Jan. 28, 1886, Rodney Street Church was formally constituted and a deed for the property was secured from Central Church. Trustees were elected on Feb. 8, and the first pastor was installed on May 7, 1886. In June, 1888, it was decided to enlarge the building and E. L. Rice, Jr., was selected as the architect. A reopening service was held on Dec. 2, 1888, by the Rev. W. L. McEwan, the pastor.

The Rev. Charles L. Candee was installed as pastor on Sept. 23, 1909. On Jan. 17, 1910, it was decided to build a new church. Ground was broken on July 31, 1910, by Mrs. Josephine W. Bissell. On June 22, it was voted to change the name to "Westminster." On Sun., July 10, 1910, the Rev. Charles L. Candee delivered a sermon on "the significance and appropriateness of the name "Westminster." The name is taken from the Westminster Assembly which met at Westminster, England on July 1, 1643 and rose on Feb. 22, 1649. Upon the restoration of the Stuarts, the manuels of faith and practice, as drawn up at Westminster were rejected in England but they were retained in Scotland. They are still the accredited standards of faith in all Presbyterian churches.

The corner-stone of the new church was laid on Oct. 15, 1911. During a heavy rainstorm, the Rev. Dr. Candee preached in the chapel after which the congregation filed out in the rain to attend the consecration and laying of the stone by Dr. Candee. The first wedding in the new church was held on Oct. 20, 1911 and in the absence of an organ a string quartette was used. The first service was held on Oct. 22, 1911. The dedicatory sermon was preached on Nov. 15, 1911, by the Rev. Charles Wood. He was assisted by the Rev. C. L. Candee. Chimes, the gift of Wm. G. Mendinhall, were installed in 1912.

The parish-house was erected in 1923-24. The corner-stone was laid on Mar. 23, 1924, by the Rev. C. L. Candee. In September, 1929, they purchased the balance of the block from Pennsylvania Ave. to 13th St., Rodney to Clayton Sts.
On Oct. 9, 1927 a window in memory of Mrs. Josephine W. Bissell was unveiled by the Rev. Harold E. Nicely, the pastor. The church has many special gifts and memorials.

Gilbert Presbyterian Church. In 1859, Central Church opened a mission in the Phoenix Fire House at 209 e. 14th St. and named it Brandywine Mission. On July 7, 1866, the lot at the s. e. cor. of 13th and French Sts. was purchased as a church site. A frame church was built in 1868 and named "Gilbert Chapel." The chapel was enlarged in November, 1882. Services were held regularly until 1886 when the members were merged with Central Church. The property was then rented to the Heavenly Recruits. The chapel was owned by the First-Central Church and is occupied by Ezion Fair Baptist Church, colored, who purchased the building on July 31, 1945.

West Presbyterian Church was organized by a group of 67 members from Central Church, 40 members from Hanover Church and 1 member from First Church. The movement began in March, 1867 and on May 9, 1868 the effort was approved by the church session. The group from Hanover joined the movement on Sept. 17, 1868. The church was constituted on Oct. 19, 1868. The first service was held on Oct. 25, 1868, in the Wilmington Institute Building. The Sunday School was organized on Nov. 1, 1868. The first communion service was held on Feb. 14, 1869, by the Rev. Wm. Aikman. The first pastor, the Rev. Geo. H. Smyth, was installed on Sept. 30, 1869. A few months later the services were moved to the Monroe Street Chapel at 8th and Monroe Sts. This chapel had been built by Central Church and a successful Sunday School was conducted here. The property was presented to West Church by Central Church. The two Sunday Schools were continued until the new West Church was built at which time they were combined.

Ground was broken for the present church, at 8th and Washington Sts., on Oct. 19, 1870. The corner-stone was laid on Apr. 24, 1871 and the church was dedicated on Dec. 28, 1871. These services were continued until Dec. 31. Among those taking part were the Revs. James McCosh, Pres. of Princeton College, Dr. Withrow, Herrick Johnson and Geo. H. Smyth, the pastor. A new organ was unveiled at a musical entertainment held on Tues., Jan. 16, 1872.

After major improvements a reopening service was held on Sept. 2, 1894, by the Rev. A. N. Keigwin. The new addition on Wollaston St. was opened on Sept. 30, 1894, when services were conducted by the Revs. J. D. Blake and A. N. Keigwin.

On July 15, 1906, the church was closed for extensive interior improvements. The lower rooms were reopened on Sept. 16, 1906. A Kindergarten Department was opened on Oct. 21, 1906. The auditorium was formally re-opened on Sun., Nov. 4, 1906, by the Rev. Alexander Alison, Jr., the pastor. A baptismal font was presented by Mrs. Mary Lummis on Mar. 12, 1911. The first manse was acquired in 1924 under a bequest of Pastor Emeritus Dr. A. N. Keigwin.

A nursery service was opened in April, 1919. During 1928, major improvements were made to the church, this being the 60th Anniversary. A celebration was held on Nov. 18, 1928. Among those taking part were former pastors, Dr. Smiley, Dr. Sonne, Dr. Alison and the pastor, Dr. A. H. Kleffman. At this time a tablet in memory of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Keigwin was unveiled by Frank Sheppard. Dr. Keigwin's son, the Rev. Dr. A. Edwin Keigwin delivered an address.

New organ chimes were dedicated by Dr. Kleffman on Apr. 19, 1931. A new organ was dedicated on Oct. 15, 1939, by the Revs. Dr. John W. Christie and Dr. Kleffman.

The 75th Anniversary was celebrated with services lasting from Oct. 6 to Oct. 27, 1943.

Eastlake Orthodox Presbyterian Church. Presbyterian meetings were instituted in Eastlake in 1889 by the members of Central Presbyterian Church. In the spring of 1890 a small building was erected on 31st St. near Jefferson St. Permanent organization was effected on June 29, 1890. On July 14, 1890, the Presbyterian Alliance purchased two lots at the s. e. cor. 30th and Madison Sts. A frame chapel, with its little belfry, was erected on this site in February, 1891 and the Rev. J. Edgar Franklin was placed in charge of the work which he carried on until 1896. On July 31, 1894 the Presbyterian Alliance sold the property to the Wilmington Board of Public Education and on Aug. 11, 1894, they purchased the plot on the n. w. cor. 27th and Market Sts. The present brick church was then erected.

The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 2, 1894 at 4 P. M. The Rev. Wm. P. Swartz presided, in the absence of the Rev. J. Edgar Franklin, the pastor. The stone was set by N. B. Culbert. Those taking part in the ceremonies included the Rev. Mr. Montgomery, Dr. Lafayette Marks, the Rev. A. N. Keigwin and the Rev. J. R. Milligan.

The opening service was held on Dec. 2, 1894 with three services in charge of the Revs. W. P. Swartz, Lafayette Marks and W. W. Taylor.

The congregation was organized as the Eastlake Presbyterian Church on May 21, 1896, at which time Francis Vincent and Nathaniel Pipino were elected Elders. The church was incorporated on July 29, 1903. The title to the property was acquired by the congregation on Aug. 27, 1903. In 1910, the church was rebuilt, the present section at the front and the Sunday School rooms at the rear being added. The manse at 210 W. 27th St. was purchased on Feb. 23, 1928.

In 1936, the pastor and the congregation withdrew from the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. and entered the present Orthodox Presbyterian Church because of a difference of opinion as to the doctrines being taught. In 1939, the Chancellor of Delaware ruled that the property belonged to the Presbyterian and not to the congregation. The church was incorporated, on Nov. 19, 1941, as the Eastlake Orthodox Presbyterian Church. The church property was purchased by the present congregation on Apr. 15, 1942. A new organ was dedicated on May 13, 1945, by the Rev. John P. Clelland.

During 1945-46 they purchased lots at 29th and Van Buren Sts. as a site for a proposed new church.

The First United Presbyterian Church. This church grew out of a Sunday School opened by a few members of Olivet Church. The meetings were first held at Front and Madison Sts. and later moved to Lancaster Ave. near Franklin St. In August, 1899, they moved to the former Covenant Church on West St. below 3rd St. The first pastor, the Rev. J. J. Huston, was installed in October, 1899. A congregational meeting was held on Jan. 31, 1900 at which time a church was regularly constituted and plans were outlined to build a church. The present site at 3rd and Broom Sts. was purchased on June 30, 1900.

The first meeting in the new church was held on Dec. 15, 1901. On Sun., Dec. 22, 1901, the dedication services were held. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Alexander Gilchrist, D.D., Sec. of Home Missions and the prayer was offered by the Rev. W. W. Barr, D.D., Sec. of Foreign Mis-sessions. The church was incorporated on Nov. 25, 1903. The church was remodeled in 1938. New pews, new pulpit furniture and a Hammond organ were installed. The organ was dedicated on Apr. 19, 1938.

Baird Memorial Mission was organized over John R. Hudson's store at the s. w. cor. Front and Market Sts. on Jan. 21, 1894. It was called the "Front Street Mission of West Presbyterian Church." At various times they met at 112 w. Front St., West St. below 3rd St., 425 w. 2nd St., 315 Madison St. and in West Church. After the death of Charles Baird, in 1898, the name was changed to "Baird Memorial Mission." On Nov. 27, 1908, the trustees of West Church purchased the property at the s. w. cor. 2nd and West Sts., where Baird Mission has been located since that time.

The First Italian Presbyterian Church. An Italian Pres. Mission was established in October, 1905 in the Baird Mission on West St., below 3rd St. It was later moved to 7th and Scott Sts., where a room had been secured for the meetings. On Sept. 17, 1910 and June 20, 1911, the Trustees of the Presbyterian Church purchased two lots on Dupont St., below 7th St., as a church site. A brick chapel was built and it was dedicated on Apr. 2, 1911. The services were in charge of the Rev. Alexander Alison, Jr., of West Pres. Church. The Rev. Thos. dePamphilis, a missioner, spoke in Italian and in English. The pulpit furniture was a gift of the King's Daughters of West Church as a memorial to the Rev. Wm. H. Logan. The pulpit Bible was donated by Miss Nellie G. Logan. A baptismal font was donated by the children of the Italian Sunday School. The bell in the little belfry was formerly used on the chapel at 8th and Monroe Sts.

The First Italian Pres. Church was formally organized on Oct. 16, 1916 with the Rev. A. Vassori, as pastor. Title to the property was taken over by the New Castle Presbytery on Dec. 20, 1920. The church ceased to function in 1924. On Sept. 13, 1925, Gilbert Pres. Church, colored, moved in. The property was sold to the Seventh Day Adventists on Jan. 3, 1930.

The Polish Presbyterian Mission was established in 1914. They met in the former Olivet Church on the s. w. cor. of Adams and Chestnut Sts. Among their activities was a class in vocational training. Meeting with indifferent success the mission was closed in 1921.

The Buttonwood Street Presbyterian Mission. This mission was started during the summer of 1894 by the members of Central Church. Their first location was on the corner of Buttonwood and Decatur Sts. On Christmas Day, 1895, the weather being mild a photograph was taken of the participants of the Christmas party, outside of the mission. Miss Louise Hardcastle, one of the mission workers from its beginning until it was closed, still has one of these photographs. The mission was moved to Taylor and Church Sts., where the work was continued until 1901. The lease on the building was taken over by Miss Sarah W. Pyle, to whom the mission equipment was given, and it was here that the history of the Peoples Settlement started.

BAPTIST

The First Primitive Baptist Church was organized on Oct. 8, 1785. Previous to this time services were held in the home of the Rev. Thomas Ainger, a Presbyterian minister who came to Wilmington from Philadelphia in April, 1783. The meetings were continued in the First Presbyterian Church and in the schoolhouse. The organization of this church met with keen opposition from the other denominations except the Presbyterians who aided them. On Aug. 23, 1784, they purchased from Joseph Stidham, a meeting-house site on King Sts., between 10th and 11th Sts.

A brick Meeting-House was built at 1008 King St. The corner-stone was laid by the Rev. Thomas Fleeson, the first pastor. The Meeting-House was two and one-half stories high with the entrance facing 10th St. There was a five foot brick wall facing King St. A graveyard was laid out extending back to French St. The land was purchased from Joseph Stidham and was described as being next to the "Poor's Burying-Ground." The Potter's Field of that day was located on the 11th St. end of that block. More land was purchased from Ashton Richardson on Sept. 4, 1811.

This meeting-house was the scene of the first meetings of a great many different denominations struggling to attain a foot-hold in Wilmington.

On Apr. 10, 1913, the entire property was sold to make way for the City and County Building. This necessitated the removal of the bodies from the graveyard. A great many of these were buried in family plots in various cemeteries. The great-grand-parents of the writer, Jonathan Zebley, died Nov. 19, 1819 and Hannah Zebley, died Dec. 20, 1839, were reinterred in Chester-Bethel Cemetery. The rest of the bodies, numbering about twenty were reinterred in Bethel Baptist graveyard, west of Hare's Corner. In this group the oldest tombstone is that of Abigail Ainger, who died on Feb. 23, 1793. She was the wife of the Rev. Thomas Ainger, who was ordained as the second pastor of First Church on Oct. 28, 1788.

After selling the property the congregation purchased a new site at 1304 Jefferson St., on Apr. 9, 1913, from Nellie Dure Townsend, et al. The present brick meeting-house was then built. The corner-stone is inscribed as follows: "Primitive Baptist Church organized and built at 1008 King St., in 1785. This house erected in 1913."

The Second Baptist Church was organized on Sept. 7, 1835 by a group who had withdrawn from the First Church on Aug. 15, 1835. This split was caused by the anti-mission sentiment then existing in First Church. The agitation concerning missions started in 1830 and culminated when 13 members in favor of missions withdrew to organize Second Church. They organized a Sunday School in 1836. At first, they met in a rented room on e. 6th St., and later in the old First Presbyterian Meeting-House at 10th and Market Sts. On May 31, 1837, they purchased the church which had been built by the Second Presbyterian Church at 5th and Walnut Sts. In 1843, the choir was granted permission to use a bass viol. In 1852, the church at Dover was organized through the efforts of members of Second Church. On May 22, 1852, a lot was purchased, from John Pope, at the n. e. cor. of 4th and French Sts., as a site upon which to build a church. Additional land was bought on Oct. 23, 1854 and on Mar. 12, 1855. The first service was held in the new church on Tues., May 9, 1854 at 2 o'clock. Those taking part included the Revs. D. B. Cheney, M. G. Clarke, Lansing Boroughs and John Dowling. The church was dedicated on May 3, 1855. The dedicatory prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Dowling. The Revs. Mr. Williams and Mr. Haines also took part. Services were held in the afternoon and evening. A ground rent, payable to the Swedish Lutheran Church, Old Swedes, was extinguished on Mar. 12, 1855 by the payment of $40.57.

This church conducted the Friendship Sunday School, probably among the poorer people, as the children of Friendship were treated to a turkey dinner at Christmas time in 1858.

At the time of the Civil War the Rev. Mr. Dickinson appeared in the pulpit draped with an American flag, in an effort to inspire patriotism in the members. Abraham Lincoln later said that a little Baptist minister had saved Delaware for the Union. At a much earlier date John Adams had said that a Baptist had saved Delaware for the Federal Union.

On May 29, 1865, fifteen members withdrew for the purpose of organizing Delaware Avenue Baptist Church. In 1867, an organ was installed in the church. In 1870, the Baptist City Mission was organized. On Dec. 1, 1875, the Rev. Richard B. Cook, D.D., became the pastor. His book “The Early and Later Delaware Baptists” published in 1880, is today, a collector’s item valued for its historical data. On Mar. 6, 1887, the newly installed electric lighting was used for the first time with much favorable comment. Land to be used as a site for a new church was purchased from Jos. L. Carpenter, Jr., on Nov. 2, 1888 and on June 8, 1891.

On June 6, 1891, ground was broken for a new church at 9th and Franklin Sts. The new chapel was dedicated on Sun., Mar. 13, 1892. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Henry G. Weston, D.D., and the prayer was offered by the Rev. Moses Heath. Most of the chapel furniture was donated by individual members. The east window was given as a memorial to Mrs. Mary A. Stroud and another window was given by the King’s Daughters. The property at 4th and French Sts. was sold on Aug. 21, 1902.

On June 2, 1909, plans were adopted for building the present church. The ground was broken on July 5, 1909. The church was dedicated on Oct. 30, 1910, at the morning service. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. John H. Harris, D.D., LL.D., President of Bucknell College. He was assisted by the Rev. Thomas P. Holloway, the pastor. Windows were presented by the King’s Daughters, the Intermediate Christian Endeavor, the Junior Christian Endeavor and the Sunday School classes of Viola Fredericks, Mrs. W. W. Pusey, 2nd and Elsie Morrow. The pulpit furniture was given by Mrs. Alfred Gawthrop as a memorial to her husband. The Rev. Dr. Richard B. Cook, pastor from 1875 to 1893, spoke at the evening service. Other services were held during the week.

On Sept. 15, 1935, a pulpit in memory of Townsend W. Miller was dedicated by the Rev. F. Raymond Baker, the pastor. The Alfred Gawthrop pulpit was then placed in the lobby to serve as a desk for the visitor’s register.

On Jan. 5, 1941, the church received a gift of 100 mahogany Windsor chairs from Mrs. Edward H. Porter.

The Little Chapel of Prayer was opened on Oct. 4, 1942, when services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Jesse R. Wilson and the Rev. F. Raymond Baker, the pastor. Seating 24 persons it was proposed to use the chapel for small affairs and to have it open at all times for meditation and prayer. The furnishings were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Maroney as a memorial to Mrs. Maroney’s mother, Mrs. Charles W. Horn. The oak paneling was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Porter.

The East Baptist Church, formerly the First German Baptist Church, was founded by the Rev. Jeremiah Grimmel, who, in 1855, began to hold meetings in his home. The meetings were later transferred to the home of John Swager at 4th and Pine Sts. A church was formally organized on Apr. 17, 1856. They were incorporated on May 6, 1856. They purchased the “Old Stone Church” at the s. w. cor. of 5th and Walnut Sts., on May 9, 1856, from the Second Baptist Church. The first service was held on Sun., Apr. 27, 1856. The church was renovated in 1870.

The construction of the present church was started in 1896. The cornerstone was laid on Aug. 16, 1896, at 4 P. M., by the Rev. A. P. Mihm, the pastor. A temporary floor had been laid and chairs arranged for the congregation. The Rev. George Knobloch and Professor Louis Keiser of the German Theological Seminary, Rochester, N. Y., made speeches in German. The Rev. F. G. Merrill spoke in English.

The dedication services were held on Jan. 17, 1897, with the Rev. J. C. Grimmell, the son of the founder, in charge. The dedication sermon was preached at the morning service by the Rev. J. C. Grimmell. In the afternoon a Sunday School rally was held with David Kaiser, J. A. Schultz and the Rev. F. F. Briggs taking part. The evening sermon was preached by the Rev. J. M. Hoeflin. The exercises were continued until Wed. evening when the Rev. A. P. Mihm, the pastor, delivered an address.

On Apr. 8, 1931, the language used in the services was changed from German to English. The name “East Baptist Church” was adopted on Apr. 15, 1936.

The building was redecorated inside and outside in 1940. A rededication service was held on Dec. 8, 1940 with the Rev. Dr. Willard G. Purdy, of First-Central Presbyterian Church in charge.

The church property was sold to the Shiloh Baptist Church, colored, on Dec. 31, 1945. A site for a new church at Linden and Wilmington Aves., Oak Grove, was purchased in March, 1946. It was proposed to start the erection of a new building during 1947.

Immanuel Baptist Church. In 1865, a group of members withdrew from the Second Baptist Church for the purpose of organizing a new church. Their first get-together meeting was held on May 25, 1865. On May 29, letters were granted to them. The church was formally organized on Thurs., June 22, at the home of Anne Semple, 902 Market St., and the name, “Delaware Avenue Baptist Church,” was adopted. It was recognized as a regular Baptist church at a meeting held on July 6, 1865. The church was incorporated on July 28, 1865.

Meetings were held in the Wil. Institute lecture-room and prayer-meetings were held in the Phoenix Volunteer Fire House, No. 209 e. 14th St. They rented the meeting-house of the Primitive Baptist Church at 1008 King St., where the first regular services were held in October, 1865. During that month they joined the Phila. Association. A site for a new church was secured at Delaware Ave. and Washington St., but this proved to be too small. On Mar. 1, 1866 and Feb. 28, 1867 the present site on the s. e. cor. of Delaware Ave. and West St. was purchased.

Ground was broken on June 27, 1866 and the lecture-room was dedicated on Jan. 2, 1868, by the Rev. J. Wheaton Smith, D.D. The baptistry was ready for use in July, 1868. Previous to this time, baptisms were held in the Brandywine Creek, the German Baptist Church and the Second Baptist Church. The church auditorium was dedicated on Oct. 13, 1870, by the Rev. P. S. Henson, D.D., assisted by the Rev. G. W. Folwell, the pastor and several other clergymen. The pulpit furniture was donated by the members of the Second Baptist Church.

In 1871, Philip McDowell, of McDowellville, presented a lot, 80 ft. by 100 ft., on the n. w. cor. of 11th and Dupont Sts., where he had built a chapel. The consideration was $1.00. The deed stipulated that a fence must be maintained and it included a reversion clause in the event any of the land was used for other than church purposes. A mission school was conducted here. In 1885, a group of 60 members withdrew from the church to organize Grace Baptist Church.

On Tues., Dec. 27, 1898, the church had been decorated with bunting in preparation for a Christmas celebration to be held that evening. When the sexton was lighting the gas fixtures, the bunting caught fire. Capt. Peter B. Ayars tore the bunting down, put out the fire with no damage and a few moments later the congregation began to assemble for the exercises.

The church was improved in 1910. In 1925, the building was repointed, painted and new windows and new lights were installed. The parsonage at 1018 w. 10th St. was purchased on May 19, 1925.

The decision to merge with Bethany Baptist Church was made in 1931. Delaware Avenue-Bethany Baptist Church was incorporated on Sept. 30, 1931 and on Oct. 16, 1931, the title to the property was assumed by the new trustees. The first service of the combined congregations was held on Sun., Oct. 4, 1931. The Rev. Rittenhouse Neisser, D.D., the temporary pastor, delivered his farewell address and the Rev. John R. Humphreys, B.D., the new pastor, was welcomed by the congregation.

On Sun., Mar. 29, 1942, an American flag and a Church flag were dedicated and unfurled in the church.

At a congregational meeting held on Dec. 4, 1946 it was decided to change the name to "Immanuel Baptist Church." The new name was dedicated by the Rev. John M. Ballbach on Sun., Dec. 8, 1946.

Elm Street Baptist Church. The Elm Street Baptist Mission was organized on May 19, 1872, at Front and Madison Sts. On July 29, 1870, the Wil. Baptist City Mission had purchased a lot at n. w. cor. of Elm and Jackson Sts. On this plot the Elm Street Baptist Church was organized, in a temporary building, on July 30, 1873. Interest lagged and the church disbanded on Dec. 20, 1876.

Bethany Baptist Church was located on the n. w. cor. of Elm and Jackson Sts. This church had its inception in meetings held in the W. & N. R. R. Station at Front and Madison Sts., under the leadership of Wm. H. Gregg. They were duly organized on Nov. 14, 1878 and secured the use of the former Elm Street Baptist Church. This was a frame building on Elm St., at the corner of Porter St. The brick church facing Jackson St. was built in 1887. It was dedicated on Apr. 22, 1888 by the Rev. J. C. Long, D.D., of Crozer Theological Seminary. He was assisted by the Rev. T. M. Eastwood and the Rev. O. G. Buddington, the pastor. At the evening service Mr. Eastwood gave a history of the church.

A new brick chapel was built at the rear of the church and facing Elm St. It was dedicated on Oct. 29, 1893, the preacher being the Rev. J. B. L'Hommedieu of New York. The new building included two Sunday School rooms, pastor's study, dining-room and kitchen. Title to the property was acquired by Bethany Church on Apr. 11, 1906.

Having agreed to merge with the Delaware Avenue Baptist Church, the property was turned over to the new trustees on Nov. 28, 1931. It was sold to the Boy's Club on Dec. 31, 1931.

Grace Baptist Church was organized on Oct. 1, 1885. It was founded by a group who had withdrawn from Delaware Avenue Baptist Church. A Sunday School was organized on Nov. 16, 1885. The church was incorporated on Mar. 4, 1886. Grace was recognized as a regular Baptist Church on Sept. 14, 1886. The first meetings were held in the First Baptist Church, 1008 King St. During 1888 the services were held in Gilbert Presbyterian Church, 13th and French Sts. From 1889 until 1891 the services were held in the First Baptist Church but the congregation became weak and decided to disband.

Grace Baptist,-First Swedish Baptist Church of Wilmington. In 1873, occasional Swedish services were held in Delaware Avenue Baptist Church. During the period 1874-84 no regular services were held but meetings were held occasionally under the leadership of A. P. Anderson. On Wed. evening, Jan. 9, 1889, a meeting was held at Coffin's Hall, 12th and Heald Sts. when it was decided to organize a church. The organization took place on Sat. evening, Jan. 12, 1889 and on Jan. 13, a baptismal service was held in the Second Baptist Church. The early meetings were held on Heald St., next door to the n. e. cor. of 12th St.

A Ladies Aid Society was organized in Feb., 1889. A Sunday School was organized on Easter Sunday, Apr. 6, 1890. A lot on the corner of 12th and Heald Sts. was secured on July 4, 1891. The church was incorporated on Aug. 3, 1891. A small brick church was completed and was dedicated on Mar. 3, 1893. On Apr. 5, 1902, it was decided to purchase a lot at the n. w. cor. Van-der-er Ave. and Church St. The deed was executed on May 29, 1902. The plans for the new church were drawn by the pastor, the Rev. O. C. Wieden. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., Oct. 31, 1903 by Charles D. Bird, Mayor of Wilmington. The ceremony took place at 3 P. M. Assisting Mayor Bird were the Revs. O. C. Wieden and O. G. Buddington.

The dedication ceremonies began on Sat., Apr. 23, 1904 at 7:45 P. M. with speeches, singing, etc. On Apr. 24, at the morning service, the dedication sermon was preached by the Rev. C. P. Eckman. A service in English was held at 3 P. M. The benches were the gift of the congregation at Dividing Creek, N. J., and some of these benches are still in use in the church balcony. The property at 12th and Heald Sts. was sold on Mar. 28, 1904. The parsonage was completed on Feb. 1, 1910. The church was remodeled after which it was rededicated on Oct. 9, 1921. The ceremonies began with a meeting on Sat. evening. The church was rededicated on Sun. morning by the Rev. Wilhelm Justinius of Stockholm, Sweden. The afternoon services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. George D. Allison. In the evening Mr. Justinius preached a sermon in Swedish and the pastor preached in English. On the 1st and 3rd Sun. nights the services were to be in English. A new organ was dedicated on June 1, 1938, by the pastor, the Rev. Martin A. Larson. The chimes and the grill were donated as memorials.

The 50th Anniversary was celebrated with services lasting a full week. On Mar. 7, 1943, the church name was changed to "Grace." This was done because immigration from Sweden had virtually ceased and all of the services were being held in the English language.

Judson Memorial Baptist Church at Elm and Franklin Sts. When Bethany Church merged with Delaware Avenue Baptist Church all activities were removed to Delaware Avenue Church. Some of Bethany's members were not happy at the prospect of having no Baptist Church in the old neighborhood. On Fri., Oct. 16, 1931, twenty former members of Bethany met at the home of Ira P. Phillips at 1004 Elm St. and organized as the Elm Street Baptist Mission. Meetings were held at various homes. A Sunday School was organized and met at the home of J. I. Crossan. The Rev. L. Judson Westfall was very active in this organization and was always considered as their senior pastor and adviser.

On Dec. 24, 1931, the meetings were transferred to the Polish Baptist Church at Elm and Franklin Sts. This Mission was an independent organization and paid $30.00 per month for the use of the church. The Polish congregation would meet at 10 A. M. on Sundays and the Elm Street Mission would meet at 11 o'clock. The mid-week meetings were held on different nights. The first pastor, the Rev. E. C. Osborne was called on Jan. 19, 1932. On Jan. 8, 1934, the Mission sent in a petition to the Delaware Baptist State Convention asking recognition as a church. The name "Judson Memorial" was selected in honor of the Rev. L. Judson Westfall, who, in the meantime had passed away. Much against the wishes of many of the members, the church was closed in October, 1941 and the members scattered to other Baptist Churches. The property was purchased on Feb. 11, 1942 by the Polish Army Veterans.

North Baptist Church is located on Lincoln St., near Delaware Ave. Philip McDowell had coopershops located on the present site of the State Armory. He made barrels for the flour millers located on the Brandywine Creek. A small village surrounded these shops and it was called McDowellville. Mr. McDowell built a small chapel on the n. w. cor. of 11th and Dupont Sts., which he turned over to Delaware Avenue Baptist Church in 1871, to be used as a mission. It was known locally as the "Little Baptist Church." Each year the members would gather up all of the children in the neighborhood and take them on a day-excursion to Penn's Grove, N. J., where a pier and an amusement park were available.

The Wil. Baptist City Mission built a small mission building on Lincoln St., near Delaware Ave., where the Lincoln Street Baptist Mission was organized in September, 1883. In December, 1888, Bethany Baptist Church purchased the property and took charge of the mission on Dec. 30, 1888.

In October, 1887, the Little Baptist Church at McDowellville combined with the Lincoln Street Mission. The chapel on Lincoln St. was rebuilt, sheathed with slate and a corner-stone was laid. The Sunday School room was opened on Sun., Feb. 19, 1888. The chapel was dedicated on Sun., Feb. 26, 1888, at 3 o'clock with the Rev. Moses Heath, presiding. The Rev. Henry G. Weston, D.D., President of Crozer Theological Seminary, preached the dedicatory sermon. Talks were given by the Rev. R. B. Cook and Washington Jones. The evening service was conducted by the Rev. George W. Quick.

On Dec. 4, 1894, a church was regularly organized and the name "North Baptist Church" was adopted. The church was recognized on Dec. 18, 1894. The congregation received title to the property on July 4, 1895 from Bethany Baptist Church.

On Jan. 4, 1932, a committee was appointed to arrange for improvements to the building. More land was secured from James A. Steele on May 31, 1932. The church was enlarged and a brick front was added. On June 15, 1932, the old corner-stone was replaced with due ceremony.

Hope Baptist Church was organized in November, 1904 and met in the lower room of the First Swedish Baptist Church. On Sept. 19, 1905, the Del. Bap. Union Ass'n bought a plot of land on the n. e. cor. of 23rd and Pine Sts., where the congregation arranged to build a church of frame construction. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., Feb. 10, 1906. Services were held in the Swedish Church with the Rev. R. B. Cook, presiding. The City of Wilmington was represented by Mayor Horace Wilson. Among those taking part in the services were the Revs. L. Judson Westfall, E. B. Plummer and O. C. Weiden. Representing the congregation were Mrs. E. M. Cain and C. H. Cantwell. The congregation and visitors then proceeded to the church site where the corner-stone was laid by the Rev. R. C. Penney.

The church was formally organized on Dec. 19, 1905. The congregation of Hope Church took title to the property on Sept. 6, 1906. The church was dedicated with services lasting a full week. The opening service held on Sun., Dec. 9, 1906, was participated in by George W. Twitmyer, Supt. of Public Schools, the Rev. C. W. W. Bishop, the pastor, and C. H. Cantwell, Supt. of the Sunday School. Interest lagged and the church decided to close. The property was sold on Dec. 22, 1919 to a Pentecostal group.

Calvary Baptist Church. When the Second Baptist Church moved to 9th and Franklin Sts., on Mar. 13, 1892, some of the members continued to worship in the church at 4th and French Sts., under the name of the Second Baptist Mission. They were formally organized as Calvary Baptist Church on Nov. 7, 1894. After a rather uncertain existence the congregation disbanded in 1902. The property, which was owned by the Second Baptist Church, was sold on Aug. 21, 1902. The last meeting in this church was held on Sept. 30, 1902, when Dr. Russell H. Conwell, founder of Temple University in Philadelphia, delivered his famous lecture "Acres of Diamonds."

The Polish Baptist Church was organized at 1010 Linden St. by Mr. Schulke in 1916. In the fall of 1916 the Baptist Missionary Society purchased two plots of land on the s. w. cor. of Elm and Franklin Sts. In 1918, it was decided to build a Polish Church on this site. The church was dedicated on Sun., Sept. 1, 1918. Services in Polish were held at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. A service in English was held at 3 P. M. The congregation was disbanded in 1933 when the last pastor moved to upper New York State.

The King Street Baptist Mission met at 1008 King St. It was organized in 1885 and disbanded in 1899.

The South Side Baptist Mission was located on Heald St. between A and B Sts. It was organized in 1887. On Oct. 13, 1893 the trustees took title to the property. Interest died out and the mission was closed in 1909.

The East Side Baptist Mission was organized in 1886 at the home of Miss Amelia Taylor. The meetings were held in Coffin's Hall at 12th and Heald Sts. After the Swedish Baptist Church was built at 12th and Heald Sts., in 1891 the meetings were transferred to that church. Among the Superintendents serving this mission were E. W. Countiss, T. H. H. Messinger and Walter R. Hope. The mission was closed in 1899.

Silverbrook Baptist Mission was organized in 1894 and closed at the end of that year.

Second Street Baptist Mission was established in January, 1897, by North Baptist Church but it was soon abandoned.

Elliott Avenue Mission was established at Elliott Avenue, now Concord Ave. and Washington St., in 1892. On Nov. 23, 1892, Del. Ave. Baptist Church purchased the entire Washington St. front from 22nd St. to Elliott Ave. The mission was in charge of George B. Smedley. It was closed in 1901.
Central Baptist Church was organized by a group who withdrew from North Baptist on Oct. 2, 1927. They held their meetings in Eden Hall. The group disbanded in 1929.

The Union Street Baptist Mission was conducted during the period including Jan. 1, 1887, at 17th and Union Sts.

The McDowellville Baptist Mission, at 11th and Dupont Sts., was built and donated to Delaware Ave. Baptist Church, in 1871, by Philip McDowell. The chapel was dedicated on May 18, 1879 at 3:30 P. M. by the Rev. Isaac W. Haldeman.

The Third Baptist Church on 12th St., between Market and Orange Sts., was organized on Apr. 6, 1858 with the Rev. Samuel Earle, as pastor.

METHODIST

Asbury Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1766, Captain Thomas Webb, a retired British Army officer and one of the Methodism's early missionaries, preached in a small grove of trees at 8th and King Sts. After a series of these meetings, the first indoor meeting of Methodists worshipped in the upper story of Jos. Gilpin's storehouse on King St. wharf. A short time later they were invited to meet in the schoolhouse of John Thelwell at the s. e. cor. 3rd and King Sts. Some meetings were also held in the cooper-shop of Geo. Wills, on Water St. east of Market St. It was in Mr. Thelwell's school that an organization was effected. Francis Asbury preached in Wilmington on Aug. 14, 1772 and again on Feb. 28, 1775. Preaching was held at times in the home of J. Stidham.

Harry, the negro traveling companion and servant of Mr. Asbury, although illiterate, became quite famed for his preaching in Wilmington and at other places. On May 12, 1789, a lot of land near the s. e. cor. 3rd and Walnut Sts. was purchased as a site for a church, from Caleb Way, for 105 pounds.

The corner-stone was laid in the summer of 1789 and the church was dedicated on Oct. 14, 1789, by Bishop Asbury for whom it was named. On that date Mr. Asbury notes in his Journal, "thus far we come after twenty years labor in this place." The church had a high pulpit and a gallery. The Bible desk was built of open framework and the leader of the singing was seated directly beneath the desk. When a hymn was announced he would come out, to lead the singing, after which he would return to his bench. The seats were of plank with a single-rail back. A partition 4 ft. high extended down the center of the church, dividing the men from the women. Outside, a 7 ft. fence extended from the church to the wall at the front of the property, the men and women entering through separate gates. To the right and left of the pulpit were the "Amen corners" where the oldest members would be seated.

During the first ten or twelve years the members of Asbury were subjected to many indignities and unruly men and boys disturbed all of the meetings. It became necessary for the safety of the members to hold the evening meetings early so that they could be dismissed before dark. On Sept. 23, 1800, a resolution was passed appointing a committee to combat this growing evil. Advertisements, threatening prosecution of the offenders, were placed in the local papers. These advertisements seemed to have had the desired effect.

The church was incorporated and trustees were elected on May 25, 1802. At a meeting of the trustees held on July 17, 1802 steps were taken to build
By 1805, Asbury Church had 100 negroes on its roll, who ordinarily used the galleries during services. The colored membership had become so large that it was felt necessary that they use the main floor for their class meetings. But their enthusiasm ran so high and some of them were so careless in their activities that on June 19, 1805, the trustees passed a resolution requiring the negroes to hold all of their meetings in the galleries. It was during this year that, through the efforts of Asbury Church, Ezion Church was organized and built. In 1809, a few of the members, who wished to sit in a group and lead in the singing, erected a door to one of the benches in the gallery in order to reserve this bench for themselves. This resulted in a resolution being passed on June 21, 1809, directing the sexton to remove the door and to keep the entrance to all benches open to anyone.

In 1811, the length of the church was increased 20 ft. In 1818, the church was severely damaged by a storm but repairs were made immediately. In 1822, a building was erected, south of the church, for Sunday School and day-school purposes. On Dec. 2, 1824, the trustees decided to install sperm-oil lamps to replace the candles which had been used up to this time. On Mar. 11, 1828, it was decided to enlarge the church and to have galleries on three sides. In 1829, the infant department built a two-story brick day-school on Shipley St., near 4th St. This school was very successful for a time but, burdened by debt, the building was surrendered, in 1832, to the trustees who converted it into a parsonage and it was used as such until 1843.

It appears that some of the evening meetings would be continued until midnight or later. On Jan. 16, 1829, the trustees directed the sexton to close the building at 10 o'clock, with some exceptions. Space for graves in the burying-ground would be sold to non-members but members of the church were not required to pay. In 1826, it was decided that unless a member was paid up and in good standing, he would have to pay for graves. This decision was appealed on Aug. 14, 1830, but the trustees refused the appeal.

On Aug. 20, 1832, the trustees decided that men and women could use the same doors but they must still be seated separately, the men on the left and the women on the right. Extensive enlargements were made in 1838, including two classrooms in back of the gallery. In 1839, one hundred years after Methodism was organized in England and fifty years after the dedication of Asbury, a Centenary celebration was held. The religious observance was held on Sun., Oct. 25, 1839. A modern pulpit was installed in 1840. While the Rev. Anthony Atwood was pastor, in 1845, the church was converted into a two-story building with a lecture-room for Sunday School purposes on the first floor. It was during this year that promiscuous sitting was first permitted. In 1846, a portion of the newly-built roof was blown off but repairs were made immediately.

In 1851, after a discussion lasting five years, the sperm-oil lamps were replaced by gas illumination. In 1872, general improvements were made, including a recess pulpit. The rededication services were held on Sun., Jan. 19, 1873. The guest of honor was the Rev. Father Boehm, aged 97 years. He had been Bishop Asbury's traveling companion and served as Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District in 1813. The morning service was conducted by the Rev. John Simms, D.D., LL.D., assisted by the Revs. J. B. Quigg and A. Atwood. The afternoon service was conducted by the Rev. Jacob Todd and Father Boehm gave a short talk. The dedicatory sermon was preached at the evening service by the Rev. Dr. Simms.

In 1885, the building was enlarged and improved after which reopening services were held on Nov. 8, 1885. The services were in charge of the Rev. Dr. C. N. Simms and the Rev. Dr. J. Richards Boyle. After extensive improvements the church was rededicated on Nov. 20, 1898, at the evening service by the Rev. Dr. B. I. Ives and Pres. Elder Robert Watt. The new pipe-organ was also dedicated.

On Mar. 27, 1904, after the Rev. H. S. Dulaney had delivered his farewell sermon, the congregation gathered around him, when a floor beam cracked but the floor held and no one was injured. Improvements were made in 1908. On Oct. 3, 1937, five memorial windows were dedicated.

The Sunday School. In 1818, three of the women members of Asbury were inspired to open a Sunday School. The Sunday School was organized in the church but the trustees ruled that only girls could attend as boys were vandals by nature and would cut the benches and woodwork with their knives, which they probably would have done, unless restrained. The organizers would not agree to this but secured the use of a house on the s. w. cor. 2nd and Walnut Sts., owned by John Taylor, where both boys and girls were received. Later the school moved to the loft over David Bush's storehouse at 6-8 e. Front St. The next move was to a frame building at the n. w. cor. Sixth and King Sts. Sunday school was held in the morning after which the entire school marched, two abreast, to Asbury Church for the preaching service. The school grew so fast and the interest was so great that the Asbury officials were obliged to recognize the work and to promise encouragement.

On July 5, 1819, a meeting was called in the church and a Sunday School was duly organized with constitution, by-laws and elected officials. On Apr. 25, 1822, the trustees decided to erect a frame building, south of the church, for the use of the Sunday School. The building was completed on Aug. 2, 1822 and the Sunday School moved from 6th and King Sts. to their new building in the fall. Meetings were held here until 1835 when the main building was utilized. A lending library was established on Mar. 13, 1827. By 1837, the Sunday School had grown to such proportions that two schools had been organized as No. 1 and No. 2 school, one meeting in the lecture-room and the other in the auditorium. In September, 1869, the two schools were combined.

St. Paul's Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized on Jan. 26, 1844, at the home of Hyland B. Pennington, s. e. cor. 4th and Market Sts. The Rev. John Kennaday, pastor of Asbury Church, was in charge of the meeting. Committees were appointed and on Mar. 7, 1844, a church site, on Market St., above 7th St., was purchased from John McKnight. The erection of a church was started immediately. The corner-stone was laid on June 4, 1844. The trustees adopted the pew system, quite an innovation in a Methodist church which resulted in St. Paul's being called "the silk-stocking church" for many years. The church was dedicated on Thurs. afternoon, Mar. 13, 1845. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Ridgeley and the dedicating sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Kennaday on the text—Psalms 27, verses 4 and 5. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Wynkoop. The services were continued on Sunday when the Rev. Levi Scott, A.M., preached in the morning and the Rev. Joseph Castle, A.M., in the afternoon. The amount collected, up to that time, for pews sold and rented was $8000.00. Dr. Kennaday became the first pastor. On Oct. 29, 1847, the building was damaged by fire. On Nov. 17, 1857, a parsonage on 7th St., between Tatnall and West Sts., was purchased from P. H. Mitchell. A morning Sunday School was started in 1858. In 1872, the church was improved and a pipe-organ was installed. In 1882, the audience-room was improved and the gallery was removed. During this year the trustees purchased the adjoining property. At a prayer service held on Dec. 1, 1882, Mrs. Hannah Mallison presented a communion service consisting of a bowl, two plates and chalices, all of silver. In 1886, the Sunday School building was extended back to Shipley St. New pews were installed in 1895.

The 7th and Market Sts. property was sold to the Wil. Stores Co. on Sept. 23, 1910. The present site on Jackson St., north of 10th St., was purchased on Nov. 12, 1910. Ground was broken for the new church on Mar. 4, 1911, by the pastor, the Rev. C. A. Hill. On that day the ground was covered with a thin layer of snow. The corner-stone was laid on July 9, 1911, with Dr. Thomas E. Martindale, presiding. The prayer was offered by the Rev. Thomas P. Holloway. The last service in the old church was held on Aug. 27, 1911, by the Rev. C. A. Hill, the pastor.

The first service in the new building was a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, held in the Sunday School room on the evening of Sept. 3, 1911. The church was dedicated at the evening service on Mar. 10, 1912, by Bishop Luther B. Wilson. Dr. John Krantz preached at the morning service. The 71th Anniversary was celebrated on Mar. 19, 1916. On Oct. 18, 1925, a new organ was dedicated by Bishop Wm. F. McDowell assisted by the Rev. Carlisle Hubbard, D.D. On May 6, 1928, a communion service was dedicated as a memorial to Mrs. Margaret E. Stradley. It was presented by her sister, Mrs. Emily C. Griffith.

The 100th Anniversary of the church was celebrated with services starting on Sun., Nov. 12, and closing on Sun., Nov. 19, 1944. The pastor, the Rev. Essell P. Thomas was in charge of the arrangements. Among those taking part were Bishop Charles Wesley Flint, the Rev. Dr. Oliver J. Collins, Dist. Supt., and a former pastor of St. Paul's, former pastors, the Rev. Dr. Carlisle L. Hubbard and the Rev. Abram W. Woodward. Mr. A. O. H. Grier delivered an address entitled, "Wilmington Churches of Yesteryear."

Union Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized, in 1847, as the "Orange Street M. E. Mission" by the Rev. Edward Kennard. He had purchased the former M. P. church at 3rd and Orange Sts., and it was here that he organized the Society. In 1848, it was placed under the care of St. Paul's Church with Mr. Kennard as supernumerary. In 1849, it was made a station and a regular pastor was assigned to the mission. During that year it was decided to build a new church in a better location. A lot was secured on Second St., east of Washington St., on which the erection of a new church was started. The corner-stone was laid with Masonic ceremonies and this caused a furore among the members. It resulted in the disbanding of the congregation and the work on the building was stopped before the roof had been built. In the fall, through the efforts of Mrs. Margaret Rumford, a member of Asbury Church, enough money was contributed to have the roof built. In the meantime, Mr. Kennard resumed services in his church at 3rd and Orange Sts., which became known as "Kennard's Church."

In 1850, the Rev. Andrew Manship was appointed to Union Mission, as the church was then called. Having neither a congregation nor a church, Mr.
Manship arranged to hold meetings in the Odd Fellow's Hall at 3rd and King Sts. Mr. Manship met with good success and built up a congregation that decided to finish the church building on Second St. Mr. Manship was a "past master" at raising money for church work and he collected large sums outside of the city. The work of building was resumed and the church was completed after which the first service was held on Oct. 12, 1850. It was dedicated on the morning of Nov. 28, 1850, by Bishop E. S. Janes. He was assisted by the Rev. Henry Slicer, Ass't. Chaplain of the U. S. Senate, of which he became Chaplain on Dec. 7, 1853.

In 1865, it was decided to look for a site for a new church. Lots at 4th and Washington Sts. and 5th and Washington Sts. were considered and the present site at 5th and Washington Sts. was selected and purchased on Mar. 10, 1866, from James L. Devou. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., June 9, 1866, by Bishop E. R. Ames. He was assisted by the Rev. Alfred Scott and the Rev. J. D. Curtis, the pastor. The lecture-room was dedicated on Dec. 23, 1866, at the evening service, by Bishop Ames assisted by Bishop Levi Scott. The morning service was conducted by Bishop Ames and in the afternoon a group of speakers entertained. In spite of inclement weather, large crowds attended all of the services.

The auditorium was dedicated on Nov. 17, 1867, by Bishop Ames. He was assisted by Bishop Scott and the Revs. Mr. England, Mr. Woolston and Mr. Houston.

After a general overhauling and refurbishing a reopening service was held on Mar. 7, 1880, by the Rev. O. W. Scott. In 1896, the Sunday School room was improved and the dwelling adjoining the church on Washington St. was purchased on Jan. 7, 1896 from Samuel A. Price, Jr., for a parsonage. Improvements were made in 1901. After major improvements including 17 new memorial windows a service was held on Sept. 20, 1903. Those taking part included Pres. Elder Robert Watt, and the Revs. J. D. C. Hanna, A. W. Lightbourne and R. H. Adams, the pastor.

Improvements were made in 1905. On Aug. 24, 1915, 507 Washington St. was purchased with the intention of using this property for a parsonage and converting 505 Washington St. into a church-house. Owing to war-time conditions this was postponed. A new pipe-organ was unveiled on May 11, 1919.

During 1925 extensive improvements were made to the church and the property at 505 Washington St. was converted into a church-house. The reopening services started on Sun., Oct. 11, 1925 with the pastor, the Rev. James A. Leach, D.D., in charge. The morning services were conducted by the Rev. J. D. C. Hanna and the Rev. James W. Colona, D.D., preached in the evening. The services continued throughout the following week.

The 95th Anniversary was celebrated with a full week of services starting on Sun., Nov. 1, 1942. Dr. Francis H. Green, of Pennington Seminary spoke at the 3 o'clock exercises. The church had been extensively improved in preparation for this event under the direction of the Rev. T. J. Sard, the pastor.

The 100th Anniversary of the church was celebrated with a full week of services starting on Sun., Apr. 19, 1947 under the direction of the Rev. T. J. Sard, the pastor.

Mt. Salem Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized in 1847, at Riddle's Banks, on the Brandywine Creek. The first meetings were held in the old Lyceum Building. On May 4, 1847, Wm. Law donated a church site "on the road leading from the Kennett Pike to the Bancroft Mills." This was a portion
The present site at 19th St. and Mt. Salem Lane. The erection of a stone church was started immediately. The dedication services were held on Apr. 23, 1848, by the Rev. Thomas Hodgson. The graveyard across the street from the church was laid out and the oldest tombstone is on the grave of John B. Smith, who died on June 18, 1848. A Sunday School was opened at Riddle's Banks in 1858.

The first church was torn down and a new church was built in 1878. The dedication service was held on Nov. 3, 1878, with Dr. R. L. Dashiell in charge. Bishop Levi Scott was present but very feeble. Among those assisting were the Revs. Alfred T. Scott, Henry Sanderson, John L. Houston and C. F. Sheppard, the pastor. Over the main door there was a stone inscribed "To the memory of James Riddle—he being dead yet speaketh."

This church was destroyed by a fire that started at 2 A.M. on Feb. 2, 1879. Work of rebuilding was started immediately and while the work was in progress, the congregation met in Greenhill Church. The Sunday School met in the Y. M. C. A. Hall at Rising Sun and in Riddle's Chapel.

The new church was dedicated on July 13, 1879 by Dr. John H. Dashiell at the morning service. He was assisted by the Rev. C. F. Sheppard, the pastor. At 8 A.M. a reunion service was held when former pastors were greeted by the congregation. Exercises were held in the afternoon and the Rev. Mr. Dashiell preached again in the evening.

In rebuilding, the tower of the old church was used but the structure was almost entirely new. It was constructed of Brandywine blue rock from Philip P. Tyre's quarry. The pews were ash, trimmed with walnut. There was a recess pulpit. The old altar rail was placed in the lecture room. Mt. Salem Church was interested in missions conducted at Riddle's Banks and at Centerville. In 1893, having been weakened by explosions at the Du Pont Powder Yards on the Brandywine, the steeple was condemned and it was replaced by a frame cupola. On June 9, 1899, Wm. P. Bancroft donated a plot of land to the church. In 1902, the bell presented by the trustees of Riddle's Chapel was placed in the tower.

After extensive renovations, the church was reopened on Sept. 23, 1906, with the Rev. F. L. Carpenter, the pastor, in charge. A love feast was conducted by the Rev. Thomas L. Poulson. At a Sunday School rally speeches were delivered by Pres. Elder A. S. Mowbray and Pres. Elder S. M. Morgan.

In 1917, an addition for a Sunday School was built. It was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 7, 1917. All-day services were held beginning with an old-fashioned class meeting at 9:30 A.M. The morning sermon was delivered by Dist. Supt. Robert Watt. In the afternoon the Sunday School orchestra gave a concert, after which a platform meeting was held. Speeches were made by Mr. Watt, the Rev. T. R. Van Dyke and others. The evening sermon was preached by the Rev. T. R. Van Dyke, former pastor. The dedication was then conducted by the Rev. Wm. E. Habbart assisted by Mr. Van Dyke. A. Edward Rhodes was the architect.

The 75th Anniversary was celebrated with services lasting from Nov. 5 to Nov. 19, 1922.

A new tower was built in 1939. The dedication of the tower was held on Sun., Oct. 29, 1939. The Rev. W. E. Habbart preached in the morning and the Rev. L. E. Windsor in the evening.

Two new flags and a set of stained glass windows were dedicated on Dec. 12, 1943. The Rev. F. D. Milbury, the pastor, was in charge of the services. The speaker was Dr. Samuel L. Hamilton, of the New York University, a former member of Mt. Salem Church.
Scott Methodist Church (M.E.). On Sept. 28, 1851, a union Sunday School was established in Kennard's Church at 7th and Walnut Sts. by the members of Asbury and Union M. E. Churches and Hanover Presbyterian Church. In 1852, the school was removed to the public school at 6th and French Sts. A chapel was built at 7th and Spruce Sts. The corner-stone was laid on Thurs., Sept. 30, 1852 by the Revs. Mr. Humphrey, A. Atwood and Mr. Hodgson. The address was delivered by Judge Willard Hall. The dedication service was held in December, 1852.

It was called the "Seventh Street Sabbath School." The first meeting was held on Jan. 6, 1853. The Presbyterians gradually dropped out leaving the Methodists in charge. The Presbyterians claimed that the Methodists had stolen the chapel from them, at any rate, the name was changed to the "Seventh Street M. E. Church." In 1855, the church was enlarged and the name "Scott M. E. Church" was adopted. Rumor has it that this was inspired by a desire to secure a $100.00 subscription from Bishop Levi Scott and that it was successful. The dedication service was held on Sept. 23, 1855, by the Revs. J. T. Cooper, Mr. Crooks and Mr. Longacre.

The change in name was first noted in the minutes of Oct. 12, 1855. In 1856, the first Sunday School excursion to a seashore resort, no doubt, was held and it was the beginning of an annual affair that was continued for possibly sixty years. In 1863, promiscuous seating of men and women was first introduced at Scott Church. In December, 1863, it was decided to purchase a "harmonium" for the Sunday School. This was done and on May 6, 1864, the trustees decided to allow the "harmonium" to be used at the church services. For technical reasons the church was attached to Grace Church in 1866 and named "Grace Chapel." In 1867, this connection was severed and the name "Scott" was resumed.

Improvements were started in 1867 and while the work was in progress the church met in Institute Hall and the City Hall while the Sunday School met in the public school at 7th and Spruce Sts. In October, 1867, the basement was completed and used for worship. While the rebuilding was being done, the front wall collapsed into the street, instantly killing a hod-carrier who had stopped work at quarter to 6 o'clock. It was said that if he had not "knocked off" work 15 minutes ahead of time, he would not have been killed. The improvements were entirely completed and the dedication was held on Sun., May 26, 1872. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by the Rev. James Neall assisted by the Rev. T. L. Thompkinson, the pastor. A reunion service was held in the afternoon and the Rev. Jacob Todd preached in the evening.

A morning Sunday School was opened in March, 1873. Further improvements were made in 1882. The church was again improved in 1890, after which a reopening service was held on Oct. 20, 1890. The morning service was in charge of the Rev. George E. Reed, D.D., the Sunday School was addressed by Chief Justice Charles B. Lore, Joseph Pyle and others. A love-feast at 6 o'clock was in charge of the Rev. W. L. S. Murray. The evening service was conducted by the Rev. J. S. Willis assisted by the Rev. Vaughan S. Collins, the pastor.

A reopening service was held on Nov. 26, 1899, by the Rev. Dr. B. I. Ives assisted by the Rev. Frank P. Harris, the pastor. The church had been greatly improved including the installation of a number of beautiful memorial windows. One of these was in memory of Bishop Levi Scott.

A Community-House was presented by Wm. H. Todd, former Wilmingtonian, in memory of his parents. The furnishings were presented by Mr.
Todd's children. It was dedicated on Sat., Nov. 27, 1926, at 7:30 P. M., by Bishop W. F. McDowell.

Brandywine Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1839, two women from Asbury Church opened a Sunday School in the old Academy, on Vandever Ave., in Brandywine Village. In 1853, the work was taken over by Union Church but in 1856 the work again passed into the care of Asbury Church. In the fall of 1856, a Methodist Society was formally organized. Trustees were elected on Nov. 19, 1857 and the church was incorporated on May 3, 1858. A site was selected on the n. e. cor. 22nd and Market Sts. upon which the erection of a two-story brick church was started. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 29, 1857 with the Revs. Alfred A. Cookman and Newton Heston officiating.

The church was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 31, 1858, with Bishop Levi Scott in attendance. At 10 A. M. the Rev. Anthony Atwood preached, at 3 P. M. the Rev. A. Manship had charge and at 7 P. M. the Rev. Wm. Urie, Pres. Elder conducted the services. The struggle against the debt incurred was disheartening. The trustees became so discouraged that on Jan. 30, 1864, they went on record that the Sheriff should be allowed to sell the property for the benefit of the creditors. In the fall of that year the Sheriff did advertise the property for sale but a small group of Methodists came to the rescue. Joseph Pyle was one of these and he became Supt. of the Sunday School. He presented an organ to the Sunday School and his daughter was the first to play it. This was the first musical instrument in Brandywine Church.

In the early summer of 1865 an excursion, by boat, to Cape May, was arranged for the benefit of the church. It was an eminent success and marked the beginning of an annual affair looked forward to, in Brandywine Village. Most of the excursionists, led by a band, would march down to the embarkation point. In 1884, the church was enlarged and a recess pulpit was added. While this work was in progress a successful revival was held in a tent at 24th and Market Sts. In 1889, cathedral glass windows were installed in the audience-room. The corner-stone of a chapel for Sunday School purposes was laid on Dec. 1, 1889. The services were conducted by the Revs. E. L. Hubbard and J. D. C. Hanna. It was opened for the first services on Feb. 13, 1890. The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. Adam Stengle and speeches were made by the Rev. Jacob Todd and other ministers.

In 1897, the dwelling next door to the church, 2206 Market St., was purchased as a parsonage. The church was improved in 1899. After extensive repairs a reopening service was held on Oct. 4, 1908. In 1915, the church was enlarged. In 1928, the exterior was resurfaced and in 1938 improvements were again made. Sound equipment, the gift of the Busy Bee Class in memory of Mrs. Chas. Urner, was first used on Easter Sunday, 1945.

Epworth Methodist Church (M.E.). At the s. e. cor. of 7th and Church Sts., is the entrance to Old Swedes Cemetery. On either side of the Gothic gateway there is a building of stone and it was in one of these buildings that the effort to establish a Methodist Sunday School in that neighborhood was started on a Sunday in October, 1863. Organization was effected on Nov. 6, 1863, when officers were elected and the name "St. Paul's M. E. Mission Sunday School" was adopted. The Sunday School was a success and the room was soon too small to accommodate the members. J. Taylor Gause erected a frame chapel, at his own expense, at 7th and Buttonwood Sts., to which the Sunday School was moved. This work, started by St. Paul's Church was taken over by Grace Church and the name "Grace M. E. Sunday School, No. 2," was adopted on Apr. 8, 1866.
In May, 1868, a lot on 10th St., extending from Bennett to Church Sts., was purchased and the erection of a chapel was started. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., Nov. 21, 1868, a cold, raw day. Taking part in the ceremonies were the Revs. Wm. J. Stevenson, B. Crist, A. T. Scott and T. F. Plummer. The chapel was dedicated in April, 1869, by the Rev. W. J. Stevenson. It was at this time that the name "Epworth" was adopted.

Ten years later a new chapel was completed and it was dedicated on Mar. 17, 1879. A successful revival, started in September, 1888, was continued night after night until May, 1889. The increased membership could not possibly be accommodated in the small chapel. Rebuilding was started in May and it was completed and was rededicated on July 28, 1889. There were three services, in charge of the Rev. J. D. C. Hanna, Pres. Elder W. L. S. Murray and the Rev. L. E. Barrett.

On June 2, 1892, it was decided to sell the 10th and Bennett Sts. property and on June 4, a church site was purchased at 10th and Lombard Sts. A tent was erected on the new site and meetings were held beginning Sun., June 12, 1892. The ground was broken for a new church on Wed. afternoon, Aug. 17, 1892. The corner-stone was laid on Oct. 6, 1892, at 3 P. M. Those taking part in the services were the Rev. J. Y. Dobbins, D.D., who presided and the Revs. Merritt Hulburd, D.D., W. L. S. Murray, E. L. Hubbard and L. E. Barrett, Pres. Elder. The church was dedicated at the evening service on May 21, 1893, by Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu, D.D., LL.D., who preached in the morning and afternoon. He was assisted by Pres. Elder L. E. Barrett, the Rev. Dr. Hamilton and the Revs. John Y. Dobbins and T. Snowden Thomas. A full week of services followed. The pulpit furniture and communion service were presented by the Ladies' Aid Society. The pulpit Bible and hymnal were presented by J. Miller Thomas. The church was enlarged in 1915.

The 75th Anniversary was celebrated with a one-week series of services which began Nov. 4, 1938. Due to radical changes in the neighborhood and with small hope of better times, the trustees decided, in April, 1942, to offer the property for sale. The last communion was held on Sun., Sept. 6, and the closing services were held on Sun., Sept. 13, 1942. The morning sermon was preached by the Rev. Essel P. Thomas, a former pastor and the evening sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Oliver J. Collins, the Dist. Supt. The property was sold to the Mt. Carmel Methodist Church, a colored congregation, on Sept. 16, 1942.

Grace Methodist Church (M.E.) is a child of St. Paul's Church. On Nov. 17, 1864, a meeting was held, in the classrooms of St. Paul's Church, by a small group, for the purpose of forming a new congregation and erecting a church. Trustees were elected and the name "Grace" was adopted on Jan. 27, 1865. The first meeting of the trustees was held on Mar. 24, 1865. At a meeting of the trustees, held on Mar. 28, 1865, the plans for the new church were approved. A lot at n. w. cor. 9th and West Sts. was purchased on Apr. 6, 1865, as a church site. The corner-stone of the new building was laid on Oct. 7, 1865, by Bishop Simpson. He was assisted by Pres. Elder J. Cunningham and the Revs. Wm. Aikman, Geo. F. Wiswell and George Quigley, the pastor.

The first services in the new building were held on Mar. 25, 1866. While the services were being conducted some of the outside scaffolding was blown down, causing quite a commotion but no one was injured. A Sunday School was organized that afternoon. The pews were sold on Fri. eve., Mar. 30, 1866.

The chapel was dedicated at 10:30 A. M. on June 10, 1866, by Bishop Ames. A resolution was passed, that a suitable stone bearing the inscription
“Our Centenary Offering, 1866” be placed in a prominent place in the main church building. This intention was carried out, as can be seen in the east gable. The Sunday School room was dedicated on June 17, 1866. The church spire was built on the ground and then raised into place by means of two gin poles, a windlass and eight horses. This was quite an engineering feat and the pupils of Public School No. 2 at 11th and Washington Sts. were dismissed so that they could see the show. The church was completed and was dedicated on Thurs., Jan. 23, 1868, with Bishops Simpson, Scott and Ames taking part. The serpentine stone, used in building the church, was secured from the Brinton Quarry, located on the battlefield of the Battle of Brandywine.

After major renovations, not the least of these being the installation of electric lighting a reopening service was held on Sun., Oct. 9, 1892. Those taking part included the Revs. T. Snowden Thomas, J. Y. Dobbins, D.D., W. J. Stevenson, D.D., J. E. Smith, D.D., and Pres. Elder L. E. Barrett. Services were continued for a full week.

On Sun., Feb. 3, 1907, an individual communion service, the gift of Mrs. David Lindsay Gillespie, was consecrated. Four memorial windows were unveiled on July 13, 1913. A new pipe-organ was installed in 1916. It was dedicated on Mar. 26, 1916, by Bishop Joseph F. Berry, assisted by Dist. Supt. E. L. Hoffecker and Dr. H. F. Randolph. A set of chimes presented by Mr. and Mrs. Melville Gambrill, were dedicated on Thanksgiving night, 1920, by Bishops Wm. F. McDowell and Charles L. Mead. Mr. Gambrill made a short response after which the chimes were played by Mr. Meneeley of the Meneeley Foundry who had cast the bells. On Feb. 5, 1922, two additional chime bells, the gift of Mr. Gambrill, were presented by Caleb E. Burchenal and accepted by John S. Mullin.

The church was further improved in 1924 through the generosity of Mr. Gambrill. A memorial window was dedicated on Feb. 17, 1924, by Bishop Wm. F. McDowell assisted by the Rev. Benjamin M. Johns, D.D., the pastor.

The property adjoining the church on West St. was purchased on Dec. 20, 1915. The building was altered and placed in use as a church-house. Plans for building a modern church-house were perfected and the cornerstone was laid on Dec. 20, 1942, at 9:30 A. M., by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, assisted by the Dist. Supt. Oliver J. Collins, D.D., the Rev. B. M. Johns, D.D., the pastor and the Rev. Ralph L. Minker, the associate pastor. This was followed by a dedication sermon preached by Bishop Hughes. The church-house includes a chapel, class rooms, offices, a large fellowship-room with a stage, banquet tables and a kitchen.

Riddle’s M. E. Chapel was built in 1871, a short distance from its present site on Riddle Avenue. Mr. James Riddle, the owner of the Kentmere Cotton Mills on the Brandywine and also a Methodist local-preacher, built the chapel for the convenience of his employees. The chapel was dedicated on Christmas Day, 1871, by the Rev. Geo. Watson.

The church bell was originally hung in a low tree but was later moved to a tall oak tree. The steam whistle was invented in 1826. It is first mentioned as being used on factories to call the men to their work, in 1842. Previous to this time most factories were equipped with bells to serve this purpose. The Riddle Mills apparently had neither a bell nor a whistle as the Riddle Chapel bell was rung to call the men to their duties in the mills. The chapel was moved to its present site, renovated and electric lighting was installed after which a reopening service was held on Sun., Feb. 7, 1897, at 2:30 P. M. Those taking part were the Revs. S. M. Morgan and John France. Addresses were made by the Hon. John Field and the Hon. Charles B. Lore.

At a service held on Mar. 20, 1898, the title to the property was turned over to a board of trustees. Bishop Newman preached the sermon and Wm. M. Field delivered an address. The organ, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Field was used for the first time on Jan. 29, 1899. It was formally opened on Feb. 5, 1899 with organists George W. Powick and George N. Maris doing the honors.

Mr. Riddle, in his will, left an annuity to both Riddle's Chapel and Mt. Salem Church. The last services in Riddle's Chapel were held on Sun., Nov. 29, 1925. In 1936, the Methodist Conference proposed to sell the property. After litigation by some of the Riddle heirs to secure possession of the site, the Chancellor ruled that the chapel belonged to the Methodist Conference. On Oct. 11, 1941, the Joseph Bancroft and Sons Co. purchased the chapel and it is now used as a Community Center.

Madeley Methodist Church (M.E.). The site of Madeley Church at Claymont and B Sts. was purchased by the Sunday School Union of Grace Church on June 24, 1870 and May 5, 1873. A tent was erected and on Easter Sunday, Apr. 9, 1871, the Rev. Jacob Todd held a service. A temporary frame chapel was built and the opening service was held on Apr. 23, 1871. This building was later sold to a negro congregation and moved away.

The corner-stone of a new church was laid in August, 1872. It was dedicated on Dec. 29, 1872, by Dr. J. W. Stevenson, assisted by the Revs. I. N. Foreman, Jacob Todd and H. H. Davis. Speeches were delivered by S. M. Harrington, Esq., and Henry C. Conrad, Esq.

The name "Madeley," after a parish in England, was adopted. The church was incorporated on Apr. 19, 1894. Madeley Church took title to the property on June 19, 1894. After having been rebuilt, the church was reopened on July 23, 1899. The three services were conducted by the Revs. L. E. Barrett, J. P. Otis, Harvey W. Ewing and Van P. Northrup, the pastor. The parsonage, adjoining the church, was built in 1911.

Kingswood Methodist Church (M.E.). In May, 1872, Mrs. Alice Rinker, a member of Brandywine Church, started a Sunday School in her home on Forrest St. It was named the "East Wilmington M. E. Sunday School." As the work progressed, St. Paul's Church assisted Mrs. Rinker. A mission was organized in February, 1873, and the name "St. Paul's M. E. Mission" was adopted. On June 5, 1873, St. Paul's Church purchased, from Eli Mendenhall, the church site at 14th and Claymont Sts. A chapel was built and it was opened on Nov. 1, 1873. It was dedicated later in that month and named "Kingswood Chapel of St. Paul's M. E. Church."

After being enlarged and improved a reopening service was held on June 3, 1883. It continued as a mission until 1884, when a regular pastor was installed. The Sunday School was organized on Sun., Oct. 6, 1889. On June 10, 1889, Kingswood was formally set apart from St. Paul's Church and made a station. They were incorporated on Feb. 26, 1890. Kingswood took title to the property on Aug. 22, 1890.

The ground was broken for a new church on July 13, 1891. The cornerstone was laid on Sept. 5, 1891. The ceremony took place on Sat. evening at 6 o'clock. There was a brass band in attendance, quite a novelty for the Methodists. The cornerstone was laid by Pres. Elder W. L. S. Murray assisted by the Rev. H. S. Dulaney.
The basement was dedicated on Jan. 10, 1892, at the morning service. The service of dedication was read by the Rev. T. A. Fernley, D.D. Taking part in the services were Bishop Randolph S. Foster, the Revs. W. L. S. Murray and H. S. Dulaney and Mrs. Annie Rinker. The auditorium was dedicated on Oct. 6, 1895. The morning service was conducted by the Rev. Thomas Hanlon, Pres. of Pennington Seminary. The dedication service, by the Rev. Merritt Hulburd, D.D., was held in the afternoon. The organ was presented by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Todd in memory of their daughter.

The parsonage was purchased in 1917. Extensive improvements to the church were made in 1938. The 70th Anniversary of the church was celebrated on Nov. 8, 1942. One of the speakers was Mrs. Alice Detweiler of Camden, N. J., a grand-daughter of Mrs. Alice Rinker, the founder of Kingswood Church.

In the fall of 1945 the project of erecting an unsectarian community center was started. It includes a two-story building and the conversion of the church auditorium on the second floor into a gymnasium. The first floor of the church was then remodeled for use as the church auditorium.

The auditorium and sanctuary were dedicated on Sun., Nov. 24, 1946, at a 3 o'clock service. The Rev. Dr. Oliver J. Collins, Dist. Supt. performed the ceremony with the assistance of the Rev. Dr. A. J. Jackson of Newark.

Silverbrook Methodist Church (M.E.). In June, 1880, a series of open-air meetings were started on Thawley St., under the leadership of Andrew J. Dolbow and Robert L. Rodgers. On June 22, 1881, a Methodist Society was formed, trustees were elected and they were incorporated as the "Silverbrook Chapel." The open-air meetings were continued until October and then suspended. The meetings were resumed on May 27, 1883. Later, meetings were held in the home of Robert West and in a remodeled stable. Asbury Church took charge of it as a mission and in January, 1884, Charles Moore, a local-preacher, was assigned to it.

On Nov. 24, 1884, a church site at 2nd and Rodman Sts. was purchased from Mary E. Riley. A frame church, with a recess pulpit, was built. The cornerstone was laid on Thurs., Jan. 8, 1885, by the Revs. W. L. S. Murray and E. L. Hubbard. The church was dedicated on May 31, 1885, by the Rev. W. L. S. Murray. The pulpit furniture was donated by Dr. J. H. Simms of Asbury Church. The first regular pastor was assigned in 1887 and it was made a station in 1888.

More land was purchased and the church was repaired after which a reopening service was held on Sept. 22, 1889. The three services were conducted by the Revs. W. L. S. Murray, L. E. Barrett and J. D. C. Hanna. Silverbrook M. E. Church was incorporated on June 9, 1890.

More land was secured on Nov. 25, 1891, after which plans were made for building a new church. When the ground was broken for this building the first spadeful of earth was turned over by Willie Connell, a grandson of Joseph Pyle. Mr. Pyle had donated the site and contributed heavily toward the cost of the building. The cornerstone was laid on Oct. 15, 1892, by the Rev. T. E. Terry assisted by a large number of ministers. The Sunday School was opened on Sun., July 23, 1893. The church was dedicated on Sept. 24, 1893, at the evening service, by Bishop John P. Newman.

Elwood P. Pyle donated additional land to the church on on Oct. 23, 1907. After extensive repairs a reopening service was held on Sept. 19, 1909, by the Rev. W. E. Greenfield, the pastor. Additional land was purchased on Nov. 28, 1916.
The Joseph W. Coley Community House was built in 1921. The ground was broken on Tues. evening, May 3, 1921. The first spadeful of earth was turned by Joseph W. Coley who had been Supt. of the Sunday School for many years.

It was dedicated on Oct. 30, 1921, at the evening service, by Bishop John W. Hamilton. He was assisted by the Revs. Robert Watt and John H. Willey. A new organ was dedicated on Apr. 3, 1938, by Bishop Fred T. Keeney assisted by the Rev. J. Harry Wright, the pastor.

The Swedish Methodist Church (M.E.) was located on e. 11th St., near Heald St. It was started as a Sunday School in Kingswood Church in 1882. The members were children of Swedes who had lately arrived in this country. Capt. Alex Kelley and members of Grace Church took an active interest in this work. The lot on Eleventh St. was purchased in April, 1883, and the church was completed in the fall.

The Rev. Carl O. Carlson, a native of Sweden, was assigned to take charge of the church. A board of trustees was elected on Oct. 22, 1883. On this date the church was dedicated by the Rev. Mr. Carlson assisted by the Rev. J. Richards Boyle. The church was incorporated on June 15, 1921. After more than a half-century of good work, a radical change took place in the neighborhood. These new conditions caused the congregation to become so small that they gave up the effort and the church was closed in January, 1942. The building was then rented to an independent colored congregation known as the St. Beulah Apostolic Faith.

Wesley M. E. Church. On Dec. 23, 1884, a meeting of Methodists was held in the home of James Shakespeare, 306 s. Jackson St. Wesley Church was the outgrowth of this meeting. On Jan. 11, 1885, a Sunday School was organized, under the auspices of Pres. Elder Charles Hill, in a store at Maryland Ave. and Linden St. Jabez Hodson, a local-preacher from St. Paul's Church was made Supt. The meeting place was later changed to Maryland Ave. and Bird St. A tent was purchased and meetings were held in it during the summer weather. The church was formally organized on June 4, 1885. Meetings were then held on the second floor of the Weccacoe Fire House, 2nd and Jackson Sts. On Mar. 20, 1886 and June 5, 1886, a lot on the n. e. cor. of Linden and Jackson Sts. was purchased from Swithen Chandler and Jas. C. Johnson as a church site. A brick church, 39 ft. x 59 ft., was then built. The corner-stone was laid on Nov. 6, 1886, by Pres. Elder Hill assisted by the Revs. Jacob Todd, Adam Stengle, E. L. Hubbard and J. T. Gardner, the pastor.

After many discouragements the church was completed and it was dedicated by Pres. Elder W. L. S. Murray at the evening service on Dec. 4, 1887. He was assisted by the Rev. E. L. Hubbard and the Rev. Dr. Jacob Todd. The pews were donated by St. Paul's Church. Various equipment was donated by interested Methodists.

This church soon became too small to accommodate the growing congregation and it was torn down in 1890 and the erection of a new church, 50 ft. by 75 ft. was started. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., June 14, 1890, by the Rev. W. G. Koons. He was assisted by Pres. Elder W. L. S. Murray and the Revs. J. D. C. Hanna, Adam Stengle and T. S. Thomas. The building was completed and was dedicated on Nov. 2, 1890. Those taking part in the services were Dr. S. F. Upham, Dr. Jacob Todd, the Rev. W. L. S. Murray and Joseph Pyle.
After being greatly improved, a reopening service was held on Nov. 12, 1899, by Pres. Elder Robert Watt and the Rev. W. F. Dawson, the pastor. This church ceased activities in 1925 at which time, May 19, 1925, title to the property was assumed by the M. E. Mis. and Ch. Extension Society. The church was used then as a community-center. It was sold to the Knights of St. Hedwig on Jan. 30, 1934.

Cookman M. E. Church was organized in 1888 and named for the Rev. Alfred Cookman. On July 4, 1888, the first floor of 1307 Scott St. was rented, the second floor being occupied by a fife and drum corps. The Rev. W. W. Taylor proceeded to prepare the room for services. The first meeting was held on the afternoon of July 29, 1888. Preaching was held immediately after the Sunday School meetings. On Aug. 26, a Sunday School Board was elected. The name “Cookman” was adopted on Aug. 30. On Sept. 1, Cookman was received as one of Asbury’s Sunday Schools. The Rev. W. W. Taylor died on Dec. 1 and the monument over his grave is inscribed “The founder of Cookman M. E. Church.” When the members assembled on Dec. 31, for watchnight services, they found the fife and drum corps going “full tilt” on the second floor. The members were in a quandary but their problem was solved when the music subsided at five minutes of twelve.

As the congregation grew larger it was decided to erect a substantial church building. They were incorporated on May 29, 1891. A lot on the n. e. cor. of 14th and Dupont Sts. was purchased on Jan. 7, 1892. The ground was broken on Mar. 6, 1894. One of the Sunday School teachers paid $25.00 for the privilege of turning the first spadeful of earth. The Revs. John Y. Dobbins, D.D., and A. T. Scott conducted the ceremonies. The corner-stone was laid on Apr. 9, 1894, by the Rev. L. E. Barrett, the Presiding Elder.

The first service, in the new building, was held on July 15, 1894 and the dedication services were held on Dec. 30, 1894 by Pres. Elder L. E. Barrett. He was assisted by the Revs. E. Stubbs, M. Hulburd, F. B. Short, J. D. C. Hanna and J. B. Quigg.

The West End Reading Room property, adjoining Cookman Church, was purchased on Mar. 20, 1922. Because of declining membership it was decided, on Mar. 5, 1936, to close the church. The property was sold to the First Independent Church on June 2, 1937.

Eastlake Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1888, Jos. L. Carpenter, Jr., offered to donate one-half of the cost of a lot at 29th and West Sts. as a site for a Methodist chapel but for some reason the offer was not accepted. In 1889, a small group from Brandywine Church began to hold cottage prayer-meetings in what was then known as "East Lake Park." In the fall of 1889 a store room on 31st St., west of Jefferson St., was secured and a Sunday School was started. The church was organized on Feb. 16, 1890. On May 17, 1890, a lot at s. w. cor. 30th and Tatnall Sts. was purchased by Brandywine Church. A frame chapel was built and it was dedicated on June 1, 1890. A formal opening was held on June 29, 1890, with Pres. Elder W. L. S. Murray and the Revs. J. T. Van Burkhalow and C. A. Grise taking part. The name "Eastlake M. E. Church" was then adopted.

At that time the sidewalks in that neighborhood consisted of "duck boards." The church was incorporated on Jan. 10, 1892. On Mar. 19, 1892, the title to the property was transferred to the Eastlake M. E. Church. The frame chapel was enlarged in 1895. In 1905, the frame chapel was torn down and the brick church was built. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., June 17, 1905, by the Revs. Hubert W. Wells, W. L. S. Murray and R. K. Stevenson. The dedication services were held on Oct. 15, 1905. Among those taking part were Chief Justice Charles B. Lore, the Rev. Dr. John Krantz and Pres. Elder A. S. Mowbray.

Additional land was purchased on Jan. 2, 1906 and on June 28, 1909. In 1916, the building was enlarged. The rededication services were held on Jan. 7, 1917, at 10:30 A. M. The ceremonies were in charge of the Rev. Robert Watt, assisted by the Rev. John Krantz, D.D., the Rev. J. H. Gray, the Rev. H. Cunningham and the Rev. V. P. Northrup.

The 50th Anniversary of the church was celebrated in 1940 with services lasting from Nov. 24, to Dec. 1. At this time a new organ was dedicated by the Rev. Walter E. Gunby, Dist. Supt., assisted by the pastor, the Rev. C. C. Harris.

Harrison Street Methodist Church (M.E.). A Sunday School was organized on Sept. 11, 1890, at the home of Howard L. George, 1303 w. 8th St. Meetings were held in two rooms at 800 n. Franklin St. It was known as the "Franklin Street Sunday School" and was sponsored by St. Paul's Church. The first sermon was preached on Oct. 5, 1890, by the Rev. Jabez Hodson. The church was formally organized on Oct. 25, 1890, by the Rev. L. E. Barrett, when the name "Harrison Street" was adopted. They were incorporated on Mar. 25, 1891. A lot on the s. w. cor. of 7th and Harrison Sts. was purchased on Apr. 21, 1891.

A temporary frame chapel was built on the new site and it was opened on May 31, 1891. During the summer it was improved and a reopening service was held on Wed., Sept. 30, 1891, by the Rev. W. J. Duhadway. At that time the sidewalks in that section were built of boards and the plank that led into the chapel was referred to by scoffers as "the Heavenly bridge."

Additional land was purchased on Mar. 18, 1893. The erection of the present church, built of Avondale stone, was started and the corner-stone was laid on Mon., July 17, 1893, at 4 P. M. Chief Justice Charles B. Lore presided and the corner-stone was laid by Pres. Elder L. E. Barrett. Among those assisting at the services were the Revs. O. G. Buddington, Jabez Hodson, John Y. Dobbins, D.D., J.D.C. Hanna, E. L. Hubbard, F. Burgette Short, Moses Heath, J. R. Milligan and T. E. Martindale, D.D., the pastor.

Hanlon, D.D., John Y. Dobbins, D.D., Mr. Joseph Pyle and Charles B. Lore, Esq. Improvements were made and a reopening service was held on Nov. 1, 1897. In 1908, the Epworth League and the Primary Department were added. A service of dedication was held on Sept. 6, 1908, by the Rev. Dr. H. W. Bolton at the morning service. The Rev. A. S. Mowbray delivered an address in the afternoon and the Rev. Clinton T. Wyatt preached in the evening.

A pipe-organ was installed in 1915. Between 1919 and 1924 additions were built, including the parsonage and the church-house which is also equipped as a gymnasium. The dedication of the church-house was held on Apr. 1, 1923. Among those participating were the Revs. Robert Watt, Wm. E. Habbart, F. B. Short and Mayor Le Roy Harvey. Improvements were made in 1938.

1905. Meetings were continued here until May 14, 1905. At that time Conference appointed the Rev. L. I. McDougal as pastor and he held tent meetings from May until October, 1905. During the winter a few faithful members met in private homes. In the spring of 1906, Mr. Cottrell, a devoted friend of the church, proceeded to erect a frame chapel on a lot which is part of the present site. The opening services were held on Mar. 4, 1906. This building was turned over to the trustees of the church on June 30, 1906 and Mr. Cottrell was reimbursed. The chapel was sheathed with sheet iron which was pressed to imitate bricks and it was commonly called the "Little Tin Church." In 1907, the building was greatly improved and slightly enlarged.

The dedicatory service was held on Nov. 17, 1907. Those taking part Wyatt and J. H. Thornton, the pastor. The membership became greatly reduced, with the outlook so poor that the trustees became discouraged and, on June 7, 1911, they turned the property over to the Methodist Conference.

With the appointment of the Rev. R. High Adams, as pastor, in March 1912, the church took on new life and the membership began to grow. Under Mr. Adams' leadership plans were outlined to build a new church. The cornerstone of the present church was laid on Dec. 7, 1913, by Dist. Supt. E. L.

ity Church.

morning service was conducted by Bishop Thomas B. Neeley and the Rev.
E. L. Hoffecker, D.D. The dedication sermon was preached in the evening by Bishop Neeley.

In 1920, extensive renovations were made. In August of that year ground was broken for a new parsonage, next door to the church. The corner-stone was laid in September and it was completed and occupied in December, 1920.
A new pipe-organ was dedicated on Mar. 1, 1942.

Fourteen memorial windows were dedicated on Mar. 23, 1947. Among those taking part in the services were the Revs. Dr. Oliver J. Collins, Howard Davis and W. S. Grant, the pastor.

St. and Baynard Boulevard. The corner-stone was laid on July 4, 1905, at 7 P. M. with the Rev. A. S. Mowbray, Presiding Elder, in charge. The dedication services were held on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30, 1905, by Bishop Charles C.
McCabe with the Rev. A. S. Mowbray assisting. Built of stone the entrance was surmounted with a battlemented tower on which there was a flag pole.
After a rather precarious existence in a neighborhood that at that time was by no means built up, the property was sold to Hanover Presbyterian Church on Mar. 28, 1908.

McCabe Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Lydia W. Slocomb, 1600 Washington St. This meeting was called after the Washington Heights Church had been sold. The first trustees were elected on Mar. 20, 1908. The first service was held on Sun., Mar. 29, 1908. Later, a tent was pitched on a lot at 18th and Monroe Sts. In August, the tent was severely damaged by a storm, after which the services were held in a rented house at 227 Concord Ave. On Apr. 8, 1908, a plot at Baynard Boulevard and 22nd St. was selected as a site for a chapel. The corner-stone was laid on Oct. 3, 1908. Those taking part included the Revs. H. W. Bolton,
The chapel was dedicated on Dec. 6, 1908. A love-feast was led by the Rev. W. L. S. Murray at the morning service. The dedicatory sermon was then preached by the Rev. Dr. John Krantz. The evening service was conducted by the Rev. A. S. Mowbray, Dist. Supt., assisted by the Rev. W. C. Poole, the pastor. The celebration was continued during the following week.

The chapel was vacated on May 11, 1913 and it was torn down. The corner-stone of a new church was laid on July 20, 1913, by the Rev. F. C. MacSorley, the pastor. He was assisted by the Revs. E. L. Hoffecker, R. L. Jackson and John Watchorn. In the meantime, the congregation met in the basement of Public School, No. 30 until Aug. 31. On Sun., Sept. 7, the services were transferred to a dwelling at 505 W. 21st St. The new church was dedicated on Jan. 11, 1914, by Bishop Earl Cranston at the evening service. He was assisted by Dist. Supt. E. L. Hoffecker, the Rev. F. D. Bovard and the Rev. F. C. MacSorley, the pastor.

On Apr. 5, 1922 a committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of building a larger church. The contract for a new building was awarded on June 5, 1923. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 9, 1923, by Bishop W. F. McDowell. The church was dedicated on May 18, 1924, by Bishop McDowell assisted by the Rev. Alan F. Poore, the pastor, and the Rev. James W. Colona, Dist. Supt. The evening service was in charge of the Rev. Victor Mills. Services were held for a full week. In 1928, the dwelling next to the church was purchased for a parsonage.

On Dec. 22, 1940, the church received a gift of $10,000.00 from John C. Hook, in memory of his wife. This money was to be applied to the church debt. Mr. Hook gave a total of $30,000.00 for this purpose.

Candelabra and flower vases, the gift of the Mizpah Class, were dedicated to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hook on Sun., April 20, 1947.

St. Paul's Italian M. E. Church. In 1913, an Italian Mission was organized at Union Church. A dwelling on the east side of West St., south of 3rd St., was purchased by the Wil. City Mission and Church Extension Soc., on Apr. 30, 1913. The building was remodeled for church purposes and it was dedicated on June 15, 1913. Among those taking part in the ceremony were Dist. Supt. E. L. Hoffecker and the Revs. Ettori Di Stefano, W. F. Cochran, E. C. Sunfield, Geo. E. Reed and Frederick Wright. The services were conducted in Italian regardless of the fact that all of those who attended the services could speak English. The Missionary Society was compelled to carry the financial burden as the members would contribute little if anything. In spite of this, the members insisted that they wanted a regular church and not a home-made one.

On June 23, 1917, the Missionary Society purchased a site at the s. w. cor. of 8th St. and Bancroft Parkway. Then they proceeded to build a brick church. The corner-stone was laid on Apr. 7, 1919, by the Rev. Robert Watt. On the same day the dedication services were conducted by the Rev. J. H. Beauchamp assisted by the Rev. Jos. A. Pignaltiello, the pastor. The Rev. N. A. Sabbarese preached a sermon in Italian. The name "St. Paul's Italian M. E. Church" was adopted.

Becoming discouraged with the results obtained, the conference decided to close the church in 1922. It was then taken over by St. Peter's Methodist Church, colored, who laid a cornerstone in 1923. They purchased the property on May 9, 1928. On Aug. 13, 1937, the property was acquired, at a Sheriff's sale, by the Wesleyan Methodist Church.
St. Paul's Wesley Mission. When Union Church moved from 2nd and Washington Sts. to their new home at 5th and Washington Sts., in 1866, the 2nd St. church was occupied by St. Paul's Wesley Mission, sponsored by St. Paul's Church. This mission was active until 1879 at which time the building was taken over by the Reformed Episcopal Church of the Covenant.

The First Methodist Protestant Church. In 1844, a group of Methodist Protestants started the erection of a church at the n. w. cor. of Third and Orange Sts. During the week of Tues., Mar. 4, 1845, the women of the church conducted a Fair in Council room at City Hall to raise funds for the church in course of erection. This church ceased to function in 1848 and the building was sold to the Rev. Edward Kennard, a M. E. preacher. He conducted services here and organized the Orange Street M. E. Mission. It was this Mission that was the forerunner of Union M. E. Church. The chapel was later moved to 7th and Walnut Sts.

This building was purchased on Sept. 1, 1880, from Nathaniel W. Gookin.

The second pastor, the Rev. F. C. Klein, resigned in September, 1882, to become the first male foreign missionary of the M. P. Church and he was stationed at Yokohama, Japan.

In 1885, the building was remodeled and enlarged. The Sunday School room was opened on Nov. 29, 1885, by the Rev. G. F. Farring, the pastor. The building was completed and reopened on Jan. 30, 1887. The building had been entirely rebuilt with the auditorium on the second floor. A new front had been built and new windows installed. The dedication service was conducted by the Rev. W. S. Hammond, in the morning. The evening service was in charge of the Rev. G. F. Farring, the pastor. The dwelling at 314 e. 7th St. was purchased on Apr. 8, 1920, to be used as a parsonage.

On Feb. 25, 1927, a lot of land was purchased at 36th and Washington Sts., as a future church site. The last service was held in the old church on May 19, 1929, by the Rev. E. T. Kirkley. On Aug. 18, 1929, a series of tent meetings were started at the new site. The old church had been sold to Grace A. M. E. Zion Church on May 20, 1929.

The ground was broken for the new church on Oct. 13, 1929. The first spadeful of earth was turned by the Rev. J. L. Ward, the pastor. He was followed by the Rev. W. H. Litsinger, Mayor G. W. K. parsonage at 222 w. 36th St., was purchased on Nov. 25, 1935. The name "Calvary" was adopted in September, 1941. A new organ was dedicated on Sept. 19, 1943, by Dist. Supt. Oliver J. Collins, D.D., assisted by the Rev. A. T. McFarlin.

The Second M. P. Church was organized and incorporated at a meeting held on Feb. 19, 1892. A lot on Fifth Ave., between Maryland Ave., and Anchorage St., was bought on Apr. 20, 1894, from Joseph L. Carpenter, Jr. Ground was broken for the church on Apr. 24, 1894. The corner-stone was laid on May 13, 1894 by the Rev. F. T. Tagg assisted by the Revs. B. F. Jester and G. A. Morris. The building was improved in 1907. All of the work was done by the members of the congregation under the leadership of the Rev. J. E. Massey. The last minister served in 1927. After a rather precarious existence the church was closed in 1931. On Sept. 30, 1933, the property was sold to a congregation of Nazarenes.

Allison, D.D., and Mayor LeRoy Harvey. Because of the extreme cold the music was omitted with the exception of the singing of two hymns.

The first service was held in the new church on Dec. 3, 1922. The sermon was preached by the Rev. James H. Strong, D.D., Pres. of the Maryland M. P. Conference. The parsonage, adjoining the church on 20th St., was built in 1928. A new organ was installed in 1942. It was dedicated by the pastor, the Rev. John W. Townsend on Dec. 20, 1942. The chimes of the organ were in honor of Mrs. Mollie Keatley, the oldest member of the congregation.

Wesleyan Methodist Church. This church was organized on the east side of Wilmington and in 1932 they met at 719 e. 7th St. The church is now located at 8th St. and Bancroft Parkway. City M. P. Mission. This mission was organized early in the 1880's and met in the old Union Church on 2nd St., near Washington St. In April, 1884, dissention arose among the members which almost led to violence. At a result one group withdrew and started a church over the Market House on Madison St., between 3rd and 4th Sts. It was dedicated on Apr. 24, 1884 by the Rev. Elam Kirk. EPISCOPAL

Holy Trinity P. E. Church, better known as Old Swedes Church, was built, in 1698, by the Swedish Lutherans. When the Rev. Lawrence Girelius, the last Swedish Lutheran pastor, sailed away from Delaware, in 1791, the regime of the Swedish Lutheran Church in Delaware came to an end. The history of Old Swedes Church is divided into two distinct parts, from 1698 to 1791 when it was a Swedish Lutheran Church and from 1792 to the present time when it has been a Protestant Episcopal Church. The Rev. Joseph Clarkson of the P. E. Church conducted his first service at Old Swedes on Sept. 25, 1792. The tower and belfry were erected in 1802 and the bell was properly installed, having previously hung in a walnut tree. The town having grown westward a new Trinity Church was built at the n. e. cor. Fifth and King Sts. It was consecrated on Apr. 6, 1830, by Bishop Henry U. Onderdonk.

During the period 1830-1842 Old Swedes Church was unused and became very dilapidated. Under the will of Mrs. Henrietta Almond, money was provided to have the building reconditioned, which was done. The old pews were replaced with benches, a wood floor was laid over the brick floor, the outside stairway to the gallery was removed and an inside stairway was built. The reopening service, in charge of Bishop Alfred Lee, was held on Aug. 21, 1842. Regular services were resumed, in 1847, with an assistant rector in charge. It still remains a part of Trinity Parish with a vicar in charge. A bell was placed in the tower on Oct. 1, 1848. The bell, having become cracked, it was recast, in 1852, by E. C. Stotsenberg, a local foundryman. The vicarage, sexton's lodge and gateway were built in 1855. The church was again repaired in 1856, by "the great liberality of the lamented Alexis I. du Pont."

Regular services were again restored in 1868. A reopening service was held on Aug. 6, 1882. The Bayard window was installed and was ready for the service held on Dec. 20, 1885. The chancel window, in memory of Mrs. Jane Elizabeth Breck, was unveiled in 1887. In 1889-90, the pulpit was refinished, a communion service was secured, a window in memory of Mrs. Wm. Forrest and a new organ were installed. On Feb. 17, 1892, the organ and a window in memory of the Rev. Eric Bjork were consecrated by Bishop Coleman. In 1892-93, a window in memory of Jos. Milliken was unveiled. On March 25, 1894, a window in memory of Eleanor Vandever was unveiled. This completed the last available place for memorial windows.

During the winter of 1893-94 when the nation was in the throes of a heavy depression, soup was sold by the church at a nominal price. The parish-house was completed and was dedicated on the evening of Tues., Mar. 27, 1894, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. He was assisted by the Revs. M. B. Dunlap, H. Ashton Henry, Dr. Horace Burr, Thomas F. Bayard, Esq., and Judge Ignatius C. Grubb. On Dec. 31, 1894, an ornamental stone font cover was presented by Wm. Montgomery. In 1895-96 the wall and fence were built.

The 200th Anniversary of the laying of the corner-stone was celebrated on Sat., May 28, 1898. The rector, the Rev. H. Ashton Henry was assisted by the Revs. Martin B. Dunlap, Snyder B. Simes and Henry C. Conrad, Esq.

The portrait of the Rev. Eric Bjork was presented to the church, in 1899, by the Great Copper Mountain Mining Co., of Sweden. It was at this time that the bi-centennial celebration of the church was held. In preparation for this event the church was entirely renovated. The brick floor was uncovered and found to be in excellent condition, the box-pews were restored and the original altar was enclosed in the present white marble altar which is a memorial to the ten Swedish pastors who served the church. A new roof was built at this time.

The bi-centennial celebration of the consecration of the church was held on Trinity Sunday, May 28, 1899, when the Rt. Rev. Leighton Coleman, Bishop of Delaware, read the prayer of benediction, rededicating the church to its holy use. A Bishop's chair, made of original wood from the building was presented, in memory of the Rev. Charles Breck, D.D., by his widow. In 1901-02 an eagle lectern was installed.

A large buttonwood tree, close to the church, having been struck by lightning, then cut down, it was decided, in 1905, to remove the large stump. Dynamite was used to break up the wood and imbedded in the heart of the stump there was a small headstone inscribed M. B. It was set up again and is a memorial to Margareta Bartenson, the daughter of an early Swedish settler.

The church stands today practically the same as after the restoration in 1899. In 1909 a new pipe-organ was installed in its present location as a memorial to Bishop Leighton Coleman. The organ was completed on Apr. 7, 1909 and in the meantime the entire building had been reconditioned.

On Trinity Sunday, 1916, at the anniversary service, a presentation service was held, at which time the $50,000.00 raised by the Rev. F. M. Kirkus, D.D., to be added to the endowment fund was turned over to the Diocese. A service of benediction was conducted by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman.

A memorial tablet to Phoebe George Bradford and Edward Green Bradford was dedicated on Nov. 15, 1916.

On Fri., Nov. 16, 1923 the church was visited by the Most Rev. Nathan Soederblom, Archbishop of Upsala, Sweden. He was introduced by the Rev. Frederick Doerr of St. Stephen's Church. He was welcomed by the rector, the Rev. Dr. F. M. Kirkus. The Archbishop gave a friendly and informal talk.

On Tues., Oct. 13, 1925, an altar cloth, the gift of Mrs. Bowden, of Baltimore, was blessed by the vicar.

Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise Alexandra of Sweden made a flying visit to the church on Mon., May 31, 1926. A silver plaque bearing an engraving of the church and an inscription commemorating the occasion was presented to the Crown Prince by Bishop Philip Cook, D.D.

At a special service held at 7:30 P. M., Sun., Oct. 9, 1927, Maurice A. Hogeland, Vice-Consul of Sweden at Philadelphia presented to the church on behalf of the Crown Prince and the Crown Princess a Swedish Bible and a Swedish flag. The Rev. F. M. Kirkus, D.D., received the gifts. At the Bishop's request, G. A. Flink, a Swede of Wilmington, read from the Bible the first nine verses of the Sermon on the Mount.

The Ter-Centenary Celebration of the City of Wilmington was ushered in with a Thanksgiving service at Old Swedes Church on Mon., June 27, 1938. It also represented the 240th Anniversary of the building of Old Swedes Church. The service was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding Bishop of the P. E. Church. Prince Bertel and Crown Princess Louise headed the delegation of prominent representatives from Sweden who were present. Bishop Gustaf Ljunggren presented to the church, on behalf of the clergy of Sweden, a Bible which is a facsimile of the 1541 Gustavus Vasa Bible. Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus who, also, had come to America was ill, aboard his ship, and was unable to attend the celebration.

The church has many beautiful memorial windows and plaques. The silver communion service consisting of a chalice, a paten and a ciborium was presented to the church in 1718 by the Great Copper Mountain Mining Co., of Sweden.

The site of Old Swedes Church and graveyard was used as a burying-ground from the time of the first settlement and undoubtedly the bones of all of the Swedish colonists rest here. In the early days the church yard was enclosed with a wooden paling fence. The stone wall was built in 1837 and it was rebuilt in 1897. The oldest tombstone is over the grave of Wm. Vandever who died on Oct. 11, 1719. Many of Wilmington's most prominent personages are buried here. Bishop Alfred Lee, D.D., members of the Bayard family, Major Peter Jacquet of Revolutionary fame, Mary Vining, noted beauty, and Elizabeth Montgomery, author of "Reminiscenses," to mention only a few.

There is an endowment fund of about $100,000.00 which insures that the church and grounds will be well taken care of, so long as the works of man last.

On May 9, 1946, a campaign was started under the leadership of Mr. Pierre S. du Pont, III, to raise $250,000.00 with which to enlarge and equip the Christina Community Center. It will include facilities for all youth recreational activities. Work was started in April, 1947, to alter the old parish-house and to build an addition to it. In furthering this work the old arched gateway was removed. It was planned to reopen the center in the fall of 1947.

On June 22, 1829, the trustees secured possession of the plot on the n. e. cor. of 5th and King Sts., from Stephen Bonsall. There was an agreement in which the trustees agreed to pay $80.00 per year rental and upon payment of $1400.00, they were to receive title to the lot. This agreement was fulfilled on Mar. 29, 1855, at which time the trustees acquired title to the site.

Trinity Chapel, at 5th and King Sts., was built during 1829. It was consecrated, on Apr. 6, 1830, by Bishop Henry U. Onderdonk. The activities of Trinity. Parish were then removed from Old Swedes Church to Trinity Chapel. The chapel was enlarged and improved in 1848. A rectory and porch were built and the erection of a spire was started. A reopening service was held on May 30, 1849. The spire was completed in 1851. In 1852, the bell having become cracked, it was recast by E. C. Stotsenberg, of Wilmington, as a gift of Mrs. Agnes Stothart and the bell was so inscribed. A new organ was installed in 1857.

In 1866, the church was improved and refurnished. A memorial window was presented by John Anderson. The church was sold in 1881 and the last service in the church was held on July 30, 1882. When the church was sold, the bell having become cracked, it was stored at Del. Ave. and Adams St. In May, 1907, it was sold for $200.00 which was placed in the bell fund.

The 5th and King Sts. property was sold on July 26, 1881. On Nov. 8, 1881, a lot of land was purchased at Del. Ave. and Adams St., upon which to erect a new church.

Ground was broken about May 1, 1882. The church was completed and the opening service was held on Oct. 8, 1882. Bishop Alfred Lee, D.D., preached at the morning service. At 3 P. M. a service was held for the children of Old Swedes and Trinity. At 7:30 P. M. an evening prayer service was held by the Rev. H. B. Martin, D.D., the rector, assisted by his father the Rev. John Martin, the Rev. Lewis K. Lewis and the Rev. D. M. Bates. The new church faced Adams St., some distance south of the corner. It measured 40 ft. by 82 ft. and was built of Brandywine granite, quarry dressed, which was laid with dark mortar. A frame vestibule in front measured 6½ ft. by 26 ft. across. The pews were ash, trimmed with walnut, mounted on iron. The auditorium was wainscotted with pine. The chancel and the east memorial window were moved from 5th and King Sts. It was planned to have the organ operated by a water-motor. At about this time, water-motors coming into general use, the city authorities decided that water meters should be installed and charges for water made accordingly. A rectory, opposite the church, was completed in April, 1885.

On Trinity Sunday, May 27, 1888, at the 8 A.M. service, a new white marble altar, with the corners marked with red marble, was consecrated. At the same time, a brass altar cross, a memorial to George D. Armstrong, from his parents, was consecrated. At the conclusion of this service the entire congregation proceeded to Old Swedes Church to attend the Trinity Day services there.

The erection of the present church was started when the ground was broken on Sept. 30, 1889, by Bishop Leighton Coleman, in a pouring rain-storm. The Bishop used a nickel-plated spade that had been presented to him when he broke the ground for the Church of the Redeemer, of which he was rector, at Sayre, Pa.

The corner-stone was laid on the Feast of St. Philip and St. James, May 1, 1890. The church was consecrated on Jan. 29, 1891, with a service of benediction of which Bishop Coleman was the celebrant. The sermon was preached by Bishop Henry C. Potter, of New York. The sentence of consecration was read by the Rev. H. Ashton Henry, the rector. The first Sunday service was held on Feb. 1, 1891, at which time the Rev. Dr. H. B. Martin, a former rector, preached in the morning and Bishop Coleman preached in the evening.

The former chapel was then converted into a parish-house. At Easter time, 1892, a memorial lectern was presented by Samuel C. Biddle.

On July 5, 1892, a window in memory of Miss Margaret May Mealey was unveiled. On Feb. 12, 1893, a window in memory of Miss Helen Ware was unveiled. On Dec. 2, 1894, the George D. Armstrong memorial window was unveiled.

In 1900-01, a lantern for the lectern was presented as a memorial to Bertha Brengle Kemp. At Christmas time, 1901, Gen. James H. Wilson presented a window in memory of his wife. On Easter Sunday, 1903, a new organ was used for the first time.

On May 15, 1906, Bishop Leighton Coleman consecrated the church. At the door he was challenged by Senior Warden Henry B. Thompson. After being admitted, he was escorted up the aisle by the wardens and vestrymen. The sermon was preached by Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of Pittsburgh. Assisting in the services were Archdeacon Geo. C. Hall and the Revs. F. M. Kirkus, D.D., and Henry Olmstead. Most of the clergy of the diocese were present. After the services a luncheon was served at the New Century Club.

Mrs. Eliza J. Armstrong died on Easter Sunday, 1907, and left $10,000.00 to become the nucleus of a building fund. The ground was broken for the present parish-house and rectory on Thurs., May 5, 1910, by the rector, the Rev. Frederick M. Kirkus, D.D. The parish-house was completed and used for the first time on Mar. 12, 1911. The rectory was occupied on Mar. 15, 1911. The parish-house was dedicated on St. Mark's Day, Apr. 25, 1911, by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman. An address was delivered by the Rev. Arthur H. Judge.

The church was redecorated during January, 1911. A memorial window to Mrs. Andrews was unveiled on Feb. 2, 1911, the Feast of the Purification of St. Mary the Virgin.

A new altar and reredos, a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Victor du Pont and provided by their five daughters was used for the first time on Oct. 15, 1911. It was consecrated on All Saint's Day, 1911. The altar cross is a memorial to Greta du Pont. In 1912, the improvements were continued with stone wainscotting, sedilia and Bishop’s chair. In 1913, further improvements were made. The above memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Victor du Pont was the gift of their five daughters, Mrs. Willard Saulsbury, Mrs. H. M. Barksdale, Mrs. T. C. du Pont, Mrs. Bruce Ford and Mrs. LeRoy Harvey. The stone pulpit was donated by Tilghman Johnson. The choir stalls and pulpit were consecrated, by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman, on Nov. 2, 1913.

The question of completing the steeple as called for in the church plans was broached in June, 1924, by Dr. Kirkus. A set of chimes consisting of twelve bells was offered as a memorial to Mrs. Annie Dickie Tallman by her husband, Frank G. Tallman and his children.

The erection of the steeple was started in the fall of 1924. The steeple and chimes were dedicated at a special service held on Sun., June 14, 1925, at 5:30 P. M. by Bishop Philip Cook, D.D., assisted by Dr. Kirkus.

The stone altar from the first church at Del. Ave. and Adams St., which had been stored in the basement of the parish-house for 16 years was presented to St. James’ school, near Hagerstown, Md., one of the oldest church-schools in this country.

The subject of buying a new organ was talked over in May, 1927. It was provided, as a memorial to Mrs. May du Pont Saulsbury and Mrs. Renee du Pont Harvey by their three surviving sisters, Mrs. Barksdale, Mrs. T. C. du Pont and Mrs. Ford. Included with the organ was a carved oaken screen to replace the display pipes. The organ was consecrated with a service of benediction held at 11 A. M. on Fri., Dec. 21, 1928, the Feast of St. Thomas the Apostle, by the Rev. Dr. Kirkus. A memorial window presented by Mrs. John B. Bird, in memory of her husband, was dedicated on Jan. 13, 1929.

The will of former U.S. Senator Willard Saulsbury provided for four fine memorial windows, one at St. Paul’s Church, Georgetown, one at St. John the Baptist Church, Milton, one at Christ Church, Dover, and one at Trinity Church, Wilmington. The stonework necessary for the installation at Trinity was started in November, 1928. The window, a memorial to Mrs. May du Pont Saulsbury, was dedicated at the morning service on Sun., Oct. 6, 1929.

The memorial window to George D. Armstrong was restored by Tiffany and replaced on June 1, 1929. Memorial oak doors, presented in memory of the Rev. Frederick M. Kirkus, D.D., by his family, were dedicated on May 26, 1940, by the Rev. Charles F. Penniman, the rector.

St. Andrew’s P. E. Church. On Apr. 26, 1815, "The Episcopal Association of Wilmington" was organized for the purpose of building a church located more conveniently than Old Swedes Church. The effort was abandoned during the depression of 1817. On May 7, 1828, "The Episcopal Congregation of Wilmington" was organized and on Dec. 23, 1828, it was decided to proceed with the erection of a new church. Services were held in the old First Presbyterian Church, on Market St., below 10th St. The lot at the s. w. cor. of 8th and Shipley Sts. was purchased.

A stone church was erected and it was consecrated on Oct. 1, 1829, by Bishop Wm. White. On Easter Monday, Apr. 2, 1830, the first vestry was elected. On Mar. 20, 1835, they purchased the lot to the rear of the church from John B. Lewis. A parish-house and Sunday School were built the following year. In 1838, a new organ was installed. Also, a bell was purchased and suspended in the church yard.

Improvements were made in 1839, including a spire. On Jan. 25, 1840, the church was destroyed by fire. The congregation worshipped in Hanover...
Presbyterian Church until a new church was completed and dedicated on Oct. 15, 1840. The dedication was performed by Bishop H. U. Onderdonk. The sermon was preached by Bishop Whittingham of Maryland, who had been elevated only four weeks before this event.

The Rev. Alfred Lee, D.D., was consecrated the first Bishop of Delaware on Oct. 12, 1841, in St. Paul's Chapel in New York City. Bishop Lee assumed temporary charge of St. Andrew's Church in June, 1842. He was made rector on July 30, 1843 and served both as Bishop and rector of St. Andrew's until his death in 1887.

In 1852, a colored Sunday School named the "Robert Smith Sunday School" was organized and continued to meet at St. Andrew's until 1883.

The church was enlarged in 1854. The first service in the rebuilt church was held in the lecture-room on Nov. 5, 1854. The church was reopened on Jan. 14, 1855. A mission sponsored by St. Andrew's, in 1857, resulted in the building of Calvary Church in 1859.

In 1890, the church was improved, at which time the entire interior layout was changed. A service of benediction was celebrated by Bishop Leighton Coleman on Nov. 30, 1890. A communion table, in memory of Bishop Lee, a baptismal font presented by the family of Bishop Lee, in his memory, a lectern in memory of Jesse Lane, a Bishop's chair presented by a girls' class in the Sunday School and an altar desk in memory of E. T. Warner, late Senior Warden, were consecrated.

On Apr. 28, 1891, by Legislative Act, the name was changed from "The Episcopal Congregation" to "St. Andrew's Church."

A silver alms basin, in memory of the Rev. Bethel Judd and his son, Col. H. B. Judd, was blessed in 1894-95. An organ was presented by Wm. Luke in 1906-07. On Nov. 1, 1915, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman consecrated a Bible.

The parish-house was erected in 1916. On the morning of St. Andrew's Day, Nov. 30, 1917, a baptistry, in memory of the Rev. Charles E. Murray, former rector, was consecrated by Bishop Kinsman, assisted by the Rev. R. W. Trapnell, D.D., the rector. On the evening of the same day the parish-house was formally opened with a reception, at which time Dr. Trapnell was congratulated upon the successful culmination of this project.

The church is rich in memorials and has a large endowment fund. In 1920, the dwelling at 1009 Park Place was purchased to serve as a rectory. After extensive renovations, a reopening service was held on Oct. 12, 1924, by the Rev. Dr. Richard W. Trapnell, the rector.

The new chapel, donated by Daniel Moore Bates in memory of his brother, the late Charles Theodore Russell Bates, was consecrated by Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry, at the morning service, on June 14, 1942. The chapel is modernistic in design and will seat about 30 persons. For the first time in Delaware, the altar equipment is made of hand-wrought iron instead of the usual brass. The altar is finished in natural oak.

A crucifix and candlesticks, in memory of Chas. I. Kent and presented by Mrs. Kent, were dedicated on Oct. 22, 1944, by the Rev. John E. Large, the rector.

A new organ, presented by Mrs. George Capelle, Jr., in memory of her late husband, was dedicated on Sun., May 27, 1945, by the rector, the Rev. John E. Large. A recital was given by J. Harrison Walker, the church organist.

John Lofland, the Milford bard, is buried in an unmarked grave in the graveyard beside the church.
St. John's P. E. Cathedral. The first Episcopal services, in what was then known as Brandywine Village, were held in private homes. About 1850, the Rev. Charles Breck, of Trinity Church, began holding services in the Brandywine Academy. On Aug. 7, 1855, at a meeting held in the home of Amor H. Harvey, 1801 Market St., the organization of a parish was effected and the name "St. John's" was selected. Three names, St. John's, St. Paul's and St. Peter's were suggested and after two ballots, St. John's was selected over St. Paul's by a vote of 4 to 3.

On May 3, 1856, the Green Tree Inn property, at Concord Ave. and Market St., was purchased. The church took title to the property on Dec. 2, 1856. In September, 1856, the erection of a brick building for Sunday School purposes was started. It was first used on Dec. 27, 1856, with Bishop Alfred Lee conducting the first ceremonies. A parish-school was opened in February, 1857.

The corner-stone of a new church building was laid on June 4, 1857, by Bishop Lee, assisted by the Rev. John B. Clemson, D.D., and Alexis I. du Pont. An address was delivered by the Rev. Benjamin Franklin. Mr. Alexis I. du Pont was one of the prime movers in establishing this church. On Aug. 23, 1857, Mr. du Pont died from injuries received the day before in a powder mill explosion. Mrs. du Pont was most earnest in helping to have the plans of the congregation carried out. The frame-work of the steeple was raised at 7 A. M. on Sat., Aug. 14, 1858.

The church was consecrated on Wed., Nov. 3, 1858. The procession formed in the Sunday School and then, headed by Bishop Alfred Lee and the Rev. Charles Breck, the rector, they marched to the door of the church where they were met by the members of the vestry. Bishop Lee preached the sermon and the Rev. Dr. Breck read the sentence of consecration. Also taking part were the Rev. Messrs. Odenheimer, Grammer, Brinkle and Mahan. The service at 3:30 P. M. was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Milo Mahan and the evening service was led by the Rev. John H. Hopkins. In spite of inclement weather all of the services were well attended. A full week of services followed.

The church was built of Brandywine blue rock, in pure Gothic and in cruciform design. The roof was of three-colored slate. The tower was 65 ft. high and surmounted by a spire which was topped with a gilt ball upon which rested a ram's head cross. There was a gallery in the south transept. The baptismal font was of white Caen stone. A white marble tablet with a black border was erected on one of the walls in memory of Alexis I. du Pont. A similar tablet in memory of his wife Joanna was erected at a later date. The chancel furniture was of dark oak. The pews were free, to be used by anyone, an innovation at that time.

In 1863, a sewing-school and a colored Sunday School were opened. A night-school was opened in 1865. In 1866, missions were opened at Augustine Mills and at Riddle's Banks. The Sunday School chapel was enlarged in 1866.

In 1884, the old Sunday School chapel was torn down and on July 13, 1884, ground was broken for a parish-house and Sunday School building. The corner-stone was laid on Aug. 15, 1884. The parish-house was opened on the evening of Nov. 3, 1885. At this time the 27th Anniversary of the consecration of the church was celebrated. Those occupying the chancel included the Rev. Charles Breck, D.D., and the Rev. Messrs. Innes, McKim and R. M. Wright. The Sunday School room was first used on Mon. evening, Dec. 28, 1885, with the rector, the Rev. T. Gardiner Littell, in charge of the services.

In 1886, an organ chamber was built and a new organ was presented. The gallery in the east transept was used for the infant Sunday School. In 1892-93, two memorial windows were unveiled and a kindergarten was opened. A chapel altar was presented by J. Cloud Elliott in memory of the Rev. Stevens Parker, D.D. It was blessed by Bishop Leighton Coleman at a service of benediction held on Sept. 16, 1894.

A rectory, at 23rd and Baynard Boulevard was built in 1898. It was opened with a reception held on Jan. 23, 1899. In 1904-05, five memorial windows were unveiled. A new altar and reredos, and a chancel window, in memory of Francis G. du Pont were consecrated by Bishop Coleman on Christmas Day, 1906.

A handsomely carved rood screen, in memory of Mrs. Francis Elizabeth du Pont Coleman, a gift of Bishop Coleman and a pulpit, in memory of Eleuthera Paulina Bradford, a gift of Judge Edward G. Bradford, were consecrated on Dec. 1, 1907, by Bishop Coleman, assisted by Archdeacon George C. Hall.

The 50th Anniversary of the church was celebrated with a week of services beginning on All Saint's Day, Nov. 1, 1908. On Nov. 15, 1908, a window in memory of Laura J. Williamson was unveiled. A memorial tablet to Bishop Coleman was unveiled on June 13, 1909, by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman, who then delivered a memorial sermon. A lectern was consecrated on Dec. 17, 1911, by Bishop Kinsman in memory of the Rev. T. Gardiner Littell, D.D.

On Nov. 1, 1914, the silver communion service was stolen. A new silver service was presented by Mrs. Lammot du Pont in memory of her mother, Mrs. Natalie Wilson. These sacred vessels were consecrated, by Bishop Kinsman, on Apr. 1, 1915.

Five years later the stolen silver together with silver stolen from St. Andrew's Church was accidentally dug up in the yard of a home on n. Broom St. All of the silver had been mutilated.

Improvements were made to the church and on Oct. 13, 1915, Bishop F. J. Kinsman conducted a reopening service for a restored church.

Land facing Tatnall St. and Concord Ave. was given to the church in May and June, 1917. The plan to build on this land was deferred because of the war.

The contract to erect the new buildings was awarded in June, 1919. The ground was broken on July 1, 1919. It was such an extremely hot day that the participants selected a spot under a small shade tree for holding the ceremony. After several delays because of inclement weather the afternoon of Sat., Mar. 13, 1920, was selected for the corner-stone laying. It so happened that a small blizzard was raging which held the attendance down to a very small group. The Rev. Dr. Alban Richey and his assistant, the Rev. Chas. H. Holmead, were masters of ceremony. The stone was placed in the wall of St. Mary's Chapel. St. Mary's Chapel was consecrated and the other buildings were blessed on Ascension Day, Thurs., May 5, 1921. The sentence of consecration was read by Dr. Richey and the instrument of donation was read by A. Felix du Pont. The service of benediction was conducted by Bishop Philip Cook and Dr. Richey preached the sermon. The party proceeded through all of the new buildings where prayers of blessings were said.

St. Mary's Chapel, a gift of the late Mrs. Natalie Wilson du Pont, is lined with white Bedford limestone and the altar and steps are of green Westville marble. The altar is a solid block weighing five tons. The other buildings include Bishop's offices, parish office, an apartment for the sexton, Guild Hall with rooms for the choir, Men's Club and Woman's Auxiliary. The rectory is a separate building.

The church improvements were consecrated on the same day by Bishop Cook assisted by Dr. Richey. The floor of the chancel and church had been rebuilt, it had been refurnished with new choir and clergy stalls and a new organ with carved screens had been installed. The organ had been dedicated on Apr. 10, 1921, by Dr. Richey.

On Dec. 22, 1929, a window in memory of Judge Edward G. Bradford was unveiled by Bishop Cook assisted by Dr. Richey. It was a gift of his daughter, Mrs. H. Belin du Pont. The sermon was delivered by Father J. O. S. Huntington. The Bishop Coleman memorial window was dedicated on Jan. 6, 1935, by Bishop Cook. It was presented by Mrs. H. Belin du Pont, a niece of Bishop Coleman. On Mar. 31, 1935, six brass candlesticks, in memory of the Rev. Alban Richey, D.D., former rector, were dedicated by the Rev. Wm. H. Darbie. They were to be used in St. Mary's Chapel.

St. John's Church was designated the Cathedral Church of St. John by proclamation of the Bishop on May 14, 1935. The Very Rev. Hiram R. Bennett was installed as Dean at 5 P. M. on the same day. The services were in charge of Bishop Cook with the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Clash as the installing priest.

Dean Bennett changed the name of St. Mary's Chapel to "The Lady Chapel" without any ceremony.

The Chapel of the Holy Innocents was consecrated on Sun., Jan. 26, 1936, by Bishop Cook. This chapel, in the south transept, was planned by Dean Bennett to balance the interior arrangement of the church and to provide a fitting place to hold baptisms. The altar was a gift from Immanuel Church of Wilmington, the candlesticks were a gift from Victor D. Hanby and the cross was a gift from James H. Lowe.

One of the interesting features at St. John's Church is the Prayer Garden, located between the Cathedral and the old parish-house. This garden-spot, for reflection and prayer, was designed and executed by Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont. Work on the project was started on the Feast of St. Michael, Sept. 29, 1937 and it was completed on the Feast of St. Matthew, Sept. 21, 1938. The garden centers around a fountain and benches. Upon the fountain are inscribed the names of all of the Episcopal parishes in Delaware. There is also a large pebble-like stone from the banks of the River Jordan. It was presented to the Garden of Praise by the Bishop of Jerusalem. As originally laid out the garden contained 108 different species of plants and flowers. The Prayer Garden was blessed by Dean Bennett on Whitsunday, June 5, 1938. As has happened so often at outdoor church functions, the day was rainy.

The Bishop Philip Cook, D.D., memorial windows were consecrated on Easter Sunday, Mar. 24, 1940, by Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry.

On Aug. 23, 1857, Mrs. Joanna du Pont, wife of Alexis I. du Pont, presented to the Rev. Stevens Parker a sterling silver private communion service. Mr. Parker served as rector of St. John's from 1858 to 1863. On Aug. 23, 1940, this same service was presented to the Cathedral by Mrs. Eleuthera B. du Pont, a granddaughter of Mrs. Joanna du Pont. During the intervening 83 years the service had dropped out of sight until it turned up in the shop of a New York antique dealer from whom Mrs. Eleuthera B. du Pont purchased it.

The Diocesan Convention, on May 14, 1947, adopted canons changing the status of St. John's into a fully designated cathedral. It will be governed by a Cathedral Chapter and will be the official seat of the Bishop.

Calvary P. E. Church, Bishop Coleman Memorial is located at Fourth and Rodney Sts. This church was organized in a carriage shop at Front and Justison Sts. as a mission of St. Andrew's Church, in 1857. A church was built on the s. w. cor. of Third and Washington Sts. The opening service was conducted by Bishop Alfred Lee, on Oct. 30, 1859, at which time the name “Calvary” was adopted. Title to the property was assumed by Calvary Church on Nov. 7, 1861. The church was consecrated, by Bishop Lee, on Jan. 29, 1863. It was organized as a separate parish on Apr. 15, 1868, and was received into union with the diocese on June 3, 1868.

On May 7, 1872, the ground was broken for an addition to the rear of the church. The corner-stone of the orphanage was laid on Sun., July 6, 1873, by Bishop Becker, assisted by Fathers McGrane, Lyons and Fallon.

On Sun., Nov. 21, 1886, Bishop Alfred A. Curtis was installed at St. Peter's by Cardinal Gibbons. He was assisted by Archbishop Ryan of Phila., Bishop Becker and Bishop Moore of Florida. Cardinal Gibbons preached the sermon.

Curtis, Vicar-General John A. Lyons and the Rev. Fathers M. X. Fallon and Geo. J. Kelley. Vespers were celebrated by Bishop Monaghan.

During the year 1905, Bishop Monaghan remodeled St. Peter's, extensively. A dedication service, as a Cathedral, was held on Oct. 29, 1905. Large crowds attended the services which were held at 10:30 A. M. The City of Wilmington was represented by Mayor Horace Wilson. His Excellency Diomede Falconie, the Apostolic Delegate, blessed the main altar. The two side altars were blessed to the Blessed Mother and to St. Joseph. The walls of the building were also blessed. Taking part in the services were Bishops Monaghan and Curtis, the Most Rev. Benj. J. Keiley, Bishop of Savannah and former Vicar-General of Wilmington, and the Most Rev. Edmond F. Prendegast, Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia, who celebrated Pontifical High Mass.

The parochial school was opened in Sept., 1906. On Dec. 7, 1906, the Golden Jubilee of the establishment of the Sodality of the children of Mary, was celebrated.

On July 4, 1909, memorial tablets to Bishops Thomas A. Becker and Alfred A. Curtis, a gift of Bishop Monaghan were unveiled by Vicar-General John A. Lyons. Mass was celebrated by Father Lyons and the sermon was preached by Father James Timmons.

The Chapel of the Blessed Virgin was seriously damaged by fire on Dec. 20, 1928.

The Church of St. Mary of the Immaculate Conception, R. C. In 1858, Father Patrick Reilly was assigned, by Bishop Newman, to organize a parish on the east side of Wilmington. Land at 6th and Pine Sts. had been purchased as a church site on Sept. 5, 1849, by the Diocese of Philadelphia of which Wilmington was then a part. On Oct. 19, 1869, Bishop James Frederick Wood transferred the property to Bishop Becker who transferred it to St. Mary's Church on Jan. 29, 1878.

A meeting was held in St. Mary's College on Jan. 17, 1858, at which time plans were outlined for the organization of St. Mary's Parish. The new church building was started and the corner-stone was laid on Sun., May 2, 1858, at 3 P. M., by Father Reilly. The consecration services were held on Sun., Oct. 31, 1858. The consecration took place at a 6 A. M. Mass offered by Bishop Newman before a large group of visiting priests. At 10 o'clock the church was opened to the general public at which time the sermon was delivered by the Most Rev. Bishop Carroll of Covington, Ky., a former pastor of St. Peter's Church. Bishop Carroll also preached at the 4 o'clock Vespers. Tickets of admission were necessary, tickets for the morning service costing 50 cts. and for the afternoon service 25 cts., but no collections were taken.

In May, 1864, an adjoining lot was purchased upon which a parochial school was built in 1866. The school was soon discontinued and the building was leased to the Wil. Board of Public Education and became Public School No. 13. In 1871, the central tower was built and other improvements were made to the church building. The pastoral residence was built in 1881. The church was incorporated on Jan. 20, 1881.

On Sun., Aug. 24, 1884, Father Reilly celebrated his Golden Jubilee, having been an ordained priest for 50 years. The new altar which had recently been erected was a mass of flowers. Father Reilly offered Mass at 7 A. M. and served communion at 10 o'clock, Bishop Becker celebrated Pontifical High Mass. After the service Father Reilly was escorted to the basement where a great number of valuable gifts had been placed on display. The presentation of these gifts, on behalf of Father Reilly's friends, was made by the Rev. D. J. Flynn. In the afternoon there was a parade starting from 6th and West Sts. It consisted of four divisions with 1200 men in line. Father Reilly died on July 30, 1885, in his 78th year.

In September, 1887, the parochial school was reopened. The corner-stone of the Convent of St. Francis was laid on Aug. 4, 1895, by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis assisted by the Rev. Wm. J. Bermingham.

Father M. X. Fallon organized the Reilly Lyceum, an active religious and social organization. Its annual one-day excursion to Atlantic City was an outstanding event. A torch-light parade would be held on the night before to whip up interest throughout the city. It was customary to carry three train loads on this excursion.

In 1905, the gallery was removed, the sanctuary was enlarged, a new sacristy was built and electric lighting was installed. A service of dedication was held on Dec. 8, 1907, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception. The pastor, the Rev. Edward L. Brady was in charge. The dedication service was conducted by the Apostolic Delegate, the Most Rev. Archbishop Diomede Falconie, after which he celebrated High Mass. Bishops Benj. T. Keiley, Alfred A. Curtis and John J. Monaghan together with a large delegation of clergy were present. Bishop Keiley was at one time Vicar-General of the Diocese of Wilmington.

St. Paul's R. C. Church is located at 4th and Jackson Sts. The ground was broken for the first church on Mon., May 24, 1869. At 7 o'clock on that day 200 men armed with picks and shovels converged upon the church site from every section of the parish. They started digging and worked as only the Irishmen of that day could work and by sundown the entire cellar had been excavated and cleaned up, ready for the stone-masons. The corner-stone was laid on June 6, 1869. The church was dedicated on Sun., Dec. 19, 1869, by Bishop Thomas A. Becker. He was assisted by the Rev. Jos. Plunkett and all of the clergy of the Peninsula. At the Vesper service, at 4:30 P. M., the Rev. M. X. Fallon was formally appointed the first pastor.

At that time Third St. was opened only to Madison St., and Van Buren St. was opened only between Front and Second Sts. In 1873, the spire was added to the church and a bell was installed. The church was incorporated on Apr. 29, 1887.

The corner-stone of the parochial school was laid on Apr. 29, 1888, at 4 o'clock. There was a procession of school children. Vicar-General John A. Lyons was in charge of the exercises. He was assisted by Father M. X. Fallon and other priests.

The school was dedicated on Sun., Sept. 2, 1888, by the Rev. M. X. Fallon assisted by Fathers Bermingham, Donaghy, Bradford and Ott. The exercises started at 4 P. M. with services in the basement of the church. The church was again incorporated on Jan. 7, 1894.

After extensive repairs, the church was reopened on Nov. 21, 1897. Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by the Most Rev. John J. Monaghan. He was assisted by Fathers M. X. Fallon, J. P. Quigley, S. B. Sice and Leo Goltz. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dennis J. Flynn. In February, 1899, Bishop Monaghan assumed the pastorship of St. Paul's Parish in addition to his duties as Bishop. The school was enlarged and opened for inspection on Nov. 5, 1905.

The last service in the old church was held on Apr. 21, 1913, at which time Father Waldron celebrated High Mass. The basement of the old church was used for services during the construction of a new church.

This church was dedicated on May 3, 1914. Early that morning Bishop Monaghan led a large group of St. Paul's men to the railroad station to meet Cardinal Gibbons and to escort him to the church. At 10:30 A. M., Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by Bishop B. J. Keiley of Savannah, Ga. The sermon was preached by the Rt. Rev. Mgr. McDevitt of Philadelphia. Cardinal Gibbons gave a talk and he was followed by Bishop Monaghan. A service was held at 4 o'clock for the children with a sermon by the Rev. J. Francis Tucker, O.S.F.S. Bishop Monaghan had charge at the 7:30 o'clock Vespers, when a sermon was delivered by Bishop Keiley. Cardinal Gibbons occupied a throne within the chancel.

The main altar was donated as a memorial to Michael Costello, the Blessed Virgin altar was given by the Sodality of the church, St. Joseph's altar was given by Mrs. Patrick Cahill and the 14 stations of the cross were presented in memory of Dr. John C. Fahey.

A series of 14 stained glass windows were blessed by the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, Bishop of Wilmington, on Nov. 5, 1944. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Jos. A. Lee, the pastor. The sermon was preached by the Very Rev. Dr. J. Francis Tucker.

On Mar. 1-July 15, 1946 the church acquired title to the land on the easterly side of Jackson St., from 4th to 5th Sts. This is the proposed site of a new parochial school.

St. James’ R. C. Church. James Riddle, owner of the Kentmere Cotton Mills on the Brandywine, a local-preacher and a member of Mt. Salem M. E.
Church, having erected Riddle’s Chapel for his Protestant employees wished to have a church built to take care of his Catholic employees. He took the matter up with Mrs. James Bradford and they enlisted the help of William Bowe and Edward Mahoney. On Sept. 16, 1869, Bishop Thomas A. Becker purchased a lot measuring 50 ft. x 90 ft. on the n. e. cor. of Lovering Ave. and Dupont St.
A frame chapel was erected here and consecrated as St. James’ R. C. Church.

The first service after the consecration was held on May 29, 1870. Mass was celebrated by Bishop Thomas A. Becker assisted by Father Hagan. The first pastor was installed in Dec., 1870. During the winter of 1872, Father Sorrentini established a night school. Both Catholic and Protestant boys attended and no religious subjects were taught.

Bishop Becker, on Oct. 25, 1870, purchased the balance of the land fronting on Lovering Ave., and extending to Clayton St. On Nov. 26, 1877, the Bishop purchased a lot on the westerly side of Dupont St., extending from Lovering Ave. to Wawaset St.

There was a commodious dwelling adjoining the church and the Bishop decided to equip it as St. James’ Protectory for orphan boys. Here, on Sept. 24, 1879, under the management of three Sisters of St. Francis, it was opened as a parochial school and orphanage. By Christmas there were ten orphans in residence there. On Mar. 10, 1883, the Bishop sold a section of the land west of Dupont St., to the Phila. and Balto. R. R. Co., and it became a part of the right of way of the present B. & O. R. R. which was opened on Dec. 12, 1884.

On Nov. 4, 1886, the Bishop sold the plot on Lovering Ave., between Clayton and Dupont Sts., to the Mayor and City Council of Wilmington and it was incorporated in Brandywine Park. After this, St. James’ Church was closed and it was succeeded by St. Ann’s Church at Gilpin Ave. and Union St.
One of the first tasks of Bishop Alfred A. Curtis, who was ordained Bishop of Wilmington on Nov. 14, 1886, was to look for a suitable site for St. James’ Protector. He purchased the Clark farm at Reybold, consisting of 96 acres, and remodeled the house for use as an orphanage. The move was made and on Aug. 8, 1888, St. James’ Protectory for Boys was opened at Reybold. The barn to the rear of the vacated orphanage was destroyed by fire on the evening of Nov. 7, 1888.

Sacred Heart R. C. Church. For one year beginning in 1857 services for German Catholics were held in the chapel of St. Mary’s College. In 1874, a mission for German Catholics was established at St. Mary’s Church. In August, 1874, a lot was purchased on w. 10th St., between Madison and Monroe Sts.
The corner-stone of a new church was laid on Sun., Aug. 16, 1874. The basement was used for services from Aug. 16, 1875 until Sept. 2, 1883, on which date the church was dedicated by Bishop Thomas A. Becker at 11 A. M. The services were preceded by a parade of Catholic societies. The Bishop celebrated Pontifical High Mass. The Very Rev. Father Gerard preached in German after which the Bishop gave talks first in German and then in English. Vesper services were held in the evening. A parochial school was opened in the parish-house and later moved to the basement of the church.
The corner-stone of the parochial school was laid on Apr. 3, 1898, by Bishop John J. Monaghan. He was assisted by the Very Rev. Leonard Walter and the Revs. Isenring, Fallon, Flynn, Hugo, McGill and Kellog. A procession, headed by a band, marched from the church to the school site. The school was blessed by Father Hugo, O.S.B., on Sept. 11, 1898.

The convent of the Sisters of St. Benedict was dedicated on Dec. 7, 1906, by Father Corbinian, O.S.B., assisted by Father Hugo and Father Albert.

The Rev. Wendelin Mayer, O.S.B., known as the founder of Sacred Heart Church, is buried in a shrine in the basement of the church. Buried with him are scores of crutches and braces donated by crippled persons who were cured by his intercessory prayers. In 1940, the shrine was enclosed in a small chapel where it is proposed to celebrate Mass on National holidays. The first Mass was celebrated on July 4, 1940. The chapel is open for visitors on Sundays.

St. Patrick's R. C. Church is located on the s. e. cor. of 15th and King Sts. The site was purchased by Dennis J. Menton from Henry Danby on Oct. 9, 1880. The first Mass was said in a frame shed which stood in the present school-yard, on July 3, 1881. The corner-stone of the church was laid on the same day at 4 o'clock by Bishop Thomas A. Becker. Masses were continued in the frame shed until Christmas Day, 1881, when the basement of the church was completed and put into use. Trustees were elected on Dec. 7, 1881. On Dec. 21, 1881, the "Big Bell" was blessed by Bishop Becker and named "St. Thomas" in his honor. St. Patrick's Church took title to the site on Mar. 17, 1882.

The church was dedicated on Mar. 19, 1882, at 11 A. M., by Bishop Becker. The first pastor was the Rev. M. X. Fallon. The stations of the Cross were blessed and erected by Bishop Becker on Friday of Passion Week, Mar. 31, 1882. Father George S. Bradford became pastor on Sept. 9, 1885. The parochial school was opened on Sept. 3, 1888. The Sisters of St. Francis occupied the basement of the church for both school and convent. Four schoolrooms were formed by movable wood and glass partitions. The convent was built on French St., in 1889. The church was almost overwhelmed with debt. At this time, the land on King St., extending from the rectory to 14th St., was sold. This afforded temporary relief. Bishop Alfred A. Curtis undertook to reduce the debt and for this purpose he authorized a contest between Fathers Bermingham and Flynn, to raise funds, during one of St. Mary's fairs. The prize offered was a trip to Europe. On Jan. 29, 1891, a concert was held at St. Mary's to raise funds for Father Flynn. When the contest ended Father Flynn had collected $13,000.00 and Father Bermingham had collected $10,000.00, which was enough to pay off the debt on St. Patrick's Church.

The contest was so close and the feeling aroused on both sides was so bitter that the Bishop gave both priests the trip, Father Flynn, the winner, going one year and Father Bermingham, the next year. When Father Flynn returned to Wilmington, from his trip, on Sept. 14, 1891, a large parade met him at the station and escorted him to St. Mary's Church where a reception was held. Father Bermingham sailed from New York on Wed., Apr. 27, 1892. On the Sunday previous to his departure, his parishioners, including the members of the Brownson Library Ass'n presented him with a purse of $2000.00.

Bishop Curtis always lamented that he had authorized the contest because of the bad blood that it had caused. Incidentally, both Father Flynn and Father Bermingham later became pastors of St. Patrick's Church. The church was incorporated on Jan. 7, 1894.

Father Bradford resigned as pastor of St. Patrick's Church because of ill health. He took a trip for several months, then served at Elkton and at St. Joseph's-on-the-Brandywine where he died on June 20, 1895.

The third pastor was the Rev. Dennis J. Flynn, the winner of the above-mentioned contest. He was installed in October, 1894. The parochial school was built in 1895. The corner-stone was laid on May 26, 1895, by Monsignor Satolli, Papal Delegate to the United States, in a heavy rain. He was assisted by Vicar-General Lyons, the Rev. J. McCarthy, the Rev. D. J. Flynn, U. S. Senator George Gray and Judge David T. Marvel.

In 1897, the size of the rectory was doubled. In 1899, Father Flynn accepted an invitation to join the faculty of Mt. St. Mary's College at Emmitsburg, Md., of which he later became President. He was succeeded by Father Fallon, the first pastor, who died in 1900.

Father Wm. J. Bermingham was the next pastor. He made a number of improvements to the church including the entrance, the sacristy, a covered passage between the church and the rectory, windows, stations and side altars. The church was dedicated on Oct. 8, 1905, by Bishop John J. Monaghan at the 10:30 o'clock service. The Bishop was assisted by the Revs. Fromentin, Wm. J. Scott, Edward C. Higgins and Vicar-General John A. Lyons. The pastor, Father Bermingham celebrated High Mass and Father Fedigan delivered the sermon. Vesper services were conducted by the Very Rev. John A. Lyons.

Father Bermingham purchased the building on the s. w. cor. of 15th and King Sts., with the intention of converting it into a convent but this plan was not carried out. Father Bermingham died on Dec. 12, 1907.

In January, 1908, the Rev. James F. Quigley became the pastor. During his pastorate the dwelling on the corner was converted into apartments, an addition was built to the school and the convent was enlarged. Father Quigley died on May 3, 1925.

The Rev. James L. McSweeney was installed on June 1, 1925. Father McSweeney has made a great many improvements including a new organ which was dedicated on Feb. 23, 1930.

St. Patrick's Church took title to the St. Theresa, the Little Flower, Mission at 16th and Thatcher Sts., on Feb. 11, 1927. This was formerly Public School No. 26.

St. Ann's R. C. Church. The site of St. Ann's Church, a full city block on Union St., between Gilpin and Shallcross Aves., was purchased by the Rev. Wm. Dollard from Wm. M. Field on July 8, 1886. The purchase price was $12,000.00 and part of the land was outside of the city limits. Bishop Alfred A. Curtis took title to the property on Mar. 9, 1887, and St. Ann's Church assumed the title on Aug. 7, 1894. This church was the successor to St. James' Church and it was assumed that it would have the same name. At this time, Vicar-General John A. Lyons offered to contribute a large sum of money toward the building provided it should be named "St. Ann's" in honor of his mother, whose name was Ann.

The corner-stone was laid on July 31, 1887, by Bishop Curtis, assisted by Father Lyons. Every Catholic Society in Wilmington was represented in the large gathering. The basement was dedicated for church purposes in December, 1887, by Bishops Curtis and Becker. For several years services were held in this basement church. Father Lyons provided the High Altar, Mrs. Spottswood Garland presented St. Joseph's Altar and the Blessed Virgin Altar was donated by a friend. The Rev. Wm. Dollard, the founder of the church, donated the organ.

Under Father Dollard's supervision another story, with a high tower was added to the church. It was the intention to surmount this tower with a spire. During the construction of the tower, it collapsed. Fortunately, this happened on a Sat. afternoon, when no one was closeby, and no one was injured. This accident caused the plans to be changed and the height of the tower was lowered and it was just squared off. Being completed, it was planned to hold the dedication services on Sun., Oct. 16, 1892, but as Father Dollard died on the 14th, the service was postponed. The dedication was held on Nov. 20, at the morning service. After the dedication exercises, Bishop Curtis celebrated Pontifical High Mass. He occupied the throne and also preached the sermon. Pontifical Vespers, at 4 o'clock, were celebrated by Vicar-General Lyons, at which time the sermon was preached by the Rev. J. F. Nolan, D.D. The church was incorporated on Jan. 7, 1894.

The rectory was built in 1898. In 1899, St. Ann’s Parochial School was built by the Rev. Peter Donaghy. The corner-stone was laid on May 28, 1899, at 3 o’clock by Bishop John J. Monaghan in the presence of large delegations from the Catholic Societies. The convent for the Sisters was built in 1910, by the Rev. Francis J. Connelly. The convent was dedicated on Feb. 19, 1911, at 3 P.M., by Bishop John J. Monaghan. He was assisted by the Revs. John J. Dougherty, Francis Mahoney, D.F.S., and F. J. Connelly, the pastor. The services were held in the chapel of the convent. With the coming of the Rev. John J. Bolen, as pastor, in 1933, it was decided to rebuild, entirely, the interior of the church, to remove the high outside steps and to place the entrance on the pavement level. The tower was crowned with pinnacles and crosses and many new stained-glass windows were installed.

The old altar tables were used for reasons of sentiment but they were reconstructed and rearranged to harmonize with the stately new interior. A beautiful rose window, of jewel glass, crowns the main altar. The organ was rebuilt and placed in a new setting. Originally pumped by hand, an electric blower had been added to the organ in 1910.

The church was dedicated, under the patronage of St. Ann, Mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary, on Sun. morning, Mar. 17, 1935, by the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, Bishop of Wilmington. He was assisted by the Rev. John J. Bolen. The sermon was preached by the Bishop.

Ground was broken for the present rectory on Mon., Oct. 27, 1941. On Dec. 28, 1943, a service for the deaf was inaugurated at St. Ann’s Church by Father John J. Bolen. It was announced that these services would be conducted on the 4th Sunday of each month at 7:30 P.M.

In the early days of St. Ann’s parish a social club was organized and it was named the “Manning Library Ass’n” for Bishop Manning. A one-story clubhouse, of frame construction, was built on the present site of the school. Athletic events as well as social and educational affairs were held. On Apr. 21, 1894, the lot at the s. e. cor. of Union St. and Lovering Ave. was purchased. A handsome brick clubhouse was built and the numerous club activities were continued. Interest gradually died out and the property was transferred to Spottswood Garland on June 6, 1899. He sold it to the Home of Merciful Rest Society on July 31, 1901.

St. Joseph’s R. C. Church. St. Joseph’s Colored Mission was started on Oct. 10, 1889, by the Rev. John A. de Ruyter, S.S.J. This mission was held in the basement of St. Mary’s Church. St. Joseph’s Society for Colored Missions was incorporated on Tues., Mar. 4, 1890. On May 12, 1890, five candidates were confirmed in St. Mary’s Church. A plot of land was purchased on French St., near 11th St., on June 10 and on July 3, 1890. The corner-stone of the school building was laid on July 6, 1890. The ceremony was preceded by a large parade starting at 4 P.M. In the line were delegations from New Castle, Chester, Baltimore and Washington. The sermon was preached by the Very Rev. Father Leeson, Provincial of the Josephites. The stone was blessed by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis. The stone was a gift of J. L. Malone, a local stone-cutter.

On Sun. morning, Oct. 5, 1890, the building was blessed by the Most Rev. Alfred A. Curtis, Bishop of Wilmington. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Walter Elliott, a Paulist Father from New York. At the 4 o'clock service the sermon was preached by the Rev. John Slattery. One section of the building was adapted to be used as a temporary church. In 1891, two more buildings were built and these served as a school and a home for the sisters.

In August, 1892, Father de Ruyter opened an orphanage for colored boys, the first Catholic home of this type on the Atlantic seaboard. Additional land was purchased on Oct. 4, 1892.

The corner-stone of the orphanage was laid on May 28, 1893, by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis. He was assisted by Vicar-General J. B. Slatterly of Boston and Father de Ruyter. Addresses were delivered by Judge J. Frank Ball and former Mayor Austin Harrington.

St. Joseph's Industrial School for Colored Boys at Clayton was established by Father de Ruyter, in 1895, and at the age of 14 years the boys were transferred there. In 1893, a free dispensary was established on the corner of 11th and Walnut Sts. It was closed in 1896. Father de Ruyter died on Wed., Aug. 23, 1896, before the school at Clayton was completed. At his request, he was buried in Clayton, first beneath St. Joseph's Chapel and later in a private graveyard on the school grounds.

The home in Wilmington was closed on Apr. 1, 1928, and all of the work was transferred to Clayton. The parochial school was established in September, 1928, with an enrollment of 60 boys and girls. On July 6, 1933, an assistant priest was added to the parish.

The church was enlarged, altered and renovated in 1934. The corner-stone was blessed and laid by the Rev. James F. Didas, S.S.J.; assistant to Father Conrad F. Rebesher, S.S.J., on Apr. 10, 1934.

The church was dedicated on Sun., Sept. 30, 1934, by the Most Rev. Edmund J. FitzMaurice, Bishop of Wilmington. The Very Rev. John J. Sheehy acted as master of ceremonies. Solemn High Mass was celebrated by the Very Rev. Louis B. Pastorelli, S.S.J., and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. John Gillard, S.S.J. Bishop FitzMaurice, who had recently visited Rome, conferred the Papal Blessing upon those in attendance.

St. Joseph's Church was seriously damaged by fire on Sun., Dec. 30, 1945. The cause of the fire was not determined. The pastor, the Rev. Michael J. O'Neal immediately had preliminary plans drawn for an entire new layout including a church, a school and a rectory. In the meantime a temporary chapel was constructed in the parochial school and was first used on Sun., Jan. 13, 1946. Later in the year the damaged building was torn down.

St. Hedwig's R. C. Church. In 1883, a group of Polish families arrived in Wilmington from Posen Province, Poland. They spoke German and attended Sacred Heart Church. Sometime later the Order of St. Benedict sent Father Richard Aust, a Polish priest, to Wilmington to look after their spiritual welfare.

On Aug. 13 and Sept. 27, 1890, the Benedictine Order of the Sacred Heart purchased the lots on the s. e. and n. e. corners of Linden and Harrison
The corner-stone of a church on Linden St., east of Harrison St., was laid in 1890.

The dedication services were held on Jan. 25, 1891, at which time the Most Rev. Abbott Hillary celebrated Pontifical High Mass. The sermon was preached by Father Chowaniecz. Vespers were conducted by Father Ambrose and Father Skreteni preached the sermon. St. Joseph’s Beneficial Society and the Knights of St. Hedwig, in colorful new uniforms, attended the ceremonies. The parochial school was opened on Apr. 7, 1891.

The second pastor was the Rev. Leon Szczepanaski who served from 1891 until illness caused his retirement in 1895. The parish was in a dormant condition until the Rev. John S. Gulcz arrived in October, 1896. It was decided to build a new church and rectory. The church was incorporated on Jan. 8, 1898.

On Feb. 5, 1898, the Order of St. Benedict of Delaware deeded to the church the two corner properties purchased in 1890 under their former name. On Mar. 8, 1898, Bishop Monaghan deeded to the church land on Harrison St., which he had purchased on Sept. 23, 1897.

The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Sun., July 3, 1904, at 3:30 P.M. A large parade was formed and marched to the Bishop’s home at 3rd and Jackson Sts. In the front garden of the rectory there is a shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes which was erected and blessed in the late 1930’s. In the meantime the interior of the church has been constantly improved until it is today one of Delaware’s most beautiful churches.

St. Thomas’ R. C. Church is located at 4th St. and Grant Ave. The church site was purchased by Bishop John J. Monaghan on July 9, 1902. There was a frame building on the site which was used as a chapel for a short time. The first Mass was celebrated on July 12, 1903. The erection of a combined church and school had been started.

The corner-stone was laid on May 24, 1903, by Bishop Monaghan assisted by Vicar-General John A. Lyons and a large group of priests. The procession moved from the Home of the Little Sisters of the Poor to the church site. A large wooden Cross had been erected at the spot where the altar would stand. The Bishop blessed this spot, then consecrated and laid the corner-stone after which he blessed the foundations. He conferred the Pontifical blessing upon all of those present. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Francis T. McCarthy, S.J. The name of the church was adopted in honor of the Most Rev. Thomas A. Becker, the first Bishop of Wilmington. Large groups of the Catholic Societies of Wilmington, accompanied by a band, were present. The building, of

In September, 1941, a bell was installed in the 106 ft. tower of the church. When the Union Volunteer Fire Co. disbanded in 1920, their bell was presented to St. Thomas’ Church. The old frame and steel tower from the firehouse was erected in the church yard and the bell was used until 1941. Then, it was remodeled, refinished, two sets of clappers installed and it was placed in the tower of the church. The bells were blessed at a special service by the Rev. John N. Dougherty.

St. Elizabeth’s R. C. Church. On Aug. 31, 1907, Bishop John J. Monaghan purchased the Wilmington Military Academy property at Oak and Broom Sts. Early in 1908, the Rev. William Temple, D.D., was appointed by Bishop Monaghan to establish a new parish in the southern part of Wilmington. The old Gregg mansion which stood on the purchased property was remodeled for use as a parochial school and convent. The Military School building was remodeled, the first floor to be used as a church and the second floor as a rectory. The first Mass was celebrated on May 24, 1908.

The church was dedicated on Sun., May 31, 1908, by the Most Rev. John J. Monaghan, Bishop of Wilmington. The services were in charge of the Rev. Dr. Temple, the pastor. On Jan. 13, 1909, the Bishop transferred the property to St. Elizabeth's Church.

A few years later an addition was built, almost doubling the seating capacity of the church. The Banning property, 809 s. Broom St. was purchased on Sept. 21, 1922. The rectory was established here. The second floor of the church building was then remodeled for school purposes.

The corner-stone of the present parochial school was laid on Nov. 10, 1929, by Monsignor J. J. Dougherty assisted by Father Temple. On Mar. 17, 1940, six gold altar vases, in memory of Patrick and Elizabeth Quigley, were used for the first time.

In 1943, a campaign was started to raise $150,000.00 with which to replace St. Elizabeth's Church with a new church to be known as the Father Temple Memorial Church.

The ground was broken for the new church at s. Clayton and Cedar Sts. on Sun., afternoon, Oct. 21, 1945. The first spadeful of earth was turned by the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, Bishop of Wilmington. A wooden cross had been erected on the spot from which the main altar would rise and this ground was blessed previous to the ground-breaking. The Bishop celebrated Benediction from a wooden altar erected on the rear porch of the rectory. Among those present were Fathers E. J. McDonough, Francis J. Desmond, Jos. P. Kenny, V. Kenny, Francis S. Lynch and James M. Grant, the pastor.

As this is written the building is under roof and it bids fair to be one of Delaware's outstanding churches.

Holy Trinity Polish National R. C. Church was incorporated on May 21, 1913. They met in the former Olivet Church building at Chestnut and Adams Sts. The life of this church was very short.

St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, R. C., is located at 7th and Buttonwood Sts. The corner-stone of the church was laid on Nov. 23, 1913, by Bishop John J. Monaghan. He was assisted by the Most Rev. St. Anthony's R. C. Church. On Sept. 13, 1924, Bishop John J. Monaghan appointed the Very Rev. J. Francis Tucker, O.S.F.S., as pastor of St. Anthony's Parish with instructions to proceed with the erection of a church. The parish limits included all of the Italians in Wilmington. Subscriptions toward the building were started in December, 1924. The first Mass was offered on Christmas Day, 1924, in a temporary building later used as St. Anthony's Hall. The church was incorporated on Jan. 4, 1925. The title to the church site at 9th and Dupont Sts. was acquired on Mar. 25, 1925. Ground was broken on Mar. 8, 1925. At 4:30 P. M. there was a procession to the temporary chancel. Father Tucker made a short speech as did each of the building committee: Ernest Di Sabitino, Alexander Petrillo, P. Del Campo and Louis Fidance. Father Tucker turned the first spadeful of earth using a spade trimmed with brown and white ribbon. He was followed by Father Fournier, O.S.F.S., who was followed by the committee. The earth was placed on the platform and all of it was carried away as souvenirs. The spade is being preserved to break ground for a parish school. A Mass was then offered.

The corner-stone of the church was laid on Sun., June 14, 1925, by the Most Rev. John J. Monaghan assisted by the Very Rev. J. Francis Tucker, the pastor. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. John Knight, O.S.F.S. This was the last public appearance of Bishop Monaghan previous to his retirement because of failing health. On this occasion an address was delivered by U. S. Senator Thomas F. Bayard. There was a large parade accompanied by two bands.

The first Mass was celebrated in the new building on Palm Sunday, Mar. 28, 1926. The church was dedicated on Sun., June 13, 1926. Masses were offered at 6:30 and 7:30 A. M. Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by Archbishop Pietro Fumasoni-Blondi, Papal Delegate to the United States, assisted by the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, Bishop of Wilmington. At the same time, for the benefit of the crowds who could not get into the church, a Mass was offered outside of the church at a temporary chancel. A banquet was held at the Hotel Du Pont, at which time Ernest Di Sabitino presented to Archbishop Fumasoni-Blondi a golden key with a picture of the church. The Archbishop, in turn, presented the key to Bishop FitzMaurice, believing that the most fitting place for the key was in the home of the Bishop of Wilmington.

On Oct. 14, 1928, the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes was blessed by Monsignor J. J. Dougherty, assisted by the Very Rev. J. Francis Tucker.

The carnivoles held by St. Anthony's Church were famous throughout this section. All sorts of amusements were provided, Italian dishes were to be had and Italian folk dances and songs were presented.

Father Tucker's Silver Jubilee as an ordained priest was observed with a three-day celebration. A Solemn Mass of Thanksgiving was celebrated on Sun., Oct. 4, 1936 and the services were brought to a close with a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Du Pont on the evening of Oct. 6.

The campanile, or bell tower, was completed in 1938. The dedication will not be held until the interior is fully completed. The baptistry was completed in 1943, but the stained-glass windows have not been installed, as yet. Work on the interior of the church is still in progress. Little by little as they could afford it, the first of the lateral chapels, the columns, the arches, the lateral ceiling, small windows and medalions have been completed. It is Father Tucker's idea that the work should be done through the generations, leaving to succeeding ones a share in the erection of an enduring monument to the greater Glory of God.

On Dec. 8, 1944, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice blessed a hand-carved walnut pulpit and a hand-carved walnut shrine of the Miraculous Medal. The pulpit was a gift of St. Anthony's Catholic Club and the shrine was a gift of the boys and girls in the armed services. Bishop FitzMaurice preached the first sermon from the new pulpit.

Plans were announced on Feb. 17, 1946 for the erection of the Paul M. Fournier Memorial Hall as sponsored by the St. Anthony Catholic Club. It is to be located on the southerly side of Howland St., between Dupont and Scott Sts. It will include an auditorium, game rooms, library, kitchen and a gym. nasium. Father Fournier was the founder and the first chaplain of the club.

Something new in ground-breaking ceremonies, in Delaware, was accomplished on Sun. morning, Mar. 9, 1947, when Father Tucker, fully attired in his priestly garments, climbed aboard a steam shovel, snatched the levers and took a huge bite of earth to start the work on the Fournier Building.

Previous to this Father Tucker, assisted by the Revs. N. Di Ienno and J. E. Woods after the celebration of Mass in the church proceeded to bless the ground of the site.

At a meeting held on Jan. 2, 1927, trustees were elected and Christ Our King Church assumed title to the property on May 27, 1927. The contract for building the parochial school was awarded during the week of July 10, 1927. The first anniversary of the temporary church was celebrated on Sept. 4, 1927.

The corner-stone of the parochial school was laid on Jan. 22, 1928, by Bishop FitzMaurice, assisted by Father J. J. Lynch. The dedication services were held on Sept. 9, 1928, at which time each room was blessed separately by Bishop FitzMaurice. A procession from the chapel to the school was held. The Bishop was assisted by Vicar-General J. J. Dougherty, Chancellor J. J. Bolen and Father Lynch. An oration was delivered by the Rev. Dr. W. A. Scullen. A benediction was said in the chapel.

The convent was completed and was opened for inspection on the morning of May 15, 1932. It was blessed by Bishop FitzMaurice on that day.

In July, 1934, Masses were transferred to a chapel in the basement of the school building and the temporary chapel was torn down.

During the summer of 1943, the altar from the Chapel of St. Catherine of Siena at St. James’ Protectors was installed in Christ Our King Chapel to be used as the Altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The Chapel of the Blessed Sacrament, R.C., colored. This property, at 712 Scott St., was purchased by the Diocese of Wilmington on Nov. 22, 1935. COLORED Ezion M. E. Church, colored, organized in 1805, was the first offspring of Asbury Methodist Church. The original members were members of Asbury Church and worshipped at the regular services. In 1805, they began to hold separate meetings in private homes. In 1805, with the aid of Asbury, they withdrew to found their own church.

They built a stone meeting-house at Ninth and French Sts. They selected the name "Ezion" from Ezion Gaber, a town in the land of Edom, where Solomon's vessels were built. In December, 1812, a group withdraw under the leadership of Peter Spencer, a local-preacher, and formed the Union Church of Africans.

In 1838, another division occurred but the old group continued and, in 1844, they enlarged the church building. In 1870, it was decided to build a new church. The last service in the old church was held on Sun., May 22, 1870, by the Revs. Jos. D. Elbard, Charles Hill and Peter Buroughs, the pastor. During the construction, services were held in the basement of Institute Hall.

The corner-stone of the new church was laid on July 17, 1870. The preliminary services were held in Institute Hall after which the congregation marched to the church site. The stone was laid by Bishop Levi Scott who was assisted by the Revs. Chas. Hill and A. Manship. The finished portion of the church was dedicated on Nov. 6, 1870, by the Rev. Messrs. Smith, Hill and Kennard.

On the afternoon of Jan. 6, 1886, the church was severely damaged by fire and it was rebuilt during that year. During the rebuilding operations services were held in the Grand Opera House. The corner-stone was relaid on Apr. 18, 1886, with the Revs. Vaughn Smith, N. M. Browne and H. A. Monroe, the pastor, taking part. The church was dedicated on July 25, 1886, at the morning service. Those taking part included Bishop Andrews, Pres. Elder I. H. White and the Revs. J. D. Elbard, H. Jolly, J. Emery Webb and H. A. Monroe, the pastor. A full week of jubilee services followed.

Chester-Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) is located, on the Faulk Road, near Zebley’s Corner. As early as 1765 Captain Thomas Webb, a pensioned British officer, was preaching Methodism at Marcus Hook and in the Isaac Tussey home at the top of Penny Hill. Several residents of Brandywine Hundred, near Zebley’s Corner, became converted and they formed a Methodist Society in 1775. Meetings were held in the home of David Ford. In 1780, a log chapel was built on the Cloud farm, near the State line, and it was called “Cloud’s Chapel.” In fact, the Cloud farm was so close to the line that for several years after purchasing the property Mr. Cloud was compelled to pay taxes in both Counties; Delaware, at that time, being a part of Pennsylvania.

On Aug. 14, 1797, Robert Cloud and his wife Magdalene, for a consideration of five shillings, deeded one acre of land, as a church site, to Powell Clayton, Aaron Mattson, Thomas Webster, Robert Pyle, Jr., Daniel Pyle, David Ford, Wm. Ford, Wm. Hanby and Benj. Hanby, trustees. The deed recites that they are to build a house of worship for the M.E. Church, it also provides that any vacancies on the board shall be filled by the trustees with the pastor of the church having a casting vote. The church was built of stone and there was a gable-stone dated 1799. It had a gallery around three sides. The name, “Bethel M.E. Church” was then adopted.

Situated in a strictly rural section, the church prospered and grew, with no major difficulties until the year 1847. Then dissent did rear its ugly head and resulted in the building of Siloam Church, just across the Pennsylvania line. The bitterness between these two congregations continued for more than sixty years. The cause of this split, while seemingly very childish to us, was very serious and very real to them. It appears that the boys and girls of Bethel formed a singing society which would meet at the different member’s homes and practice singing, including the hymns then being sung in the Methodist churches. As their singing ability developed they decided to ask the trustees to allow them to sit in a group at the church services and to be allowed to nail a four-inch strip of wood upon the pews in front of them upon which to rest their hymnals. In other words, they wished to form a church choir. Then the trouble started, part of the congregation being in favor and others decidedly opposed to the innovation. The arguments waxed back and forth and resulted in the anti-choir faction withdrawing from Bethel and building Siloam in 1852.

There have been several versions of the cause of this schism in Bethel Church. This version is taken from “Some Personal Recollections of Bethel and Brandywine Hundred” included in a book entitled “Rambles and Reflections” published in 1892, by Judge Thomas J. Clayton. As a young man, Judge Clayton was a member of the choir of Bethel Church at the time the choir was organized. The members of Bethel who opposed the choir “looked upon it as a step toward Ritualism and High Church practices.” Samuel Grubb, a blacksmith of Grubb’s Corner said: “Anybody with common sense ought to know that it will not help the voice to look, when you sing, upon those things that you call keys and bars, with black and white tadpoles, some with their tails up, some with their tails down, decorated with black flags and trying to crawl through the fence. It's all the work of the devil."

In 1873, the members decided to build a new church at the opposite end of the graveyard. In preparation for this, on July 30, 1873, they entered into an agreement with John B. McCay, who owned the adjoining farm. The trustees agreed to transfer to Mr. McCay the lower end of the property, consisting of 69 perches upon which the stone church stood and Mr. McCay agreed to transfer to the trustees two acres on the upper end of the lot and to pay one-tenth of the cost of the new church, the payment not to exceed $1200.00.

The church was built of serpentine stone and brick. It was dedicated on Dec. 13, 1874. The old church did yeoman service as a farm building until 1940, when it was torn down. On Mar. 1, 1914, a storm unroofed the church, caved in the rear wall and damaged the interior. Repairs were made immediately. The old horse-sheds were removed in 1938. There is a large and well-kept cemetery beside the church. There are a number of graves with field stones for markers. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Thomas Webster who died on Oct. 25, 1800. On the tombstone of Mary Galbreath who died on Apr. 17, 1861 is the following inscription:

"Remember me as you pass by
As you are now so once was I
As I am now so you must be Prepare yourself to follow me."

This inscription, slightly varied, appears on several tombstones in Delaware. During the last century it was popular to have a four-line verse inscribed on tombstones. According to Mr. Wm. V. Sipple of Milford, the monument dealers had booklets containing a large number of verses appropriate for tombstones from which many customers would make selections. The above-mentioned verse appeared in these booklets, which resulted in its selection, very often.

Additional land was purchased from W. P. Missimer on Sept. 25, 1907 and Apr. 8, 1913.

New Wark Friend's Meeting and Newark-Union Methodist Church (M.E.). In December, 1685, a group of Friends living in Brandywine Hundred were given permission, by the Chester Quarterly Meeting, to hold meetings and to build a meeting-house. In 1687-88 meetings were held at Valentine Hollingsworth's home and at the home of Morgan Drewett. In 1688, Valentine Hollingsworth donated land, on the Carr Road near Carrcroft, to be used as a site for a Friends Meeting-House. New Wark was the name Mr. Hollingsworth had adopted for his extensive property. The meeting-house was built, presumably of logs, and was known as New Wark Friend's Meeting. Monthly meetings were held here until 1704 after which they alternated with Center Meeting, near Centerville. In 1707, the Monthly Meetings at New Wark were abandoned. Weekly meetings were continued until 1754 when they were also "raised," the membership having become so small.

With the passing years, the graveyard beside the meeting-house became very dilapidated. In 1845, a group of nearby residents, of whom George W. Weldin was one, raised money to build a stone wall around the graveyard. At the same time a church building was erected to be used as an undenominational church. It was given the name "Newark-Union Church." The church was built by Lewes Zebley and John Sharpley at their bid of $800.00. The senior partner of this firm was the writer's grandfather. Services were held here by nearly every denomination worshipping in this part of the Hundred. The church and grounds are owned and supervised by a self-perpetuating board of trustees.

On Feb. 26, 1888, the trustees asked to be taken into the Methodist Episcopal Conference. The committee reported, on Mar. 2, 1888, that the trustees would comply with the conditions set by the Conference and they were subsequently admitted. The name "Newark-Union M. E. Church" was adopted. During the year 1906, the building was entirely remodeled, with the location of the doorway and windows changed to their present position. A portion of the old horse-sheds was removed in 1940.

On Nov. 1, 1945, the trustees purchased land fronting on Carr Road from Anna G. Seymour. The celebration of the 100th Anniversary of the church was arranged for Nov. 25, 1945. Those taking part included the Revs. E. H. Ehart, E. Leon Dage, the pastor and Dr. Oliver J. Collins, Dist. Supt.

In 1935, the descendants of Valentine Hollingsworth erected, in the graveyard, a six-ton stone memorial inscribed as follows: "To the memory of Valentine Hollingsworth, with his family he came to America with William Penn in 1682 obtained a patent for 986 acres of land which he called New Wark. A member of the Society of Friends, their meetings were held at his house, adjoining this half-acre which he gave for a burying-ground. A member of the Assembly from New Castle County, 1683, 1687, 1695. Died about 1711 and with his second wife—Ann Calvert, is buried here. Erected by descendants 1935."

The oldest tombstone is dated 1759. The rest of the inscription is worn away.

Calvary P. E. Church at Carrcroft and at Hillcrest. In 1855, a congregation was formed by Episcopalians living near Carrcroft and meetings were held in Newark-Union Church. A parish was organized in November, 1855. Mrs. Rebecca Carr donated a piece of land, a short distance from the Newark-Union Church on the opposite side of the road, upon which to build a church. The corner-stone was laid on Sat., Sept. 25, 1862, by Bishop Alfred Lee. The church was designed by Emlen T. Littell. It was built of Brandywine granite and was in the Gothic style. The church was dedicated on Jan. 29, 1863, by Bishop Lee and the name "Calvary" was adopted. A pulpit Bible was presented by the Church of the Atonement of Phila. The Rev. S. F. Hotchkin, assistant rector of the Church of the Ascension at Claymont, assumed charge of the parish.

In 1863, a stone wall was built in front of the church. Horse-sheds were added in 1874. After renovations, a reopening service was held by Bishop Lee, on Oct. 17, 1885. After a closed period, the church was reopened on Oct. 11, 1891. Improvements were made in 1892-03. Repairs were made in 1900-01. The last service was held in 1902. By 1909, the church was in a state of ruin.

The building was decaying rapidly when a thief entered the church and stole a roll of carpet which he sold in Wilmington. The police traced the theft through a prayer-book which had been rolled up in the carpet. This incident brought home to the Episcopalians living in that section, the fact that the Diocese owned this unused building. Under the leadership of the Rev. J. Harry Chesley, rector of the Church of the Ascension, it was decided to move the church to the fast growing section known as Hillcrest.

A lot at Lore and Woodside Aves. was donated by Ernest B. McNair as a church site. Proving too small, additional land was purchased by the congregation. The Rev. S. F. Hotchkin, of Phila., the first rector, became interested in the work. One of the contributors toward building the Carrcroft church was Thomas Clyde of Claymont. He was the head of the company which operated the Delaware River excursion steamer Thomas Clyde, a side-wheeler, well known to Wilmingtonians of that day. It was Mr. Hotchkin's idea to make the new church a memorial to the elder Clydes. He interested Wm. C. Clyde, a descendant of Thomas Clyde and Mr. Clyde contributed generously to the work and provided the beautiful memorial window in the chancel. The old church was torn down and the stone was used in building the new church. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 26, 1909, by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman. After the corner-stone was laid a ceremony was performed under unique circumstances when Clara, the infant daughter of Charles B. Palmer was baptized by the Rev. Dr. Hubert W. Wells of St. Andrew's Church, Wilmington.

The following morning the stonemasons arrived slightly "potted" and they decided to lay a corner-stone of their own before the boss arrived. They built a pocket in the n. w. corner of the wall into which they placed a copy of the Wilmington Morning News, fifteen pennies, a paper listing their names and a half-pint bottle of whiskey. They then sealed the pocket and proceeded to build the wall.

The church was dedicated on Sun. afternoon, Sept. 23, 1910, as "Calvary P. E. Church, Clyde Memorial," by the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Kinsman, Bishop of Delaware. The Rev. S. F. Hotchkin delivered an address. Also taking part were Wm. H. Graef, former lay-leader at the Carrcroft church and the Rev. J. Leighton McKim of Milford. The pews from the old church were used for a few years. The cross in the chancel was from the old church.

The formal opening of the new Sunday School building took place on Feb. 6, 1927, with the Rev. Charles A. Rantz in charge of the exercises. The building was equipped to serve as a social-center.

Calvary Church has been the recipient of numerous gifts including the missal desk from the Rev. P. B. Lightner, a book of memory from Mrs. Henry R. Higgins, a grand-daughter of Bishop Lee, an altar cross as a memorial to Mrs. Frederick W. Queripel and the rebinding, in red leather, of the pulpit Bible from Christopher S. Glover. An organ was presented by the Rev. Edward H. Ford and friends on Dec. 31, 1931. On July 1, 1942, a rectory, on Lore Ave., was purchased.

Ground was broken for a new church, to be known as the "Bishop Philip Cook Memorial" on Tues., Jan. 15, 1946. The ceremonies were in charge of the Rt. Rev. Arthur R. McKinstry, Bishop of Delaware. The first spadeful of earth was turned by the Rev. Chas. A. Rantz, former rector of Calvary Church. Also taking part were the Rev. Jos. C. Wood, former rector, John M. Stewart, W. Albert Haddock, Wm. Heyl Thompson, the architect and the Rev. Francis D. Daley, the rector. Charles Petit Weldin, the contractor who built a church on this site, was present as were nearly all of the clergy of the Diocese of Delaware.

The corner-stone of the new church was laid on Mon., Oct. 14, 1946, by the Rt. Rev. Arthur R. McKinstry, Bishop of Delaware. Assisting in the ceremonies were the Rev. Charles W. Clash, D.D., the Rev. John Ellis Large, the Rev. Francis D. Daley, the rector, John M. Stewart, Senior Warden, Wm. Heyl Thompson, the architect and Oscar S. Tally, the contractor. A large delegation of clergymen was present. The ceremony marked the 26th anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Cook as Bishop of Delaware.

The new church was used for the first time on Easter Sunday, Apr. 6, 1947 at which time services were conducted in the basement.

The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, at Claymont. As early as 1843, Bishop Alfred Lee held Episcopal services in a schoolhouse at Naa-man's Creek, Claymont. A church was organized on Nov. 7, 1850. Stated meetings were held and in January, 1851, a committee was appointed to arrange the erection of a church building. A rector was appointed on Dec. 1, 1851. On Feb. 18, 1854, a lot of land at the cor. of Philadelphia Pike and Church Lane, was donated by the Rev. J. B. Clemson, who lived in the neighborhood. He conducted a private school patronized by many Wilmingtonians.

The church, of frame construction, was completed and was consecrated on Sept. 14, 1854, by Bishop Alfred Lee. It was named "The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension." Horse-sheds were built in 1861.

A bell was purchased in 1863. A rectory was built in 1868. The Sunday School room was enlarged and improved in 1870. In 1874, a recess chancel and a bell-tower were built. Reopening services were held on July 4, 1875. On Easter Sunday, 1878, a silver communion set, in memory of a former warden, was blessed. The old set was to be given to some Indian congregation in the West.

The altar was reconstructed as a memorial to the late rector, the Rev. Wm. H. Moffett, in 1890-91. The church was improved in 1892-93 and new horse-sheds were built in 1895-96. A colored Sunday School was opened in 1903-04. A new altar rail was consecrated by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman, on July 11, 1915.

On Sun., April 7, 1918, a new organ was dedicated by Bishop Kinsman. It was a memorial to Mrs. Emma A. Lodge presented by her daughters, Mrs. George Lodge and Mrs. Annie Parrish. New pews and furnishings were installed in 1924-25.

In 1926, under the leadership of the rector, the Rev. Chas. A. Rantz, a lot adjoining the rectory property on the westerly side of the Phila. Pike was purchased. The original church was moved to the new site in 1927. At the same time a new parish-house, of stone, was erected, at right angles to the church and connected to it. The corner-stone of the parish-house was laid on June 26, 1927, by Bishop Philip Cook assisted by the rector. The dedication services were held on Nov. 13, 1927, with Bishop Philip Cook and the Rev. Chas. A. Rantz officiating.

A new organ was installed in 1940-41.

Holy Rosary Church (R.C.) at Claymont. This parish was started on Jan. 7, 1920 when 17 members in the northern end of St. Patrick's parish, assembled for Mass at the home of Joel D. Gillen in Worthland. Mass was offered by the Rev. James M. Grant, D.D., assistant pastor of St. Patrick's parish. The congregation doubled on the second Sunday and on the third Sunday, Mass was said in the Community Hall at Overlook. Lenton devotions were also held in the hall.

In September, 1921, this congregation was constituted a parish with the Rev. F. X. Fitzpatrick as the first resident pastor. Work was begun in October on a new chapel, "Our Lady of Prompt Succor," and the first Mass was celebrated in the new church on Dec. 8, 1921. Atonement Methodist Church (M.E.) at Claymont, was the outgrowth of a Sunday School organized, in 1864, in a room over Frank Ford's grocery store which stood opposite the present Naaman's Tea House. At a meeting held on June 2, 1866, it was decided to build a church. Thomas Kimber, a Quaker, donated the site on June 7, 1866 and subscribed $2500.00 toward the building. The church was dedicated during the following November. In 1885, the Sunday School was built.

After major improvements, reopening services were held on July 24, 1898, with Pres. Elder Robert Watt in charge. The church was damaged in the storm of Mar. 1, 1914. A large addition to house the Sunday School was built in 1927. The corner-stone was laid on the afternoon of June 26, 1927, by the Rev. J. W. Colona. The silver trowel was to be encased in glass and placed in the vestibule of the church. The dedication services were held on Nov. 13, 1927. Memorial windows were installed in 1940. A new Moller pipe-organ was dedicated on June 22, 1941. During the 75th Anniversary celebration on Nov. 16, 1941, a grove of trees, to be planted in honor of Thomas Kimber, the Quaker, was presented to the trustees.

A new chancel was built and it was used for the first time on Sun., June 17, 1945. The chancel and a large number of memorial gifts were dedicated on Sun., July 1, 1945, by Dist. Supt. Dr. Oliver J. Collins, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Preston W. Spence, Jr.

The church has not been formally organized although they are served by a pastor. The members who join become associate members of the First Independent Church in Wilmington.

Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church (M.E.) is located, on the Philadelphia Pike, between Bellevue and Holly Oak. It had its inception at a camp-meeting held in Adam Talley's woods in August, 1833. The meetings were held in the Shellpot and Cartmell Schools. The church was organized in Mt. Pleasant School. Trustees were chosen in 1837. On Mar. 3, 1838, the trustees decided to buy an acre of land from George Cartmell. On Mar. 21, 1838, for a consideration of $40.00, Mr. Cartmell deeded one acre 26 perches of land to Geo. McCorkle, Wm. R. Weldin, Jesse Kendall, Harmon Justison, Richard Kellam, Samuel Lodge, Joseph Lloyd, Joseph Grubb and Jacob S. Weldin, trustees. Mr. Cartmell donated extra land and all of the stone for the building. It was dedicated on Mar. 28, 1841, by the Rev. Joseph Lybrand, of Asbury Church, Wilmington. Repairs were made in 1866.

In 1893, the church was remodeled and the old gallery was removed. It was rededicated on Dec. 10, 1893, by Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, assisted by the Rev. W. E. Tomkinston, the pastor. Among those taking part were the Revs. J. H. Conner, John Y. Dobbins, W. C. Johnson and the Hon. Charles B. Lore.

The church was damaged in the storm of Mar. 1, 1914 and repaired. After having been closed for ten years, except for annual meetings, the church was reopened for regular services in 1941. These meetings were not successful and the church reverted to annual meetings, only.

There is a graveyard to the rear of the church. The earliest tombstone is that of John Wesley Weldin who died on Oct. 30, 1842.
Jersey View M. E. Church. In 1873, a group withdrew from Mt. Pleasant Church and held their first meetings in Newark-Union Church. They planned to erect a stone church at S. G. Weldin's Corner and to call it "Jersey View M. E. Church."

Supt. and the pastor, the Rev. Hugh B. Kelso. Regular preaching services were inaugurated on Sun., May 5, 1918. On June 21, the Rev. Geo. W. Weldin presented a walnut collection plate and on June 28, Grace Church of Wilmington presented some pews. The church was organized on July 1, 1920, it was incorporated on July 2 and on July 15 the property was duly transferred to the trustees. On Mar. 26, 1886, the company donated a lot at the corner of Second Ave. and B St. The deed contained a reversion clause and stipulated that any building erected must be approved by the company.

Ground was broken on Aug. 17, 1886 and the corner-stone was laid on Sept. 18, 1886. It was dedicated on May 29, 1887, by the Rev. W. L. S. Murray, Presiding Elder. It was on a circuit with Mt. Pleasant Church until 1891 when it was attached to Eastlake Church. The last services in the church were held in September, 1934, by the pastor, the Rev. Walter E. Fosnocht.

In disposing of the church furniture on Aug. 31, 1935, the bell was given to the Rev. Walter E. Fosnocht and is now used by Mt. Lebanon Church. The pulpit was given to the Rev. R. High Adams to be used at Brack-Ex Church and the communion service was given to the Rev. J. E. Layton for use at Holly Oak Church. The balance of the furnishings were auctioned off.

The church, which was owned solely by the people of Edge Moor was sold, in 1936, to make way for industrial development.

St. George's P. E. Mission was located at Edge Moor. It was organized by St. John's Church of Wilmington and met in the schoolhouse. The first service was held on Nov. 24, 1889. After 20 years of service, it was closed, with the consent of the Bishop, in 1909.

Edmond J. FitzMaurice, assisted by the Rev. John J. Dougherty and other priests. A procession marched around the church as the Bishop blessed the four corners of the building. The Rev. John J. Lynch celebrated High Mass and the Rev. Dr. Wm. Temple preached the sermon. The Bishop explained that the church was named in honor of St. Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great, the first Christian Emperor of Rome. It also honored Mrs. Helena Raskob, wife of John J. Raskob, because of their numerous benefactions to the Church.

The church was erected by the Catholic Foundation of the Diocese of Wilmington to which Mr. Raskob had been the principal contributor. The parish furnished the interior of the church. After the ceremonies, a dinner was served at the Brandywine Hundred Fire-House.

Hillcrest Methodist Church (M.E.) A Methodist Society was formed at Hillcrest in 1909 and a temporary tabernacle was built. The site for a church was donated on Apr. 3, 1912, by Martin Beadenkopf. in the spring of 1946 to take care of the growing school. Grace Baptist Church of Wilmington is the sponsor of this work.

Grace P. E. Church is located one mile north of Talleyville. On Dec. 30, 1835, a meeting was held in Talley’s schoolhouse, built in 1806, about one mile east of Perry's Tavern, for the purpose of forming an Episcopalian congregation. On Feb. 20, 1836, the schoolhouse was purchased from Eli Baldwin Talley for $275.00 and fitted up as a church. It was given the name “Grace P. E. Church.” It was consecrated by Bishop H. U. Onderdonk on June 11, 1835. Interest in Grace Church became very low by 1860. In 1861, new life was instilled and the chapel was improved. The old high pulpit was replaced with modern furnishings.

In the fall of 1872, they purchased ten acres of land, north of Talleyville, to be used as a site for a church and a graveyard. On Oct. 1, 1874, the cornerstone of the present stone church was laid by Bishop Alfred Lee. It was opened for worship on July 4, 1875. In 1883, a rectory was presented by a lady friend of the parish. In 1887, the carriage-porch was built and the roof was rebuilt. Horse-sheds were built in 1889.

After major improvements, including the addition of the chancel and sanctuary, a reopening service was held on Sept. 4, 1892, with Bishop Leighton Coleman in charge. He was assisted by the Revs. J. H. Berghaus and R. L. Stevens. A new organ had also been installed.

The parish-house was built in 1928. It was dedicated on Feb. 17, 1929, by Bishop Philip Cook, assisted by the Rev. Charles A. Rantz, the rector. New pews, a desk and other furnishings were dedicated on May 21, 1944. The speaker was Kilsao Haan, Washington representative of the Sino-Korean Peoples League. New organ chimes were dedicated on Sun., Mar. 30, 1947 by the rector, the Rev. E. H. Ehart, Jr. Mrs. Pearl Morton was at the console. The chimes with an amplifying set were given by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Talley in memory of their son, Staff Sergt. Millard Talley who had served in the Pacific area during World War II.

The church tower was struck by lightning on Wed. eve., Apr. 30, 1947 but there was little damage. The tombstones in the adjoining graveyard date back to 1880.

Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized in 1833, at Rockland. On Mar. 7, 1834, Thomas J. Aldred donated 165 perches of land to Curtis Talley, Charles Talley, Casper Munden, John Frame and Thomas Underwood, trustees. A stone church was built in 1834. In 1876, a fine organ was installed and an addition was made to the library. The building was remodeled in 1888. A heater was installed in 1931. In 1932, memorial windows were installed and a new roof was built. In 1935, the male members pitched in and made substantial improvements to the grounds. The Rev. Walter E. Fosnocht, the pastor, had been the last minister to serve at Edge Moor Church. When this church was torn down, the bell was presented to Mr. Fosnocht who, in turn, presented it to Mt. Lebanon Church. The bell was installed on Sept. 3, 1936. The bell and belfry were dedicated, at an all-day service, on Sept. 13, 1936. In 1937, extensive improvements and refreshings were made. In 1938, a memorial window was installed by Miss Mary S. Lecarpentier of Rockland. So far as possible the labor for the many improvements from 1935 to 1938 was furnished by the men of Mt. Lebanon. There is a large, enclosed graveyard. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Ezra Evans who died on Aug. 9, 1836.
On Aug. 14, 1905, Mt. Lebanon purchased from the Du Pont Co. a parsonage at the top of Rockland Hill. The deed contained two covenants that ran with the land. They were that the buyer assumed the risk of all injuries resulting from explosions at the powder mills and that no liquor should be sold on the property either retail or wholesale. The church sold this parsonage to Lammot duPont on Aug. 26, 1931. On Feb. 4, 1932, they purchased a lot at McDaniel Heights and built a new parsonage.

Rockland Presbyterian Church. Wm. Young, a Philadelphia printer, built a paper mill at Rockland about 1793. In the early 1800's, Mr. Young built a stone church at Rockland a short distance up the hill on the road to Talleyville. He had the church conducted as an independent church for many years and would invite theological students to hold services. About 1820, the church passed into the hands of the Philadelphia Presbytery. It was attached to Lower Brandywine Church and regular services were held. In 1854, Rockland Church was attached to Greenhill Church and services were held every second Sunday afternoon. The church was closed for several years. It was reopened in 1884 and preaching was continued until 1890. On Aug. 11, 1884, a Sunday School was organized by Elder W. H. Oliver, Sr. with the help of Frank B. Stirling, assistant superintendent of Greenhill Sunday School. They built up the interest until there was a membership of ninety. Mr. Stirling became superintendent upon Elder Oliver's retirement. The Sunday School was closed, in 1892, out of deference to the members of Mt. Lebanon Church who were doing fine work a short distance up the hill. Only the ruins of the stone walls are standing today.

Christ P. E. Church is located, just off Buck Road, two miles outside of Wilmington. This church was the outgrowth of what is believed to have been the first Sunday School in America.

The site of the Simmelville Mill, later known as Walker's Mill, was purchased from Peter Bauduy by Joseph B. Sims in August, 1813 and Mr. Sims proceeded to build the mill. In 1815, John Siddall and his nephew James were employed at the mill. The first Sunday School in England was established, in 1780, by Robert Raikes at Gloucester. James Siddall had attended the Raikes Sunday School previous to his coming to America. In the spring of 1815 James and his uncle decided to open a Sunday School in the home of John Siddall. Both children and adults attended and were taught the 3 R's and also moral subjects. This was the first Sunday School in America.

Victorine E. duPont, the eldest daughter of Eleuthere Irene duPont, the founder of the Du Pont Company married the son of Peter Bauduy who was associated with Mr. duPont in the early days of powder making. The bridegroom lived only three months and Victorine was left a widow at a very early age.

When E. I. du Pont learned of the Sunday School, which had been moved to the Simmelville Mill, he prevailed upon Victorine to attend the school and to teach a class there. Her younger sisters Eleuthera and Sophie, later Mrs. Admiral duPont, also assisted in this work. The Brandywine Manufacturer's Sunday School was incorporated on Jan. 29, 1817. As the Sunday School grew, larger and more central quarters were needed, so it was moved to the top floor of Henry Clay Factory. In 1821, Victorine assumed full charge of the school.

During the year 1823, E. I. duPont donated a site near the Blacksmith-shop Gate and probably some of the building materials. The men of the Sunday School furnished the labor and a Sunday School building was erected and occupied. To quote Mrs. Admiral duPont: “Money was scarce in those days and my father was not a rich man.” Among the Brandywiners the Admiral’s wife was always called ”Mrs. Admiral.”

There were separate classes for the various denominations where each one would be taught the tenets of his religion. When St. Joseph’s Church was built in 1841, the Catholic members withdrew from the Sunday School. In 1844, when Greenhill was founded the Presbyterian members withdrew and in 1847, when Mt. Salem was founded the Methodists withdrew. This left the Sunday School predominantly Episcopalian.

The forms of the Episcopal Church were adopted in 1848. After having been tastefully reconditioned, the building was reopened on Aug. 17, 1851 by Bishop Alfred Lee. On May 2, 1852, a class of seven members was confirmed by Bishop Lee.

The movement to erect a creditable church building was pushed forward by some of the members, notably, Mrs. Bauduy and Captain, later Admiral duPont and his wife. They ran into difficulty in securing a site as some were in favor of building the church close to the duPont graveyard and General Henry duPont the senior partner of the duPont firm, was opposed to having the church built on duPont land.

These difficulties were gradually overcome and the present site was secured. The work of cellar digging was started in August, 1854. During the early part of May, 1855 a Fair was held in Wilmington and $540.00 was cleared and placed in a fund to purchase an organ. The five-ton spire was placed in position on Nov. 5, 1855.

The windows were placed in the spire on April 23, 1856. It is claimed that Lammot duPont agreed to make a contribution toward the building fund provided windows were placed in the spire so that he could climb up the ladder in the spire and see the surrounding countryside from these windows.

The last church service was held in the Sunday School building on Apr. 27, 1856. The first service in the new church was held on May 4, 1856. The name “Christ” was chosen as being preferable to the name of a saint.

The church bell weighing 1240 pounds and inscribed “Make a joyful noise unto God all ye lands” was rung for the first time on Mar. 27, 1859. The plated communion set was stolen on May 20, 1860. The church was incorporated on Feb. 13, 1872.

Victorine remained in charge of the Sunday School until her death in 1861. The Sunday School building was used for that purpose until 1899 when the present parish-house was built. The old Sunday School building was later used as Hagley Office and is now in use as a dwelling.

The church was improved in 1892-93. The corner-stone of the parishhouse was laid on Jan. 4, 1899, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. It was built of Brandywine granite to conform with the church building. The windows of the church were equipped with new cathedral glass in 1904-05. Extensive rebuilding was done in 1914 and on Easter Sunday, Apr. 4, 1915, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman conducted a reopening service.

A mosaic altar and a new organ in memory of Mrs. Mary Pauline Foster duPont were consecrated, by Bishop Kinsman, on June 3, 1917. The interior of the church was materially improved in 1929. In 1942-43 new altar lights and candelabra were installed. The custom of renting pews, one method of raising church funds, was abolished on Jan. 1, 1943.

A nine-room addition for Sunday School purposes was built during the summer of 1945 and was opened for use on Sept. 23, 1945. It was designed for temporary use until a more permanent building could be erected.
Imbedded in the walls of Christ Church is a full pint bottle of whiskey and this is the authentic story of how it happens to be there. During the construction of the stone-work, when it was about scaffold-high, one of the stonemasons arrived on the job with a pint bottle of whiskey on his hip, as usual. The superintendent arrived early that day and fearing detection, the stonemason laid the bottle upon the wall. He then dashed mortar over it and began to lay stone, lightly, above and beside it, expecting to retrieve it in a few moments. It happened that the superintendent remained on the job all day so the mason had no opportunity to take the bottle out and, of course, next day it was too late.

St. Joseph's-on-the-Brandywine R. C. Church is located on Church Road between the Kennett Pike and Montchanin Road. The first Mass, along the Brandywine, was said by the Rev. Patrick Kenney in the home of Mrs. Victor duPont. Masses were said here, at stated times, until 1841. Then, "St. Joe's," as it was affectionately called, was erected, with generous help from members of the duPont family.

On Mar. 27, 1839, Charles I. duPont purchased from Jos. S. Dixon and Wm. Breck, 95 acres of land extending from the Brandywine to the Kennett Pike. On the upper end of this tract Mr. duPont laid out a section in building lots and named the division "Charleston." On Aug. 25, 1841, he sold lot No. 2, a one-acre plot, to the Most Rev. Francis Patrick Kenrick, Bishop of Phila., in trust for St. Joseph's-on-the-Brandywine Parish. On Feb. 17, 1844, Bishop Kenrick bought lots No. 4 and No. 5. The cost of these three plots was $200.00. It was on this land that St. Joseph's Church was built.

A rectory and the first Parochial School in Delaware were erected in 1850. In July 1866, a new rectory was under construction, the old rectory having been burned a few months before. The church was incorporated on May 23, 1882.

An addition to the school was started in 1889. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 29, 1889, at 4 o'clock, by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis. He was assisted by Vicar-General Lyons and the Rev. Fathers Kelley, Brady, Fallon, Bradford, Dollard and Donaghy, the pastor. A special train on the W. & N. R. R. carried a large delegation from the Wilmington Catholic Societies to the ceremony.

The dedication was held on May 18, 1890. Bishop Curtis conducted the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Fallon, Dollard and Donaghy. The exercises started with a procession to the school. Father Fallon delivered an address on the history of education in St. Joseph's Parish.

The church was equipped with three new altars, new pews and furnishings, after which a reopening service was held on June 24, 1894. Bishop Curtis celebrated Mass and the Rev. Dennis J. Flynn preached the sermon.

After major improvements, a reopening service was held on Aug. 28, 1898, at 10 a.m., with Bishop John J. Monaghan in charge of the ceremonies. He was assisted by the Rev. Wm. J. Bermingham, the pastor and the Rev. J. H. McGill. The main altar was the gift of J. Smith Brennan and his sisters. There were a number of new memorial windows.

The church was rebuilt in 1941 after which centennial services were held on Sun., Dec. 14, 1941. Bishop Edmond J. FitzMaurice was in charge and he was assisted by Monsignor J. J. Dougherty, rector of St. Peter's. At 11 a.m., High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. John J. Lynch. A dinner was served in the school for the clergy and in the convent for the nuns present.

There is a large cemetery beside the church and an additional graveyard.
a short distance down the road. The oldest tombstone is on the grave of Bridget Durnin, who died on Feb. 17, 1844.

Greenhill Presbyterian Church is located to the south of the Kennett Pike just beyond the Wilmington city limits. It was organized in the fall of 1844 at the home of Alex. Stephens, by members of the Rockland Presbyterian Church. The first meetings were held in the Brandywine Lyceum which they rented. The church was formally established on June 5, 1848. The cornerstone of the present church was laid on Nov. 15, 1848. It was dedicated on Sept. 14, 1851, by the Rev. Wm. Blackwood. A two-story frame manse was built in 1856. On May 6, 1857, additional land was bought from John Wood.

A large remodeling job was done in the early 1870’s at which time the pointed roof was added. In 1897, the gallery and the old box-pews were removed and the two sides aisles were changed to one center aisle. A reopening service was held on Sept. 26, 1897, at which time the Rev. W. C. Cattell, D.D., LL.D., was the guest preacher, with the pastor, the Rev. Edwin W. Long, in charge.

In 1936, extensive renovations took place. The stained glass windows were replaced with a plain translucent glass. The chancel was done over with a dark panelling and a new pulpit and reredos were installed. A rededication service was held on Oct. 25, 1936, in which the pastor, the Rev. Harley B. Kline was assisted by the Rev. Charles L. Candee, D.D., and the Rev. J. Herrick Darling, Moderator of the New Castle Presbytery. A new Hammond organ was dedicated on Sun., Apr. 7, 1946 by the Rev. J. Edward Paul, the pastor.

The church stands in the center of a large cemetery. Close to the entrance is a small grave with a headstone inscribed: “Unknown drummer boy 1861-63.” During the Civil War this boy arrived along the Brandywine with his troops. During the time they were stationed here the boy was taken care of by Mrs. John Moore of Walker’s Banks. Sometime later he was killed in battle and his body was brought here for interment. The headstone was contributed by John Windett, a marble cutter, from the Banks of the Brandywine. An American flag is kept flying over the grave at all times by the sexton, who takes great pride in keeping the grave in fine condition. The oldest inscription the writer could find is on a memorial to Lydia Love who died on Sept. 19, 1817. This is undoubtedly a reinterment.

Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church is located on the Kennett Pike, one mile east of Centerville. Lower Brandywine was originally located on the easterly side of the Brandywine Creek below Pyle’s Twin Bridges and on the present estate of Harry Haskell. This site, of 81 sq. perches, was donated by Ralph Pyle to the trustees of the Presbyterian Meeting-House of Birmingham, in the Province of Pennsylvania, on Oct. 15, 1720. Mr. Pyle reserved for himself and his heirs the liberty to build a pew six feet square and to make use of the same and also burial rights for their dead, forever. It was customary in those days to buy or rent space in a meeting-house and to build and own one’s individual family box pew. The deed stipulated that a meeting-house was to be erected.

This log church was used until 1773, when, after quite a controversy, it was decided to build a new church on the present site of Lower Brandywine Church. Only a few field stones, placed upright to mark graves, remain today to show the location of the old log church.

One acre of land at the Kennett Pike and Lewis’ Road was donated as a church site on Aug. 22, 1774, by Jeremiah Smith. A log church was then built.
It stood in front of the present church where the old graveyard is located. In 1835, the building was weather-boarded and plastered. In 1860, a new brick building was erected and the timbers of the old church were used to build horse-sheds. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 1, 1859 and dedication services were held on Nov. 8, 1860.

A group of members developed a cemetery adjoining the church property and on Jan. 15, 1863, they transferred the property, consisting of 85 perches, to the church trustees for $106.25.

In 1890, an outside vestibule was added which allowed several extra rows of pews to be installed. Stained-glass windows were installed at this time. On Apr. 2, 1892, an additional one-eighth of an acre was purchased from Samuel Frizzell. In 1928, an organ-room was added, a steeple was built over the vestibule and the building was generally reconditioned. In addition to the old graveyard there is a large modern cemetery.

In 1828, the Presbytery of New Castle met here and it is claimed that it was the first time in their history that they were entertained without the serving of any hard liquor.

Framed and hanging on the walls of the church are photostatic copies of the Ralph Pyle and Jeremiah Smith deeds.

The oldest tombstone the writer could find is that of James McCulaugh who died on Sept. 16, 1798.

Center Friend’s Meeting-House is located one mile east of Centerville on the road to Granogue. The Irish immigrants who were Friends and who lived in this neighborhood seriously objected to traveling across the Brandywine Creek to attend New Wark Meeting in the winter-time. On Oct. 7, 1687, a Meeting was organized for worship during the winter months. In 1690, a permanent Meeting was organized, the meetings alternating with New Wark Meeting. In 1708, it was decided to build a meeting-house. In 1710, they arranged to buy not more than six acres of land from Alphonsus Kirk at seven shillings, six pence per acre. On Sept. 3, 1711, a committee was appointed to proceed with the erection of a frame or log meeting-house and to lay out a burying-ground. In 1795, the wooden structure was replaced with the present brick building. On Feb. 2, 1808, Center was united with Hockessin as a Monthly Meeting. Center Monthly Meeting was visited by Elias Hicks on Sept. 20, 1828, their first meeting after the separation. On Sat., Nov. 15, 1851, the meeting-house was unroofed in a violent storm. The burying-ground was improved in 1857 and again in 1873.

The two front doors and one of the rear doors are hinged vertically so that they can be folded back when the doors are open. The old benches are still in place on the right side, as you enter, but on the left side they have been replaced with regulation pews. This innovation was decided upon at a Monthly Meeting held on Apr. 3, 1899. At the same time new cushions, a new bookcase and the oiling of the woodwork on that side of the meeting-house were ordered. On Oct. 7, 1907, Center Meeting requested permission to discontinue worship Meetings from the 12 mo. 1st day until the 4 mo. 1st day. New shingle roofs were placed on the meeting-house and the horse-sheds in 1943. At the present time, regular Meetings are held on the last first day in the month from the 4th month 1st day until the 12th month 1st day, at 10 o’clock in the morning. The “upping block” is unusual in having a double approach. The property is well maintained, the burying-ground being enclosed with a stone wall. There are a number of graves marked only with field stones. The oldest legible tombstone is that of R. Jefferis, who died in 1810.
Centerville M. E. Mission was established in 1859 by members from Mt. Salem Church. This effort was abandoned after a short time. In November, 1870, cottage meetings were held and when the attendance increased, the meetings were transferred to the bar-room of the local tavern.

Centerville Undenominational Church. Previous to 1843, any religious services or public meetings in Centerville were, of necessity, held in the school-house. It developed that the school was too small for satisfactory meetings and, in 1842, public-spirited citizens took up a subscription to erect a suitable building. Seventy-four persons subscribed from $1.00 to $10.00 each. On Nov. 2, 1842, the subscribers held a meeting in the school at which time trustees were elected and a building committee was selected.

On May 26, 1843, John McCullough, James Delaplain and Bennett Jefferis, the trustees, purchased a half-acre of land from Ann Matson, for $75.00. It was located on the Wil. and Kennett Turnpike adjoining Levi Walker’s land in Centerville. It was agreed that the trustees would erect a church building free for the use of all Christian denominations who wished to use it and for the use of community meetings.

On Aug. 5, 1843, it was reported that the building was completed at a cost of $625.00, leaving an indebtedness of $200.00. By-laws were adopted on Nov. 4, 1843 and the name “Centerville Hall” was selected. The building was heated with a wood-stove and was lighted with candles. The fees for the use of the building were set at from 25 cents to $1.00. During the following eight years services were held here by the Methodists, the Mormons, the Presbyterians, the Plumerites, the Episcopalians and the Friends.

Diligent research has failed to locate a religious group named “Plumerites.” In 1838, there was a division among the Presbyterians when the congregation became “Old School” or “New School.” The Rev. Wm. S. Plumer was most active in the “Old School” group and was made Moderator in 1838. The writer believes that the “Plumerites” were “Old School” Presbyterians who adopted the name “Plumerites” as followers of the Rev. Mr. Plumer.

Among the secular meetings held in the hall were temperance, anti-slavery, lectures, musicals, Horse Association, Brandywine Club, a geography school and a singing school. By 1851, the trustees had become discouraged because of their inability to pay off the debt of $200.00. At a meeting held on Mar. 1, 1851, it was unanimously decided to sell the building, pay off the debt and distribute the balance among the subscribers. On Mar. 15, 1851, the building was sold to Emma Perin for $400.00. The benches, stove and wood were sold separately. The building was later acquired by Dr. Jos. H. Chandler who used it for a stable. At the present time it is serving as a garage at the home of Philip Kimball.

Oak Hill Pres. Sunday School was conducted in the District School located on the Lancaster Pike a half-mile beyond the DuPont airfield. It was established, in 1875, by members of Red Clay Pres. Church. The Sunday School was closed in 1910.

St. Mary’s R. C. Church was located, four miles outside of Wilmington, on the old Lancaster Pike. This was the first Roman Catholic Church in Delaware and was built by Father Whalen, in 1785, on land purchased in 1772. It was commonly called “Coffee Run Church” from the name of a nearby stream. A new church was built, in 1805, by the Rev. Patrick Kenney. It was used until 1884 and was torn-down in 1908. The graveyard is still there, enclosed with an iron fence. Father Kenney, who died in 1842, is buried here under a flat tombstone. At the entrance, leading to the graveyard and facing the road, is an ornamental gate over which is the name "Coffee Run Cemetery." For several years, during the 1920's, an annual field Mass was celebrated here. The oldest tombstone is that of Barney Trainer, who died on June 30, 1805.

Ebenzer Baptist Church was located one mile and one-half miles from Yorklyn on the Snuff Mill Road. On Jan. 8, 1807, Thos. Kitchen sold to a board of trustees, for $47.50, 2 acres 60 perches of land adjoining a stone schoolhouse, as a site for a Baptist Meeting-House. The church was built of frame. On Oct. 18, 1873, the church trustees sold 22 perches of this land to John W. Sharpless for $15.00. The deed specified that this money would be used in the maintenance of the church.

This church was later used as a community-center for holding the Lyceums which were in vogue at that time. Eventually the building was torn down and the salvaged lumber was used to build chicken-houses on an adjoining farm. There is a stone wall enclosing the graveyard and a few gravestones can be seen. Some of these are field-stones placed upright, one of which is initialed but most of them are unmarked. The last burial was that of Harmon Davis, who died on Feb. 13, 1896. The Davis plot has substantial tombstones, in excellent condition, the oldest of these is dated 1857. The enclosure is well filled with saplings and trees but the wall is in good condition.

St. Patrick's R. C. Church is located near Ashland. It was built on land donated in part by Michael Mullen and Michael Kane. The church was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 9, 1881, by Bishop Thomas A. Becker, assisted by the Rev. Patrick Donaghy, the pastor. The service was held in the morning and a special train was run from Wilmington. The Knights of St. Lawrence, accompanied by a band, were among those attending the ceremony. A short distance up the road is a large, well-kept cemetery. It was blessed on June 11, 1882, by Bishop Becker, assisted by Fathers Kelley and Donaghy. After the ceremony, Bishop Becker preached a sermon in the church. A special train was run from Wilmington for the event. The church was incorporated on Jan. 7, 1894.

In the meantime a church site had been purchased on the Newport Pike at Hayden Ave. The Rev. J. O. McDonald became the first pastor. The only other church of this denomination, in Delaware, is the first United Presbyterian Church of Wilmington.

The name "Calvary" was selected in October. Formal organization took place on Feb. 18, 1945. A campaign to raise funds for the new church, starting on Sun., Mar. 1, 1947, was announced by Herbert S. Lilly, the finance chairman.

Our Mother of Mercy R. C. Church, at Belvedere, was organized, built and is conducted by the Josephite Fathers. Sometime previous to March, 1928, Father Conrad F. Rebesher, S.S.J., established a mission, at Belvedere, in a tiny cottage and gathered a small congregation. On Oct. 28, 1928, the owner of the house requested that it be returned to her. In the meantime, ground had been broken and work well advanced on the erection of a brick church. It was dedicated on Nov. 25, 1928.

The dedication service was conducted by the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, D.D., Bishop of Wilmington. He was assisted by Fathers Daniel Rice and Rebesher. Father Rebesher became the first pastor in addition to his duties as pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Wilmington.

The rectory, built of brick, was begun in the fall of 1935 and was completed about Apr. 1, 1936. The first resident pastor moved in on May 18. The Rev. James F. Didas, S.S.J., became the second pastor on Oct. 1, 1938 and served the church until Mar. 24, 1942.

During 1943-44, the interior of the church was improved and beautified under the direction of Father Bernard A. Lyons, S.S.J., the pastor.
In the district between Newport and Marshallton which includes Bedvedere and Homestead there are several colored churches. Nazareth Baptist Church, Alpha Baptist Church, who purchased their church site on Oct. 7, 1925, Elizabeth A. M. E. Church, founded on Oct. 24, 1921 and who purchased their property on Aug. 19, 1926, Rock of Ages Church, the Union Band of Holiness, who were incorporated on Aug. 23, 1928, and the Simpson M. E. Church. The latter church was burned by youthful incendiaries and then rebuilt of brick in 1908. There are a number of graves surrounding the church.

Peneil Methodist Church (M.E.), at Newport, was the outgrowth of meetings instituted sometime between 1786 and 1797. These meetings were held in private homes and in the schoolhouse. A permanent Society was formed in 1803. The church was organized and trustees were elected on May 16, 1810. On June 22, 1810, Thomas Latimer conveyed for $1.00, a plot of land to the board of trustees.

A small frame church was built and used until 1864 when a brick church was built on the same site. It was dedicated on Sept. 17, 1865. On Nov. 7, 1842, Sybilla Ann Stone donated a brick house for a parsonage and an acre of land for the support of the church. The church was rebuilt in 1890. It was redecorated in 1911 and 1924. The 140th Anniversary was celebrated on Oct. 17, 1926. Additional land was donated by Ella W. Johnson, et al. on Feb. 20, 1937. The corner-stone for an addition to the church was laid on Sept. 26, 1937, by the Revs. W. A. Wise, J. H. Geoghegan and J. C. McCoy. The reopening service was held on Dec. 12, 1937.

On May 27, 1945, the Rev. Paul E. McCoy dedicated four brass offering plates presented as a memorial to Kenneth Jones, who gave his life in World War II. On July 1, 1945, the pastor dedicated an individual communion service in memory of John R. Boyd who lost his life in the naval service.

Nazareth Protestant Methodist Church at Newport. On Oct. 27, 1841, David Lamphigh transferred, for $1.00, to the trustees of Nazareth Church, 85 sq. perches of land located just north of Newport, on the Newport and Lancaster Pike, now James St., upon which to erect a church and to maintain a graveyard. This plot was on the northeasterly side of the Pike and had a frontage of 5 perches and a depth of 17 perches. A church was built of stone and brick. After a few years the church ran into financial difficulties and it was sold by the Sheriff, on Nov. 3, 1855, to Bishop Alfred Lee, et al., of the Episcopal Church.

The Star of Bethlehem Church, A.U.M.P., at Newport. This church was originally called the African Union First Colored M. P. Church. They purchased the old Protestant Methodist Church from Bishop Alfred Lee, et al., on Feb. 13, 1871. They used this church until 1892 when the present church was built. There is a graveyard to the rear of the church.

St. James' P. E. Church at Newport. On Feb. 7, 1767, Wm. Armstrong deeded to a board of trustees 78.9 perches of land to be used as a church site. The consideration was five shillings. Tradition says that funds to erect a church were raised by a lottery. It was 1769 before the rafters were in place. On Dec. 17, 1770, Thomas Barton, a Church of England missionary, reported that the church, built of brick, was nearing completion. The unfinished building was used during the Revolution to stable a troop of British cavalry.

The church was used intermittently to hold services. When the Newport church would be closed the members attended St. James' Church at Stanton.
The church was incorporated on June 14, 1787. From 1800 to 1802 services were conducted by the Rev. Wm. Pryce of Old Swedes Church in Wilmington. On Feb. 14, 1804, John Armstrong transferred to the board of trustees, 2 1/4 acres of land fronting on the Wilmington Road. He charged them $86.00 for 1 3/4 acres and gave them 1/2 of an acre. The deed was recorded on Apr. 13, 1807.

Services were abandoned sometime before 1810. The Church was burned about 1810 and part of its walls remained standing for a time. The bricks were then salvaged and used in building a barn on the John R. Lambson farm. This barn has since been torn down. The church stood on the n. e. cor. of the church property, known as "old church hill." It faced the road which at that time was on a line with Market St. The outline of the foundations can still be distinguished.

On Aug. 3, 1851, Bishop Lee conducted services at Newport and reported that the congregation was making progress. The meeting-place was furnished by a private individual.

On Nov. 3, 1855, Bishop Alfred Lee, et al., purchased, at a Sheriff's sale, the Nazareth Protestant Methodist Church, on the Newport and Lancaster Pike just north of the village of Newport. This was a brick and stone building on a site measuring 85 sq. perches. Regular services were again established in Newport on Dec. 2, 1855. In the meantime the church was reconditioned and the opening service was held on May 17, 1857. The church was readmitted into diocesan relations on June 2, 1857. In 1860, a stone font was presented by Grace Church of Philadelphia. Services were discontinued sometime previous to 1870. On Feb. 13, 1871, Bishop Alfred Lee, et al., sold the property to the African Union First Colored M. P. Church.

On Jan. 23, 1875, a service was conducted in the schoolhouse under the leadership of William Jenks Fell, a lay-reader, and an active Episcopalian. This service was so well attended that at a meeting held on Apr. 20, 1875, it was decided to build the present church. The corner-stone was laid on June 17, 1875, by Bishop Alfred Lee. On the following Saturday the corner-stone was torn out and the contents strewn about. The thieves were disappointed, as no money had been placed in the stone.

The first service in the new church was held on Sun., Oct. 3, 1875, by William Jenks Fell. The formal opening, on Nov. 11, 1875, was conducted by the Rev. C. N. Calloway, of Grace Church near Talleyville. At this service a chancel window and three chandeliers were blessed to the memory of Franklin Fell. The church was consecrated on Wed., Sept. 5, 1877, by Bishop Alfred Lee. He was assisted by the Rev. Drs. Clemson and Frost and the Rev. Messrs. Spencer, Stone, Betticher, Latrobe and W. D. Hanson, the rector.

In 1889, Newport and Stanton parishes joined in purchasing a rectory in Newport. In 1889-90, hangings for the chancel were presented by St. Paul's Church in Brooklyn, N. Y. The sacristy was enlarged in 1891. The church was redecorated as a memorial to Bishop Leighton Coleman, after which a service for a restored church was conducted by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman on May 8, 1910. On May 6, 1917, Bishop Kinsman consecrated new altar furnishings. The old schoolhouse, adjoining the church property was purchased on Nov. 25, 1940 and converted into a parish-house.

A processional cross, a memorial to Mrs. Mary Davidson Crawford, was blessed on July 1, 1945, by Bishop A. R. McKinstry.

In April, 1946, Architect Wm. Heyl Thompson was commissioned to prepare plans for a new church of masonry construction. The plans call for the church to face Augustine St., and to be connected with the brick parish-house by a cloister. A campaign to raise the necessary funds starting on Ash Wed., Feb. 19, 1947 was announced by the rector, the Rev. Alex. W. Boyer and Wm. Milne, chairman of the building fund committee.

There is a large well-kept cemetery beside the church. The oldest legible tombstone is that of Harry Frist, who died in 1821.

St. James' P. E. Church at Stanton. The first services on the site of this church were held on July 4, 1677, by the Rev. Mr. Roe. In 1708, Missionary Thomas Jenkins reported that he would meet the parishioners here to preach and to catechise the children. In 1716, it was decided to build a church as a chapel-of-ease for Immanuel Church at New Castle. The members of St. James seriously objected to the term "Chapel-of-ease" and maintained that they warranted being a parish separate from New Castle. The frame of the church was raised on Dec. 4, 1716. The opening service was held on July 4, 1717. Andreas Hesselius, his brother Samuel and Peter Tranberg, rectors at Old Swedes Church served St. James' Church when there was no regular rector, for which they were paid a small fee by the Church of England.

Ten acres of land were deeded, in 1720, to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, for the use of St. James Church by James Robinson. The preamble of the deed is addressed "To All Christians" and recites that this plot is a portion of the land granted by William Penn to Aaron Johnson Vandonburg on the 12th day of the 5th month, called July, 1685. "In consideration of the dutiful affection, love and good will which I have and do bear unto the Church of England and members of the said church as at present by law established, of which I profess myself a member to further  of the said church and schoolhouse wherein youths may be educated according to the rules and principles of the said church  commonly known and distinguished by the name of St. James' at White Clay Creek ***."

This deed was acknowledged at the Court in New Castle, in 1720, and it was recorded on Apr. 5, 1727.

The Rev. George Ross, missionary, reported on Nov. 7, 1732, after the death of Mr. Robinson, "that the congregation was now without a head and heart since his death, a true and zealous son-of the church."

The church was repaired in 1729. This church was burned in 1820, and the present stone church was built immediately. It was consecrated on Aug. 14, 1823, by the Rev. William White, Bishop of the P. E. Church in Pennsylvania. The church wardens were Joseph Barker and John Foot. On Jan. 31, 1824, an Act was passed by the Legislature authorizing that a lottery could be held to raise $1200.00 to pay off the indebtedness of the church.

On May 10, 1827, the trustees leased to John Foot, for a term of 9,999 years, seven acres of their land for $350.00. It is evident that drastic measures had to be taken to clear the church of debt. At least a portion of this land has been bought back by the church.

A melodeon was purchased in 1857. In 1859, additional land for the cemetery was purchased. A wall was built around this land and horse-sheds were built. In 1890-91, a new altar was built. In 1896-97, a new organ was purchased and the horse-sheds were rebuilt.

After major repairs and renovations, a reopening service was held on June 3, 1894, with Bishop Leighton Coleman, presiding. He was assisted by the Rev. E. K. Miller, the rector. The chancel had been rebuilt and new furniture installed. A stained glass window had been presented by Mr. and Mrs. J. Poulson Armstrong and candlesticks had been donated by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pilling. The tower and belfry were in course of erection. The bell was duly installed. During 1904-05, a mission Sunday School was conducted in Christiana Village and, in 1911, a Sunday School was opened in the town of Stanton.

On Easter Sunday, Mar. 22, 1913, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman blessed a new chalice and paten. During that year it was decided to furnish the rector with an automobile.

During the summer of 1942, the church was renovated, the original pews, still in use, were painted white with mahogany trim, the walls were painted ivory with white trim, Venetian blinds were installed, the belfry was rebuilt and the exterior woodwork was painted white.

Reopening services were held on Sun., Oct. 4, 1942, with representatives from Immanuel Church of New Castle, the mother of St. James', present by invitation. The service was in charge of the Rev. E. Kenneth Albaugh, the rector.

There is a large cemetery. The oldest inscription is on the tomb of John Armstrong who died on Nov. 23, 1726. There is a slate tombstone, very thin, that is dated 1743.

Across the road from the church there is a tract of land that was donated as a site for a schoolhouse. The deed stipulated that if the time arrived when it was not used for school purposes the land should revert to St. James' Church. A small stone schoolhouse was built in 1807. The school was closed in 1863 and the property reverted to St. James' Church. The school was converted into a home for the sexton. In 1916, the school was torn down and the stone was used to build a house. It was occupied by the sexton and a Sunday School room until 1928, after which it was converted into a Sunday School building. An addition was built in 1934, to be used as a parish-house. The rectory was built in 1921.

Stanton Methodist Church (M.E.) was the outgrowth of meetings begun in 1868. From 1868 until 1877 services were held in a loft over the tavern of B. F. Dickey on Main St., by the Methodists of Newport. The corner-stone of a frame church was laid on June 12, 1877, with Bishop Levi Scott in charge. It was dedicated on Nov. 1, 1877, by the Rev. R. L. Dashiell, D.D. The church was rebuilt in 1924. Additional land was purchased on May 10, 1939.

On Sun., Oct. 27, 1946, the pastor, the Rev. Ellwood W. Cursey dedicated a new electric organ and memorial gifts as follows: a communion table in memory of Mrs. Emily R. Cochran; a lectern in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Simmons, brass candlesticks for the altar and an American flag and a Christian flag in memory of the young men of the church who served in World War II, some of whom gave their lives.

Union Presbyterian Chapel, at Stanton, was erected and dedicated, in 1875, through the efforts of the Rev. Robert Graham. The dedication services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. L. Marks. The chapel was incorporated on Aug. 10, 1877. It reached the height of its prosperity about two years later and, by 1885, it was just struggling along. It was later closed for a time. Then, an evangelist endeavored to arouse a new interest and while he was successful to a certain extent, it developed that he was not entirely above suspicion, with the result that the church was closed permanently. The building was purchased by the Stanton Lodge of Odd Fellows who added a second story and still use it as lodge-room.

Stanton Friend's Meeting. In June, 1687, some of the settlers around White Clay Creek petitioned the New Castle Monthly Meeting for permission to hold a weekly meeting at "Whitely Creek." This was granted and a Meeting was set up. It was laid down on Feb. 7, 1688, the members transferring to the New Castle Meeting.

WHITE CLAY PRES. CHURCH

In 1772, Meetings for worship were held in Marshall's Mill, Stanton, in conjunction with Christiana Meeting. In 1779 a former schoolhouse was secured for the meetings. On June 13, 1779, a site for a burying-ground and upon which to build a meeting-house was leased from Thomas Stapler by Robert Johnson, Robert Philips, Joseph Chambers, Wm. Wollaston and Wm. Byrnes, trustees. The yearly rental of pepper corn was to be paid on June 13, each year, forever, if demanded. The trustees were also required to keep the fences in repair.

White Clay Creek Meeting was established in 1781, by consent of the Chester Quarterly Meeting. In 1784, they were permitted to hold Preparative Meetings. In 1803, a meeting-house was built and the name was changed to "Stanton Meeting" at the request of the members. The brick meeting-house was built in 1873. In 1891, the Preparative Meeting and the mid-week Meeting were laid down. In 1894, the time of meeting was changed to 10:30 a.m. The Meeting was laid down in 1921. Since that time the building has been used for community meetings including the Grange meetings. The burying-ground is still in use. There are two tiny headstones close to the meeting-house dated 1823 and 1827. The oldest inscribed tombstone is that of Susanna Jones, who died in 1835.

White Clay Presbyterian Church is located on the Capitol Trail, two and one-quarter miles n. e. of Newark. Meetings were held in this neighborhood beginning in 1712. A congregation was organized, in 1722, by the Rev. George Gillespie and a log meeting-house was built. The Rev. Thomas Creaghead was installed as the first pastor on Sept. 22, 1724. The site of this church was about one mile to the north, at Polly Drummond's Hill.

Mr. Creaghead owned the farm upon which the church was built and on Apr. 10, 1727, he deeded the church site to a board of trustees. The consideration was one pepper corn yearly, if demanded. A few tombstones can be seen marking the site. There are two undated headstones over the graves of the sons of John Crossan. A flat slab over a vault is inscribed to the memory of Margaret, the wife of the Rev. Thomas Creaghead, who died in 1738, aged 74 years, Thomas, his son, who died in 1735, aged 33 years and Margaret, his daughter-in-law, who died in 1766, aged 65 years.

The deed for the present site was given by Joseph England to a board of trustees on May 25, 1752. A church was built and stood for 103 years. The stone wall around the church was built in 1785. The church was incorporated on Sept. 11, 1787. The present church was built, of brick, in 1855. It was dedicated on May 1, 1856, by the Rev. H. S. Clarke. There is a large graveyard enclosed with an iron fence in front of the church. The oldest legible inscription that the writer could find is on the tomb of Wm. McMechen, who died in October, 1738. Mr. McMechen was a member of the first board of trustees.

Red Clay Presbyterian Church is located one and one-half miles n. w. of the Cedars. Services were held in the neighborhood as early as 1713. In 1722, a group was constituted as a church. The first minister, the Rev. Wm. McKennan served this church from 1755 to 1809. A stone tablet on the outside church wall states that it was founded in 1761 and rebuilt in 1853. The lecture-room in the basement was dedicated on Nov. 15, 1853 and the church was dedicated on May 11, 1854, by the Revs. Robert P. DuBois, James Lutta and Thomas Lane, the pastor. Into the gable of the loft above the church auditorium is built a piece of trap-rock with the figures "1761" rudely carved upon it, which was taken from the old building.

The church property comprised two and one-quarter acres yet the exact boundary lines were very uncertain. To correct this, the church trustees entered into an agreement, on May 15, 1858, with James Clarren, defining the future lines of the property. On Mar. 7, 1865, two additional acres were purchased from Samuel Yearsley.

The pastor, the Rev. John D. Blake, died on May 15, 1942, having completed 55 years service at this church. He came to Red Clay as a supply in May and was installed as pastor on Nov. 17, 1887. There is a large enclosed graveyard. There are literally dozens of tombstones dated in the 1700's. The oldest legible tombstone the writer could find is that of Elizabeth Wiley, who died on Sept. 6, 1766. The church surroundings are well landscaped and include a paved parking space.

Ebenezer Methodist Church (M.E.) is located one and three-quarter miles s. e. of Corner Ketch. In the 1820's, the Methodists in that section met in private homes. In 1824, a stone church was built. In 1859, the old stone church was replaced with a frame building. It was repaired extensively in 1883. The Ladies' Mite Society was organized in 1885. The parsonage was built in 1898. The church was remodeled and on July 6, 1924, reopening exercises were held under the direction of the Rev. Gilbert P. Gehman. At the same time the 100th Anniversary was celebrated. In 1939, an annex was built including a social-hall and kitchen.

An open-air fireplace was presented to the church by Samuel Little, one of the church stewards, and it was erected on the rear lawn of the parsonage. It was dedicated at a special outdoor service by the Methodist Youth Fellowship on Sun. evening, Aug. 30, 1942. A new Wick's pipe-organ with chimes was dedicated on Sun., Sept. 22, 1946, by the Rev. A. Dudley Ward, the pastor, assisted by the Rev. Roy L. Tawes. A recital was given by Wilmer C. Highfield.

There is a graveyard to the rear of the church. The oldest tombstone is that of John Guthrie who died on July 31, 1849.

Mill Creek Friend's Meeting-House is located one mile north of Corner Ketch. In 1838, James Thompson and thirty-two Friends requested New Garden Meeting for the indulgence of a Meeting in Mill Creek Hundred. At a meeting held at his home on Oct. 16, 1838, the request was granted. Mr. Thompson's home is still standing and is located adjoining the meeting-house property on the north. The privilege of building a meeting-house was also granted. The present stone meeting-house was then built.

It was completed and had been in use by Feb. 19, 1841. On that date, James Thompson, for a consideration of $1.00 deeded the meeting-house site, consisting of one and one-half acres of land, to David Eastburn, John Thompson, Jr., Thomas Mitchel, Samuel Loyd, Lewis Fell and Marshall Yeatman, members of the Mill Creek Meeting who acted as trustees. In the deed Mr. Thompson reserved the timber which he could cut at his convenience. The meeting-house faces south as is customary with Friend's Meeting-Houses and there is a date-stone in the western gable but it is undated. There is the usual "horse block" known also as an "upping block" and an "up and on block."

In 1901, the mid-week Meetings, with the exception of the Preparative Meetings, were discontinued. The time of holding the Preparative Meetings
Red Clay Pres. Church

Mill Creek Friends' Meeting-House
was changed in 1903. In 1914, the Meetings were suspended during the winter. In 1915, all Meetings were discontinued except on the first first-day of each month. In 1925, the Preparative Meetings were discontinued. Since 1930, only occasional Meetings are held. An annual Meeting is held on the first-day before Labor Day.

In common with most Friend's Meetings, there is a fund for maintenance of the property, provided chiefly by bequests from members. The meeting-house and burial-ground are kept in immaculate condition. The old horse-sheds were removed in 1937. The oldest tombstone is that of an infant, George F. Tyson, who died on July 24, 1844. Several fighting Quakers are buried here and their graves are decorated with the insignia of the Grand Army of the Republic.

A plot in the burial-ground is set aside for the burial of indigent persons who are not Friends. At midnight on each Feb. 28, the neighbors claim they hear a shotgun discharged near stranger's row. William Lozone, Dutch Billy, was a hard-working man-of-all-work in that section, especially noted for his ability as a butcher. He lived alone, with his hunting dogs, in a small shack in the woods on the Lamborn farm. He was famous as a hunter and could be heard at all hours of the night firing his shotgun. In 1921, Dutch Billy, becoming despondent, gradually gave away his dogs and on the night of Feb. 28, set fire to his shack, went deep into the woods and with his shotgun committed suicide. He would have been buried in Potter's Field except for the fact that the good neighbors of that section, led by J. Leslie Eastburn, took up a "camptown." This was sufficient to give him a good burial in the stranger's row in the meeting-house burial-ground and to place a stone marker over his grave. The question arose as to the disposal of his gun, his only earthly possession, and it was decided to bury it with him. This was done with the gun resting in his arms. It is this gun that the neighbors believe they hear fired at midnight each year on the anniversary of his death.

The Orthodox Friend's Meeting-House at Hockessin was located on Meeting-House Road, one-eighth of a mile south of the Yorklyn-Hockessin Road. After the split in the Society of Friends in 1827, the Hicksites continued to meet in the Hockessin Meeting House on the mornings of the first and fifth days. The Orthodox members met at the same place on first-day afternoons and fourth-day mornings. Although occupying the same house seems an unusual arrangement there were a number of similar instances. At Nantmeal, N. J., the two groups met at the same time with the dividing partitions left open most of the time. At Rancocas, N. J., each group used one-half of the house with the Meetings being held at the same time. At Woodbury, N. J., there existed a more obstinate feeling between the two groups, for the Orthodox members built a doubling of the dividing partition so as to avoid hearing the preaching on the Hicksite side.

The arrangement at Hockessin continued until May 22, 1835 at which time it was reported that Aquilla Lamborn had erected, on his land, a meeting-house of frame-log construction to be used by the Orthodox Friends beginning on June 1, 1835. This meeting-house was used until early in 1855. Then the Meetings were held at the home of Isaac Pyle, presumably because of his illness and the smallness of the congregation. Mr. Pyle died on Aug. 11, 1855 and on May 25, 1856 it was reported that Hockessin Orthodox Meeting had been dissolved, the few remaining members becoming attached to Kennett Meeting. The old meeting-house is still standing and has been converted into a dwelling.
Hockessin Friend's Meeting took its name from the name of an Indian town closeby. In 1730, sixth-day Meetings were held in the home of Wm. Cox, now the home of John C. Mitchell, by permission of the New Wark Preparative Meeting, which was granted on Apr. 6, 1730. Permission to build a meeting-house was granted on Feb. 30, 1737.

On Oct. 17, 1737, land upon which to build a meeting-house and to establish a burying-ground, was deeded to a board of trustees. In 1738, a meeting-house, part of which is included in the present meeting-house was erected. It was enlarged in 1745. Additions to the meeting-house were made in 1941. There is a large burying-ground on the opposite side of the road. The earliest legible tombstone is dated 1837.

Hockessin Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1881, a Methodist meeting was held in the wheel-wright shop at Brackenville. A Sunday School called "Friendship" was organized. In the fall of that year a room in the Odd Fellow's Hall at Hockessin was secured for the meetings. On July 21, 1882, trustees were elected and on Aug. 28, 1882, one-half acre of land was purchased from Taylor S. Mitchell as a church site. The erection of the church had been started on Aug. 21, 1882. The corner-stone was laid on Nov. 5, 1882, by the Rev. J. E. Bryan. The dedication ceremonies were held on Feb. 18, 1883. There were three services which were conducted by the Revs. Theodore Stevens, Madison A. Richards, D.D., and Adam Wallace, D.D. The parsonage was built in 1891. The church was improved in 1916.

The Kenneth Douglass Jones Memorial Chapel at Sunny Hills School near Hockessin. This chapel was built in honor of Mr. Jones of Auckland, New Zealand, a former member of the staff at Sanford Preparatory School, who was killed in action in North Africa in January, 1943. The corner-stone was laid on May 3, 1943. The chapel had been designed by Mr. Jones previous to his entry in the service of the British Army in 1939. It was opened for the use of the students on Sept. 24, 1945. The bronze bell, cast in Croydon, England was presented to Mrs. Ellen Q. Sawin, the headmistress by her son-in-law Kenneth H. Matthewson. The chapel is essentially a place for prayer and meditation by the students of the school.

Chippy A. U. M. P. Church at Hockessin. On Sept. 24, 1886, the A. U. 1st col. M. P. Church purchased a lot at Grant St. and Mill Creek Ave., from D. H. Kent. A frame church was then built and used until 1896 when the present church was built. Title to the property passed to the Chippy A. U. M. P. Church on Mar. 27, 1897. On Dec. 8, 1925, they purchased a dwelling on Mill Creek Ave., from H. V. McVaugh.

St. John's R. C. Church at Hockessin was founded in 1882. The cornerstone of the church was laid on Sun., Sept. 17, 1882, by Bishop Thomas A. Becker, assisted by the Rev. Patrick Donaghy, the pastor of St. Patrick's Church at Ashland. A special train was run from Wilmington for the event. Bishop Becker was driven there in a private carriage. The church was incorporated on Jan. 7, 1894.

On June 1, 1925, the Rev. James M. Grant took charge of St. John's Church. He arranged for the purchase of the Dr. Taylor S. Mitchell estate on the Lancaster Pike in Hockessin. The title to the property, consisting of 22 acres, was transferred to the church on Mar. 3, 1927. The house was used as a rectory. Father Grant then opened a parochial school and convent in the former rectory beside the church. A school-bus was used to transport the pupils. In 1934, the number of pupils having greatly diminished the school was closed. The first rectory was again used by Father Grant and the Dr. Mitchell property was sold on Sept. 30, 1937.

St. Luke's M. E. Church, colored, at Hockessin. The church site, located between Quarry St. and Railroad St., was purchased from Henry S. Kent on Nov. 9, 1899 and a small frame church was built. The church became defunct and the property was sold to M. M. and Hickman Wirt on Jan. 5, 1915. For a time the building was used as a warehouse and is now used as a dwelling on the original site.

Pleasant Grove Church, colored, was located on the Newport and Gap Road between Swamp Road and Hockessin Road. On June 7, 1856, it was sold by John Tilghman to the First United African Wesley Society.

Christiana Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized in 1827, when a frame church was built. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 17, 1827, and "they raised the building" on Sept. 25, 1827. The church site was transferred to the church by Abraham Egbert, for $20.00, on Dec. 24, 1827. It was located on the easterly side of the Christiana-Wilmington Pike, adjoined the land of Mary McMechen, had a frontage of 54 ft. 6 in. and comprised 2362 sq. ft. of land. This is the present site of the colored school.

This church was used until 1857. On July 9, 1857, the trustees, who had been elected on June 27, 1854, purchased from Abraham Cannon, for $312.00 the present church site comprising one and one-quarter acres. It was described as being on the main road to Newark and contiguous to the village of Christiana.

The erection of the present brick church was then started. The cornerstone was laid on Sept. 10, 1857, and it was dedicated on Jan. 28, 1858, by Bishop Levi Scott. It was renovated and reopened on June 26, 1892. The services were conducted by the Revs. J. D. C. Hanna, T. E. Terry and I. L. Wood. It was remodeled in 1929. A new pipe-organ was installed in September, 1942. It was dedicated in March, 1943, by the pastor.

The Church of the Mediator, P. E., at Christiana Village. This church was organized, in 1865, at meetings held in the home of J. R. C. Oldham, by the Rev. J. P. DuHamel of Delaware City. A lot was purchased as a church site. In 1866, the meetings were transferred to the Good Templar's Hall. Bishop Alfred Lee paid his first visit to the church on July 14, 1867, at which time he confirmed five members. No church was ever built.

Christiana Friend's Meeting. A Friend's Meeting was formed, in 1772, at Christiana Bridge. Permission to meet on the first and fourth days of each week was granted by the Wilmington Monthly Meeting. This action was later approved by the Chester Quarterly Meeting. The meetings alternated between Christiana Bridge and Stanton. The Christiana Bridge meetings were held at the home of Hannah Lewden, which is now standing on the easterly side of Christina Creek a short distance from the bridge. The Stanton meetings were held at Marshall's Mill. These meetings continued until 1781, when the White Clay Creek Meeting at Stanton was established by permission of the Chester Quarterly Meeting.

Christiana Presbyterian Church. On May 18, 1708, at a meeting of the Philadelphia Presbytery, a letter was received from the residents of the White Clay Creek section asking that the gospel be administered nearer their place of abode. Letters from the New Castle congregation were read objecting "to disrupting this congregation." The Presbytery ordered that there should be no division but that the Rev. Mr. Wilson should preach in New Castle on one Sunday and in the country on the following Sunday.

Tradition and circumstantial evidence set the period 1730-38 as the time when this church was founded. A plot made on July 28, 1738 showed the church as standing at that time. It was of frame construction and measured 26 ft. by 36 ft. At a later date 20 ft. were added to the western end of the building.

At the time of the schism in the Presbyterian Church, in 1741, the Christiana Church attached itself to the "new side." This breach was healed in 1758. In the meantime, the "new side" records during that period have been lost.

The church site, of 80 sq. perches, was donated by Rees Jones on Aug. 19, 1752, in the 26th year of the reign of King George, II, of England.

On June 11, 1800, the sexton's pay was set at $4.00 per year and the prices on digging graves were set at 75 cts, $1.00 and $1.50. The church was incorporated on Mar. 13, 1800. In 1802, the front stone wall and a new church roof were built.

On Oct. 14, 1837, one of the church members was reported to the Session as having been seen intoxicated. A committee was appointed to call on him; which they did and he was very repentent and promised not to drink liquor in the future. At a later date, he was reported to have fallen a victim again and he was expelled from the church. When the Moderator checked the Session minutes he disapproved the action of expulsion without written charges and a trial. The former action was rescinded and he was again received into the church. It is to be hoped that his reformation was complete as no further mention of him appears in the minutes.

On Nov. 28, 1856, the project of building a new church was discussed. A building committee was appointed on Dec. 28, 1856. The old frame church was sold at public auction on Sat., July 4, 1857.

The corner-stone of a new church was laid on Sept. 8, 1857. Those taking part included the Revs. Dr. D. H. Emerson, George Foot, Wm. Aikman, Geo. F. Wiswell and Mr. Gaylord.

The dedication services were held on June 8, 1858. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. J. Jinkins and the dedicatory prayer was offered by the Rev. Geo. Foot. This was followed by a series of meetings during the next two weeks.

The church seal was adopted on June 21, 1860. The first communion service, of pewter, is still used on special occasions.

After extensive renovations, a reopening service was held on Sept. 4, 1921, by the Rev. David A. Reed. Colonel John Read, father of George Read, the Signer, who died on June 15, 1756, and his wife are both buried in the adjoining graveyard. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Ruth Adams, who died on Dec. 6, 1754.

There are two colored churches at Christiana. R. Trinity A. M. E. Church was founded in 1884, and Union A. M. E. Church was incorporated on May 6, 1854. The present church was built in 1897.

Salem Methodist Church (M.E.) is located three miles s. e. of Christiana. Meetings were held as early as 1771 in the home of Isaac Hersey. Trustees were elected on May 12, 1807. The first meeting of the board of trustees was held on Oct. 10, 1807. On Oct. 15, 1807, Robert McFarlin, at a cost of $20.00, deeded a plot of land to the trustees of Salem Methodist Meeting-House upon which the first church was built. The church was incorporated on Oct. 16, 1807. It was dedicated in 1809. The building was repaired in 1848 and 1883. In 1904 the church was rebuilt.

There is a well-kept graveyard beside the church. The oldest legible tombstone is that of Jane Hersey who died on Dec. 18, 1804. There is at least one oaken grave marker.

St. Thomas' P. E. Church at Newark was organized on Aug. 1, 1842. The cornerstone of the present church was laid on Aug. 24, 1843, and it was dedicated on Feb. 25, 1845, by Bishop Alfred Lee, at 11:00 a.m. He was assisted by the Revs. W. E. Franklin, J. W. McCullough and five other clergymen. A rectory was purchased in 1852-53. The tower was erected in 1866.

A window in memory of Thomas and Frances P. S. Blandy was unveiled on Mar. 30, 1890. During that year a parish-house was built. The rectory was blessed with a service of benediction by Bishop Leighton Coleman on Dec. 23, 1895. In 1901-02, the chancel was improved and a brass altar desk was installed as memorials.

In 1911, extensive alterations were made to the church including a center aisle, removal of part of the gallery and new windows. A special service for a restored church was conducted by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman on Easter Sunday, Apr. 16, 1911. A window in memory of Frederic A. Curtis was also dedicated. In 1916-17 a new organ was purchased.

On Christmas Eve, 1943, memorials were dedicated in honor of Dr. George A. Harter, former President of the University of Delaware, as well as Junior Warden of St. Thomas' Church for 24 years and in honor of the members of the parish in the armed services.

The Church of St. John, the Baptist (R.C.) at Newark. The first Roman Catholic service was held in Newark by Father Sarentine in 1850. Later, both Newark and Elkton were served from Havre de Grace. In 1866, the Rev. Wm. Blake, pastor of the church at Elkton, was assigned as pastor of the mission at Newark, celebrating Mass once a month in the homes of parishioners. He would make the trip to Newark, on Sunday morning, on a P. R. R. Co. handcar which was furnished by the Company. On other Sundays some of the parishioners would walk to Elkton to attend services. Later, they too, were given the use of a handcar to make the trip.

On July 31, 1868, Charles A. Murphey purchased, from the trustees of the First Presbyterian Church, the old Village Presbyterian Church and site, at the corner of Main and Chapel Sts. The church was of frame construction and the site comprised about one-half of an acre of land. The purchase price was $2230.00.

Mr. Murphey donated the property to the Diocese to be used as a Catholic Church. It was neatly furnished and was dedicated by the Most Rev. Bishop O'Hara of Scranton, Pa. The name "St. Patrick" was chosen for the church. Mr. Murphey transferred the title to the property on May 12, 1870, for the nominal sum of $1.00.

In 1876, the frame rectory on Chapel St., adjoining the church was built by the Rev. Wm. Dollard, who served the parish from 1876 to 1879. The Rev. Peter Donaghy then served for a few months. From 1880 to 1886, the parish was served by the Rev. John A. Lyons, afterwards Monsignor and Vicar-General of the Diocese. On Christmas morning, 1880, the floor of the old church gave way. Fortunately, no one was injured and the accident resulted in the building of the present brick church. Services were held in the Grange Hall while this work was in progress. Father Lyons is given full credit for furnishing this church to the Newark Parish. On June 24, 1883, the corner-stone of the Church of St. John, the Baptist, was laid, with St. John the Baptist as the patron saint of the new church, instead of St. Patrick. The ceremony took place on Sun. afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. The foundation had been floored over and the church altar erected temporarily. A large tent cover had been erected in the event of rain. The stone was blessed and laid by Bishop Thomas A. Becker, assisted by the Rev. John A. Lyons.

The new bell, one of the largest in Delaware, was blessed by the Rev. J. A. Lyons, assisted by Father Kelley, on Oct. 16, 1883. The church was dedicated on Dec. 16, 1883, by Bishop Keane of Richmond, Va. He was attended by the Revs. M. X. Fallon, Wm. Dollard, P. Donaghy, B. J. Keiley, T. Corbinian and John A. Lyons, the pastor.

The church was consecrated on June 28, 1885, by Bishop Thomas A. Becker. He was assisted by the Rev. Fathers Kelley, Flynn, Fallon, Brady, Bermingham and Lyons. A special train brought a large delegation from the Catholic Societies of Wilmington, also St. Peter's choir and Mayor-elect Rhoades. Justin J. Pie placed his estate "Deer Park" now the Red Men's Fraternal Home, at the disposal of the visitors.

On June 11, 1887, Justin J. Pie transferred to St. John's Church, for the nominal sum of $1.00, one acre, 34 sq. perches of land on Elkton Road at West Park Place, and the present cemetery was established there.

On May 12, 1898, the church was struck by lightning with only slight damage.

The S. J. Wright property was purchased on Nov. 8, 1945. It is the proposed site for a new parochial school.

During 1946, the interior of the church was beautified under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Eugene J. Kraemer. This included twelve art glass memorial windows, a large rose window over the entrance and all new furnishings except the pews.

Newark Methodist Church (M.E.) The first Methodist meetings in Newark were held in private homes and in the Academy. A church was formally organized on Apr. 8, 1813. On that same day the trustees purchased one-half of an acre of land from Isaac Tyson upon which a church building was under construction. It was located on Chapel St., in the present Methodist Cemetery. The oldest tombstone is that of Webster Tyson, who died on Apr. 4, 1812. In the meantime the Cemetery has been enlarged several times. Chapel St. took its name from the old Methodist chapel.

On July 12, 1851, a plot of 67 sq. perches of land was purchased on the south side of Main St., from David W. Black. The corner-stone of a new church on Main St. was laid on Tues., July 25, 1851. A procession was held. Among those taking part in the ceremonies were Pres. Elder James Smith, the Rev. F. Hodgson, D.D., President Graham of Delaware College and the Rev. S. Townsend, the pastor.

The church was dedicated on Mar. 21, 1852, by Bishop Waugh. The church was burned on July 16, 1861, and services were then held in the Village Presbyterian Church. A new church building was started in 1862 and it was completed in 1864. Dedication services were held on Jan. 8, 1865, by the Rev. Pennell Combs. The church was improved in 1904.
The ground was broken for an educational building on Easter Sunday, 1932. The corner-stone was laid in June. The building was dedicated on Oct. 16, 1932, by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, assisted by the Rev. W. E. Gunby. The evening service was conducted by Dist. Supt. D. W. Jacobs. Special services were conducted for a full week. The building contains Sunday School rooms, parlors for various meetings, a dining-hall and a kitchen.

The Village Presbyterian Church and the First Presbyterian Church at Newark. The Village Presbyterian Church, New School, was organized in 1835.

The schism in the Presbyterian Church which resulted in the establishment of "Old Side" and "New Side" groups was officially recognized in 1838 at which time the Rev. W. S. Plumer was made Moderator of the "Old Side" group. They were also known as "Old School" and "New School." The breach was officially healed in 1870.

The meetings, at Newark, were held in the schoolhouse. Some years previous to the death of Dr. Jos. Chamberlain on Mar. 7, 1849, the congregation arranged to purchase from him, for $400.00, the corner lot at what is now Main and Chapel Sts. This deed was executed by his heirs on Jan. 31, 1852.

The corner-stone of a church building was laid on Sept. 25, 1843, and the dedication service was held on Mar. 28, 1844. In 1860, they united with the First Presbyterian Church. The former Village Church was transferred to the First Church on Apr. 20, 1867. On July 31, 1868, they sold the old church to Charles A. Murphey who donated it to the Roman Catholic Diocese.

The First Presbyterian Church, old school, was organized on Aug. 31, 1839. The church was erected between 1842 and 1846. On June 1, 1855, they purchased more land from John M. Ferguson. The present church was completed and was dedicated on June 13, 1872. It is built of Brandywine granite, trimmed with brownstone that was secured at Iron Hill, nearby. On Nov. 30, 1876, Nathan H. Clark donated additional land. The first deed restricted its use for a parsonage but this restriction was removed in a deed dated Oct. 25, 1877.

The corner-stone of a new Sunday School building was laid on Nov. 13, 1927. Among those taking part in the ceremonies were the Revs. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, H. Everett Hallman and Mr. H. K. Preston. The stone is believed to be the one taken from the old Village Presbyterian Church.

The Sunday School addition was first used on June 10, 1928, for Children's Day exercises. It was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 28, 1928, by the Rev. Dr. Wm. C. Covert. On Mon. evening, a Church Night was held. Talks were given by the Revs. R. B. Mathews, Harvey W. Ewing and others. Music was furnished by the Newark High School Band.

The Bible Presbyterian Church at Newark was organized as a church on Apr. 12, 1942, at which time two elders were elected. The preliminary meetings were held in the New Century Club where the services were continued for a time after which they were transferred to the Red Men's Fraternal Home. They purchased a property on E. Main St., on Jan. 5, 1944.

Ground was broken for a church on July 11, 1945. A service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Thomas G. Cross who also turned the first spadeful of earth. The first service in the brick church was held on Jan. 20, 1946. It was conducted by the Rev. Thos. G. Cross, the pastor.

The church was dedicated, on Thurs., Nov. 7, 1946 by the Rev. Thomas G. Cross assisted by the Rev. Dr. Harold S. Laird of Wilmington. A modern Hammond organ had recently been installed.
Grace Pentecostal Church, at Newark, was organized and held their early meetings in Fraternal Hall. The present church, on Lovett Ave., was built in 1935. It was dedicated in April of that year by the Rev. Fleming Van Meter, District Superintendent of the Assemblies of God. The church was incorporated on Jan. 24, 1939.

A Christian Church was organized at Newark in 1884. It passed out of existence in a few years.

The First Nazarene Church at Newark was organized in Fraternal Hall on Nov. 3, 1940. Formal organization took place on Jan. 21, 1941. In July, 1944, they purchased the dwelling at No. 27 Chapel St., and converted it for church and parsonage uses.

The Holiness Christian Church at Newark. In 1917, a holiness group, called the "Heavenly Recruits," began holding meetings in Fraternal Hall. A few years later, when the Recruits became one of the so-called "tonguers" group, the Newark church changed to Holiness Christian. They were incorporated on Oct. 2, 1925. On Nov. 7, 1925, they purchased a church site at College and Cleveland Aves. No church was ever built and the lot was eventually sold. Services were held regularly until Oct. 27, 1940, when the church was closed.

There are four colored churches in Newark. Mt. Zion A. M. E., the Pilgrim Baptist Church, built in 1913, the Church of God, who were organized in 1941 and meet in the Newark Community Center, and St. John's A. U. M. P. St. John's was organized in 1855 when the meetings were held in a log house on the site of the present church. This church was erected in 1867 and was dedicated on Jan. 30, 1870. It was remodeled in 1916.

Wesley M. E. Church at McClellandsville was built at a date that cannot now be determined. The first church was burned on Nov. 3, 1850, just as the Rev. Mr. Westbrook was starting his sermon. The present church was built in 1854. On the afternoon of Feb. 9, 1890, the church caught fire and was severely damaged. The church was rebuilt and refurnished, after which a reopening service was held on Sun., Oct. 12, 1890. It was conducted by the Revs. T. E. Terry, C. R. Jones and Pres. Elder W. L. S. Murray. The church ceased to function in 1927.

In 1932, it was purchased by a group of four private individuals. They reconditioned the building at a large expense and arranged to hold a Sunday School. It is also used as a community-center. On Jan. 5, 1939, W. Austin Hill, a local-preacher, began to hold undenominational meetings on Sundays and a prayer meeting on Wednesday evenings.

Mr. Hill received a regular charge at the 1944 Conference and since that time services are held with guest speakers.

The Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church is located two miles n. w. of Newark, close to the Maryland line. It was organized between 1706 and 1708. The first meeting-house was built of logs, on land owned by John Steel and was located just north of the present church. It was known as "Gillespie's Meeting-House" from the name of the first regular pastor, the Rev. George Gillespie, who was installed on May 28, 1713. A new church was built in 1750. It was incorporated on Sept. 1, 1787.
On Sept. 20, 1806, Allen and James Steel deeded an acre and two rods of land to the church subject to a ground rent of six cents to be paid annually on March 25, if demanded. The deed contained a reversion clause with any land used for the graveyard excepted. The church was burned on Sun., Mar. 14, 1858, just as the congregation was assembling for morning services. A new church was built immediately and was dedicated on Mar. 19, 1859.

Additional land was purchased from Thomas Steel on Sept. 12, 1859 and on Dec. 10, 1875. Major improvements were made in 1905. The large graveyard dates back to the first church. The tomb of the Rev. George Gillespie is located where the pulpit of the old log church stood. The inscription states that "he was ordained in Glasgo in 1712, ordained here in 1713 and died on Jan. 2, 1760." The oldest legible tombstone that the writer could find is that of Androw Wallace who died on Mar. 3, 1751.

Welsh Tract Primitive Baptist Church is located, two and one-quarter miles south of Newark, at the foot of Iron Hill. The first church was built, in 1703, by a group of Baptists who had settled on a grant of land known as Welsh Tract. The present church was built in 1746 on a lot of six acres, four of which had been donated by James James. The church was incorporated on Feb. 9, 1788.

The gable-stone dated 1746 is, so far as the writer can determine, the oldest gable-stone or corner-stone on any church in Delaware. It was the mother church from which sprang the churches at Wilmington, Kenton, Cow March and Mispillion. Patches in the side brick walls show where a cannon-ball from the battle of Cooch's Bridge passed through the church taking an angular course with a heavy descending angle.

Additional land adjoining the church property was purchased from Alexander Coulter on Apr. 23, 1853 and from Levi G. Cooch on Sept. 3, 1863. There is a large and well-kept graveyard. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is dated 1707. It bears an inscription in a combination of Welsh and Latin. Translated it reads:

"Riceus Rychough, born at Danwenog county Cardiganshire and buried here in the year of our Lord 1707. Aged 87."

As this tombstone does not have a more definite date it ranks as the third oldest legible tombstone in Delaware. Nearby is a field-stone inscribed, Elis Price, 1712. Services are now held monthly with an annual home-coming in the fall.

The 200th Anniversary was celebrated on Oct. 17, 18 and 19, 1903. The exercises were conducted by Elders J. G. Eubanks and N. W. Meredith.

The African Union Church of Iron Hill was incorporated on Sept. 20, 1867.

St. Daniel's A. M. E. Church is located, one and one-half miles s. w. of Newark, at the base of Iron Hill. The first church was built in 1838 and the present church was built in 1927.

The First Methodist Church at Glasgow was built, of brick, in 1832 and dedicated in 1833, by the Rev. Matthew Sorin. A new church, of sandstone, was built in 1857. It was dedicated by the Rev. Mr. Hickman. The present frame church was dedicated on Oct. 5, 1884, by the Rev. Andrew Manship assisted by the Rev. W. L. S. Murray.
Pencader Presbyterian Church at Glasgow was organized between 1707 and 1710. It was then known as "Welsh Tract Presbyterian Church." In 1719, they adopted the name "Pencader" which, in Welsh, means "chief chair." On Nov. 2, 1742, Margaret Williams conveyed to a board of trustees a plot of land upon which a meeting-house had been built. It was used as a hospital after the Battle of Cooch's Bridge. The church was incorporated on June 1, 1789. The present church was built in 1852. There is a large graveyard beside the church. Among the oldest tombstones are those of Benjamin Evans who died on May 7, 1721, Joseph Griffith and Margaret Griffith, both of whom died in 1746. The writer suspects that the first church was located on this knoll on the eastern side of the church land, close to these old graves.

Implanted in the church stone step is a bronze marker placed by the U. S. Geological Survey in 1904 which states that it is 69 feet above sea level.

Bethasady M. E. Church, colored, of Pencader Hundred, was formally organized, at the home of Robert Price, on Apr. 6, 1859. A church site consisting of 9 sq. perches was purchased from Causden Johnson, for $5.00, on Apr. 30, 1859.

Ott's Chapel is located, at the base of Chestnut Hill, three and one-half miles n. w. of Glasgow. It was built by Elder Stephen Ott in 1871. Mr. Ott was a Methodist but at the end of the Civil War he became a member of the Christian Church. He conducted services in his home for years and then, with the help of some of his neighbors, he built the chapel. He conducted Sunday School and preaching services until his death on July 22, 1875. His wife, Jane, then continued the services until her death. The chapel has always been un-denominational and meetings are held regularly with different persons in charge. The property is in the hands of a board of trustees who maintain the chapel and the graveyard in excellent condition.

St. Thomas' A. M. P. Church is located one and one-half miles s. w. of Glasgow, close to the Maryland line, on the old Frenchtown and New Castle Pike. The church was incorporated on Jan. 30, 1857 and again on Apr. 17, 1890. On Oct. 27, 1897, they purchased an additional acre of land from John R. Hogg, et al. A new church was built and the first church is used as a social-hall.

State Road Chapel was built, in 1900, by the nearby residents, to be used for Sunday School services and as a community-center. A few years later, it was burned and rebuilt. It is owned by a self-perpetuating board of trustees and Sunday School is held regularly.

The Chapel at the State Hospital, Farnhurst. This chapel was dedicated on Sept. 28, 1939, during the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the Hospital. The dedication services were conducted by the Hospital Chaplains, the Rev. Joseph H. Earp, Rabbi Henry Tavel and the Rev. Roderick Dwyer. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rt. Rev. Arthur R. McKinstry, D.D., Episcopal Bishop of Delaware. The principal address was delivered by Dr. Edward A. Strecker. A feature of the ceremonies was the playing of the light-color-organ by its inventor, Mrs. Mary H. Greenawalt. Large delegations of prominent citizens from all parts of the State, were present.

The Minquadale Baptist Mission was organized, in 1929, by the Rev. Erby Davis. For two years the meetings were held in Kilvington's store. Then the services were transferred to the new schoolhouse. About 1936, the basement of the home of the Rev. Richard Ludtke was remodeled for use as a chapel. The work was quite prosperous for a time but later the membership dwindled and the effort was abandoned in 1941.

Minquadale Community Methodist Church. On Easter Sunday, Apr. 25, 1943, the Rev. Robert G. Conner, of Madeley Church in Wilmington, organized a Sunday School at Minquadale. The meetings were held in the home of Walter Denney for seven months and then transferred to the home of Ottie Collins. A congregation was organized and the erection of a church building was started. The first service was held in the basement of the church on Easter Sunday, Apr. 9, 1944. The Rev. Mr. Conner presided and the sermon was delivered by Dist. Supt. Dr. Oliver J. Collins. On Sun., Apr. 23, 1944, the first service was held in the church auditorium. The interior of this church is patterned after Old North Church of Boston, made famous by the ride of Paul Revere.

Minquadale Church of God. The Minquadale Gospel Church, Assemblies of God, was founded, in 1940, by the Rev. W. C. Harper, as a Sunday School. Classes were held in the homes of Mr. Harper and D. J. Nichols. In 1944, a building was secured and remodeled for church purposes. The dedication services were held on Sun., May 21, 1944, at 2:30 P.M. by the Rev. Mr. Harper and Dist. Supt. Newton Chase.

The Wilmington Manor Church, Christian and Missionary Alliance. The first services of this congregation were held on Sun., July 16, 1944. As a temporary meeting-place, the basement of the home of Lester Pettie was remodeled to suit the needs of the church work.

Wilmington Manor Methodist Church was founded on June 3, 1945. The first meetings were held in the roller-skating rink. A church site at Du Pont Highway and Roosevelt Boulevard was secured on Feb. 7-23, 1946. Ground was broken for the new church on Sun., Mar. 17, 1946. The ceremonies were in charge of the Rev. Brooks Reynolds, the pastor. A sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Oliver J. Collins, the Dist. Supt. The first spadeful of earth was turned by the Rev. Mr. Reynolds; he was followed by Dr. Collins and a number of the church officials.

On Sept. 1, 1946, the place of meeting was changed to the home of J. Oswald Beeby. It was proposed to use the lawn in good weather and later to use the basement.

The corner-stone was laid on Sun., Dec. 1, 1946. The ceremonies were in charge of the Rev. B. E. Reynolds. The stone was laid by Dist. Supt. Dr. Oliver J. Collins with a trowel furnished by Mr. Beeby. The Scripture was read by the Rev. A. J. Jackson of Newark.

The People's Baptist Church at Hamilton Park was organized in April, 1917. They had been given the use of an old gun-club building on the Lobdell property. The present site was purchased on June 24, 1930 and the church was erected during that year. They were incorporated on Sept. 12, 1932. New pews were dedicated on Oct. 28, 1945, by the Rev. Erby P. Davis.

The First Baptist Church at Holloway Terrace was incorporated on Nov. 4, 1923. The church was dedicated on June 29, 1924, by the Rev. A. F.
Williamson, D.D. He was assisted by the Revs. George D. Allison, H. C. Broughton, George F. Hanson, Zack W. Wells and Harry J. Cable, the pastor. A Holy Bible and an American flag were presented by George F. Irwin on behalf of the P. O. S. of A.

Buttonwood M. E. Church, colored, is located at the Buttonwoods. Ground was broken for a church on a new site at Buttonwood and Arbutus Avenues on Sun., June 30, 1946, with the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Russum, in charge. The corner-stone was laid on Mar. 5, 1947 by Bishop A. P. Shaw assisted by the Rev. W. C. Thompson.

Swanwyck Swedish Lutheran Church. Swanwyck was a Swedish settlement, facing the Delaware River, one mile north of New Castle. The settlement extended about one-third of a mile. The first church in Delaware was built here, previous to 1655, but it was abandoned when Crane Hook Church was built in 1667.

Crane Hook Swedish Lutheran Church was located near the present Marine Terminal. It was built of logs in 1667. After Old Swede's Church was built, it was abandoned. The last service was held on the 4th Sunday after Easter, 1699. The site was marked with a stone monument, on Oct. 17, 1896, by the Historical Society of Delaware. Bishop Leighton Coleman delivered an address at the unveiling.

Immanuel P. E. Church at New Castle was founded in 1689, when meetings were held in private homes with preaching by missionaries of the Church of England. Previous to 1819, the name was always spelled "Emanuel." In 1703, a movement to build a church was started. The site pre-empted by the congregation was the site of the original fort built in 1672 and abandoned in 1698. The congregation figured that, as the land belonged to the Crown, there would be no objection to using it as a site for a Church of England. This was the situation until the Delaware General Assembly, on June 13, 1772, passed an Act, one section of which granted title to the plot to the rector and vestry of Immanuel Church. The church was partly finished in 1703 and opened for services. On Aug. 11, 1703, the congregation petitioned the Bishop of London for a regular pastor. The church building was entirely completed in 1708. Queen Anne presented to the church a damask covering for the pulpit and communion table, among other gifts. On Dec. 4, 1716, Richard Halliwell, a heavy contributor to the efforts of the church, willed a glebe, just north of New Castle, comprising 67 acres, "to the proper use and behoof of the minister that from time to time shall serve the said Emanuel Church, forever." In 1724, the walls were strengthened and a gallery was added. The pews were built by the individual members who owned them and paid rent for the space. Until they became vacant the vestry had no control over them.

During the Revolution, this church stood almost alone in the midst of the dilapidation of the Episcopal churches on the Peninsula and was the pillar of the Episcopacy in this region. In 1791, a brick wall was built around the graveyard. In 1802, the church was thoroughly repaired, the expense of which was paid by the rector, the Rev. Robert Clay. A new roof was built in 1817. In 1818, extensive remodeling was started and was completed in 1822. Wm. Strickland, a Philadelphia architect, contributed his services. On Oct. 25, 1822, the pews were sold by auction. The building was consecrated on Oct. 29, 1822, by Bishop William White. Among the contributors were Commodore Thomas MacDonough and the Rev. John E. Latta, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, which indicates that the early antagonism between the two sects had been outgrown. It was at this time that the clock was installed in the tower, to serve as a town clock. A Sunday School was started in 1826. An organ was installed and it was first used on Christmas Day, 1827. In 1839, a Sunday School building was erected. The ornamental entrance gate was installed in 1843. In 1850, extensive remodeling took place and the six-foot cross was erected on the tower replacing a smaller one. Reopening services were held on Dec. 15, 1850. The bell was cracked in 1855 and a new one was installed. In 1857, a new organ was installed and it was first used on Sept. 12, 1857. In 1860, the building was enlarged. A reopening service was held on Sept. 26, 1860.

During the winter of 1878 a Free Reading Room was opened. The church was repaired in 1880. In 1882, the bell having become cracked, it was replaced. The rectory was built in 1886. In 1889, the graveyard being too small, Glebe Cemetery was laid out in accordance with the authority granted by an Act of the General Assembly passed on Apr. 8, 1873. This cemetery was consecrated on June 3, 1890, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. On Apr. 6, 1891, a silver paten, a brass altar cross and two brass altar vases were blessed.

In 1895-96, by an arrangement with Mrs. Eliza Thomas, a parish-house was established. The Rev. George Ross tablet was erected, in 1897-98, by his descendants. An eagle lectern, in memory of the Rogers family was blessed in 1899-1900. In 1900-01, a silver chalice and paten were presented by Miss Virginia Long. A tablet, in memory of Capt. Richard Halliwell, was blessed with a service of benediction, by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman, on Nov. 5, 1911.

On All Saint's Day, 1913, the corner-stone was laid for a Sunday School building which includes an auditorium with a stage and a gymnasium. It was formally opened on Easter Tuesday, Apr. 14, 1914, by Bishop Kinsman.

Many famous Delawareans are buried in the graveyard including four former Governors: George Read, Nicholas VanDyke, Gunning Bedford and Thomas Stockton.

In a vault in the northerly end of the church is the tomb of Hercules Coutts. The upright brownstone slab, set flush with the church, after describing the merits of Mr. Coutts states that "he yielded to a premature fate by fever and running dysentary on Sept. 30, 1707." This is the second oldest tombstone in Delaware. The Latin inscription was translated into English and inscribed on the lower half of the stone in 1881.

The following persons are buried beneath the main aisle of the church. Eliza Thomas, died Sept. 9, 1799, Lewis E. Thomas, died July 10, 1811, Fleetwood M. VanDyke, died July 5, 1818, the Rev. Robert Clay, died Dec. 27, 1831 and the Rev. Stephen W. Presstman, died Sept. 1, 1843.

New Castle Friend's Meeting. George Fox, who founded the Religious Society of Friends in England, in 1654, paid a pastoral visit to America early in 1672. On his arrival in New Castle, he was invited to stay at Governor Lovelace's home on Harmony Street. On Sept. 14, 1672, Mr. Fox held a meeting at the Governor's home. This was the introduction of Quakerism into Delaware. On Jan. 2, 1684, permission to hold Meetings at New Castle was granted by the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting. During 1686, Meetings were held in the home of Widow Welsh. She is believed to have been the widow of Wm. Welsh, who represented New Castle in the Provincial Assembly until his death in 1684. Monthly Meetings were held in 1686 and probably previous to that time. In 1688, a committee was appointed to select a site for a meeting-house and a burying-ground. A lot was purchased and the meeting-
The Dutch Reformed Church, at New Castle, was founded, in 1657, by John Polhemus. A small log church was built and it is believed to have been built on the present site of the Presbyterian Church. Dominie Everardus Welius was the first settled minister. He died on Dec. 7, 1659 and was buried in the churchyard. The last Dutch minister at New Castle was Petrus Terschmacker, who arrived in 1678. In 1689, he left to take over a charge in Schenectady, N. Y. and on Feb. 9, 1690 he was killed in an Indian massacre. The church at New Castle was kept open for a few years and then abandoned.

The New Castle Presbyterian Church. The Rev. John Wilson preached in the Court House from 1700 until the first church was built. This church is considered by many as a succession of the old Dutch church, their doctrines being very similar. On Aug. 15, 1707, a tract of land was purchased and a small church was built of brick. It had a high pulpit with a sounding-board and the square family pews. More land was purchased in 1712. The first deed was to a board of three men who were to be "the agents for erecting and building a Presbyterian Church or house of worship in the said town of New Castle." The second deed describes the land as "a certain parcel of land  adjoining to the northeast end of the Presbyterian Church or house of worship." This would establish the fact that a church had been built sometime between 1707 and 1712. Although the old church extended beyond the boundaries of the first tract, the church appears to have been built to its present size at one time without any additions. At that time Second St. had not been opened and the entrance to the church faced the river.

On Nov. 10, 1801, a contract, with Jacob Belvill, was signed for the erection of a gallery in the church. The contractor agreed to perform his job in a workman-like manner, bring in no bills for extras, collect from the subscribers the money with which to pay himself and if any surplus be collected, to return it to the church. The contract price was $340.00. In April, 1802, the trustees set the rate of rentals on the 19 new pews at $5.00 and on 8 pews at $4.00 per year. The contractor appears to have had difficulty collecting from the subscribers as on Oct. 17, 1804, it was reported that he had received only $211.00. On Apr. 28, 1809, the trustees agreed to pay him the balance due or...
$71.47 plus $2.50 for glazing windows. On June 19, 1811, the trustees decided to install a new "ruff" on the church and to make other small repairs.

On July 25, 1818, the trustees decided to enclose the burial-ground by erecting a brick wall in the front and board fences on the dividing lines. Also, that the church be thoroughly repaired, new single seats replacing the pews, new flooring, the pulpit to be remodeled and made more convenient, that the "clerk's" desk be finished with railing and balustrade and so arranged as to be removable at times of Communion, Venetian blinds for the windows, doors to be altered so as to open and shut more quietly and the building to be painted within and without.

This work was fully completed and on Mar. 26, 1819, at a meeting of the subscribers and the congregation it was decided "that the right of priority of choice seats be determined by drawing lots, each person to enjoy the right of choice in the order of the number he may draw beginning with number one for the first choice * The numbers were then prepared by the chairman and put into a hat and all were invited to draw. The drawing being finished, the seats were accordingly chosen and distributed and the meeting dissolved."

On Oct. 9, 1833, Lewis Curlet, a plasterer, was paid for applying to the front of the building, 130 sq. yds. of plaster laid out in stonework and 340 sq. yds. of plain work. On Mar. 14, 1834, a bill from Thomas Turner included new frames, sashes and shutters for the windows and one door, and two windows of six lights each in the gallery. This would indicate that the present circle-head windows date from that time. A rather startling item contained in that bill is a charge of $1.50 for six spit-boxes. On Dec. 4, 1848, a committee was appointed to ascertain and report the extent of repairs necessary. It is probable that this was the inception of the idea to build a new church. On Apr. 1, 1850, a committee was appointed to secure subscriptions toward building a new church and another committee was appointed to select a plan for a building subject to the approval of the congregation.

On Mar. 15, 1831, a committee was appointed to procure plans and estimates for the erection of a session-house, also to receive subscriptions toward paying for the same. The session-house was duly built, as on July 23, 1832, the minutes report that "at a meeting of the congregation of the New Castle Presbyterian Church at the session-house, etc." An interesting fact is recorded in the minutes of Apr. 20, 1840, "* a letter from the Penn Fire Company contains congratulations on the narrow escape of the church and session-room from destruction by fire *." Final reference to the session-room or session-house was made on Dec. 4, 1848. It cannot be determined whether this was a separate building or joined to the old church. It undoubtedly extended so far over that it was necessary to remove it before starting the construction of a new church building.

On May 10, 1854, in the old church, the Rev. John B. Spotswood, D.D., the pastor, delivered an address on the history of the New Castle Presbyterian Church. This history was published, in 1859, and is widely quoted as well as having become a collector's item.

The new church was dedicated on Thurs., May 11, 1854, at the 11 a. m. service. The morning service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Plumer, and the Rev. Dr. Leyburn preached in the evening. Services were continued during Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Two graves in the front of the church contain the remains of the Rev. John Thompson who died on Apr. 9, 1795, aged 27 years and 9 months, and members of his family. They were moved from a private burial plot by an Act of the General Assembly in 1913. The Honorables Richard S. Rodney, James G. Shaw and Chauncey P. Holcomb were appointed to oversee this work.

The oldest legible tombstone is over the grave of John Kirkpatrick, who died on Feb. 8, 1744.

On Nov. 20, 1946, by a vote of 3 to 1 the congregation agreed to proceed with the project of restoring the old church to the same condition it was in at the time it was built in 1707. After this is completed, then the removal of the brownstone church will be considered.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held on Feb. 27, 1800, the following is an excerpt from a resolution that was adopted. "Whereas, it is found from experience that Burying-Grounds in the improved parts of towns are very injurious to the health of the inhabitants and otherwise inconvenient *. This resolution was followed by another that appointed a committee of three to make inquiry for a lot of one-quarter acre adjoining the town where a burial-ground could be established. A gift of one-half acre of land was made by John Stockton. On Oct. 26, 1832, the trustees purchased from Margaret Sexton, for $90.00, the balance of the land which comprises the cemetery as it now stands. One peculiarity of the deed from Mrs. Sexton is that it recites that the trustees release all right, title, interest and claim to a road through the Sexton land. The cemetery, therefore, was not accessible except through private property. At that time, however, the New Castle and Frenchtown Railroad owned a right-of-way adjoining the cemetery. The trustees asked permission to use this right-of-way. A resolution was passed by the Railroad Co. informing the trustees "that the Railroad Co. cannot permit wheel carriages to go upon the railroad property but that for the accommodation of funerals to the said Burying-Ground the Company will furnish cars and convey them to the grounds without charge—provided that the time fixed for funerals shall not interfere with the regular travel and transportation on the road." The Railroad Co. evidently regretted this agreement as sometime later they agreed to provide and maintain a suitable carriage-road to the cemetery. The subject of this road was the cause of discussion and dispute from 1832 until 1891. The road now in use is the old abandoned right-of-way of the Railroad Co.

The receiving vault was built in 1866 and on Dec. 31, 1867, it was formally donated to the trustees by Mrs. Annie Couper Kerr. In 1886, the cemetery was enclosed and the burial lots were graded and surveyed. The original half-acre can be distinguished by the irregular lots all facing eastward.

The custom of facing burials in some definite direction dates far back in history. Facing graves toward the east was practised by the Western Church of the Middle Ages. It is the accepted tradition that, among the Christian peoples, this is done in order that the departed will be facing east where Christ will first appear at the time of His second coming to the earth. In burial lots where this is not possible there is no choice between north and south. The Mohammedans bury their dead facing toward Mecca. In New South Wales they bury facing the sunrise, the Solomon Islanders bury facing inland and some ancients buried their dead facing the direction from which their ancestors came. Incidentally, the word cemetery is derived from the Latin word "caemeteria" meaning "resting place."

At the present time, the cemetery is being administered in a business-like way and it has become an interesting and beautiful spot. Among the prominent Delawareans buried here is former Governor Charles Thomas.
Nazareth Methodist Church (M.E.) at New Castle. Captain Webb, a pensioned British officer, preached Methodism in New Castle about 1769. He preached in his uniform, his sword upon the pulpit and with a patch over his blind eye. Although the Court House was used for balls and all forms of amusements, its use was denied the Methodists. Robert Furness, who conducted a public-house, joined the Methodists and opened his tavern for the meetings. By this move he lost a great deal of his custom.

Francis Asbury preached there on Aug. 10, 1772 and noted that: "he had preached to a few, met much opposition and that the Methodists had done no good in New Castle."

A Society was formed but it did not prosper as sentiment in New Castle was very unfavorable to the Methodists. A second attempt was made but it was 1820 before the present congregation was established. A plot of land was purchased on Sept. 28, 1820, from Richard Sexton, for $150.00. A small church was completed and dedicated in 1821. More land was purchased on Jan. 24, 1834, from Thomas Challenger. The church was made a station in 1837.

The Rev. Andrew Manship, who was pastor of Nazareth Church in 1849, gave three reasons for the weakness of the Methodist church in New Castle at that time. "The Episcopal and Presbyterian churches were so much older that their antiquity gives them strength; that there was a greater amount of aristocracy in New Castle than in any other town on the Peninsula and that our church is not so well suited to the aristocracy as some others and that the location of the Methodist Church was inconvenient, being far from the center of the town."

In 1863, the main building of the present church was built, largely through the liberality of Thomas Tasker of the Tasker Iron Works. The corner-stone was laid on Tues., Aug. 4, 1863, by Bishop Levi Scott. During the construction work meetings were held in the Presbyterian Church and in a tent beside the new church. These were the first tent meetings ever held in New Castle. It was arranged to hold the dedication services on Thurs., May 19, 1864, with Bishop Janes, Bishop Simpson and the Rev. J. McKendree Perly, officiating.

The Sunday School building was added in 1876. The 100th Anniversary of the church was celebrated on Oct. 23, 1921. Among the gifts dedicated on that day were a baptismal font in memory of the children of Wm. Leach, a pulpit stand in memory of the Rev. James M. Wise, a pulpit chair in memory of Miss Anna Sherwood, a communion table in memory of Mrs. Edward Challenger and the pipe-organ which was a gift of the Dorcas Society. The dedication was in charge of Dist. Supt. Robert Watt, assisted by the Revs. J. R. Bicking, R. Irving Watkins and E. L. Hubbard.

New cathedral chimes, a gift of the Four Square Guild, were dedicated on May 13, 1945, by the Rev. Geo. H. Murphy.

There is a large enclosed graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to the 1840's.

The First Baptist Church at New Castle. A Bible School was organized, in the Dalby home, on Jan. 16, 1876. The church was organized and the name "The First Baptist Church of New Castle" was chosen on Sept. 30, 1876. On Aug. 21, 1877, the meetings were transferred to the jury-room in the Court House where the meetings were held until the church was built. The first trustees were elected on Jan. 3, 1877. The church was incorporated on Aug. 27, 1877.

The church site, on Union St. between Delaware and Harmony Sts., was purchased on Dec. 10, 1877 from Wm. Herbert and more land was secured on Sept. 29, 1879 from Joseph I. Taggart. The present brick church was completed and was dedicated on Dec. 19, 1879. The first business meeting of the church was held on Oct. 31, 1879. The church had a belfry and stained glass windows, these were removed at a later date. The water was supplied by a well in the cellar. This was replaced later by running water and the gas lighting was replaced by electricity. The first pastor, the Rev. Mr. MacMackin, lived in Salem, N. J., and came across the river in a fishing boat to attend the meetings. There is one member still living who attended the Bible School in the Court House.

St. Peter's R. C. Church at New Castle. Roman Catholic services were held in New Castle as early as 1804. A church was organized and trustees were elected. On Apr. 15, 1806, the trustees purchased a church site at Union and Harmony Sts., from Samuel Rowan for $350.00. In 1807, an effort was made to build a church but it was several years before it was completed. The cornerstone was laid in 1808 by the Rev. Patrick Kenney. On Feb. 3, 1808 an Act was passed by the General Assembly authorizing a lottery to be held to raise not more than $2000.00 to be used in completing the church. It is believed that this plan was not carried out.

The church appears to have had financial difficulties and on Feb. 8, 1820, the State Legislature passed an Act to take care of the claims against the church through the office of the Chancellor. In carrying out this provision the property was sold at a public sale held on May 26, 1821. The church trustees bought it in for $230.00.

The cornerstone of the present church was laid on Thurs., May 5, 1870, by Bishop Thomas A. Becker, assisted by Father Taylor. The members met in the old church and then proceeded to the new church in a downpour of rain. Assisting in the ceremonies were Fathers Hagan, Dailey, Fallon and Kelley. The church was completed and was consecrated on May 27, 1876.

A new bell was consecrated on the afternoon of Sept. 27, 1896, by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis, assisted by the Rev. Father John D. Sheehan. This bell was presented as a memorial to John F. Brady and was named "John" by the Bishop. A belfry was nearing completion.

After extensive rebuilding, the church was consecrated on Nov. 26, 1911, by Bishop John J. Monaghan at the morning service. High Mass was celebrated by Monsignor John A. Lyons. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father Charles Lyons. In the afternoon a large parade was held by the Hibernian Knights and the school children.

A large cemetery adjoins the church. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is dated Feb. 27, 1823.

The Episcopal Chapel at Shawtown. In 1867, a lot was donated by James M. Johns at 9th and Clayton Sts., upon which the erection of a chapel was started. It was finished on Oct. 5, 1869. Sunday School services were held here until 1918. The chapel was torn down, in 1923, and the land was sold.

The New Castle M. P. Church was organized on Aug. 18, 1893, at which time the Rev. L. F. Warner, of Dover, preached. They were incorporated on Mar. 14, 1894. No church was ever built.

Mt. Salem M. E. Church, colored, of New Castle was built of frame in 1857. The present brick church was built in 1878 and was dedicated on Dec.
15, 1878. Additional land was purchased on Dec. 2, 1879. There is a graveyard beside the church.

Union A. M. E. Church of New Castle was organized in 1818. A portion of the present church site was purchased on Mar. 28, 1818 from Alex. Duncan. A frame church was then built. More land was purchased on Mar. 10, 1859. In 1863, a brick church was built. Additional land was purchased on Oct. 1, 1888. The church was rebuilt in 1888 and in 1927. The name "Bethany" was used for a number of years but it has been discarded.

The Christian Alliance have a small chapel in Dobbinsville. It was built in 1928. The chapel was dedicated on Apr. 22, 1928, at 2:30 o'clock, by the Rev. G. Vernor Brown, assisted by W. W. Henry.

The Presbyterian Chapel at Dobbinsville. The ground was broken for this chapel on Sat., May 3, 1879. Mr. Dobbin donated the land and most of the material. The chapel was completed and Sunday School, with occasional preaching, was held until 1895. It was then conducted intermittently or as an undenominational Sunday School until 1912. In 1913, the chapel was sold, moved to Baldton and converted into a dwelling.

Dobbinsville M. E. Sunday School was established in 1879. In 1942, the Methodists again started a Sunday School in Dobbinsville.

Red Lion Run M. E. Church. On Aug. 5, 1819, Sarah Weir sold to a board of trustees, for $19.90, a plot of land upon which to build a church. This site was located on the St. Georges and New Castle Road near Red Lion Run. The trustees were Purnel Beach, Geo. Smith, John Lumb, Mahlon Foster, Azariah Foster, Henry Batten and Arthur Bailey.

Bethel Baptist Church was located just west of Hare's Corner. It was organized as a mission of Welsh Tract Church in 1786. On Feb. 8, 1788, a half acre of land was purchased from Ebenezer and Andrew Morton upon which a log church was built and a graveyard was laid out. In 1839, it was constituted a separate charge. Four acres of land were purchased on Dec. 24, 1849 from Mary McCullough. The life of this church is uncertain but no mention is made of it in the minutes of the Delaware Association after 1871. The old church foundation stones at each corner is all that can be found today. The graveyard has one section set aside where the bodies originally buried in the Wilmington Baptist graveyard, 1008 King St., were reinterred, when the City and County Building was erected. The oldest legible tombstone in this group is that of Abigail Ainger, wife of the Rev. Thomas Ainger, who died on Feb. 23, 1793. The graveyard is kept in reasonably good condition. The oldest legible tombstone that the writer could find is that of Francis Lowen Cooch who died on Aug. 27, 1791.

Lebanon Methodist Church (M.E.) is located at Red Lion. In 1819, Mrs. William Silver donated one acre of land, just south of Red Lion, upon which to build a church and to maintain a graveyard. The church was built and used until 1853. The present site was purchased on Apr. 23, 1853, from John D. Turner for $100.00. The erection of a brick church on the new site was started immediately. The corner-stone was laid on June 29, 1853, by the Revs. D. W. Bartine, D.D., and Andrew Manship. The church was completed and was dedicated on Sun., Dec. 18, 1853, at the morning service, by Bishop Levi Scott, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Ryan. The building was renovated after which a reopening service was held on Nov. 4, 1866, by the Rev. Joseph E. Smith. It was remodeled in 1885. On Dec. 26, 1885, the church was seriously damaged by fire after which repairs were made. On Sept. 9, 1939, additional land was donated to the church by Wm. F. Silvers and Sarah E. Walton.

A large social-hall was built beside the church in 1940. The church was seriously damaged by fire on Jan. 30, 1944. After being repaired, a reopening service was held on Sun., July 9, 1944, by the Rev. D. J. Moore, the pastor. A stained glass window, in honor of Wm. F. Silvers, who had served as Supt. of the Sunday School for more than 50 years, was dedicated.

The old church site is still used as a graveyard. The oldest tombstone is that of R. Smith, who died on Nov. 28, 1821.

Pigeon Run Presbyterian Church was located one mile n. e. of Red Lion. It took its name from the small stream beside the site. This church was founded, in 1727, as a chapel-of-ease for the members of New Castle Presbyterian Church. The church was burned, in 1760, and it was not rebuilt. By an Act of the General Assembly, the trustees of the Presbyterian Graveyard at Pigeon Run were incorporated on Feb. 1, 1849. The saplings and trees are gradually taking possession of the graveyard where interments have been made until quite recently. The oldest tombstone is dated 1738. The Rev. Samuel Eakin, A.M., former pastor of Pencader Church, who died in 1873, is buried beneath a flat slab.

The Chapel of St. Catherine of Siena (R.C.) was located at St. James’ Protectory for Boys at Reybold. After having purchased the Clark farm at Reybold, St. James’ Protectory was moved from Wilmington to its new home on Aug. 8, 1888, by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis.

Bishop John J. Monaghan who succeeded Bishop Curtis on May 9, 1897, broke ground at Reybold, in May 1899, for additions that would enlarge the capacity of the home and afford greater conveniences.

On one of Bishop Monaghan’s visits to Rome, he met the Andrews family of Baltimore. One of them, Miss Catherine Andrews became dangerously ill while in Rome. Bishop Monaghan was called to administer the last rites of the Church to her and, later, to preside at her funeral. In gratitude for his kindness, Miss Elizabeth Andrews offered to build a memorial chapel wherever the Bishop would select a site. Bishop Monaghan decided to build it at St. James’ Protectory. It was dedicated on Apr. 30, 1902, in memory of Catherine Andrews, as the Chapel of St. Catherine of Siena.

When the Protectory was closed, in Jan. 1941, the chapel was dismantled and torn down. The altar, pews and other equipment were then used by St. Matthew’s Church, at Woodcrest, in their temporary quarters. The altar is now in use at Christ Our King Church, in Wilmington.

Garrison P. E. Chapel, Fort Delaware. This chapel was erected by the troops of the Engineer’s Corps under the direction of Chaplains E. J. Way and Wm. H. Paddock. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 12, 1863, by Bishop Alfred Lee. The consecration service was conducted by Bishop Lee on Sun., June 23, 1867. This chapel was last mentioned in the Diocesan Journal in 1869.

started and the corner-stone was laid by the Rev. T. F. Billop. The work laid dormant for two years and was then resumed.

The first service in the unfinished building was held on Sun., Feb. 23, 1851. The church was consecrated, by Bishop Alfred Lee, on Dec. 13, 1857. A melodeon was installed in April, 1859. The rectory was built in 1869. On Dec. 23, 1893, a marble altar and a silver chalice were consecrated by Bishop Leighton Coleman. After renovations the church was reopened and the new parish-house was dedicated at a service of benediction, conducted by Bishop Coleman, on June 23, 1895. In 1897-98, a Bishop’s chair was installed and the parish-house was enlarged.

There are at least two graves on the lawn of Christ Church. The tombstones have been laid flat. The one that can be read is over the grave of Floriede Ubil, who died on Mar. 15, 1870. The Delaware City Presbyterian Church. The first Presbyterian meetings, in Delaware City, were held in private homes and in the schoolhouse. On Nov. 17, 1835, Manuel Eyre donated land on the n. e. cor. of 2nd and Jefferson Sts., upon which to build a church and to maintain a graveyard. In 1835, a one-story brick church was erected. On May 11, 1846, the property was deeded to the trustees of the Delaware City Church. Previous to that time, the title had been held by the St. George’s Presbyterian Church. On Sept. 4, 1846, the church was organized as a separate charge.

During the period covering 1858, the Del. City Academy was conducted in the church with the Rev. George F. Wiswell of Central Church, Wilmington, as principal.

A frame building had been erected for Sunday School purposes. In 1872, the church was enlarged and remodeled. The manse was built in 1886.

There is a graveyard beside the church. The oldest tombstone is that of Wm. Carson who died on Aug. 21, 1838.

From 1852 until 1876, there was a situation in Delaware City without parallel in Delaware. In the block bounded by Jefferson, Second, Madison and William Sts., there were the Presbyterian Church, the Methodist Church and the Roman Catholic Church. Each of these churches had its own graveyard and the three properties covered the entire block.

Ebenezer Methodist Church (M.E.) at Delaware City. The first Methodist meetings were held in private homes in 1827. In 1830, a union Sunday School, in conjunction with the Presbyterians, was held in the schoolhouse. In 1833, services were held monthly, first in the schoolhouse and then in private homes. A revival was held, in 1834, and the class thus formed, started to build a church in the fall. The church site at the n. w. cor. of William and Jefferson Sts., was donated by Manuel Eyre to the trustees on Dec. 22, 1835. The church was dedicated in 1836 and named the “Delaware City M. E. Church.” On Jan. 19, 1852, additional land on William St. was purchased from John Ashhurst. A graveyard was laid out beside the church and it is still maintained as the

L. Dashiell, Mr. Williams, Mr. Montgomery and B. F. Price, the pastor.

In 1883, a bell was placed on the building. Sunday School was held in the old church until 1886, when it was torn down and the material used in the erection of a social-hall beside the church. A new organ and steam-heat were installed in 1904. The parsonage, a gift from Mrs. Julia H. Brewer, was built in 1917. The church was renovated, including hardwood floors, in 1925. The name "Ebenezer" was adopted on Jan. 20, 1928. A new organ was presented by the Ladies Aid Society in 1930. On Mar. 8, 1942, altar memorials, including a Bible, a Cross, communion table scarf and a Bible marker were dedicated.

On Sat., Apr. 20, 1946, during a high wind, the church roof was ignited by sparks from a trash fire several blocks distant. The fire spread rapidly and the entire building was gutted. Only a piano and a few benches were saved.

St. Paul's R. C. Church, at Delaware City, was organized at meetings held in private homes prior to 1852. The erection of the first church at the s. w. cor. of William and Madison Sts., was started in 1852 and completed in 1853. A graveyard was laid out and is still well maintained. The oldest tombstone is over the grave of Joseph O'Brien who died on Jan. 29, 1854. A new cemetery located on the road to St. Georges was opened in 1938. The church was incorporated on June 28, 1872 and again on Sept. 5, 1883.

A new church site at Washington and Henry Sts., was purchased on Jan. 3, 1903, from Martha Price.

The corner-stone of the present church was laid on May 22, 1904, at 5 o'clock, by Bishop John J. Monaghan. Led by a brass band, a procession formed at the old church and marched to the new site. Bishop Monaghan and his assistants were in the line of march. They proceeded around the site and then the stone, of Brandywine granite, was laid and blessed by the Bishop. He was assisted by Fathers Hugo Paff, Kelley, Scott, Glancy, Brady and McSweeney. The sermon was preached by Father Wm. J. Bermingham.

The dedication service was held on Nov. 6, 1904, at 10:30 o'clock. The ceremony was conducted by Bishop John J. Monaghan, assisted by the Very Revs. J. A. Lyons and L. A. Delury and the Revs. Jacquier and McSweeney. A procession was formed which marched around the outside of the church as the Bishop sprinkled holy water and blessed the walls. They then entered the church where the Bishop again blessed the walls. High Mass was celebrated by Father Lyons and the sermon was preached by Father Delury. Bishop Monaghan then gave a congratulatory talk. A group of boys, from St. James Protec- tory, made their first appearance as a choir.

A church bell, in memory of Mrs. Catherine C. Dolan, was blessed on May 9, 1920, by Bishop John J. Monaghan assisted by Fathers T. F. Waldron and James M. Grant. The main altar is a memorial to Father Edward L. Brady.

On Feb. 23, 1933, the brick schoolhouse at 4th and Clinton Sts. was purchased from the State Board of Education. It was remodeled for use as a parish-house. With the entry of the United States into World War II, the building was turned over to the United Service Organization to be used in catering to the men in our armed forces.
There are two colored churches in Delaware City. Mt. Salem A. U. M. E. was organized in 1868 and the present church was built in 1931. The cornerstone was laid on Feb. 21, 1932. The site for St. Peter's M. E. Church was bought from James B. Henry on June 11, 1872, the deed stating that the church had been built. It was rebuilt in 1922.

Bethel A. M. E. Church at Polkstown. This congregation purchased a property from John T. Viney on Apr. 5, 1883. Polkstown is situated south of Delaware City opposite the entrance to Fort Du Pont.

Port Penn Presbyterian Church was organized at a meeting held on Nov. 16, 1833. On Feb. 28, 1834, Mrs. Margaret Darrach donated to John M. Woods, John Cannon and John Price, trustees, a lot on the corner of Market and Stewart Sts., as a church site. A frame building was erected in 1834. After securing 12 perches more land from Mrs. Darrach on Mar. 17, 1856, the cornerstone of the present brick church was laid on Tues., Aug. 19, 1856. The first services in the new church were held on May 17, 1857. Upon her death, Mrs. Darrach devised to the church a house and additional land next to the church property.

More land was purchased on Apr. 25, 1871, from Edwin A. Smith. The church minute-book containing a record of every meeting was well cared for by the late Wm. McMullen, an elder of the church. When the new church was built, in 1856, the old church was sold to a colored congregation who moved it to a site two and one-quarter miles west of Port Penn.

Port Penn M. E. Church was the outgrowth of revival meetings held in the schoolhouse in the 1840's. A church was organized and a church site was purchased on the east side of Stewart St., from Joseph Cleaver, on Nov. 20, 1843. A frame building was erected. After major repairs a reopening service was held on Oct. 20, 1867, by the Revs. M. D. Kurtz and Elon J. Way, the pastor. In 1881, lack of interest caused the church to be closed but it was reopened in 1887.

The church was rebuilt in 1891. The cornerstone was laid on July 12, 1891, at 2:30 P. M. Those taking part included the Revs. Frederick McKinsey, J. S. Willis, Isaac Jewell and T. O. Ayers. The dedication service was held on Oct. 11, 1891, with the Rev. T. E. Terry in attendance. The church was extensively repaired in 1914. It ceased to function in 1920. It was sold to a colored congregation who have occupied it since that time.

St. Daniel's A. M. E. Church. This congregation purchased, on May 22, 1906, from Wm. Oakes, a property in Port Penn on the street leading to Delaware City, near Market St. When the M. E. Church became defunct in 1920, they secured possession of this church which they still occupy. The old church is now occupied as a dwelling.

Zion A. M. E. Church was located two and one-quarter miles west of Port Penn. The building is the old Port Penn Presbyterian Church which they bought in 1856. It was used until more recent times when the congregation merged with St. Daniel's Church in Port Penn. On Oct. 15, 1941, Geo. H. Johnson donated more land to the church. A cemetery surrounds the old church which is almost a complete wreck.

Asbury M. E. Church was located three and one-quarter miles south of St. Georges. This church was built about 1815. On Jan. 25, 1830, the property was transferred to a new board of trustees. The church was abandoned in the 1850's. The old graveyard remains, with its two sections, one for white and one for colored persons. The oldest tombstone in the white cemetery is over the grave of Ziporah Reed who died on Aug. 22, 1817.

George's Creek Friend's Meeting-House. Hickory Grove Cemetery, three miles s. e. of St. Georges on the road to Port Penn, was the site of this meeting-house. For many years previous to 1703 the Friends of this section held Meetings in private homes. On Nov. 13, 1703, ten acres of land were warranted for the use of the Friends. A meeting-house was built and a burying-ground was laid out. The Meeting had representatives at Duck Creek Monthly Meeting in 1706. In 1772, the Preparative Meeting was discontinued. On June 20, 1783, they received permission from Duck Creek Meeting to move to Cantwell's Bridge, now Odessa, where the Appoquinimink Meeting House had been built. The oldest tombstone the writer could find is that of James Mansson, who died on Dec. 10, 1776. In this inscription the old style letters is used.

St. George's Methodist Church (M.E.), at St. Georges, was erected in 1852. The corner-stone was laid on Tues., June 22, 1852, by the Revs. Anthony Atwood and Andrew Manship. The church was finished in the winter of 1852-53. A great deal of the work was done literally by the Rev. John B. Dennison. The dedication services were held on Feb. 20, 1853, and were in charge of Bishop Waugh, who was assisted by the Rev. Andrew Manship. Additional land was purchased from John P. Hudson on July 9, 1880. Improvements were made in 1883. The church was incorporated on May 12, 1884. After major improvements a reopening service was held on Sept. 13, 1896, by the Revs. Ezra Tinker and Julius Dodd. The church was remodeled in 1911. A new pipe organ was installed in 1943.

St. Georges Presbyterian Church was founded in 1698. Meetings were held in a log building. The Rev. Henry Hook was installed as the first pastor in 1722. "On the 23rd day of April in the 15th year of George II, King of Great Britain, etc., and in the year of our Lord 1742," Magdalene Cox deeded 97 perches of land on the King's Road, for 1 shilling, as a church site. On Sept. 6, 1790, Elizabeth Dushane transferred to the trustees, for the nominal sum of 5 shillings, 1 silver tankard and 1 silver pint.

This church was located one mile west of St. Georges on what is now the road to Kirkwood, where St. George's Cemetery is now located. Presumably it was of log or frame construction. The altar was toward the west and there were two side aisles. At the head of the southerly aisle there were two interments marked with flat slabs. One of these is the oldest inscribed tomb in the cemetery. It is the grave of Peter Bayard Rodgers, who died on Mar. 15, 1739 at the age of 4 years, 3 mos. and 22 days. He was the son of the Rev. John Rodgers and his wife Elizabeth. Alongside is the grave of the mother, Elizabeth.

At the foot of the northerly aisle is the tomb of Dr. David Thompson, who died on Feb. 22, 1795. On the site of the altar is the grave of the Rev. J. C. How, who served this church and the church in the town of St. Georges from 1830 until his death on Aug. 13, 1855. The layout of this church is the conclusion reached by Tyson F. Sartin, who looks after the cemetery, and it appears quite logical to the writer.

South of and close to the grave of Mr. How is the grave of the Hon.
Anthony Higgins, LL.D., who was prominent in the public life of Delaware. Mr. Higgins died on June 26, 1912, and it is claimed that his funeral was the first all-automobile funeral held in Delaware.

In 1840, a lot in St. Georges was secured and the present brick church was started. It was completed and dedicated on July 27, 1845.

The 200th Anniversary of the church was celebrated on May 29, 1898. Among those taking part were the Revs. W. H. Stone, O. A. Gillingham, L. A. Oates, D. J. Beale, H. Rumer, J. H. Moore, J. L. Vallandingham and Anthony Higgins, Esq.

After extensive rebuilding the church was reopened on Oct. 9, 1904. The Rev. R. A. Davidson, D.D., preached the reopening sermon in the morning. Ten beautiful memorial windows were dedicated by the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Milligan. At 2:30 P. M., an historical service was held at which time Anthony Higgins, Esq., delivered the address. The evening sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Henry Rumer.

There is a gallery in the rear of the church. Two marble tablets on the front wall of the auditorium honor the Rev. John Rodgers, D.D., who served the church from 1749 to 1763 and the Rev. James Coles How who served from 1830 to 1855.

St. Georges P. E. Church was organized prior to 1707, the congregation being Welsh. In 1829, when the canal was dug, the cemetery was still there but there was no evidence of the church.

St. James’ A. M. E. Church at St. Georges was built in 1887.

Kirkwood Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1898, S. O. Gibbons, a local-preacher, held revival services at Kirkwood and was successful in gaining converts. On Feb. 2, 1899, R. T. Cann donated land upon which a church was built. The corner-stone was laid on May 28, 1899, by the Rev. I. L. Wood. The church was dedicated on Sept. 3, 1899, by the Rev. Dr. James Crowe. Music was furnished by the P.R.R. Y.M.C.A. choir of Wilmington.

St. Paul’s M. E. Church, colored, at Kirkwood, was founded in 1858. They were incorporated on July 15, 1889.

Boulden’s Chapel was located within sight of Summit Bridge on a dirt road leading to Lorewood Grove. The correct name of this chapel was “Chrystal Run Meeting-House.” It was built, in 1822, by Benjamin Boulden, to be used for church and school purposes. It was used as an undenominational church. Upon his death, Mr. Boulden willed the chapel to Welsh Tract Baptist Church. The will was defective, for some reason, so the chapel became the property of Mr. Boulden’s sister, Abagail Davis of Dover. It was Mrs. Davis’ desire to carry out her brother’s wishes. Apparently, Welsh Tract Church did not want the chapel so Mrs. Davis deeded the property to the Second Baptist Church of Wilmington on Aug. 3, 1837. Mrs. Davis reserved for herself and her heirs the right to be buried on the property.

Occasional Baptist services were held here. Summit Bridge M. E. Church was organized and met here for a number of years. The school end of the building was used for years after the church end had been abandoned. The building was destroyed by fire. The body of Mr. Boulden was interred in a vault beneath the church. After the fire the body of Mr. Boulden was reinterred in Welsh Tract Baptist graveyard.
Summit Bridge Methodist Church (M.E.). The Methodists in the Summit Bridge section began to hold services in Boulden's Chapel during the 1860's. On June 9, 1870, they purchased a church site of one-half an acre from James Nicholson. They agreed to build and maintain a fence around the lot. When Boulden's Chapel became much in need of repairs the Methodists decided to proceed with the erection of a church. The corner-stone was laid on Aug. 18, 1876 by Bishop Levi Scott. The church was incorporated on Mar. 15, 1877. In 1878, Bishop Scott presided at the dedication ceremonies.

On July 24, 1913, the church was struck by lightning and burned. A new building was started immediately and it was dedicated on Jan. 18, 1914. The service was conducted by Dist. Supt. E. L. Hoffecker, assisted by the Revs. W. L. S. Murray, E. H. Collins and G. W. Dawson. Reversing the usual procedure, the corner-stone was laid on July 26, 1914, at 2:30 P.M., by Dist. Supt. E. L. Hoffecker, assisted by the Revs. H. T. Quigg and Asbury Burke.

Summit Bridge A. U. Church. This church, on Nov. 9, 1859, purchased one-quarter of an acre of land from Samuel Hubert for $93.00. On Aug. 23, 1867, they purchased, from Thomas W. McCracken, one acre of land for $125.00.

Mt. Pisgah U. A. M. E. Church is located at Buck Bridge. The Union Church of Welsh Tract was founded at an early date and a church was built. On Feb. 25, 1868, they were incorporated and the name was changed to the "Union African Church of Welsh Tract." They rebuilt their church in 1870 and in 1914. On Dec. 27, 1933, they changed their name to "Mt. Pisgah." The present church was built in 1937, when the old site was taken over in widening the Del. and Ches. Canal. There is a graveyard to the rear of the church.

Forest 2nd Presbyterian Church was located at Armstrong's Corner. The site can be distinguished by a small grove of trees and a short strip of picket fence. On Apr. 23, 1871, a group from Forest Presbyterian Church, at Middletown, organized a Sunday School here. On July 22, Benjamin Armstrong donated the land upon which the chapel was built. The corner-stone was laid on Aug. 24 and it was dedicated on Sept. 17, 1871. On May 30, 1877, a church was organized and named "Forest 2nd." In April, 1886, it was abolished as a separate church and conducted as a mission school. The chapel was closed in 1915. Shortly after this the Christian Scientists held meetings here for about one year. In 1935, the building collapsed and the lumber was used for farm buildings, closely.

Ringgold A. M. E. Church at Armstrong's Corner was built in 1912.

St. Joseph's A. U. M. P. Church. This church purchased a site from Harriott Houston, for $40.00, in 1899. It was located on a road leading from Mt. Pleasant to Odessa.

Grace Orthodox Presbyterian Church at Middletown. On Jan. 30, 1938, a group from Forest Church held a meeting in the Everett Theatre. Grace Church was duly organized on Feb. 2, 1938, and it was incorporated on June 9, 1938. Ground was broken for the present church on Easter Sunday, Apr. 17, 1938. The pastor laid the corner-stone on July 24, 1938. On the corner-stone is inscribed "By Grace Are Ye Saved." The church was completed and was dedicated on Oct. 6, 1938. This was followed by a full week of services.
St. Anne’s P. E. Church at Middletown. A Sunday School was opened in Middletown in 1866. This was continued and in 1871 the erection of a church was started. On July 15, 1871, Wm. Green sold to the congregation, for $1,208.00, the land upon which the church is built. At that time Old St. Anne’s was badly in need of repairs and it was considered more convenient for the members to have a church in town. The cornerstone was laid on Aug. 5, 1871, by the Rev. Dr. John C. McCabe, the rector, assisted by the Revs. George A. Latimer and T. Gardiner Littell. The consecration ceremonies were held on Apr. 4, 1872, by Bishop Alfred Lee who was assisted by Bishop H. C. Lay, D.D. On May 2, 1882, the church was damaged by fire and many prized relics were lost.

Rebuilding was started immediately and the church was opened for services on Dec. 25, 1882. The erection of the rectory was started in December, 1883. The church was incorporated on May 24, 1884. The tower was completed and a bell was installed in June, 1889. During the following year a new pulpit was presented by the Young Ladies’ Guild as a memorial to Sewell Green. In 1892, a new altar was consecrated. Beginning in 1890 and continuing for about 15 years this church conducted missions at Odessa, Fieldsboro, Townsend and Middle Neck. On Jan. 1, 1903, pew rents were abolished. On Easter Sunday, Apr. 12, 1914, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman consecrated a brass eagle lectern in memory of Natalie G. Blatchford. A desk and a brass altar book-stand were also consecrated. During 1924-25 three memorial windows, a Bishop’s chair and a priest’s chair were installed.

Forest Presbyterian Church at Middletown. On June 6, 1750, Robert Alexander granted, to a board of trustees, a tract of land upon which to build a church. This land is included in the present Forest Cemetery. The church stood on the s. e. corner of the plot. The church was incorporated on Jan. 1, 1789. On Dec. 18, 1789, Slayter Bouchell and Thos. Witherspoon deeded to the trustees one acre of land on Mill Branch of Drawyer’s Creek. In return, they were granted church pew No. 3, valued at five pounds. This church was closed about 1830 and having fallen into decay it was sold and moved away in 1840.

On Sept. 25, 1849, Robert A. Cochran sold to “the trustees of Forest and Middletown Presbyterian Church, about to be revived,” the church site on the south side of Main St. The present brick church was then built. The cornerstone was laid on Thurs., May 9, 1850. The dedication service was held on Oct. 26, 1851, at 11 A. M. by the Rev. Isaac W. K. Handy, the pastor. All-day services were conducted by the Revs. Thomas Brainard, D.D., John Patton and the pastor. Rainy weather kept the attendance down.

On Mar. 2, 1878, a two-acre addition to the cemetery was purchased from Nehemiah Burris. The parsonage lot was purchased on May 16, 1863 from R. A. Cochran.

On the vestibule walls there are three marble tablets. The first is inscribed “Founded 1750 Rebuilt 1850,” the second contains a list of the trustees of 1850 and the third lists the ministers who served the church from 1851 until 1920.

An addition was built in 1882. Major improvements were made in 1899, after which a reopening service was held on Oct. 1, 1899, by the Revs. F. H. Moore and J. L. Vallandingham.

In front of the church and close to the wall there are four graves covered with flat slabs. These are members of the Peterson family, whose private burial plot was on the site when the church was built. One is dated 1741.

In 1906, the tower clock was presented by Mrs. Frances C. Comegys as a memorial to her parents. Former Governor John P. Cochran is buried in Forest Cemetery.

Bethesda Methodist Church (M.E.) of Middletown, lovingly called "Old Bethesda," was formally organized on Dec. 13, 1821. A church site was purchased from John Hays, for $50.00, on Sept. 14, 1822. A small church was then built. The church was rebuilt in 1849. The parsonage, adjoining the church was built in 1859. Additional land was purchased on May 29, 1860 and on Sept. 5, 1864 from Edward Bradley and Wm. G. Whitely. Improvements were made in 1879. The church was remodeled and redecorated in 1910 and extensively improved in 1940. A graveyard adjoins the church. The oldest legible tombstone is that of John Merritt who died on Mar. 25, 1825.

St. Joseph's Church, R. C., at Middletown. In 1879, the Rev. Charles H. Heichemere, S.J., the pastor of old Bohemia Church in Maryland, began to celebrate Mass in the auditorium of the Old Town Hall in Middletown. He would drive over on alternate Sundays bringing his altar boy with him. At that time, there were only about fifteen Roman Catholics in that neighborhood. Fr. Heichemere was succeeded by the Rev. John B. Gaffney, S.J., and, in 1882, he began urging that a church be built in Middletown. The site of St. Joseph’s Church was purchased by means of a public subscription.

The contract for building the church was awarded to Stevens, Miller and Co., on Oct. 19, 1883. The corner-stone was laid on Sun., Nov. 18, 1883, by the Rev. Father Murphey assisted by the Rev. John B. Gaffney. At 10 o'clock, a Mass was celebrated in the Town Hall, after which the congregation marched to the church site. Here the corner-stone was laid and blessed and the 750 lb. bell was also blessed. In the evening Father Murphey delivered a lecture in the Town Hall. The church was incorporated on Feb. 3, 1884.

The church was dedicated on Oct. 5, 1884, at the morning service, by Bishop Thomas A. Becker. Bishop Becker celebrated Mass previous to the dedication ceremonies. He was assisted by Fathers Bradford, Keiley, Hayes and Gaffney. St. Peter’s choir, of Wilmington, assisted with the music. In the evening Father Keiley delivered a lecture. The site of the rectory was donated by Mrs. Sarah Lockwood.

Old Bohemia Church near Warwick, Md., mothered not only St. Joseph’s Church but all of the Catholic churches in Delaware and Pennsylvania. St. Francis Xavier’s Church, better known as Old Bohemia Church was founded by the Jesuit Fathers in 1704. It is the oldest Catholic church on the Eastern Shore. There was a college at Old Bohemia which was attended by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, one of the Signers, his cousin, John Carroll, the first Bishop of America, and others, who became prominent in the life of the Colonies. The College was founded, in 1745, by the Rev. Thomas Poulton, S.J., and it was the forerunner of Georgetown University. It was continued until 1790, when the present Georgetown University was founded in Washington, D. C. The Jesuit Fathers and the Sulpician Fathers conducted Old Bohemia until 1899, when secular priests were placed in charge. It is served today by the Rev. John H. Walsh who also looks after the Middletown and Chesapeake City Parishes.

The Home Missionary Church at Middletown was organized in the Academy in 1946. The present church was built and was dedicated on Sat., Aug. 31, 1946 by the Rev. W. F. Hopkins, the pastor.
The Jehovah's Witnesses were organized in Middletown in the spring of 1936. They meet in a private home on Sunday evenings.

Methodist Episcopal Church, colored. On Dec. 15, 1869, Samuel Dale sold to the trustees of this congregation a church site on the east side of New St., containing 3700 sq. ft. Dale's M. E. Church, colored, purchased 6000 sq. ft. of land from Z. A. Pool on Aug. 27, 1886. The present church on Lake St. was built in 1894. Trinity A. M. E. Church was built in 1884. It was dedicated on Oct. 18, 1885, by Bishop Cane and the Rev. Charles Ross. Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, colored, is located on the easterly edge of the town.

Old St. Anne's P. E. Church is located one mile south of Middletown. It is believed to have been organized before 1704. On Sept. 1, 1704, a grant of ten acres on the Queen's Road below Apoquinimink Creek, was made, upon which to build a chapel of the Church of England. The church was built in 1705. On June 25, 1765, the Rev. Philip Reading reported that land had been given and a subscription was being taken to build a large church.

The present church was built in 1768, and the original altar and box-pews with gates are still in use. The ivy was brought from England by Bishop Doane and was planted by him. Among the church's cherished possessions is a covering for the communion table presented to the church by Queen Anne and having her initials "A.A." embroidered in silk upon it. A silver communion set was presented, in 1759, by Mrs. Rebecca Dyre. The old altar is a fine example of Colonial workmanship. "Old St. Anne's Oak," a tree standing in the churchyard, is estimated to be more than three hundred years old.

On June 18, 1922, during the celebration of the 217th Anniversary, a bronze tablet in memory of Richard Lockwood, vestryman from 1820 to 1875, was dedicated by Bishop Philip Cook. He was assisted by the Rev. Percy L. Donaghay, the rector.

The ornamental brick wall surrounding the property has been built, beginning in 1914, by different persons chiefly as memorials. Philip Cook, Fourth Bishop of Delaware, who died on Mar. 25, 1938, is buried in the graveyard. One of the oldest inscriptions that the writer could find is on the tomb of the Rev. Philip Reading, close to the church. It states that he died on Oct. 29, 1778, aged 58. He was the rector of the church during the unhappy days of the American Revolution. Annual services are held on the third Sunday in June.

Old Drawyer's Presbyterian Church is located one mile north of Odessa. From meetings started in 1700, this congregation was organized in 1708, at which time the Rev. John Wilson was in charge of Drawyer's, White Clay and the New Castle churches. The site was obtained from John Peterson, on May 10, 1711, and the church was built of logs. It was known as the "Church of Apoquinimy." In 1768, Dr. Thomas Read, the great-great-grandfather of the Rev. Elliot Field, D.D., of New Castle, became the first settled pastor at Old Drawyer's. In 1769, the log church being in bad repair, a building committee was appointed and, in 1773, the present church was built. The bricks were made a short distance from the church site. In 1811, a new roof was built and, in 1833, the pulpit and seats were remodeled. The name was changed to the "First Presbyterian Church in St. George's Hundred." The church has the old family box-pews, in white trimmed with mahogany, the gallery extends around three sides, above the high pulpit is a beautiful domed sounding board topped with a gold eagle. Two sets of pulpit stairs curve around the precentor's desk.
enclosed with a railing. There are a number of marble memorial tablets upon the walls.

Among the most famous of the early members was Thomas McKean, a Signer of the Declaration of Independence and of the Articles of Confederation. Dr. Read, pastor from 1768 to 1797, and Elder John Crawford were commissioners to the Synod that organized the Presbyterian General Assembly and to the first Assembly in 1789, when Dr. Read was appointed to the Committee on Bills and Overtures.

Dr. Read, whose missionary journeys embraced a circuit of some forty miles, was a chief actor in one of the thrilling episodes of the Revolution. On Aug. 22, 1777, the American Army under General Washington, near Chadd's Ford, Pa., was menaced by a superior British force. Washington, with his raw troops, did not dare risk a pitched battle. Retreat along the main road was equally dangerous, with the trained British Army at his heels. At this juncture, Colonel Duff entered the council room and exclaimed: "I know the man who can extricate us." Washington replied, "Mount and bring him here without a moment's delay." At midnight, Dr. Read was roused from bed and in five minutes was under whip and spur for Washington's camp. Through his intimate knowledge of the countryside, Dr. Read was able to map out the cross and by-roads and under his guidance Washington effected a safe retreat to the Brandywine.

Regular services were discontinued in 1858 when New Drawyer's Church was built at Odessa. The first annual services were held, in 1896, by the Friends of Old Drawyer's. These services are held on the first Sunday in June. The ivy-covered church and the large enclosed graveyard are kept in immaculate condition. The walk leading to the church is flanked by pink and white dogwood trees. The oldest tombstone the writer could find is that of Joseph Hill who died on Dec. 7, 1762.

Appoquinimink Friend's Meeting-House is located in Odessa. It is a small brick building about twenty feet square and with only one doorway instead of the usual two. It faces north instead of south as do most Friend's Meeting-Houses. Apparently, the building originally had a door and two windows facing south but these have been bricked up. Over the door is a marble tablet inscribed: "Erected and presented by David Wilson 1785." Permission to build this meeting-house was granted by Duck Creek Meeting. On June 20, 1783, the building being completed permission to hold meetings there was granted. On Sept. 2, 1800, for the sum of five shillings, David Wilson conveyed the site, containing 143 perches of land, to John Hirons, Joab Alston, Pennel Corbit and Thomas Starr, "members of Appoquinimink Meeting of the Society of Friends or the people called Quakers." The deed recites that the meeting-house had already been built. In 1830, the Preparative Meeting united with Duck Creek Meeting. All meetings were abandoned in 1881. The building and the surrounding burying-ground are well kept. Several fighting Quakers are buried here and their graves are decorated with the insignia of the Grand Army of the Republic. The oldest tombstone is that of Wm. Liston, who died in 1788.

A steep stairway leads to the second floor which was evidently used as a school-room. This meeting-house was used as a station on the Underground Railway, previous to the Civil War, where slaves would be hidden, fed and given needed clothing before being sent to the next station on their way to freedom.
Drawyer's Presbyterian Church, at Odessa, was built in 1858, and was dedicated on May 9, 1861. In 1886, extensive renovations were made.

St. Paul's Methodist Church (M.E.) at Odessa. In 1830, at a revival meeting, in Fieldsboro, several young men from Odessa were converted. They secured the use of the schoolhouse and the Rev. Richard Greenbank, of the Smyrna circuit, began to hold services in 1831. They adopted the name "Mt. Zion Meeting-House." They were incorporated on June 25, 1832 as the "Cantwell's Bridge M. E. Church," Cantwell's Bridge being the name of Odessa at that time.

These meetings were continued for two years, when Joseph C. Griffith donated the land upon which to build a church. An old brick house near Fieldsboro was bought and a burned-out brick house near Odessa was donated and the congregation proceeded to tear them down and clean the bricks. With these bricks a fair-sized church was built in 1833 and the walls were whitewashed. It was called the "Brick-bat Church." The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Aug. 27, 1851, at 10:30 A. M., by the Rev. Mr. Hodgson and the Rev. J. R. Anderson, the pastor. It was dedicated on Oct. 24, 1852, by Bishop Levi Scott, assisted by the Revs. Andrew Manship and J. Aspril, the pastor. The church was repaired in 1877 and improved in 1880. The semi-centennial of the church was celebrated on Jan. 18, 1883. Services were conducted by the Revs. J. S. Cook, B. F. Price and J. S. Willis. At a reopening, after repairs, on Nov. 18, 1901, a sketch of the history of the church and the town was delivered by Chief Justice Charles B. Lore. This address was later printed in pamphlet form. Improvements to the church were made in 1939. There is a large graveyard beside the church. The oldest tombstone the writer could find is on the grave of Rachel Hays who died on Sept. 21, 1838.

Zoar M. E. Church, colored, at Odessa. The present site of this church was purchased from Daniel Stevens on Nov. 2, 1880, for $500.00. The church was built in 1881. It was dedicated on June 11, 1882, by Bishop E. G. Andrews.

Hopkins' Landing A. M. E. Church. On Nov. 30, 1824, the trustees purchased a half-acre of land from Wm. Polk for $10.00. It was located on a new road leading from Odessa to Hopkins' Landing where they proposed to erect a church.

Immanuel Methodist Church (M.E.) at Townsend was organized on June 13, 1871. Services had been held for several years in the schoolhouse. On July 5, 1871, they purchased land from Samuel B. Ginn upon which a frame church was erected. It was dedicated on Aug. 20, 1871, by the Revs. J. F. Clymer, Vaughn Smith and W. C. Prettyman. On Sept. 2, 1881, land was purchased from James T. Taylor, about one mile s. w. of the town, where a cemetery was established.

The church was improved in 1878, at which time the Delaware Railroad presented a bell to the church. This bell had been used for years in New Castle to announce to the people the incoming and outgoing trains. Additional land was purchased on Mar. 6, 1890 and on Sept. 21, 1891, from John Townsend and Jesse J. Taylor.

The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Sept. 10, 1902. It was dedicated on May 3, 1903, by the Rev. S. B. McBurney assisted by the Rev. J. H. Beauchamp, the pastor. The old church was converted into two homes which stand at the southern edge of the town. A new bell was the gift of the Sunday School class of Miss Ethelwyn J. Maloney. Improvements were made in 1934. The name of this church was spelled "Emanuel" until more recent times when the present spelling appears to have been adopted.

Nazareth M. P. Church of Townsend. At a meeting held on Mar. 10, 1860, in Mt. Olivet M. P. Church at Warwick, Md., Nazareth Church was incorporated and trustees were elected. They selected as the seal of their Corporation the American half-dollar. The trustees were Alfred D. Caulk, Richard A. Frazier, Stephen B. Lofland, E. B. Caulk, Wm. Jones, B. F. Shaw, Arthur Johns, Isaac Walker and the Rev. Daniel F. Ewell. Mr. Ewell had organized a number of churches but the effort to build a church at Townsend appears to have failed.

St. Mary's P. E. Chapel at Townsend was organized, in 1900, as a chapel-of-ease for St. Anne's Church at Middletown. On May 9, 1900, Rebecca C. Rose donated the land for a church site. The cornerstone was laid on Sept. 13, 1900, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. The first service in the completed chapel was held on Ascension Day, 1901. The consecration service was conducted by Bishop Coleman on June 20, 1901. During 1910-11 summer services, only, were held. The chapel was frescoed and repaired in 1915-16 and, in 1921-22, a bell was presented and installed. The last service of any kind, a funeral service, was held in June, 1928. In 1940, the chapel was sold and converted into a dwelling.

Haven M. E. Church, colored, at Townsend. On Dec. 19, 1879, Archibald Finley donated a lot, 50 ft. by 150 ft., on the easterly side of South St., to a board of trustees consisting of three members each from Lee's Chapel, Ebenezer Church and Scott's Chapel. A small church was built. In 1889, the new church was built on the opposite side of the street and the original site was used for a parsonage. The church was rebuilt in 1922.

Bethany Independent Methodist Church was located three miles west of Townsend. It was organized in February, 1883. On Nov. 11, 1885, the church was incorporated with James T. Webb, J. E. Hailman, J. W. Voshell, J. W. Brown, W. H. Moore, Stokley Daniels and David Johnson as trustees. They held their services in Van Dyke's School. On Nov. 25, 1885, they purchased from Columbus Watkins, for $100.00, 12,500 sq. ft. of land between Townsend and Dexter's Corner for a church site. A church was then built. Mr. Webb was the moving spirit in this congregation. The church ceased to function in 1888 and the building was sold to the Ebenezer M. E. Church, colored, on Oct. 30, 1889.

Ebenezer M. E. Church, colored. On Feb. 23, 1867, Forrest M. E. Chappel, colored, purchased as a church site, 96 sq. perches of land from Richard Loatman, for $24.00. It was located on the north side of the road leading from the Levels to the Sassafras and Smyrna Road. The church was completed in 1873. They were incorporated on Oct. 2, 1889. On Oct. 30, 1889, they purchased the Bethany Independent Methodist property for $300.00. The church was burned early in 1913. The congregation experienced great difficulty in raising funds for a new building but, through the generosity of State Senator Edward Hart, a new church was completed in July, 1913. In the meantime the name was changed from "Forrest" to "Ebenezer." The church is located three miles s. w. of Townsend and is still active.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church is located at New Discovery, one and one-half miles south of Townsend.
Lee's M. E. Chapel, white, was organized and incorporated on Sept. 2, 1824. They met in a place known as the "whitehouse."

Lee's M. E. Chapel, colored, is located at Pine Tree. The land was secured on June 1, 1907, from Martin B. Burris. The church was completed and dedicated in 1907.

White's M. E. Church, located between Townsend and Pine Tree was the first Methodist church to be built in Appoquinimink Hundred. It was succeeded by Dickinson's Chapel, now Union Church.

Union Methodist Church (M.E.) is located five miles below Odessa. On July 17, 1789, Joseph Dickinson donated to a board of trustees, a tract of land upon which Union Church was built. This church, built of logs, was completed in 1792 and was known as "Dickinson's Chapel." It was rebuilt in 1798. In 1805, the trustees reported that they had a frame church. The corner-stone of the present brick building was laid in 1847 and the dedication service was held on Dec. 23, 1847. The bricks were burned close by on the church property. During the building of the church, the congregation met in Lee's Chapel. Alexander McClementon donated land to the church on Apr. 5, 1850.

Extensive repairs were made in 1877 and a reopening service was conducted by Bishop Simpson on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 29, 1877. On the following Sunday, services were conducted by Bishop Levi Scott and the Revs. J. B. Merrit, Charles Hill and James Carroll, the pastor.

Bishop Levi Scott, a native of this section, who died on July 13, 1882, is buried in the churchyard near the entrance. The inscription on his monument is "His record is his monument." There is a large well-kept graveyard. The oldest tombstone the writer could find is that of Sarah Fields who died on Mar. 27, 1799. Regular services have been discontinued but annual services are held on the second Sunday in September.

Scott's Methodist Church (M.E.) at Blackbird. This church was the outgrowth of a Sunday School started by Mrs. Lottie T. Blockson in 1886. The church was organized and incorporated on May 9, 1898. On Oct. 22, 1898, the church site, containing 9000 sq. ft. was purchased from Theodore Ferguson. The church was built in 1899. It was dedicated on Sun., Sept. 17, 1899. Those taking part in the services were the Revs. L. E. Barrett, D.D., Alfred T. Scott, Dr. I. L. Wood, Wm. Fairies, G. P. Jones and J. B. Coverdale.

Blackbird Presbyterian Church was located three miles n. e. of Walker's School and then to the left about five hundred yards to a point close to Blackbird Creek. It faced a road that at that time followed the course of the creek. It was built previous to 1788, as one of the tombstones records the death of Rachael Haughey on Mar. 10, 1788. By 1809, the church had become dilapidated. The graveyard, at least, was used in 1833 as another tombstone records the death of Isaac Gibbons in 1853. The site is in a dense forest and no evidence of the church remains. A portion of the stone wall surrounding the graveyard is still standing.

Scott M. E. Chapel, colored, was located near Taylor's Bridge on the road to Flemming's Landing. The trustees purchased the church site from Isaac Staats on June 3, 1864 for $10.00. The church was built and it was dedicated at 10 A. M. on July 21, 1867, by Bishop Levi Scott. It was incorporated on Sept. 26, 1903. Unused for several years the building was torn down in 1944. There are a few graves close to the road.
Salem M. P. Church was located four miles south of Blackbird on a stone road. The site, consisting of one-half of an acre, was donated to a board of trustees by Wm. Temple on Nov. 6, 1844. The deed mentions that the church had been recently built. It was called "Delaware" at the time the first pastor was installed. In 1845, the name was changed to "Smyrna." The name "Salem" was adopted in 1850. In 1858, it was called "Warwick and Salem" but returned to the name "Salem" in 1860.

In 1857, the building was repaired. The reopening services were held on May 10, but being unable to raise sufficient funds to pay for the repairs, the church went into another closed period. In 1858, the Rev. D. F. Ewell was assigned to the charge. Through his efforts the debt was paid and the building was rededicated.

The church originally had only a center aisle and in the early days the men sat north of the aisle and the women south of it. On Oct. 27, 1886, the property was transferred by Samuel MacClary to James Brockson, Charles Numbers, A. W. Webster, J. T. Webster and R. Blockson, trustees. About 1900, the single aisle was replaced with two side aisles. The church was incorporated on Feb. 22, 1912.

With many "ups and downs" the church disappeared from the Conference Reports in 1930. A closing service was held in 1932 which the congregation believed would be only a temporary closing, but it was the last service held at Salem. A Sunday School was conducted until 1933 when it was discontinued. Some of the pews and the stove were given to the Oak Hill Community. From that time the building deteriorated and, by 1941, only a shell remained.

The building was sold in 1944 and it was torn down in August. The salvaged lumber was used in building a bungalow. There is a graveyard, the oldest tombstone being that of John W. Thomas, who died on Aug. 15, 1862.

Massey A. U. M. E. Church, located on the Greenspring Road, was built in 1885.

Dulaney's Methodist Church (M.E.) is located seven miles west of Clayton. The first Methodist meetings in this section were held at a place called the "Limestone." In 1842, it was decided to build a church at which time Grafton L. Delaney donated land to a board of trustees upon which a log church was built. In 1891, a new church was built across the road from the former site, where the graveyard is now maintained. The oldest inscribed tombstone is dated 1862.

Friendship Methodist Church (M.E.) is located five miles north and east of Smyrna. On Apr. 20, 1782, Robert Appleton conveyed one acre of land to a board of trustees upon which to build a preaching-house for the use of the Methodist preachers. A chapel, of cedar logs, was built and it was used until 1866. This chapel was situated on the lower end of the plot. Additional land was purchased, from Susan Cruson, on Nov. 14, 1861. A new frame church was then built on higher ground. The corner-stone was laid during the week of June 18, 1866, by Bishop Levi Scott. The Revs. Wm. Urie, W. E. England and S. L. Gracey also took part. The church was to have a gallery and a recessed pulpit. The dedication was held on Jan. 16, 1867, with Bishops Scott and Ames taking part. It was renovated in 1889. There is a large graveyard enclosed with an iron fence. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of John Conner, who died on Feb. 14, 1801. It is located near the site of the first log chapel.
Severson M. E. Church is located six miles east of Smyrna. On May 13, 1783, James Severson donated the land upon which to build a church and to maintain a graveyard. The church was built in 1783, named "Severson," and it was one of the first frame church buildings in Kent County. For a time it was called "Carrolton" but after being rebuilt, in 1874, the name "Severson" was restored at the dedication service held on Sept. 27, 1874, at the evening service, by the Revs. George Hughes and William B. Gregg, the pastor. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. G. D. Watson. A pulpit Bible was presented by Mrs. Rachel J. Truax and a communion service was the gift of Emma R. Stevenson, Mary A. Severson and M. Emily Truax.

In 1895, Presley Ford donated a house and lot for the use of the sexton. During the year 1900, the church was repaired and remodeled. At times interest lagged but in 1914, new life developed in the services. In 1921, the church ceased to function and it soon deteriorated into a sad state of neglect. At the 1941 Methodist Conference it was decided to sell the church. The building was sold in the fall of 1942. The lumber was salvaged and used to erect a dwelling on the north-bound lane of the State Highway just north of Duck Creek.

The graveyard is in deplorable condition, with many of the tombstones knocked "galley west." It certainly needs to be given attention by some responsible person. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Jane Palmatary who died on Dec. 24, 1815. It had been tumbled over with the inscription side down.

Smyrna Landing M. E. Church was organized in 1860. On Apr. 9, 1860, the trustees of the church purchased a lot of land from Thomas Chase for $60.00 and proceeded to build the church. The first service was held on Sun., Sept. 23, 1860, at which time a sermon was preached by the Rev. C. Hill. It was dedicated on Aug. 25, 1861, by the Rev. William H. Brisbane. About 1928, all services were abandoned. The property was sold, in 1933, and converted into a dwelling.

Duck Creek Friend's Meeting-House was located at Duck Creek, just north of Smyrna. The meeting-house site is located about three hundred yards west of the crossroads at Duck Creek on the old road to Clayton. This was the first religious denomination to hold services in that Hundred. The earliest official meeting was held on Oct. 19, 1705, when a Monthly Meeting was held. A small meeting-house was built, of frame construction, and a burying-ground was laid out.

When the meeting-house was built it was mistakenly extended partly on the adjoining property. To adjust this, a deed was drawn up on Aug. 17, 1767, by which, for five shillings, Thomas Woodward donated the necessary land which was described as "lot No. 23 in the Village of Salisbury" also known as "Duck Creek."

On Oct. 5, 1801, the Meeting purchased, for 60 pounds, 80 perches of land from Rob't. Holliday, described as being in Duck Creek Village.
When this building fell into decay, they decided to build a new meeting-house in the town of Duck Creek Crossroads, now Smyrna. This meeting-house was built, on the n.e.cor. of Commerce and East Streets. It was a brick building, one and one-half stories high; having two doors and four windows in the front and one door in the end. It was abandoned as a place of worship in 1853. The building was then used as a schoolhouse. It was used as a barracks by the Union Army during the Civil War. When Smyrna Seminary was established, in 1868, they took over the building. It was destroyed by fire in the spring of 1876.

In 1790, Duck Creek and Motherkill were joined with Eastern Shore Meetings to form the Southern Quarterly Meeting. In 1830, Duck Creek and Motherkill united with Camden Preparative Meeting. The Preparative Meeting was laid down in 1852 and the members joined Little Creek Meeting. A few Indulged Meetings were held, after which it was closed entirely.

The old burying-ground beside the first meeting-house can still be seen and it does not receive much attention, which is quite unusual among the Friends. The oldest inscribed tombstone is that of Ebenezer Blackiston, who died on Dec. 11, 1829.

On May 17, 1891, the Friends of Smyrna held a meeting in the Town Hall at 4 P. M. Jonathan E. Rhoads and Joseph S. Elkinton supervised the meeting.

St. Peter's P. E. Church at Smyrna. Near Duck Creek, on the old King's Highway, north of Smyrna, Thomas Green donated one acre of land, on May 17, 1740, upon which to build a church, and to maintain a graveyard. It was here that the first St. Peter's P. E. Church was built. The chapel becoming dilapidated, a stone church was built in 1762-64. The opening service was held on Trinity Sunday, 1764. This church was used until 1827, when a new church was built on the present site in Smyrna.

The consecration services were held on Mon., June 9, 1828, with the Rt. Rev. Henry U. Onderdonk in charge. He was assisted by the Rev. Messrs. Higbee, Presstman, Mead and Robinson, the rector. This plot of land was donated by John Cummins for the sum of $1.00. The old church was sold and the stone was used to build a wall around the cemetery plot of the Cummins' family. Within this plot, Sarah, the wife of former Governor John Clark, is buried. She died on Dec. 12, 1790. Former Governor William Temple is also buried here in an unmarked grave. The oldest tombstone is in this plot, over the grave of Francis Cummins, who died on Nov. 11, 1784.

In 1857, the church was remodeled and greatly enlarged. While the work was in progress the congregation met in the Presbyterian church. The church was incorporated on Sept. 27, 1858. The restored church was consecrated on May 6, 1859. The first service was held on Wed. eve., May 4, by the Rev. Samuel C. Brinckle. The services on Thurs. were conducted by the Revs. M. B. Smith and M. Wright. The church was consecrated by Bishop Alfred Lee, at the morning service, on Fri., May 6. The sentence of consecration was read by the Rev. Dr. Grammer. The Rev. Dr. Sparrow preached in the evening. Bishop Lee preached on Sat. and on Sun. both Bishop Lee and Dr. Sparrow preached.

The Sunday School building was a gift of Mrs. Susan H. Fishler. The ground was broken and blessed on June 24, 1872. The corner-stone was laid on Wed., Aug. 21, 1872, by Bishop Alfred Lee assisted by the Rev. Joshua Morsell, D.D., the rector. During a gale on Sept. 17, 1876, the church spire was blown down. It was rebuilt in 1880.
The rectory was built in 1884 on land donated by Mrs. Susan H. Fisler, on June 9, 1883. In 1885, the church was greatly improved.

The chancel window was a gift of the Rev. A. G. Cummins. A new organ was also installed. In 1890-91, a silver communion service was presented as a memorial. During the years 1896-98, six memorial windows and a brass altar cross were unveiled. Major improvements were made in 1902 including a cloister connecting the chapel and the church.

The restored church was reopened on Thurs., Apr. 3, 1902, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. The Bishop conducted a service of benediction at which time he blessed the new altar. Assisting in the services were Archdeacon George C. Hall and the Revs. C. Dexter Weeden, M. L. Poffenberger, W. J. Wilkie, W. J. Hamilton, W. H. Groff and G. Valerie Gilreath, the rector.

In 1908, a pulpit, in memory of Bishop Coleman was installed, On Dec. 8, 1912, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman dedicated a new organ. The church was redecorated in 1924-25.

The Presbyterian Church at Smyrna. At the southern edge of Smyrna, close to the Municipal Bathing Beach is an old cemetery on what is known as "Holy Hill." This was the site of the Duck Creek Presbyterian Church, presumably built in 1733.

On Feb. 11, 1748, Thomas James, for five shillings, donated to Jacob Allee, Wm. Cahoon and Wm. White, trustees, 42 perches of land on Holy Hill for the use of the Presbyterians. There is no mention in the deed of a church having been built.

Upon the death of the Rev. John Miller, in 1791, the congregation dwindled and it was 1818 before the church was repaired and interest rekindled. In 1846, a church building on Mt. Vernon Street, was purchased from the Methodist Protestants. The old church on Holy Hill was abandoned although the graveyard is still well maintained. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is over the grave of Jacob Peterson who died on Nov. 11, 1782. Former Governor John Clark, who died on Aug. 14, 1821, is buried here under a flat slab. A new church bell was first used on July 28, 1854.

The present site on Commerce St. was purchased on Feb. 22, 1883, from Geo. C. Simpson and J. S. Huffington. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Tues., June 26, 1883. It was dedicated on Apr. 6, 1884, by Dr. Mutchmore, the Rev. C. Collins and the Rev. J. T. Umstead, the pastor. A new "Delaware State" organ, manufactured in Wilmington, was used for the first time. The pastor offered a dedicatory prayer previous to the sermon by Dr. Mutchmore. There were many gifts including one from the Ladies' Mite Society and from one of the boys' Sunday School classes.

Built of serpentine stone, so popular at that time, it is one of Smyrna's landmarks. On Mar. 1, 1896, a lot of land was purchased upon which the present manse was built in 1897.

St. Polycarp's R. C. Church at Smyrna. About 1863, the Roman Catholics of Smyrna began holding meetings in private homes under the leadership of Father Dailey of New Castle. At that time there were about six families attending the meetings.

On Wed., Oct. 21, 1868, Father Dailey organized a Sunday School in Odd Fellow's Hall. On Oct. 31, 1868, a lot between Railroad Ave. and Methodist St., was purchased for $400.00. An effort to purchase the Presbyterian Church was unsuccessful. Later, a hall in Spruance City was secured, fitted up as a chapel and meetings were held once a month. In 1881, the Odd Fellow's Hall was secured for the services. In 1883, Bishop Thomas A. Becker purchased the old Presbyterian frame church, during the rectorship of Father George S. Bradford, who was also rector of Holy Cross Church at Dover. The dedication service was held on Sun., June 10, 1883. The service was conducted by Bishop Becker assisted by Father Bradford. High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. B. J. Keiley. A concert was given in the evening by St. Peter's choir of Wilmington. The church was named "St. Polycarps" in honor of a bishop of Smyrna, Asia, who was martyred in the second century. The stations of the cross were erected and blessed on Wed., Mar. 1, 1893, by the Rev. E. J. Mealey.

Until 1911, the rector of Holy Cross Church came to Smyrna twice a month and offered Mass. Then, the burden became too great for the Dover priest so one of the Salesian Fathers of Wilmington came by train and held services twice a month. When this arrangement weakened, arrangements were made for a priest from St. Joseph's Industrial School at Clayton to offer Mass on the first and third Sundays of the month.

Early in 1918, Bishop John J. Monaghan decided to sell St. Polycarp's Church to the Centennial M. E. Church, colored, and to build a new church at Clayton. A site was purchased but owing to war-time conditions the erection of a church was postponed. Bishop Monaghan decreed that St. Joseph's Chapel at the Industrial School should become the Parish Church.

Smyrna M. P. Church. A church site at the cor. of East and Methodist Sts. was purchased on Mar. 18, 1845, from Samuel M. Fisler and a substantial frame church was built. The church became defunct and was sold to the Presbyterians in 1846. This church has had one of the most varied existences of any church in Delaware. It has been consecrated to the service of the Methodist Protestants, the Presbyterians, the Roman Catholics and the Methodist Episcopalians.

A second congregation of Methodist Protestants was organized in 1923. They were incorporated on July 3, 1923. During that month a church site at Frazier and Union Sts. was purchased from Rowland Ford. A frame church was then built. They struggled along with a heavy debt until 1930 after which the building was sold. Later, members of the Pilgrim Holiness Church held a revival here but there were not enough converts to organize a church.

Asbury Methodist Church (M.E.) at Smyrna. In 1780, the Rev. Francis Asbury preached in an orchard between Duck Creek Crossroads and Duck Creek Village. The first Methodist services in Smyrna were held in the home of James L. Stevenson by the Rev. Philip Cox. In 1786, a frame church was built. The land was donated by Allen McLane. It was located on Church St., north of Mt. Vernon St., and was named "Asbury M. E. Church."

Francis Asbury preached here on Nov. 29, 1789, on Sept. 13, 1790, and on May 25, 1801. He attended Conference here on Sept. 11, 1792, and again on Oct. 10, 1797, when yellow fever was raging in Philadelphia and the Conference was transferred to Duck Creek. The church was enlarged in 1819 and in 1823, Benjamin Coombs deeded more land for cemetery purposes.

On June 24, 1843, the congregation purchased from Samuel M. Fisler, for $300.00, 62 perches of land on the n. w. side of Methodist St., now Mt. Vernon St. The erection of a brick church was started. The corner-stone was laid on May 28, 1844. This building was used until 1869. On Dec. 11, 1869, the church was seriously damaged by fire. "The services of a little fire-engine, belonging to the town, proved invaluable on this occasion as the fire could not be reached by water thrown from buckets." Both the Presbyterians and the Episcopalians offered the use of their churches for worship. The Methodists met in the Presbyterian Church while a new brick church was being erected.

The corner-stone of a new church was relaid on Oct. 7, 1871. It was opened with a service on Feb. 4, 1872, conducted by the Revs. R. L. Dashiell and A. Rittenhouse. It was dedicated on Nov. 24, 1872, by Bishop Foster. During the 1870's the Methodists could be baptized by immersion if they so desired. On Mon., Sept. 10, 1877, a class was baptized in the Hoffecker millpond, south of Smyrna.

In 1889, major improvements were made including an organ gallery, library room, new pipe organ, rolled cathedral glass windows, altar enlarged, new carpet and hard oil finish on the woodwork. On Apr. 27, 1890, the church was reopened, with the Rev. George E. Reed, President of Dickinson College preaching both morning and evening sermons. In 1934, further improvements were made.

The Willard Wright Memorial organ and the Deagan chimes were dedicated on Sun., Mar. 16, 1947, by Bishop Chas. W. Flint and the Rev. R. E. Green, the pastor. The organ was a bequest from Willard Wright and the chimes were a gift from Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Prickett in memory of the Revs. R. K. Stephenson and J. W. Colona, former pastors. The old graveyard, on Church St., is still used for interments.

The first Methodist camp-meeting in Kent County was held in a grove three miles below Smyrna, on the road to Dover, in 1805.

Jerman's M. E. Chapel at Smyrna. In the 1880's, one of the problems of sincere religious workers was to induce the less prosperous members of a community to attend church. Perhaps it was pride but these persons seemed reluctant to attend church services because they could not afford to dress as well as their more prosperous neighbors. In an effort to reach these persons in Smyrna, in 1880, Joshua T. Jerman purchased an old store building on Commerce St., the site of which is now included in the right-of-way of the Du Pont Highway. Mr. Jerman had the building converted into a chapel, named it "Mission Chapel" and a Sunday School was conducted by Mrs. Jerman, a member of Asbury M. E. Church.

On May 1, 1891, the trustees of Asbury Church purchased a lot in Spruance City and the chapel was moved to the new site, rebuilt, and named "Jerman's Chapel." In 1902, under the will of Mr. Jerman, the building was placed in the hands of three trustees together with a trust fund of $890.00 for the maintenance of the building with the provision that the chapel be used for Methodist meetings only. A short time later, the trustees, under the will, turned the chapel and trust fund over to the trustees of Asbury Church. Sunday School has always been held, first under the leadership of Mrs. Jerman and then by members of Asbury Church. For a few years it was a preaching station on the Smyrna Circuit. In 1914, during the pastorate of the Rev. Milton McCann, the chapel was entirely rebuilt.

It was dedicated on May 16, 1915, by the Rev. Warren Brown assisted by the Rev. Milton McCann, the pastor. The altar had been built entirely by Mr. McCann. The Methodists ceased to hold meetings here in 1936.

They had been incorporated on Mar. 24, 1919.

In 1889, a lot was secured, and lumber and pews were bought by Isaac Mills and John B. Book. The corner-stone of the present church was laid in November, 1890. The church was consecrated on Apr. 10, 1891. It was commonly called the "Railroad Church" because of the large number of railroad men who were members and who aided in erecting the building.

A dedication tablet inside the church states: "This chapel owes its existence to the untiring efforts of the building committee: George W. Dame, rector, Isaac N. Mills, Henry Seiders, John B. Book, March, 1891."

In June, 1894, Trinity was made a parish. During that year a marble altar was installed and, in 1895, the children donated a brass altar cross. Robinson preached and at 7:30 P. M. the sermon was delivered by the Rev. R. K. Stevenson.

After substantial improvements the church was rededicated on Sun. morning, Sept. 22, 1940, by Dist. Supt. Walter A. Hearn. He was assisted by the Revs. W. H. Baker, Leon W. Ross, C. S. Later, these services were abandoned and the church was reopened by the Methodist Protestants. It was made a separate charge in 1879.

Not to give licenses to any preacher or exhorter who holds slaves unless said slaves are emancipated. Not to appoint any class leaders who were unfriendly to the freedom of slaves."

The meetings of the congregation, known as “Hardshell” Baptists, were transferred to a private home in Kenton in 1940. All meetings were abandoned in 1942. During the afternoon of Sept. 27, 1942, the neighborhood was visited by a small hurricane which unroofed the church and blew down one side wall and the rear wall. Several trees were twisted off and a number of tombstones were toppled over. One year later, nothing had been done to remedy the damage. John Miller donated land to the meeting-house. In 1876, a new building was erected and the name was changed to "Manship." On Mar. 1, 1886, one-quarter of an acre of land was purchased from James W. Emerson. In 1890, the church was again rebuilt. The membership is chiefly, if not entirely, composed of Moors, who settled in this section many years ago. There is a graveyard beside the church.

The Chapel of Holy Faith, P. E., of Cheswold. In 1902, sponsored by Trinity Church of Clayton, a room was rented in Cheswold and fitted up as a chapel. The site for the church was given by James S. Moore, the organ was a gift of the Ladies' Aid Society and a pulpit Bible was presented by George W. Childs. The church was incorporated on Jan. 9, 1893. On Aug. 2, 1904, they purchased a lot on Main St. from Ephraim S. Garrison upon which they built a parsonage.

Everett donated one-quarter of an acre of land on Mar. 6, 1896. The church was incorporated on Mar. 25, 1896. More land was purchased from Joseph Seeney on Oct. 4, 1900, and on Sept. 28, 1905, Fred H. Seeney donated additional land. As they observed Saturday as their Sabbath they would proceed with their usual occupations on Sundays. This aroused much resentment in the neighborhood and early in 1897 an organized effort was made to break up this desecration of Sunday. On May 26, 1897, two men were arrested for Sabbath breaking. They were fined $4.00 and costs or 24 hours in jail which they served.

The first church was built in 1915. This church was burned and the old district school was purchased and remodeled for church purposes. It is an attractive building, shingle-sheathed and is located in a fine grove of trees. In 1941, a day-school was opened in the church for the children of the congregation. In 1943, a new church was built and the first church is used exclusively for a day-school. There is a graveyard adjoining the church where at least one World War I veteran is buried.

Leipsic Methodist Church (M.E.), located at the western edge of the town, is believed to have been built in 1837. This church was used until 1892. The old building was sold and is in use today as a storage building only a short distance away. The old graveyard is still there although neglected. The oldest tombstone being dated 1800, indicates that the little graveyard was there at the beginning of the century whether or not the church had been built at that time.

On the tombstone of John S. Paris who died in 1856, at the age of 18 years, is the following inscription:

"Passerby as you are now so once was I
As I am now so you must be
Prepare for death and follow me."

A number of years ago a rather sacrilegious wag from Smyrna created a scandal by adding in blue pencil the following:

"To follow you I am not content
For I don't know which way you went."

Gum Swamp Church, colored, is located one mile north of Little Creek. It has been closed for a number of years.
Raymond's M. E. Chapel is located, on Raymond's Neck, about six miles s. e. of Smyrna. The first church was built between the years 1787 and 1791 upon land donated by James Snow. The present church was built in 1827, by Shorters and Farrel, contractors. The bricks were made closeby and the members of the church assisted with the work. In 1877, the church was improved. The old high pulpit was removed and a recess pulpit was built, a new roof was built and new pews and furniture were installed. A reopening service was held on Sun., July 15, 1877, by the Revs. I. T. Cooper and T. E. Terry.

Extensive improvements were made in 1906. On May 13, 1914, the church was seriously damaged when a brush fire got beyond control. It was rebuilt in 1915, the old walls being used. By this time the church was not prospering and services were abandoned in 1920.

Hartly Methodist Church (M.E.) was founded in 1840 and was called "Hawkins M. E. Church." The first church was used until Sept. 18, 1886, when a new church a short distance to the east, was dedicated. The site had been purchased from Walter A. Clark on June 12, 1885. The first church building was converted to other uses.

In 1926, scores of mysterious fires broke out, in the dead of night, in the various homes and buildings in Hartly and its immediate vicinity. By the time ten properties had been destroyed the people had become thoroughly alarmed. There was no fire company at Hartly although one was organized and equipped a short time later as a direct result of this episode. The nearest fire companies were located at Dover, Clayton and Smyrna. The situation became so critical that these fire companies took turns staying on guard at Hartly each night. The state detectives and state police were called in and it reached a point where everyone left their homes fully illuminated each night.

Early on Mon., Apr. 19, the sheathing of the Methodist Church was torn off near the altar, the spot was saturated with oil and set afire. This fire was discovered and extinguished with only $200.00 damage. But on Wed., Apr. 28, at 3:30 A.M., the firebug made a complete job of the church. The Dover Fire Company was on guard that night but, when discovered, the flames had made good headway. The other two companies were sent for but the church was completely destroyed. This made the eleventh victim of the firebug.

The burnings continued for several months and although several arrests, on suspicion, were made, the firebug was never caught.

The church was incorporated on Oct. 27, 1927. Land was donated on Dec. 22, 1927, by Geo. P. Grotten.

The erection of the present brick church was started and in the meantime the congregation met in the schoolhouse. The new church was completed and the opening service was held on Sun., Apr. 21, 1928, with the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Vaughn, in charge.

There is a large cemetery beside the church. The oldest tombstone is that of Jonathan Stant who died on May 26, 1857.

The church was organized in October, 1908, and it was recognized by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman on May 6, 1910. On Oct. 3, 1912, three-quarters of an acre of land was donated by John Ashton, et al., as a church site. Being forced to move, the services were transferred to a rented room in a dwelling on Jan. 1, 1913.

The church was built in 1914 and it was dedicated by Bishop Kinsman.
Archdeacon Benjamin F. Thompson, B.D., of Christ Church in Dover was the leader in this effort. Most of the carpenter work was done by the men of the congregation led by Percy Gardner, Senior Warden. Most of the furnishings were presented by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese. The church-yard was consecrated on Nov. 1, 1918, by Bishop Kinsman.

There are two graves in the churchyard close to the chapel. One is that of the founder of St. Martin's, Dr. Ada MacAlpine, who died on June 4, 1944, and the other is that of Dr. Wm. MacAlpine who died in 1926.

St. John's Mt. Sinai Holy Church, colored, is located two miles n. w. of Hartly. This was the Gibb's A. M. E. Church which was built in July, 1906. On Oct. 14, 1937, they turned the property over to St. John's Church.

Asbury Methodist Church (M.E.), near Pearson's Corner, was built in 1829 and was called "McElwee's Chapel," for the minister in charge at that time. In 1867, the present church was built and it was dedicated on Nov. 3, 1867, by the Revs. Andrew Manship, A. D. Davis and J. Downham. After extensive renovations, a rededication service was held on Sun., Nov. 8, 1942. There is a graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1842.

It was arranged to have the church dedicated on Oct. 28, 1883, by the Rev. C. T. Cochel. Regular services were abandoned in 1929 and only annual meetings are now held. The Grange now meets here by permission of the trustees and stewards of the church. There are a few graves beside the church.

Halltown M. E. South, Church was organized, in the schoolhouse, in 1868. On Mar. 5, 1870, a church-site was donated by John W. Downes. The site is marked by a small graveyard. The oldest tombstone is that of Mary Patrick, who died on Mar. 20, 1887. The name of Halltown was later changed to Marydel.

Christ P. E. Church, St. Jones' P. E. Church at Dover. In 1704, Col. Robert French donated to the Church of England a glebe of 110 acres, located about two miles south of Dover, on the Bay Road and on the east side of St. Jones' Creek. A log church was built at this site and given the name, "St. Jones' Church." The Rev. Thomas Crawford, a missionary of the Church of England, arrived in Philadelphia on Aug. 27, 1705, on his way to Dover to take charge of Kent County. After his arrival he was very much dissatisfied, claiming that everyone in the neighborhood was sickly. He became sick with "the ague, dropsie and short windiness." His chief opposition, he said, was from "itinerant Presbyterian preachers and a heathenish people called Quakers." He organized a Society for the Reformation of Manners and with the help of Captain Rodney, a Justice of the Peace, he claimed to have almost completely suppressed swearing and drunkenness. On Aug. 30, 1708, Mr. Crawford reported that the church was nearly finished, all glazed and almost full of pews. He returned to England in 1711.

In 1722, the congregation asked for another pastor, the church having been destitute since 1711. In 1733, the Rev. George Frazer began a subscription to build a new brick church in Dover. The building was started, in 1734, and the walls were completed in November of that year. On Oct. 27, 1740, the church was reported as finished.

On May 10, 1760, the Rev. Charles Inglis reported that the church had been reconditioned after laying in a shocking condition. Also, that it was now furnished and ornamented with a bell, pulpit cloth, etc. In 1767, for the first time, the church was mentioned as "Christ Church," until this time and it was still called "St. Jones' Church." During the Revolution the church was much abused but in 1785, it was restored to use. For many years the congregation was apathetic and only scattered services were held. In 1841, when Bishop Lee visited Dover, he preached in the Court House. In 1850, the church was reconditioned and reopened. In 1859, efforts to renovate the church were resumed. The glebe was sold and the proceeds were used to repair and restore the church. At this time, the present entrance was built. The square pews, the brick floor and the high pulpit with the clerk's desk gradually disappeared.

The church was reopened on Jan. 15, 1860. The consecration service was held on Ascension Day, May 17, 1860, by Bishop Alfred Lee, assisted by the Revs. J. B. Clemson, R. J. Keeling, B. Franklin and M. B. Smith, the rector. After renovations, including a new memorial window, the church was re-opened on Aug. 9, 1868. On Oct. 1, 1869, pew rents were abolished and all pews became free for the use of anyone.

The present rectory was purchased on Dec. 18, 1879, for $2500.00. It was the former home of Charles Kimmey.

The chancel was added in 1887. The large memorial window, in the chancel, was unveiled on Sept. 5, 1888, as a memorial to Lucinda Ball Bradford.

During the 1880's, the women of Christ Church would accept seasonal employment with the Richardson and Robbins Company, to make money to be applied to the church work.

In 1890-91, a new altar was installed as a memorial to Mrs. Lucinda B. Bradford. In 1894-95, a brass pulpit and a brass eagle lectern were installed in memory of the Rev. L. W. Gibson.

On Oct. 2, 1896, Dr. Henry Ridgely sold 63.4 perches of land to Christ Church to be used in enlarging the church-yard. The parish-house was built in 1898. It included a library and Sunday School rooms. In 1905-06, a window in memory of Dr. Henry Ridgely was unveiled. A new organ was installed in 1906-7. In 1910-11, two lots were purchased at the corner of Bradford and Division Streets. It was proposed to use these lots as a site for a new parish-house and Sunday School. This plan was not carried out and the lots were sold the following year.

Under the leadership of Archdeacon Benjamin F. Thompson, B.D., the church was enlarged, improved and redecorated in 1913. Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman conducted a service of benediction on "Delaware Day," Dec. 7, 1913. In 1916, a new entrance and wall were built. The new porch was dedicated by Bishop Kinsman on Nov. 26, 1916. The oratory in the rectory was dedicated on Dec. 31, 1916, by Bishop Kinsman. More land was purchased from Bessie F. Davis on Mar. 7, 1917.

On Nov. 2, 1918, Bishop Kinsman consecrated the church-yard and dedicated the wall and gateway in memory of Ann Ridgely du Pont and Amelia Elizabeth du Pont. On Apr. 21, 1944, a lot with a 75 ft. frontage on State St. was secured from Eleanor A. Reed making possible the present entrance from State St.
The parish-house was seriously damaged by fire on Dec. 14, 1946 at which time an adjoining factory was gutted by fire.

A new Moller organ, in memory of Henry Ridgely, was dedicated at an organ recital given on Mon., Jan. 27, 1947.

In 1885, a group of members of the Dover Bar formed the Rodney Club pledged to raise sufficient funds to have the body of Caesar Rodney removed from his home place and reinterred in Christ church-yard. Because of a strong local sentiment against disturbing the bones of the dead, the reinterment took place at midnight in the year 1887. A heavy granite curb encloses the burial plot in the center of which is an imposing memorial. The name, Caesar Rodney, is the only inscription, which, in view of his fame is quite sufficient. Through the interest of the Rodney Club, the General Assembly passed a Joint Resolution on Feb. 20, 1889, providing for the erection of this monument.

Another former Governor, James Sykes, is buried in the Sykes plot in an unmarked grave. There are numerous graves dating back to the middle of the 18th century. One of the oldest tombstones is over the grave of Captain Benson and is dated 1748.

The First Baptist Church of Dover. Sometime after 1832 the Rev. John P. Thompson was sent as a Baptist missionary to the section including Dover. He was succeeded, in 1847, by the Rev. John P. Walter. In 1850, a lot on the south side of Dover Green was purchased by Jonathan Stites and George Parris who headed a subscription list to build a Baptist church. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 8, 1850. The basement was dedicated on Jan. 25, 1852. The upper part of the church building was dedicated in January, 1853. The title to the one-acre church site was presented to the church by Mr. Stites and Mr. Parris on May 18, 1853. A new organ was installed on Apr. 11, 1868.

In May, 1870, the Baptists announced that an effort would be made to secure a church bell. An Episcopal clergyman suggested, publicly, that perhaps they should get a diving bell. The Baptists apparently did not resent the suggestion but simply announced that a diving bell would not do.

In May, 1877, the church was enlarged and beautified. The gallery was removed and two small side galleries were built. The baptistry was placed under the pulpit. In May, 1886, the benches were replaced with chairs, a new walnut desk and a new pipe-organ were installed. An infant Sunday School room was built at the rear.

In 1891, it was planned to build a new church. On Aug. 12, 1891, the corner-stone was removed from the old church. Some of the articles found in the stone had rotted away, others were found to be in good shape, including a silk book-marker and an 1838 five cent piece. It was planned to place these in the corner-stone of the new church.

A lot on the corner of Bradford and Division Sts. was purchased, from John A. Hartnett, on July 10, 1891.

The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Sun., July 3, 1892, at six o'clock, by the Rev. E. B. Palmer, D.D., assisted by other clergymen. The Norma Glee Club furnished music for the occasion. A temporary floor had been laid to accommodate those attending.

Woodward. The match was applied to the mortgage by George Barker and Mrs. Eliza Walker, charter members. The prayer of dedication was offered by the Rev. F. G. Merrill and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. T. C. Young.

More land facing Division St. was purchased on Sept. 14, 1901, from Nannie B. Van Dyke. The parsonage, on State St., was purchased on Jan. 30, 1914.

An addition, to be used as a Sunday School and social-center, was dedicated on Dec. 14, 1924, by the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Walker.

Wesley Methodist Church (M.E.), of Dover, was organized on Sept. 13, 1778. Freeborn Garrettson, the missionary, had preached from the steps of the old Academy on the day before. He was subjected to indignities as were so many of the early Methodist preachers. Preaching was also held at Mr. Hilliard's home above Dover, at Gum Swamp and at Little Creek. The first church was built at North and Queen Streets, Richard Bassett, afterwards Governor of Delaware, contributing one-half of the cost of the building. Vincent Lookerman had donated the land for that purpose to a board of trustees, on June 1, 1782. Incorporated in 1799, the church was given the name "Wesley."

Francis Asbury preached in the new chapel on Oct. 2, 1784. On May 25, 1801, he preached in the Court House while Bishop Whatcoat preached in the chapel.

Bishop Whatcoat died on July 5, 1806, at the home of Richard Bassett in Dover. He was buried beneath the altar of the church. When the old church was removed a stone monument was erected over Bishop Whatcoat's grave, the entire plot being used as a cemetery. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is over the grave of Elizabeth Chandler who died on Dec. 1, 1807. Among the prominent men buried here are former Governors Cornelius P. Comegys and Gove Saulsbury.

In 1850, a new church was built on State Street, salvaged bricks from the old church being used in the new building. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 23, 1850. The church was dedicated on Feb. 9, 1851, by the Rev. Charles I. Thompson. The brick dwelling adjoining the church was purchased for a parsonage on Jan. 6, 1851, from James L. Smith.

A reopening service was held on July 17, 1859, after extensive improvements not the least of which was the installation of gas lighting. Two new harmoniums, one in the church and the other in the Sunday School room were used for the first time on June 3, 1866. On Oct. 22, 1869, Wesley Church purchased five acres of land beside the lake upon which to establish a cemetery.

The corner-stone of an addition was laid on Fri., July 22, 1870, by Pres. Elder T. J. Thompson, assisted by the Revs. James H. Lightbourne and Henry Sutton. The church was rededicated on Jan. 8, 1871. The Rev. Dr. D. W. Bartine preached in the morning, the Rev. Wm. Corbett in the afternoon and the Rev. J. S. Willis in the evening. The new organ was first used at a musical entertainment on Fri., May 12, 1871. The church was enlarged in 1884. An addition was erected in 1892.

In 1897, the entire church was rebuilt, only the side walls being used. The organ, which was retained, was equipped with a water motor. Six new memorial windows were installed. The rededication service was held on Feb. 20, 1898. Among those assisting were the Revs. S. F. Beiler, T. E. Terry, W. L. S. Murray and Alfred Smith, the pastor. The church was dedicated by

The Sunday School was started in 1830 by Mrs. Ann Clark Sipple. On Sept. 27, 1800, Berroni Harris, a trustee, was ordered to free a girl slave whom he owned and, in 1803, the Quarterly Conference ordered another member to free several slaves. It was 1866 before music was approved and an organ installed. It was 1912 before church suppers were approved.

The Holt Chapel in Wesley Junior College. The organ was dedicated on Mon., Aug. 17, 1942. Those taking part included the Revs. Dr. Walter A. Hearn, M. W. Marine, Earl J. Cummings, Ralph C. Jones and L. E. Windsor. An organ recital was given by Lester S. Bucher. The chapel furnishings and the organ were gifts of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Holt of Federalsburg, Md., for whom the chapel was named.

The People's Christian Congregational Church of Dover. The Rev. Dr. A. W. Lightbourne was pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, in Dover, when the validity of his credentials was questioned by the Conference, meeting in Asbury Church at Wilmington, in 1908. After a trial Dr. Lightbourne was acquitted. In 1909, at the Conference in Milford charges were again brought against Dr. Lightbourne relative to his credentials. Dr. Lightbourne refused to stand trial a second time. As a result, Dr. Lightbourne with about 250 members who sympathized with him withdrew from Wesley Church. On Apr. 4, 1909, they started to hold Sunday meetings in the Opera House.

The church was duly organized and the name "People's" selected at a meeting held at the pastor's home on Fri., May 28, 1909. A court action to decide just who owned the Wesley Church property was decided in favor of the minority who had remained at Wesley. The project of building a church was immediately undertaken and, in July, a lot was purchased on S. Bradford St., near Reed St.

On Aug. 29, a one-day rally was held at the Camden camp-grounds with hacks to transport those attending, to the grounds. It was an eminent success. In the meantime People's Church became identified with the Southern Christian Conference.

The corner-stone of the new church was laid on Oct. 31, 1909, at 3 o'clock. The congregation met at the Opera House and marched in a body to the new site. The ceremonies were conducted by Dr. Lightbourne. Thomas J. Stevenson read a sketch of the history of the church which was enclosed in the stone.

The church was dedicated on Sun., June 5, 1910, by the Rev. W. W. Staley, assisted by Dr. Lightbourne. Gifts of ornaments and furnishings were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morris, Mrs. John B. Hutton, the W. T. Smithers' class, the Usher's Union, the Lend-a-Hand Society, Miss Lizzie Clark and Miss Mary Godwin.

The dedication service took place in the evening and as they were completed at 11 o'clock, Miss Clara Heverin and Harry Raymond, with their attendants, proceeded to the altar and were married. This was something unique in dedication day ceremonies.

A window in memory of Catherine Benson was unveiled on Mar. 5, 1916. The property adjoining the church on the corner was purchased and plans were prepared for rebuilding the church and adding a parish-house.
The corner-stone was laid on Thurs., Apr. 17, 1924, by the Rev. Dr. Roy Helfenstein. The first service in the new building was held in the parish-house on June 8, 1924. The dedication service was held on Oct. 5, 1924. It was in charge of the Rev. W. H. Denison, J. O. Atkinson and L. E. Smith.

Mr. Eldridge Johnson, a former Dover boy, contributed $100,000.00, the tubular chimes, the Westminster clock and the memorial tower. The building has modern departmental Sunday School rooms, a chapel, a gymnasium, two bowling alleys, banquet room, reception room, church parlor and kitchen. The tower is surmounted by an electrically lighted cross.

The Church of the Holy Cross (R.C.) at Dover. In 1751, Hugh Neill, a missionary, reported to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel that Masses were being offered in Dover, once each month, by priests who came over from Maryland. In December, 1868, a Sunday School was organized in the Sons of Temperance Hall. On May 8, 1870, Father Edward J. Taylor celebrated Mass in the Academy building. It was planned to hold one service each month.

One acre of land on Clara St. was purchased on Nov. 10, 1870, as a cemetery site. The church site on Bradford St. was purchased from Joseph McDaniel, et al., on Jan. 5, 1871.

The erection of the present church was started in 1870. The corner-stone was laid on Wed., Nov. 9, 1870, at 2 P. M., by the Most Rev. Thomas A. Becker, Bishop of Wilmington. A procession formed at the pastor's residence on New St. and marched to the church site. The Bishop then blessed the stone. He was assisted by the Revs. G. Villiger, F. Blake, M. X. Fallon, J. A. Lyons and Edward J. Taylor, the pastor. The Bishop then delivered an address in which he mentioned the fact that Dover was the only capital city in the United States without a Catholic Church. Those present then proceeded to the new Catholic cemetery which was consecrated by the Bishop. He then recited the prayers for the dead beside the grave of George Griffon, who had been buried on Oct. 3, 1870. Many persons, prominent in Delaware, including Governor Gove Saulsbury, were present.

A new rectory, beside the church, was also being built. The church was dedicated on Wed., May 14, 1873. The church was blessed by the Rev. G. Sorentine, assisted by Father McCaffery. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Michael Curran, assisted by the Revs. M. X. Fallon and George J. Kelley. The high altar was a gift of the Sisters of Notre Dame, Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia. There were numerous gifts from other churches.

The new organ was unveiled at a concert given on the evening of Tues., May 13, 1873. The church bell was installed and ready for use on July 2, 1881. In 1888, an altar was presented by Samuel J. Everett and the stations of the cross were presented as a memorial to Mrs. B. J. Burns, by her husband.

The church was consecrated on Sun. morning, Apr. 8, 1888, with a large congregation, from all denominations, present. The church was blessed by the Most Rev. Alfred A. Curtis. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. George S. Bradford. Bishop Curtis delivered a lecture at the evening service.

Bishop Curtis transferred the properties to Holy Cross Church on Feb. 7, 1896.

During 1911, the interior of the church was rebuilt and beautified. The improvements were consecrated on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30, 1911, by Bishop John J. Monaghan, assisted by the Rev. James C. Comiskey, the pastor. Three services were held. The Rev. T. F. Waldron celebrated the first Mass.
A talk was given by the Rev. J. J. Harney. At the afternoon service the Bishop conferred the Apostolic blessing on those present.

A new Moller pipe-organ was blessed at the morning service on Sun., Dec. 13, 1925, by the pastor, the Rev. Joseph A. Lee, D.D. A concert was given in the evening with Firmen Swinnen at the console. On Apr. 14, 1926, John E. Behen donated more land for the cemetery.

The Presbyterian Church of Dover. The site of the old Presbyterian Church and cemetery is on what was known in the early days of Dover as "Meeting-House Square." As early as 1711, the Presbyterians were holding meetings in private homes in Dover. A log church was built, presumably, in 1714. The exact date cannot be determined but an English missionary reported its existence on Aug. 27, 1717. On May 12, 1743, a new deed to the property was given to a board of trustees by the Town Commissioners. On Aug. 16, 1790, the corner-stone of the brick church was laid. This church was completed and occupied.

The difficulty of securing qualified ministers plus the inroads made by the Methodists resulted in the church becoming practically defunct for about twenty years. In 1818, an effort was made to resuscitate the church but it does not appear to have been very successful. On May 15, 1825, the church was reopened and occupied.

The Convention which framed the 1831 Constitution of Delaware held its meetings in this church. About this time the absence of a congregation led the State Legislature to appoint a committee to look after the property. In October, 1835, the church was reorganized and for the next nine years intermittent services were held.

On Feb. 22, 1841, an Act of Incorporation was passed by the General Assembly. Three trustees were specified as "Trustees of the Pres. Meeting-House and Graveyard in the town of Dover." On June 24, 1844, a regular pastor was installed. A new bell was installed and first used on Apr. 10, 1870. The property was enclosed with an iron fence in November, 1874.

The brick chapel which stands at the corner of Bank Lane was built in 1880. This chapel was built and furnished by George V. Massey, Esq. It was dedicated on June 27, 1880, by the Rev. C. Huntington. Addresses were made by E. S. Reynolds and F. A. Williams. A new organ was opened on July 16, 1882.

In 1887, major repairs were made to the church. Among the prominent Delawareans buried in the graveyard are former Governor Jacob Stout, former Governor Charles Polk, Thomas M. Clayton and Captain John Haslett. The oldest tombstone is that of Rebecca Kelley who died on Sept. 25, 1773. In 1941, the tower was removed from the church.

The present church on State Street, was built in memory of the Rev. Thomas G. Murphey, pastor of the church from 1844 to 1861. The church received title to the site on Sept. 19, 1922. The church was started in 1923 and was dedicated on Easter Sun., Apr. 20, 1924, by the Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, Pres. of Princeton Seminary assisted by the Rev. G. A. Burslem. This church was the gift of the Rev. Mr. Murphey's son, Sanford S. Murphey who also built and endowed the Elizabeth W. Murphey School, in Dover, in memory of his mother. The manse adjoining the church was purchased on Apr. 24, 1926.

A Resolution was passed, at the 1947 session of the State Legislature authorizing the Archives Dept. to accept the old Pres. Church building on Governor's Ave. as a gift from the N. C. Presbytery. It was proposed to convert the building into a State Museum. As the State provided no money for this work it became necessary to solicit private funds to carry out the project.

Grace Methodist Church (M.P.) at Dover. This church was organized in 1890 and met in the schoolhouse which they purchased on Apr. 13, 1893. The last service was held in the schoolhouse on July 9, 1893. The building was then torn down to make way for a new church building. A tent was erected on the lawn and services were held here during the summer. In the fall they secured the use of the Pres. Chapel for their meetings.

The corner-stone of the new church was laid on Sun., Sept. 3, 1893, at 3 P. M. In addition to the pastor, the Rev. L. F. Warner, those taking part included the Revs. W. L. S. Murray, J. H. Gohegan, M. P. Fikes and W. P. Taylor. The last meeting in the Pres. Chapel was held on Dec. 10, 1893. The new church was opened on Sun., Dec. 17, 1893, by the Rev. L. F. Warner, the pastor, assisted by the Revs. David Greenfield and J. F. Sheridan. Additional land was purchased on Aug. 27, 1921. The church was rebuilt in 1935.

Jewish Congregation at Dover. During 1939, a number of Sunday meetings were held in the Capitol Theatre for the purpose of establishing in Dover, a Jewish Congregation for Central and Lower Delaware. They were incorporated on Feb. 1, 1939. The only Synagogues in Delaware are all located in Wilmington. For some reason the Dover effort was abandoned.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church was organized, at Dover, on Nov. 24, 1917. Meetings were held in the New Century Club. The church was built during the years 1931 and '32. The dedication services were held in December, 1932.

St. Luke's Christian Church was organized, in 1917, by Dr. R. S. Stephens. It was incorporated on Oct. 30, 1917. On Mar. 31, 1920, they purchased the old shirt factory at Governor's Ave. and North St. and fitted it up for church purposes. The name "St. Luke's" was adopted on Apr. 28, 1920. The cornerstone was laid on May 16, 1920. The church was closed in 1931 and the property was turned over to the People's Church on Apr. 27, 1931.

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, at Dover, was organized, in 1924, in the New Century Club. The church site on Lotus St. was purchased on Mar. 5, 1924. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Oct. 19, 1924, by the Rev. C. T. Ohlinger. The dedication service was held on Apr. 26, 1925. The service at 10:30 A. M. was conducted in the German language. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. H. H. Brauns of Phila. A service, in English, at 2 P. M., was conducted by the Revs. L. Geiger and E. Totzke.

The M. E. Tabernacle of Dover was located on New Street. It was dedicated on June 18, 1876, by the Rev. J. H. Caldwell. This was an effort by the Methodists to reach a group of people who ordinarily did not attend any church.

St. Paul's Methodist Church (M.E.) and Armory M. E. Church at Dover. In the 1880's, in an effort to reach a new group, a band of Methodists began holding meetings in the old Armory on Loockerman Street. They named their group the Armory M. E. Chapel. On Mar. 24, 1887, E. M. Stevenson donated a plot of land at Governor’s Avenue, and Mary St., to the trustees of Wesley

M. E. Church upon which to build a chapel.

The corner-stone was laid on Sun., July 3, 1887. The chapel was dedicated on Oct. 2, 1887, at which time the name "Avenue M. E. Chapel" was selected. Services were held here for a few years. On May 14, 1892, the present church site on Division St. was purchased by the Second M. E. Church.

On Nov. 12, 1892, the chapel was sold to the Second M. E. Church who moved it to the present site on Division St. Armory had been incorporated on Sept. 12, 1892. Dedication services were held on Dec. 25, 1892. Title to the site was acquired on Feb. 1, 1893. The church was improved in 1902. The name "St. Paul's" was adopted on Feb. 20, 1922.

The Dover Mission M. E. Sunday School was organized on Nov. 15, 1868, and a full complement of officers and workers was selected. This was another effort to reach persons who attended no church.

The Pilgrim Holiness Church, at Dover, was organized in 1914. They met in the Hinkle Building, the Wise Building, St. Luke’s Christian Church and in the Presbyterian Chapel. It was while meeting in the latter place that they began building the present church at New and Reed Sts. The cornerstone was laid in 1924. They were incorporated on Aug. 27, 1924. The site was acquired on Mar. 18, 1924. More land was purchased on Aug. 7, 1925.

The Gospel Hall. On Apr. 14, 1940, the Rev. Edward Richmond of the Plymouth Brethren started to hold services in the Burton Building. The first meeting was attended by one child and its grandmother. In the meantime Mr. Richmond has built up a good congregation. In the spring of 1944, Mr. Richmond started the erection of a church building on Forest Ave. The work was done by Mr. Richmond, personally, aided by members of his congregation.

The church was completed and the opening services were held on Apr. 22, 1945.

There are at least eight colored churches in Dover as follows: Calvary Baptist Church was built in 1886 and dedicated on July 29, 1887; the Union Baptist Church laid the corner-stone of a new building and upon its completion they vacated the old church on Bank Lane where they had met for many years; Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church which was dedicated on Nov. 15, 1874. Solid Rock Baptist Church, Seventh Day Adventists, Welcome Tabernacle and Mt. Sinai Holy Church all have their own buildings. The Church of the Living God meets on the first floor of a lodge hall.

Whatcoat M. E. Church, colored, was built on the s. w. cor. of the present Methodist Cemetery. It was dedicated, in 1854, by Andrew Manship. The church was incorporated on Mar. 3, 1870. In 1871-72, a new church was built on the same site. The corner-stone was laid on Sun., Oct. 22, 1871, at 2 P. M., by Pres. Elder H. Smith assisted by the Revs. L. Y. Cox, W. J. Parker and Solomon Cooper, the pastor. The church was dedicated on June 23, 1872, by the Revs. J. B. Mann, J. B. Merritt and S. Cooper, the pastor. The old building was moved to North Street, and converted into a parsonage. The church was improved and rededicated in 1935.

Carlisle M. E. Church, colored, is located four miles west of Dover. On Jan. 18, 1849, Casper Carlisle donated 40 perches of land to the trustees as a church site. It was described as being situated in the forest of Dover Hundred on the road from Dover to Davis' Corner. The church was rebuilt in 1879. It has been closed for several years.

Little Creek Friend's Meeting-House. On Sept. 12, 1771, Eleazer Badger deeded land to Samuel Hanson and Henry Cowgill, trustees, upon which a meeting-house was erected. Previous to this time the Friends in this neighborhood had attended Duck Creek Meeting. More land was purchased on June 15, 1785, from Wm. Gray. On May 6, 1802, Jabez Jenkins sold 157 sq. perches of land to Daniel Clayton, Jonathan Cowgill and Samuel Price, trustees of the Meeting, upon which a new meeting-house was built of brick and the original meeting-house was abandoned. This site was then used exclusively for a burying-ground. It is located four miles east of Dover. The new meeting-house was used until 1865 after which services were held only occasionally. In October, 1887, the meeting-house was sold and it is still doing yeoman service as a storage-house for farm products. The old well-kept burying-ground, surrounded by a stone wall, is still used for interments. The oldest legible tombstone that the writer could find is near the entrance, over the grave of Coe Gordon who died in 1787.

Little Creek Methodist Church (M.E.). Gum Swamp M.E. Church was located one mile north of Little Creek Landing. A school was maintained in 1832 and both white and colored children attended. In February, 1875, the building was moved into Little Creek. It was repaired and reopened for service on May 30, 1875, at which time the name "Little Creek" was adopted. The church site was donated by S. M. Collins, et al., on July 14, 1876. The present church was completed and opened for service in 1883. It was arranged to hold the dedication services on Dec. 6, 1885, with Pres. Elder A. W. Milby, J. S. Willis and James Carroll, the pastor, taking part. More land was purchased on Nov. 17, 1920, from Wm. H. Short.

Old Order Amish. There are four Congregations of Old Order Amish close to Dover. They are divided into east, south, north and middle districts, each district comprising about 28 families. They meet on alternate Sundays, two districts on one Sunday and the other two districts on the following Sunday. They maintain no church-houses, but hold their services in different members' homes. For this reason they are sometimes referred to as "House Amish" as distinguished from the "Church Amish" who maintain meeting-houses.

Camden Camp. On the easterly side of the highway between Dover and Camden, beside Isaac's Branch, is located the "Camden Union Camp-ground." The camp was incorporated in 1859 and again in 1879. The usual camp-meeting activities were held each summer by the Methodists. The meetings were discontinued in 1914. The camp-ground was sold to the Pilgrim Holiness on Jan. 4, 1927, and they have been conducting camp-meetings here since that time.

The Colored People's M.E. Church is located, on a dirt road, a short distance south of the Camden camp-grounds, at Brinckle Hill. This church was organized in 1879 and met in private homes. The church site, of one-quarter of an acre, was purchased from James Till on Nov. 4, 1879. The church was built in 1883. At the present time services are held twice a month.
Whatcoat Methodist Church (M.E.) located at Camden was organized in 1791, at which time Daniel Lowber gave them the use of one-half an acre of land upon which to build a church. Mr. Lowber formally deeded the land to “the people called Methodists” on July 27, 1796. This half-acre is included in the old graveyard in the southern part of the town. On this land, a small chapel was built. There was a gallery for the colored people who worshipped with, and received the sacraments of the church from the white ministers. On Apr. 24, 1813, an additional half-acre was deeded to the trustees, to enlarge the graveyard, by Benj. Brady, et al. Francis Asbury spoke in the chapel on Apr. 12, 1815.

This chapel was used until 1857, when the present commodious brick church was built. The site had been purchased on July 5, 1856, from Thos. Mifflin. The church was dedicated on July 26, 1857. The services were conducted by the Revs. Wesley Kenney, W. H. Brisbane and R. W. Todd, the pastor. On Oct. 24, 1857, the old chapel, benches and fixtures were sold at a public sale. Two years later, during a severe storm, the north end of the new church was partly blown down. The damage was repaired and the church was rededicated during January, 1860.

After major improvements, the church was rededicated on Sun., Nov. 12, 1865, by the Rev. Andrew Manship assisted by the Rev. Mr. Hammersley, the pastor. After being renovated, the church was reopened on Sun., Oct. 27, 1867, by the Rev. Mr. Schreck. Early in 1869, a parsonage and a new organ were purchased.

The church was incorporated on May 16, 1923. The parsonage, on Main St., was purchased, from Mary E. Graham, on May 23, 1923. During 1940, extensive improvements were made to the interior of the church.

At least a portion of the old church, built more than a century ago, is now a dwelling occupied by colored persons. In the old graveyard at the southern end of the town, the oldest tombstone that the writer could find is over the grave of Robert McCliment who died on Mar. 24, 1814. Formerly there were a number of oaken grave markers but these have all disappeared.

St. Paul’s P. E. Chapel in Camden. The effort to organize this church was started on Trinity Sunday, June 7, 1868. The meetings were held in Sarde's Hall. It was organized as a mission of Christ Church, in Dover, on July 17, 1868. A church site was secured in 1890 and the chapel was built in 1891.

In 1895-96 a window in memory of the Rev. Lewis W. Gibson was unveiled. A new organ was installed in 1906-07. Three memorial windows were unveiled in 1907-08 and additional land was purchased. In 1908-09 chandeliers and chancel lights were presented by Mrs. Caulk of Milford. The church was renovated and the parish-house was built in 1913. On Dec. 7, 1913, the church was consecrated and the parish-house was dedicated by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman. A new pulpit was installed and it was blessed by Bishop Kinsman on Dec. 13, 1914. In 1922-23, a chancel window in memory of Mrs. Julia Lord was unveiled. A credence shelf was installed in 1927.

Beginning in 1890 services were conducted in Wyoming for a short time.

Camden Friend’s Meeting-House was the last Meeting to be organized in Kent County but, in the meantime, it has absorbed all of the other Meetings in the County. In 1805, the present meeting-house was built for religious and school purposes. The deed for the land was executed by Jonathan and Patience Hunn on July 6, 1806, and the plot was described as being located on the road leading from the village to the poor-house. This Meeting was an offspring of Motherkill Meeting. A few of the school desks and benches can still be seen in the school-room on the second floor. This school was discontinued in 1875.

The Meeting was incorporated on Feb. 13, 1888. This meeting-house is unique in several of its features. The style of architecture is different from the usual Friend's Meeting-House, having no porches, a single double-door and a gambrel roof with dormer windows. Then, to top it off, the meeting-house faces north instead of south. The great majority of meeting-houses, for some undetermined reason, were built facing the south. The old horse-sheds have been removed. John Hunn, Governor of Delaware, 1901-05, is buried in the adjoining burying-ground. The use of foot-stones is noticeable. The oldest tombstone is that of Jonathan H. Jenkins who died on Aug. 11, 1837. A memorial to Warner Mifflin stands in the burying-ground. This stone was originally set up in Motherkill burying-ground where Mr. Mifflin is buried in an unmarked grave. When Motherkill burying-ground became extremely neglected the stone was moved to its present location in 1937.

The meeting-house is equipped with candles in wall-sconces but it is doubtful if they are ever used as the Friends seldom hold meetings at night.

Camden Baptist Church. In October, 1869, the Baptists in the neighborhood of Camden purchased Wyoming College, which included a chapel. This chapel was dedicated on Sun., Dec. 5, 1869, by the Rev. Dr. Jay T. Backus and the Rev. H. G. Weston of Crozer Seminary. This was used as their meeting place. On Dec. 15, 1880, they were incorporated as the Wyoming Baptist Church. On Dec. 28, 1880, they purchased, from George Parris, a plot of land in Camden upon which a church was built. It was dedicated on Sept. 4, 1881, by the Revs. Mr. Heath and James Hope. The last service was held here on July 14, 1912, and today the building is occupied as a beauty parlor and apartments.

St. John's Reformed Church, at Wyoming, was organized on July 18, 1869, in the Good Templar's Hall. Meetings were held in the schoolhouse and in Ellison's Hall. Ground was broken for a church on May 11, 1872. The corner-stone was laid on June 9, 1872, by the Rev. Dr. E. V. Gearhart. Josiah Besemer and Milo H. Grop donated the church site on Layton Ave., at Broad St., on Feb. 18, 1874. The church was dedicated on Apr. 19, 1874, by Dr. Gearhart. It was incorporated on Feb. 6, 1877. In 1922, the building was sold, moved to the main street and converted into a double dwelling.

St. Paul's Christian Church, at Wyoming, was organized in 1913. The church was incorporated on June 11, 1913. On June 12, 1913, they purchased a building at Mechanic and Walnut Sts. from John T. Marker. It was remodeled for church purposes. After a few years' activity the effort was abandoned. The building is now occupied by the Knights of the Golden Eagle.

A Church of God in Christ, colored, is located at Camden.

Wyoming Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1856, when the Delaware Railroad was built about one mile west of Camden, the station at that point was named "Camden Station." In 1865, a town was laid out and given the name "Wyoming." Later in that year, John T. Jakes started a subscription for the purpose of erecting a building to be used for Sunday School meetings. A plank chapel was built but before it was dedicated it was taken over by the Methodist Episcopal Conference. Named the "Wyoming M. E. Church," the dedication was arranged to be held on Nov. 12, 1865, with the Revs. A. Manship, J. J. Pearce, Mr. Colclazier and A. D. Davis taking part.

On Jan. 20, 1881, John T. Jakes donated a church site at the cor. of Layton Ave. and College St. More land was purchased on July 8, 1881, from Sarah A. Williams. The ground was broken for the present church on Mon., July 4, 1881. The cornerstone was laid on July 31, 1881, by the Revs. A. W. Lightbourne, J. S. Willis, J. H. Caldwell and J. N. Pilchard, the pastor. The church was incorporated on May 8, 1883. It was dedicated in September, 1883. After having been entirely redecorated a reopening service was held on Oct. 7, 1888. The building was improved in 1902 and a reopening was held on Sept. 14, 1902. On Dec. 29, 1912, the church was rededicated after extensive improvements.

Zion A. M. E. Church was organized in Wyoming in 1845 and a church was built. Additional land was purchased on Sept. 12, 1848, from Geo. Jones and on Apr. 9, 1863, from John Jones. A second church was built in 1889. On Oct. 6, 1898, while a service was in progress, Sam Jones jumped up and declared, "I am the Lord and all who don't believe it are liars." Then the trouble started. Ike Fulman drew his pistol and shot into the ceiling first and then sent a bullet crashing into Chas. Waters' breast. A general melee followed after which Jones and Fulman fled to Hazlettville and then on into Maryland.

On Aug. 15, 1923, one-quarter of an acre of land was purchased from Wm. Gaynes.

Union Methodist Church (M.E.) is located four miles west of Wyoming. The first camp-meeting in this section was held, in 1805, near the site of this church. The first church was probably built previous to, or at about this time. This building was used until 1859 when it was moved away to be used as a barn. A new frame church was completed and was dedicated on Dec. 25, 1859, by the Revs. Dr. Cooke and John B. Mann. In the graveyard the first interment was John Seward who died on Feb. 23, 1847. Extensive improvements were made in 1894. Pennell Emerson donated additional land on May 20, 1931. In 1933, the minister appointed by the Conference was refused by the congregation and the church was closed. It was opened as a Sunday School in 1935 which is still continued with occasional preaching.

Thomas' Methodist Chapel (M.E.) is located four miles west of Hazlettville. One-half acre of land was donated by Hennelope Freeman-Mrs. Owen Irons to the Rev. Wm. Thomas to be used as a site for a church by "the people called Methodists to preach and expound God's Holy Word." A log chapel was built and a graveyard was laid out. On Dec. 24, 1779, Mr. Thomas transferred the property to a board of trustees. It was known locally for many years as the "Log Chapel" and as "Forest Chapel" although its official name was "Thomas' M. E. Chapel" in honor of the Rev. William Thomas. On May 13, 1781, Harry, a negro, preached upon the subject, "The barren fig tree" and from the mention made by Bishop Asbury "that the circumstance was entirely new and that the white people looked on with attention," it is believed to have been the first instance of a negro preaching to white people on the Peninsula. Harry was Bishop Asbury's servant and accompanied him on his travels.

The log chapel was moved away, in 1798, and a frame chapel was erected. This chapel was dedicated by Freeborn Garrettson. The present brick chapel was built in 1825. It was dedicated by the Rev. Solomon Higgins. In 1877, the chapel was rebuilt in modern style. The walls were raised three feet, the .gallery was removed and a recess pulpit was built. It was dedicated on Nov. 25, 1877, by Pres. Elder Charles Hill and the Rev. J. H. Caldwell.

Services are held every other Sunday afternoon. In the rear gable, the date 1825, in large figures, is laid out with black header bricks. The graveyard beside the chapel is well maintained. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of the Rev. John Connelley who died on Dec. 21, 1845.

Parker's Methodist Church, colored, is located two miles s. w. of Westville. This church was founded in 1877. 25 perches of land were donated on Jan. 9, 1878, by Joshua Parker, as a church site. There is a graveyard.

Star Hill M. E. Church, colored, is located at Star Hill, east of Camden. The first building was erected in 1866. The present church was built in 1905. Additional land had been purchased from F. W. J. Heinemann on Feb. 16, 1903.

Star Hill Unity Holiness Church, colored, is located at Star Hill. This building was originally the home of the Lutheran Church at Rising Sun. In 1931, the building was moved to its present location. The church site had been donated by Albert M. Palmer on Oct. 13, 1930.

Rising Sun M. E. Church was organized in 1888, and meetings were held in a local hall. The interest was not sustained and the effort failed in about three years.

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Rising Sun. This congregation was formed in 1900, and met over the blacksmith shop at the five corners. On Jan. 13, 1903, a building committee was elected. The church was incorporated on Feb. 16, 1903. A plot of land was purchased from Robert Richardson, on Mar. 3, 1903, and the building was started. The cornerstone was laid on Mar. 29, 1903. The opening service was held on May 24, 1903. The church was given the name "St. Paul's" and was dedicated on Aug. 2, 1903, by the Revs. E. L. S. Tressel and W. Zimmerman. Sometime between Mar. 12, 1911 and 1916 this congregation was dissolved. Mission services were held from 1916 until 1924 when the church was closed, the congregation transferring to the Dover church. The building was sold, in 1931, to a congregation of colored Holiness who moved it to Star Hill.

Lebanon Methodist Church (M.E.) at Lebanon, was built in 1858. The church site had been purchased from John Sapp on Oct. 19, 1857. The church was incorporated on Apr. 2, 1874. On Mar. 12, 1922, the church was destroyed by a fire that originated next door in the home of Captain Walker. A new church was built and it was dedicated in 1925. The church was closed in 1939. Since that time occasional services have been held by students of the Wesley Junior College.

Lebanon P. E. Mission was founded by the Rev. Benjamin F. Thompson, B.D., of Dover, in January, 1931. The early meetings were held in a private home. The Methodist church was closed at that time and Father Thompson was given the use of it for his services. In February, 1933, a class was ready for confirmation and this was done by Bishop Philip Cook in St. Paul's Church at Camden. At this time the Methodists decided to reopen their church. This depleted the mission to some extent. One of the members volunteered to transport the members, by bus, to attend the services at St. Paul's Church in Camden, after which the mission at Lebanon was closed.
St. Jones’ Methodist Church (M.E.) located two miles south of Little Creek was founded in 1802, when a frame church was built. A Sunday School was organized in 1845. A new building was erected and it was dedicated on Jan. 29, 1871.

The services were in charge of the Rev. E. Stubbs, assisted by the Rev. J. Owen Sypherd, the pastor. Because of inclement weather, only a small congregation was present, yet they cleared the church of debt and also raised money to insure the building. It was decided to plant a tree in front of the church to be known as the “Postles’ Tree.” This was in honor of Thomas Postles, chairman of the building committee.

The 100th Anniversary was celebrated on Oct. 12, 1902, with the Rev. L. W. Layfield in charge.

The church was closed in July, 1944, and by the end of 1945 only a shell remained. On two occasions during its last 20 years this church was ravished by thieves. The last time, after the 1944 closing, the thieves took everything that was not nailed down including the three pulpit chairs and the pulpit Bible. In the adjoining graveyard there are only a few inscribed tombstones. The oldest is that of Parigan Mansfield, who died on Dec. 18, 1814.

John Wesley Church, colored, is located two miles south of St. Jones’ Church. There is a small graveyard.

Bethel Christian Church, at Kitt’s Hummock, was organized by Dr. R. S. Stephens. The church site was donated, on July 23, 1915, by Timothy E. Townsend and a galvanized iron building was erected. A larger frame church was built sometime later. It became defunct in 1935. The building was sold, removed to the north shore and remodeled for a cottage.

Banning’s M. E. Chapel was located four miles below Cooper’s Corner where cement steps lead up to the old graveyard. This chapel was the result of preaching by Freeborn Garrettson at the home of Caleb Boyer’s father in 1778. Francis Asbury preached at Boyer’s on Nov. 24, 1780. On Sept. 20, 1842, Richard A. Cooper donated an additional acre of land upon which to build a new church. This building was erected, with the Rev. Wm. Connelly doing most of the work. In the 1850’s, it was decided to build two churches closer to the homes of the congregation. One group built Beth Berei Church at Magnolia in 1856 and another group built Lebanon Church in 1858. Banning’s Chapel was then abandoned. The large graveyard contains graves dating back to 1846. No burials have been made in recent times and the graveyard receives little attention.

Motherkill Friend’s Meeting-House and burying-ground were located on the northern edge of Magnolia beside Beaver Dam Branch. On May 12, 1760, Wm. Jackson donated one acre of land for the above purpose. The meeting-house was burned shortly after being built and a new building was erected. In 1790, Motherkill and Duck Creek were united with Eastern Shore Meetings to form the Southern Quarterly Meeting. In 1805, Motherkill Meeting fathered the Camden Meeting. In 1828, they united with Duck Creek as a Monthly Meeting. In 1830, Motherkill and Duck Creek united with Camden Preparative Meeting. The brick meeting-house was used for occasional meetings until 1844 when it was sold to Henry McIlvain.

The old burying-ground is still there and is known locally as the “Quaker graveyard.” Small care is given to this plot in recent times and as a result trees and brush have taken almost complete possession of the site. There are many field stones marking graves and only the Luff's and the Sipple's have inscribed tombstones. The oldest of these is over the grave of Dr. Nathaniel Luff who died Jan. 21, 1806, at the age of fifty years. He was a surgeon in Washington's Army and crossed the Delaware with him at Trenton. Dr. Luff's recorded experiences on his first day's attendance at a school in Dover are quoted by almost every Delaware historian.

Magnolia Methodist Church (M.E.) is a daughter of Banning's Chapel. On Oct. 12, 1853, Geo. S. May sold 2.42 acres of land, beside Beaver Branch, to a board of trustees. Here a church was built and it was dedicated on Nov. 30, 1856, by the Rev. Dr. Durbin and the Rev. Andrew Manship. The name "Beth Berei" meaning "house of my creation" was adopted. The church was incorporated on Feb. 22, 1861, and on Sept. 9, 1861, the property was transferred to the new trustees. The parsonage, adjoining the church was built in 1887. After major improvements, a reopening service was held on Sept. 20, 1891. It was conducted by the Revs. J. S. Willis, E. L. Hubbard and L. Layfield, the pastor.

During 1941, the church was entirely renovated at a cost of $1500.00. A reopening service was held on Nov. 23, 1941. On the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, while the sexton was preparing for services a fire was discovered around the chimney. Despite the efforts of firemen from Magnolia and three neighboring towns, the building was gutted.

Under the leadership of the Rev. Walter L. Beckwith the erection of a new church was started immediately. The opening services was held on Apr. 18, 1943. With all bills paid, this beautiful brick church was dedicated on Apr. 25, 1943, by Dist. Supt. Dr. Walter A. Hearn. The church was incorporated as Magnolia Methodist Church on Feb. 1, 1943.

Due to war-time restrictions there was a delay in securing the pews. After being installed, the pews together with the song books and hymnals were dedicated on Sun., Feb. 13, 1944, by the Rev. H. Norman Nicklas, the pastor. At the same service, the corner-stone, a gift of Mr. William V. Sipple, of Milford, was dedicated and placed in position. The sermon was preached by the Rev. John M. Kelso of Wesley Junior College of Dover.

Magnolia Baptist Church was located on Walnut Street, in Magnolia. The corner-stone was laid on Apr. 3, 1872. The church was incorporated on April 30, 1873. The church site was donated by Edmund Stout on Oct. 17, 1873. The church was dedicated on Feb. 15, 1874, by the Rev. S. M. Harris. This church had an active existence for a few years but it was burned, in 1889, and not replaced.

Murderkill Presbyterian Church was located one and one-half miles west of Magnolia on the road to Canterbury. The site is about four hundred yards north of the road and to the east of Double Run where a millpond furnished power to operate a lumber mill and later a grist mill. The millpond, known as "Burke Pond" has been washed out and the mill torn down. This church was established previous to 1738 and it was the first Presbyterian Church in Kent County. It was abandoned and a new church was built three miles south of Canterbury in 1762. The old graveyard still remains but the encroaching wilderness has almost claimed it for its own. The oldest inscribed stone to be found marks the graves of George Craige and his wife Isabella who died in 1738 and 1753, respectively. An old underground vault is located here with the entrance open and subject to the elements. The local name for this spot is "vault woods."

Mt. Olive A. M. E. Church, east of Little Heaven, was rebuilt in 1906. The land had been purchased on Oct. 26, 1904, from Wm. Abrams.

Saxton's Methodist Church (M.E.), located one and one-half miles west of Bower's Beach, was built on land donated by John Saxton, on Jan. 23, 1881. The chapel was dedicated on Dec. 8, 1879. In 1893, the chapel was moved to its present site at Bower's Beach. The opening service was held on Sun., Dec. 3, 1893. It was conducted by the Revs. W. L. S. Murray, Robert Watt and S. R. Maxwell. This site was purchased from Elizabeth Minner on June 20, 1894.

Barratt's Methodist Chapel (M.E.) is located one mile north of Frederica. It is known as the "cradle of Methodism." The land on which the chapel and the large graveyard are situated, was conveyed by Philip Barratt on Aug. 17, 1780, to a Methodist board of trustees for the nominal consideration of five shillings. The interest in Methodism in that locality was started by Freeborn Garrettson, a Methodist missionary, who preached in private homes in 1778. Among those converted were Philip Barratt and Waitman Sipple. They formed a Methodist Society and in March, 1780, they took the initiative and started building the brick chapel on Barratt's land. It was finished and occupied before the end of the year. It was here on Nov. 14, 1784, that Bishop Thomas Coke first met Francis Asbury and the spot is marked with a brass star inlaid in the floor. It was here that the Holy Sacrament was first administered regularly.

On Dec. 24, 1784, at Baltimore, Asbury and Coke were elected the first Superintendents of the church in America. In spite of John Wesley's earnest opposition both Asbury and Coke immediately assumed the title of Bishop. Asbury preached here for the last time on Apr. 14, 1815.

The old-fashioned high pulpit has been removed but the pulpit-bench, upon which Coke and Asbury sat, is still preserved and in use on the present pulpit. For the first sixty years the interior was roughly finished, the only flooring being the ground itself. At regular intervals a half brick was left out of the outside walls, a feature that arouses the curiosity of many persons. It appears that in those days the scaffolding used in erecting brick buildings was placed on the outside of the buildings. These openings, half-brick deep, are where the scaffolding rested on the walls and they were not filled in when the scaffolding was removed.

Barratt's Chapel is owned and supervised by a self-perpetuating board of nine trustees. Under the deed of trust negroes were allowed to hold meetings on designated mid-week evenings using the gallery for these meetings. It was stipulated that they must not become boisterous and that at least three of the trustees must be present. The white mulberry tree in front of the chapel is believed to be older than the chapel itself. In 1932, termites did considerable damage to the building. The damage was repaired, the woodwork was treated and it receives semi-annual inspection and care.

Among the noted persons buried in the graveyard are former Governors George Truitt and John W. Hall. Gov. Truitt was originally buried on his farm south of Canterbury. Added to the inscription on the flat slab over Gov. Truitt's vault is the following: "By Resolution of the General Assembly of Delaware the remains of Gov. Truitt and family were reinterred and these three stones removed to this place—March A. D. 1903. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is over the grave of Susanna Shockley who died on May 7, 1795.

Trinity Methodist Church (M.E.) at Frederica. As early as 1778, Methodist meetings were held, in private homes, in Frederica. An undenominational church was built in 1800. The land was donated by Benjamin Dill and the framework by Benjamin Smith. It was located on the main street and is still in use as the first floor of Harry F. Mitten’s undertaking establishment and furniture store. This church was taken over by the Methodists and dedicated on Mar. 12, 1812, by the Rev. Zedakiah Davis.

On Apr. 23, 1836, Robert I. Lowber sold to a board of trustees 6180 sq. ft. of land for $28.37. This was to be the site for a new Methodist meeting-house to be named the “Christian Tabernacle.” This plot was directly across the street from the first church. The new church was completed and was dedicated by the Rev. Thomas J. Quigley. It was a much larger building and was two stories high.

The present brick church was built in 1856. It was dedicated in the spring of 1858 by the Rev. J. B. Merritt. The second church was then used as a schoolhouse and a Town Hall. When the present school was built the first floor of the old building was converted into a store. After the present Community Hall was built, the old building was torn down in 1936.

The present church has a spire that can be seen for miles around. The original spire collapsed in a windstorm in October, 1878, and was replaced in 1880. In 1891, a memorial window, in the pulpit recess, was presented by Sarah H. Lister in memory of her daughter.

Mrs. Lister, on July 1, 1921, presented to the church, town properties that had been owned by her father, former Governor John Wood Hall. These properties form a part of the permanent investments of the church.

After extensive improvements, reopening exercises were held on Jan. 15, 1905. The services were in charge of Bishop Earle Cranston, assisted by the Rev. Wm. Cashmore. A new organ was installed in 1924.

On the front wall of the church auditorium there is a white marble tablet with a black border erected in memory of former Governor John W. Hall, who was an active member of Trinity Church.

Frederica M. P. Church was built, in 1891, on the western edge of the town. It was planned to lay the corner-stone on July 4, 1891, with a band in attendance and fire-works in the evening. The dedication was arranged for Sun., Nov. 22, 1891, with the Rev. F. T. Little in charge. The last minister served during the year 1910 after which the church was closed. It was later sold to a colored congregation who moved it to a new location.

Frederica Christian Church. A congregation of the Christian Church was formed, in 1912, through the efforts of Dr. Lightbourne of Dover. They never had a church building but held their meetings in the Town Hall. During 1915-16, they were served by a local-preacher from Dover. Never very strong, the congregation soon disbanded.

Frederica Baptist Church. The Rev. Mr. Sanderling, a blacksmith on the side, held Baptist meetings in the M. P. Church in the early 1900's. He secured a few converts and some of the oldtimers recall with evident relish at least one baptism in the Murderkill River. The effort was soon abandoned.

Hubert A. M. E. Church, at Frederica. The first church was built in 1906. In 1911, the M. P. Church was purchased and moved to the present site. It was rebuilt in 1923. They were incorporated on Jan. 1, 1923. Land was purchased from Maurice A. Hartnett on Apr. 30, 1923.

Big Union A. M. E. Church is located two miles west of Frederica. The church was incorporated on Apr. 21, 1886. The church site was purchased on May 20, 1886, from James Pennewell.

Law's M. E. Chapel is located four miles s. w. of Frederica on the road to Harrington. From 1778 until 1802 preaching was held in the home of Mr. Cardeen. Joshua Laws was one of the active members and when, in 1802, it was decided to build a chapel he proposed to donate one-quarter acre of land for that purpose. He transferred the land to Marcy Smithers and on Apr. 17, 1802, Mr. Smithers deeded the land, for the nominal sum of $5.00, to a board of trustees known as the "Methodist Society," Mr. Laws being one of the members. The church was built and named in honor of Mr. Laws.

The deed stipulated that the building was to be used as a schoolhouse and as a preaching-house, the preaching to conform to the teachings of John and Charles Wesley. If any conflict arose between its use for school purposes and for preaching, the church services took precedence. The Board of Trustees is self-perpetuating and in 1812, two of the members having died and one having withdrawn from the church, the survivors elected three new members. This procedure has continued to the present time. In 1856, the first building was torn down and the present chapel was built. It was dedicated on Aug. 5, of that year.

Additional land was purchased on May 4, 1878, from Jos. O. McColley and on Dec. 13, 1929, from the State Board of Education.

Law's Chapel has had several closed periods and the last attempt to open it was abandoned as hopeless in 1932. Under the direction of Thomas Chambers, one of the present trustees, a home-coming was held on May 4, 1941, and it was most successful in bringing out a large crowd of worshippers. Among the interesting relics in the possession of Mr. Chambers are the old minute books dating back to 1802, an old communion service and the pulpit Bible, purchased when the present chapel was built.

John Wesley A. M. E. Church and graveyard are located on the road to Thompsonville. The site was donated on Sept. 25, 1847, by Thos. Mason with the provision that a church would be erected.

Additional land was purchased on Nov. 6, 1897, from Paris T. Carlisle. A social-hall was built in 1944.

Wesley Methodist Church (M.E.) sometimes called "Milford Neck Church" is located at Thompsonville. The first church was built, in 1790, on land donated by Col. and Mrs. John Wood to a board of trustees composed of Nathaniel Luff, Isaac Jester, J. Hendrickson, Thos. Sipple, J. Taylor, Thos. Smith, James Bell and J. Parsons. This church was not large but it included end and side galleries. It was named "Sardis" for one of the seven churches built by the Apostle Paul in Asia. The city of Sardis was noted for its beauty and wealth and it was the home of Croesus renowned for his riches. During the winter of 1840, a larger church was built on land deeded by Lewis Passmore, sixty yards to the east of the old church. This new church was built of lumber that had washed ashore on the beach of the Delaware River, possibly three miles away. It was larger than the first church; contained three galleries and had a high pulpit from which the preacher could see and be seen by everyone present. It was dedicated in June, 1843, by the Rev. Henry White of the Dover District, a descendant of Judge Thomas White, who sheltered Asbury from the authorities in the early days of Methodism. This church was lighted by candles at the evening services.

This building was remodeled in 1873, 18 feet were added to its length, the galleries were removed and a second story was added. It was dedicated by the Rev. James Mann, on Sept. 6, 1874. The first organ was installed during the pastorate of the Rev. R. K. Stevenson and Mrs. Stevenson was the first organist. During the pastorate of the Rev. C. B. Kitchen, a bible platform was built in front of the pulpit.

The church was incorporated on July 29, 1921. On June 25, 1925, Mrs. Sarah H. Lister presented $1000.00 to the church as a memorial to her son, Charles C. Lister. On Nov. 26, 1928, Mrs. Lister donated additional land to the church.

In 1933, an addition was built, including a kitchen and a motor room. Electric lighting was installed at this time.

Across South Bowers Road from the church there is a large granite monument erected by Sarah Hall Lister in 1909. It honors the memory of Col. John Wood—Patriot and Philanthropist—who died on Sept. 14, 1818, and his wife, Mary Hall Wood who died on Dec. 23, 1831.

On the back of the monument is this inscription:

"Near this spot on land donated
By Col. Wood stood the first
M. E. Church of Milford Neck built in 1790 largely by his generosity."

On Aug. 10, 1943, a violent windstorm visited this section. Three large trees were uprooted and blown over on the roof of the one-story kitchen at the rear of the church, practically demolishing it. It was rebuilt immediately.

Originally, there was a fork in the road at the church and in the Y thus formed there was a small graveyard. None of the graves had inscribed tombstones and when the road was improved, the Y was removed and all trace of the graveyard disappeared.

Woodside Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1886, an interdenominational Sunday School was started in Woodside. It was very successful and the present church site was purchased on June 19, 1889, from Ezekiel Cowgill. In 1889, the corner-stone of the present Methodist Church was laid and the building was completed. The dedication, by the Rev. J. S. Willis was planned for June 22, 1890. More land was donated by W. S. Barger. The first bell was installed in 1896 and was replaced by the present bell in 1920.

After having been completely renovated, the church was reopened on the evening of Nov. 4, 1945. The services were in charge of the Rev. Dr. Thos. C. Mulligan, Dist. Supt., and the Rev. W. O. Hackett, the pastor.

To quote a prominent member of that community, its motto is, "Don't tread on me" and applies socially, politically and religiously which signifies that the people of that neighborhood are very independent. Probably because of this attitude, the church was closed for two periods of a few years each. This was the result of the inability to make satisfactory arrangements with the other churches on that circuit as to the time services would be held at Woodside.

Quoting again, the people of Woodside say that so long as a single brick remains of old-Barratt's Chapel the spirit of Methodist will not die in that section. This spirit has led to the reopening of Woodside Church for the third time and the congregation is struggling along buoyed up by the following thought:
"A rocky path one often goes
But even then, perhaps a rose
Lies right ahead—one never knows."

St. John's A. U. M. P. Church is located in Woodside. The church site was purchased from James H. Jones on Nov. 26, 1909. It was stipulated that there should be no graveyard.

Willow Grove M. E. Church. At Willow Grove a Methodist Society was organized at an early date and meetings were held in private homes. On Aug. 2, 1824, Thomas Jackson, for the sum of six cents, conveyed, to a board of trustees, a plot of land upon which Willow Grove Church was built. The church was incorporated on May 29, 1844. In 1850, more land was purchased and a new church was built.

Ground was broken for the present church in April, 1882, and the building was completed in 1883. It was built by Thomas Gooden who contributed all of the material and supervised the construction, all at his own expense. Mr. Gooden stipulated that the church must never be sold and that in the event the Methodists ceased to use it, the church should be open to any white Christian congregation who wished to use it. The property belongs to the community. It ceased to function as a Methodist Church in 1912. A short time later a Baptist Missionary started a series of meetings in the schoolhouse. After he had gathered a congregation together, he was given the use of the church. Interest in this effort fell off after the missionary was replaced by another pastor. In the meantime, the church has been used by the Pilgrim Holiness, the Nazarenes and other denominations with many closed periods. The building has been kept in reasonably good repair through the interest of John T. Dodd and the neighbors. At the present time services are being held by the Church of God, Reformation. The old church, built in 1850, was moved into the village, in 1883, where it was used as Frasher's store.

Willow Grove Church of God, Reformation. This congregation started to use the community-owned Methodist Church on Oct. 26, 1941. It was then that their first service was held here. They have preaching three times each week.

St. Paul's A. M. E. Church is located on the outskirts of Willow Grove. The church site was donated on May 2, 1921, by Mary M. Stansberry. The erection of the church had been recently completed.

Cow Marsh Primitive Baptist Church. Near Mount Moriah, which is two miles east of Sandtown, the Baptist Church was organized on July 18, 1781. For ten years previous to this time meetings had been held in the neighborhood. The effort to build a church was postponed from time to time. On Sept. 7, 1793, Job Meredith conveyed two acres of land to Joseph Flood upon which a church was built. On June 4, 1796, Joseph Flood conveyed the property to the trustees of the "Baptist Church at Mount Moriah." In 1872, a new and larger church was built. It was opened on Dec. 29, 1872, by Elder W. L. Purrrington. An additional acre of land was donated on Apr. 24, 1926, by John G. Meredith. The congregation is of the "old line or hardshell" denomination and regular services are conducted by an elder of that branch. There is a graveyard beside the church, the graves dating back to 1835.

Mt. Olive Methodist Church (M. P.) is located one and three-quarters miles east of Sandtown. The land upon which the church and graveyard are situated was donated by Thomas Dougherty. The first building was erected in 1845. The present church was built in 1871 and was dedicated on Jan. 14, 1872, by the Rev. James Nichols. It was extensively remodeled in 1900.

In 1932, the pastor having died, the church was closed. In 1939, the Rev. Carvel Tribbett was invited to preach, but difficulties arose and he left in 1940, to found Hughes' Chapel of Pilgrim Holiness about two miles away. The church was reopened by the Methodists on June 21, 1942, with bi-weekly meetings in charge of the pastor of Trinity Church in Harrington. There is a large graveyard across the road from the church, the graves dating back to 1852.

Hughes' Holiness Chapel, located four and one-half miles beyond Hollandsville, was built in 1940. It is a frame building in a lovely grove and was originally built so that the sides could be thrown open in the summertime converting it into a tabernacle. The building will seat two hundred persons and all of the labor was performed by the members of the congregation. Charles Hughes, for whom the chapel is named, contributed the land and most of the timber. A tabernacle was built beside the chapel in 1945.

The Rev. Carvel Tribbett was the founder and his meetings, twice a week, are attended by large crowds, some persons coming many miles to attend. Three-quarters of a mile west of the chapel an original Mason and Dixon stone can be seen, close to the road.

Magee's M. E. Chapel, Viola Methodist Church (M. E.). Magee's Chapel, located at Magee's Crossroads, two miles west of Viola was founded by the Rev. J. N. Magee. In 1857, he built a frame tabernacle which was dedicated by the Rev. J. S. Willis. In 1858, a substantial frame church was built. It was dedicated on Dec. 26, 1858, by the Rev. C. Hill and the Rev. J. S. Willis. This chapel was in use 25 years when it was decided that a church in Viola would be more convenient for the congregation.

A meeting was held in Viola on Sept. 9, 1883, at which time the M. E. Sunday School of Viola was organized. On Oct. 18, the M. E. Church of Viola was organized and trustees were elected. The first meeting of the trustees was held on Nov. 19, at which time officers were elected, one committee was appointed to look around for a church site and another committee was appointed to secure subscriptions for building a church. On June 18, 1884, a committee was appointed to investigate the advisability of moving Magee's Chapel into Viola or of selling the chapel to best advantage. It was decided to tear down the chapel and to use the lumber in building the Viola church. On Oct. 6, 1884, Mary A. Monson, of Connecticut, donated the land for the church site, for the nominal sum of $1.00. The deed stipulated that it was subject to cemetery rights for certain persons. This burial privilege has never been exercised. The church was completed and was dedicated on Mar. 8, 1885. On July 25, 1897, the new church bell was used for the first time. A wing was added to the building in 1916.

Mt. Plymouth A. U. M. E. Church, built in 1889, is located south of Viola on the Plymouth Road.

Plymouth Baptist Church, south of Canterbury, was organized on May 29, 1867 and recognized on Sept. 24, 1867. They secured the use of a church that had been built by the Congregationalists who had not prospered. The congregation became small and on Mar. 22, 1873, they closed the church and transferred their membership to the Magnolia Baptist Church. The church building was moved away and used by a canning factory.

Green’s M. E. Chapel. One mile south of Woodside on the western side of the Highway and about one hundred yards distant there is a large clump of trees and brush. This was the site of Green’s Chapel, founded as a Methodist Meeting on May 16, 1781. At that time Christopher Green conveyed one acre of land upon which to build a chapel. Francis Asbury preached here on Tues., Mar. 20, 1810. This chapel was in active service until 1856, at which time the congregation decided it would be more convenient to build a church at Canterbury.

Bethesda Methodist Church (M. E.) at Canterbury. Jonathan W. Gilder-slevie donated three-quarters of an acre of land at Canterbury upon which to build a church. The incorporation of the church was recorded on June 4, 1856. The building of Bethesda Church was begun on July 21, 1856, and was completed on Sat., Oct. 25, 1856. The dedication services were held on Oct. 26, 1856, the Rev. John D. Onins of Philadelphia being in charge. The church was extensively repaired after which it was reopened on Sun., Jan. 1, 1871. The church stands as originally built. The church was incorporated on June 25, 1922. After major improvements a reopening service was held on Sun., Sept. 25, 1925, by the Rev. Earl S. Hoxter, the pastor. There is a small graveyard to the rear of the church.

When the highway is converted into a dual road, some time in the near future, the State Highway Dep’t. proposes to move the church building to the south and beside the graveyard.

Canterbury Presbyterian Church was built, three miles south of Canterbury, in 1762. It was abandoned in 1860 and there is nothing to mark the site. The building was converted into a farm building and is still in use on the McGinnis farm.

Purnell’s M. E. Chapel was located about one-half mile east of the present town of Felton. It was the predecessor of Felton Methodist Church. A Methodist Society was formed at Andrew Purdin’s in 1779. Francis Asbury was a frequent visitor at Purdin’s. He preached there on Aug. 10, 1779, and on Mar. 27, 1780. He delivered a lecture there on Nov. 8, 1780, at which time 700 lbs. of pork were subscribed toward completing Barratt’s Chapel and he administered the sacrament there on Oct. 3, 1785.

A chapel was built on land provided by Major James Purnell, for whom the chapel was named. At that time, this neighborhood was tough, to say the least. Certain elements were given to heavy drinking and gambling. There was a half-mile race track closeby which was constantly in use. Francis Asbury called the section the “Devils’ Synagogue,” why synagogue, is impossible to determine. The race track habitues, when opportunity afforded, would sneak Asbury’s riding horse to the track and give him a workout. One afternoon as Asbury was riding past the entrance to the track, his horse dashed in and started racing against time around the track. In spite of Mr. Asbury’s frantic yells of “Whoa, Sparks, Whoa, Whoa,” the horse continued until he had passed the finish line. Needless to say, this incident was most embarrassing to the preacher and caused great glee among the neighborhood hooligans. Mr. Asbury mentions this incident in his Journal on Jan. 22, 1781.

Purnell’s Chapel was enlarged in 1842, with the pastor, the Rev. Wm. Connelley doing most of the work. The chapel was closed in 1861, when Felton Church was built.
Felton Methodist Church (M.E.) succeeded Purnell’s Chapel which was located one-half mile out of town. At the present location, a new church was built. It was arranged to have the corner-stone, which is really a gable-stone, laid on Tues., June 26, 1860, by the Revs. T.C. Murphy, C. Cook, J. Allen and Mr. Smith. The first service was arranged to be held in the basement on Sun., Nov. 11, 1860, with the Revs. J.F. Chaplain and John Allen in charge. The church was dedicated on Sept. 29, 1861, by the Rev. Dr. Cooke. After improvements, a reopening service was held on Oct. 11, 1874, by the Revs. R.W. Todd, the pastor. The church was again improved and a reopening service was held on Jan. 8, 1882, by the Revs. J.S. Willis and B. Warren. The church was renovated in 1894. A new steeple was built in the fall of 1897 and the new bell was installed on Oct. 24, 1897. Improvements were made in 1919.

Ebenezer Christian Church was organized in 1912 and met in Willis’ Chapel, four miles west of Felton. It was served by Dr. R.S. Stephens of Dover and disbanded in 1915.

Felton Presbyterian Church was organized on Nov. 15, 1860. It was closed in 1926 and dissolved in 1940. The Felton Avon Club continued to meet here until 1939.

Felton M.P. Church was organized in the K. of P. Hall on Dec. 9, 1877. A new church was built in 1879. The corner-stone was laid on July 28, 1879, by the Rev. D. Bates. The site, on High St., was donated on Dec. 10, 1880, by Job S. Butterworth.

It was made a separate charge in 1883. In 1907, the church was moved to a new site beside the parsonage. The last minister served here in 1929. In 1931, the church was abandoned and traded to the M.E. Conference. In 1932, it was converted into the Felton Community Building.

The Pilgrim Holiness instituted meetings in Felton in 1936. They meet in the Grange Hall.

St. James A.U.M.P. Church is located at Owl’s Nest, west of Felton. The site was purchased on Aug. 20, 1924, from Harry Greenberg.

Willis’ M.E. Church was located four miles west of Felton. The first church was organized in 1858, by the Rev. J.M. Magee, and was named “Ebenezer.” In 1880, the building was sold and a new church was erected on the same site. It was dedicated on June 12, 1881. The church was incorporated on Feb. 20, 1883, as “Ebenezer M.E. Church.” On May 29, 1912, it was incorporated as “Willis M.E. Church,” in honor of the Rev. Jonathan S. Willis. It ceased to function about 1930. In 1940, the building was moved to Manship Methodist Church to be used as a social-hall.

Hopkin’s Cemetery is located on the road from Masten’s Corner to Burnite’s Mill. This land was donated to a board of trustees on May 16, 1898, by Mary E. Warner as a cemetery site and as a site for a proposed church. The deed requested that special care be given to the graves known as the Hopkin’s row and the Wm. M. Warner row. No church was ever built.

Manship Methodist Church (M.E.) and Black Swamp M.E. Church. The exact location of Black Swamp Church was probably near Black Swamp schoolhouse, east of Hollandsville. It was built in the early 1800’s and was active until 1855 at which time Manship M.E. Church was built five miles east.

Manship M.E. Church is located four miles west of Felton. The first church was organized in 1858, by the Rev. J.M. Magee, and was named “Ebenezer.” In 1880, the building was sold and a new church was erected on the same site. It was dedicated on June 12, 1881. The church was incorporated on Feb. 20, 1883, as “Ebenezer M.E. Church.” On May 29, 1912, it was incorporated as “Willis M.E. Church,” in honor of the Rev. Jonathan S. Willis. It ceased to function about 1930. In 1940, the building was moved to Manship Methodist Church to be used as a social-hall.

west of Felton, near Hollandsville. Manship Church was dedicated on Dec. 2, 1855, by the Rev. Andrew Manship, for whom the church was named. He was assisted by the Revs. J. B. Merritt and Mr. McClintock. Incidentally, Mr. Manship was the author of "Thirteen Years in the Itinerancy," of which at least two editions were printed. In 1940, Willis' Church was moved to Manship Church and converted into a social-hall.

St. Paul's P. E. Church, in Murderkill Hundred, was built of frame in the fall of 1761 under the direction of the Rev. Charles Inglis, a Church of England missionary stationed in Kent County. Mr. Inglis conducted a service on a week-day, once each month. On Oct. 31, 1765 John R. Reid transferred to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, 2 acres of land at a cost of 5 pounds. The deed recites that St. Paul's Church had already been built and that it is located near the Maryland line, on the road from Dover to Choptank Bridge.

This church was last mentioned in the report of 1836. It had become dilapidated, was blown down in 1836 and all trace of it has disappeared.

The Melvin Free Gospel Church was located three-quarters of a mile n. w. of Hollandsville, near Kemp's Crossroads, on the road to Edwardsville. This frame church was built, in the early 1880's, by Hinson Melvin, on his farm. Services were in charge of Noah Walls, preacher and singer. During the services, his daughter, a strapping girl, would take her stand, with a hickory club, in the center aisle, to preserve order. Numerous disturbances were created by the rowdies of this section, known as "Sockum," when they would get "liquored up." During those days there was usually a case pending in the courts at Dover, emanating from these brawls.

Dissent arose in the congregation which resulted in the building of Zion Holiness Church and the abandonment of Melvin's Church. The site is marked by a large mound, close to the road, where Mr. Melvin and his wife are buried in unmarked graves.

Zion Holiness Church was located one and one-half miles n. w. of Hollandsville, just off the road to Edwardsville. This church was built in the late 1880's by a dissenting group from Melvin Free Gospel Church, led by Noah Walls, the preacher. Services were abandoned about 1899 and the building was torn down.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church, near Hollandsville. The first meetings of this congregation were held in the Zion Holiness Church, in the late 1880's. On July 31, 1890, one-half an acre of land was purchased from Samuel H. Lister as a church site. The church was built and was on the opposite side of the road from Zion Holiness Church and some distance down the road toward Hughes' Crossroads. This church was burned about 1901, after which the meetings were held in S. H. Lister's home. These meetings were continued until 1913 at which time the church at Whitleysburg was built.

Walnut Grove Church was located between Zion Holiness Church and Hughes' Crossroads, on the farm of Wm. E. Greenlee. It was built, about 1879, by Mr. Greenlee and services were conducted by visiting ministers. It was planned to adopt the M. P. doctrines but the church was never dedicated. Services were abandoned in 1881 and the church was moved to a new site on the farm where it was used as a farm building.
Cedar Grove M. P. Church is located on a dirt road two and one-half miles n. e. of Whitleysburg. It was founded in 1844 when a chapel was built and a graveyard was laid out. The membership increased so rapidly that it was found necessary, in 1858, to build the present church across the road from the graveyard. It was dedicated on Jan. 2, 1859, by the Revs. James Nichols and E. Y. Reese. Services were discontinued in 1932. The church was secured by the Pilgrim Holiness in 1935 and they are still holding services there. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find in the graveyard is that of William H. Dill, who died Feb. 7, 1876.

Cooper’s M. E. Meeting-House. About 1795, John Cooper, a local-preacher, built a small chapel at Greenlee’s Crossroads. It was known as Cooper’s Meeting-House. When Cedar Grove Church was opened, in 1844, the meeting-house was closed.

Whitleysburg Seventh Day Adventist Church was organized and the church was built in 1913. The site was purchased on Apr. 7, 1913, from Ella Anthony. It was built of cement blocks and the western boundary line of Delaware passed directly through the church. It was on a circuit and regular services were held by the pastor once each month, on Saturday morning, which is their Sabbath. Services were held on the other Sabbaths and they were in charge of a local member.

In 1944, it was decided to merge with the Farmington congregation and to build a new church at Harrington. The last service was held at Whitleysburg on Apr. 29, 1944. The building and the one-acre site were sold at a public sale, held in Longfellow’s store, on Apr. 17, 1944.

Masten’s Methodist Church (M. E.). located at Masten’s Corner was built in 1873 on land purchased from Joseph A. Masten on Dec. 14, 1874. In 1886, the church was entirely refurnished and, in 1896, the building was renovated.

Asbury M. E. Chapel was located about midway between Harrington and Masten’s Corner. On Apr. 14, 1814, William Masten, 3rd, deeded to a board of five trustees of the Union Meeting-House a plot of land upon which they were to build and maintain a meeting-house and a schoolhouse. These buildings were in course of erection at the time the deed was delivered. The trustees were a self-perpetuating board with the pastor having a casting vote in case of a tie. At a later date the name was changed to “Asbury.” This church was last mentioned in the Conference Minutes in 1888.

Asbury Pilgrim Holiness Church. Early in 1901, Harrington M. E. Church sold the old Asbury Church, settlement being made on Nov. 13, 1901. The church was repaired, in June, and reopened as Asbury Pilgrim Holiness Church. Repairs were again made in 1905. The church became defunct in a few years and was sold to David Brown who moved it away and converted it into a dwelling. At the present time the dwelling is located on the extension of Sugar Stick Lane.

The schoolhouse was sold and moved into Harrington where it is still used as a dwelling.

Turner’s M. E. Church, colored, was named for a preacher of that name who was instrumental in having the church built. It was located s. e. of Felton on what is now the Oscar Hill farm. The site was purchased on Oct. 9, 1885, from Samuel L. Peck. The church was built by Frank and Joseph Abbott. It became defunct and no trace of it remains.
St. Stephen's P. E. Church in Harrington. In 1868, the Rev. J. Leighton McKim, M.A., rector of Christ Church in Milford, began to hold services in Harrington on each Sunday afternoon. The foundations for a church building were erected on the edge of the town, in 1871, and some lumber was delivered. Then a controversy arose over the deed to the site which had been promised as a gift. The work stood still for three years. Then the present site was secured and the building was started with the expectation of having it completed by Aug. 1, 1875. The church was built by subscription, a large portion, being contributed by Dr. McKim.

The consecration service was conducted by Bishop Alfred Lee on June 6, 1876. The church was renovated in 1888. In 1907-08, a sidewalk was laid. A new organ and electric lighting were installed in 1922. In 1922-23, a new roof was built and an altar, donated by St. John’s Church in Wilmington, was installed. In 1925-26, a chancel window in memory of Dr. McKim was presented by Nicholas R. Johnson.

It has always been a Mission never having attained the status of a Parish. It is one of the three missions established by the Rev. J. Leighton McKim of Christ Church in Milford. The other two being All Saints’ at Rehoboth Beach and St. John the Baptist, at Milton. Dr. McKim continued as priest-in-charge from the founding until 1880 and from 1894 until 1918. Except for short intervals, St. Stephen’s has been served by the clergy of Christ Church. The Rev. Joseph S. Hinks assumed charge on May 1, 1930. For years St. Stephen's was known as the “little red church.” It possesses many memorials including windows, communion vessels and altar supplies. Services are held regularly on the second and fourth Sundays of each month.

Trinity Methodist Church (M. P.) at Harrington was organized in the local schoolhouse in 1880. A frame church was built on the present site of the fire-house. This site was purchased on Apr. 23, 1881, from John Clymer. The church was dedicated on Aug. 19, 1881, by the Revs. T. H. Lewis, R. S. Rowe and John E. Nicholson. The church was incorporated on Oct. 2, 1900. The present site was purchased on June 6, 1904, and the brick church was completed in that year. Pulpit chairs were presented by Mrs. Tamsie Reese. The parsonage, next to the church, was completed in 1917. An individual communion service was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Potter in memory of their daughter Viola, who had been church organist for 14 years. The communion table was presented in honor of Wm. J. Potter. The pipe-organ was installed and first used on Dec. 21, 1924. The Sapp Memorial Building was erected by Mrs. Ora C. Sapp in honor of her husband and children. It includes Primary and Beginners Departments, memorial windows, kitchen and heating plant. It was opened for use on Sun., Dec. 12, 1926. The name “Trinity,” selected from a group of ten names after five weeks’ voting, was adopted on Mar. 14, 1939.

Harrington Baptist Church. This church was organized and a church was completed and was dedicated on Oct. 13, 1889, by the Rev. Frank Howes. The site had been purchased on Mar. 27, 1889, from Henry C. Wolcott. In 1896, the congregation from Vernon Baptist Church merged with them. Never very strong the church was closed after a few years. In 1907, the building was sold to the Pilgrim Holiness congregation. It is the present Nazarene Church.

Asbury Methodist Church (M.E.) at Harrington. The first Methodist Sunday School in Harrington was started by Dr. F. J. Owens. On Mar. 30, 1858, a deed for 28,300 square feet of land was given by Albert Butler, Winthrop E.
Faulkner and Francis Tuttle, Jr., to a board of trustees for the use of a M. E. Church forever. This was done at the request of Ann Elizabeth Harrington who had sold the land to them for its timber. The parsonage was built in 1858, but the first church was not built until 1870. It was dedicated on Oct. 23, 1870, by the Revs. R. W. Todd and Andrew Manship. During these twelve years the members worshipped in the railroad engine-house and in the schoolhouse. The church was rededicated on June 1, 1873, by the Revs. R. L. Dashiell and J. S. Willis.

In 1890, the church was rebuilt and a rededication service was arranged for June 1, 1890. The church was incorporated on July 6, 1914. In 1915, a pipe-organ was installed through the help of Andrew Carnegie, the Pittsburgh philanthropist. In 1929, when the Rev. Edward H. Collins was pastor, the Collins Educational Building was erected for the use of the church-school and other church organizations. On May 23, 1939, by popular vote, the name "Asbury" was adopted. In April, 1939, the original communion set which had been presented to the early church by Ann E. Harrington (Mrs. Nimrod) was restored by her great-granddaughter, Miss Ann Messick. Enclosed in a glass case, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo T. Jones, it was placed on the original communion table which had been restored. In 1939, the Christ Chapel for Youth, in memory of Mrs. Addie Satterfield, was presented by her daughters. The newly-rebuilt pipe-organ was dedicated on Sun., Dec. 17, 1944, by Dist. Supt. Dr. Walter A. Hearn.

Harrington Presbyterian Church began with meetings held in the schoolhouse in 1871. The church site on the west side of Dorman St., beside the private graveyard of Geo. W. Dorman, was purchased from J. Sharp, et al., on June 24, 1872. A church was formally organized on Mon., Dec. 2, 1872. A church building was erected in 1873. It was arranged to have the church dedicated on Dec. 7, 1873, by the Revs. J. H. Johns, A. A. Dinsmore and J. G. Hamner. The church ceased to function and the building, on Dorman St. became dilapidated. It was destroyed by fire in 1924. At this time the bodies from the adjoining graveyard were reinterred in Hollywood Cemetery. The land was sold and is now the site of a dwelling and the New Century Club.

Harrington Pilgrim Holiness and the Church of the Nazarene. In 1902, the Apostolic Holiness Union Church held a revival in a hall at Harrington. The crowds became so large and so enthusiastic that, fearing for the safety of the building, the meetings were transferred to the shirt factory. The church was incorporated on June 4, 1902. On Mar. 25, 1903, they purchased from the Del. Bap. Union, the Baptist Church on Mechanic St. On Mar. 23, 1906, they purchased the parsonage lot from Samuel L. Shaw. The church was dedicated on May 14, 1907, by the Rev. D. M. Carpenter. Dissention arose in the congregation and a bare majority voted to turn the property over to the Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene. On June 15, 1910, they purchased a property on Mechanic St. from Wm. H. Knox for a parsonage, this was sold later. The minority withdrew from the church in March, 1909, held meetings in Masten's Hall and organized a Pilgrim Holiness Church. Trustees were elected on May 10, 1909. On May 26, 1909, Cyrus N. Grant donated a church site on Liberty St. A church was built and it was dedicated on Nov. 28, 1909. Additional land was purchased, on Sept. 3, 1937, from Cyrus N. Grant. Mr. Grant owned the land on both sides of the church lot. He sold one of these adjoining lots to an individual and when it was surveyed it developed that the church building encroached on this lot. To correct this, the church bought the adjoining...

ing lot on the other side of the church and had the building moved over the required distance. The parsonage lot was purchased from Irma J. Harrington on June 1, 1939. The church was incorporated on Sept. 16, 1939.

Metropolitan M. E. Church, colored. This church was organized in 1873. A board of trustees, headed by James Friend, was elected. They purchased a church site, consisting of 16½ sq. perches, from Henry C. Wolcott on May 17, 1873, and a church was built. Land on West St. was purchased on July 14, 1893, from Mr. Wolcott and the present church was then built. It was dedicated on Oct. 8, 1893. The church was rebuilt in 1920.

St. Paul's A. M. E. Church was organized in 1894. The church site on New St. was purchased on Mar. 12, 1894, from Henry C. Wolcott. The church was completed in 1895. On May 16, 1922, additional land was purchased from Annie M. Wolcott and the church was rebuilt.

In the early 1940's there was a small church on East St. known as the Macedonia Baptist Church. It ceased to function after a year of service.

White's Methodist Church (M. E.). In the home of Judge Thomas White, in Mispillion Hundred, was held the first Annual Conference of the M. E. Church in America. At that time they had not entirely separated from the Church of England and it was decided at this Conference not to separate. Mr. Asbury was very much opposed to separation. The Second Conference was held here on April 16, 1781.

These Conferences must have been local affairs as the Methodist Episcopal Church in America was not organized until 1784. This took place at the so-called Christmas Conference held in Baltimore on Dec. 25, 1784.

The Methodists had been subjected to many outrages and were held in utter contempt by the members of the other denominations. In April, 1778, Judge White, who was Judge of the Common Pleas Court in Kent County, was arrested and placed in jail on charges arising from the fact that he was a Methodist. He was confined for five weeks and then acquitted. It was in Judge White's home that Mr. Asbury took refuge on Mar. 25, 1778, when the authorities sought to arrest him on similar charges.

To understand the charges against Judge White and Bishop Asbury one must remember that during those troublous Revolutionary days, the Patriots considered anyone who had any favorable English connections to be a Tory and therefore an enemy. The Methodist Church was considered a part of the Church of England from which they had not yet withdrawn. The Patriots presumed that these church leaders favored the British side of the quarrel and for that reason accused them of treason. As accusation that was hardly justified and never proven.

Mr. Asbury remained in seclusion at Judge White's for two years. He was able to conduct, clandestinely, some of his many duties.

Incidentally, even today, the Judge White home would make an ideal hideout. Although the house can be seen from the road, one of several long lanes must be traversed to reach it. Built of brick and frame with high ceilings and numerous fireplaces it has been a fine home in its time but is rather dilapidated today.

Freeborn Garrettson preached two sermons at Judge White's on Sept. 5, 1778, the first time he preached under a tree and the second time in the house. He preached here again on June 28, 1779. He mentioned in his Journal that the Nicholites were very active in this section.

The Nicholites or New Quakers were a recalcitrant group organized by Joseph Nichols of western Kent Co., Del., about 1760. They built three meeting-houses in Caroline Co., Maryland. By 1803, the meeting-houses and the members were taken over by the Friends.

Meetings were held by the Methodists in Judge White's home for three years. The erection of a chapel on Judge White's farm was started in 1780. Mr. Asbury preached there on Sept. 17, 1780, and his Journal notes: "White's Chapel, a miserable place it is, unfinished and one part lying open to the sun. A group of mocking young men." Mr. Asbury preached at White's on Oct. 6, 1782, after the chapel was completed and noted that: "it is one of the neatest chapels the Methodists have on the whole continent."

At a later date, Union M. E. Church was organized and met in White's schoolhouse which was located where White's Chapel now stands. On July 20, 1841, Wm. Wix donated 50 perches of land at White's schoolhouse to White's Chapel.

The chapel was moved to the new site which is four and one-half miles west of Harrington. Union Church merged with them, the old schoolhouse being used as a social-hall. Both the church and the school were destroyed by fire about 1861. The present church was then built.

Although the congregation is very small, services are held every other Sunday by a regular pastor. After being redecorated and recarpeted the 164th Anniversary was held on Feb. 6, 1944. There are a few graves in back of the church. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Sarah Wix, who died on Feb. 20, 1844.

Prospect Methodist Church (M.E.) is located just east of Vernon. On Apr. 23, 1835, Jacob Graham, et al., donated 60 perches of land to a board of trustees upon which they agreed to build a church. The present church was built in 1874 and was dedicated by Bishop Levi Scott.

Zion Baptist Church at Vernon. The Zion Independent Methodist Church was organized at Vernon. In December, 1870, they invited the Rev. O. F. Flippo, a Baptist missionary, to preach to them. A revival was held and the congregation gradually swung over to the Baptist faith. On Mar. 12, 1871, the entire congregation was baptized and a preacher was installed. The church was incorporated on July 27, 1871. It was recognized as Zion Baptist Church in April, 1871. A new church was built one mile from Vernon on the road to Gum Swamp Island.

The building was dedicated on Nov. 19, 1871, by the Rev. O. F. Flippo assisted by the Revs. Isaac Cole, George Bradford and W. H. Spencer. The church measured 28 ft. by 36 ft., and was semi-Gothic in style. It was built on the land of J. W. Smith. For years the baptisms were held in a nearby ditch until a baptismal pool was built in the church. Late in 1896, the congregation moved into Harrington. In February, 1897, the church building was sold, moved to Concord, Md., and converted into a dwelling.

Wesley Methodist Church (M.E.) at Burrsville. Burrsville lays astride the Del.-Md. boundary line. Wesley Methodist Church is on the Delaware side, the boundary line crossed the doorstep of the church which was burned in 1934. The first church was erected in 1834. Thomas Baynard was the builder and the building is still in use on the farm of Thomas E. Cahall.

In 1872, work was started on the second structure. The corner-stone was laid on Nov. 7, 1872. It was dedicated in May, 1873, with Bishop Levi Scott in charge and the Rev. Andrew Manship preaching the sermon. Henry Thawley, for many years Supt. of the Sunday School, was the builder. He also cut and hauled the timbers. On Feb. 18, 1934, just after the morning service had closed, the building was burned to the ground. Work was started immediately to build another church. There was some sentiment that the new building should be located in the village but it was decided to retain the old site. Under the leadership of the Rev. Leon W. Ross, the church was ready for dedication on Dec. 16, 1934, with all of the costs met by cash and subscription. The Rev. E. C. Hallman, Dist. Supt., conducted the dedication and preached at the morning service. The Rev. Roy T. Thawley, grandson of Henry Thawley, assisted at the dedication and preached the afternoon sermon. There is a large cemetery enclosed with an iron fence.

Milford Circuit M. E. Church, colored, was located one and one-half miles west of Prettyman’s Corner. The church site was donated on May 19, 1894, by Samuel A. Tharp, at which time the church had been erected. It became defunct and no evidence of the church remains.

Houston Methodist Church (M.E.) was built of frame in 1883-84. It was dedicated in October, 1884. The church site, on Broad St., was donated on May 7, 1886, by David Scott. After major improvements, the church was re-dedicated on Sun., Nov. 26, 1893, by the Rev. W. L. S. Murray. In January, 1899, both the church and the parsonage were destroyed by fire.

A new church site, on Broad St., was donated on Mar. 6, 1899, by John C. Wharton. The corner-stone of the present brick church was laid on July 4, 1899, by the Rev. G. S. Smith. It was dedicated in October, 1899. The church was incorporated on July 22, 1911.

A new electric organ was dedicated on Sun., Apr. 27, 1947, by the pastor, the Rev. Wm. J. McKee assisted by the Rev. Dr. O. A. Bartley. The Wesley Junior College choir sang under the direction of Mrs. Wm. J. Storey. An organ recital was given by Mrs. Ethel Johnson. Funds for purchasing the organ were raised by Mrs. Estelle Biggs’ class with former State Senator Robt. H. Yerkes as leader.

Houston Mission M. E. Church, colored, is located on the western edge of Houston. The church site was donated on Nov. 1, 1923, by Geo. F. Dunning. This church was established, in 1924, when the Williamsville congregation secured the old schoolhouse, moved it to Houston and transferred their activities to this point. More land was purchased on June 26, 1928.

Williamsville Methodist Church (M.E.) was the outgrowth of meetings held in the schoolhouse previous to 1850. Then, W. T. Griffith donated a piece of land upon which a chapel was built and named “Griffith’s Chapel,” in honor of the donor. A graveyard is located beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1862. In 1884, services were discontinued and the membership transferred to Houston Church. The church was reopened in 1897. After another closed period it was reopened as a Houston charge. Services were discontinued in 1940. The church was reopened on Sun., Mar. 15, 1942, with Robert Hammond as Supt. of the Sunday School. Preaching is held every other Sunday by the pastor of Houston Church.

Williamsville M. E. Church, colored, was located on the edge of that village. The church site was purchased from Sarah, David and Caroline Hitchens on May 1, 1867. A frame church was built and a graveyard was laid out. In 1924, the church was abandoned when the congregation moved to Houston. The old building was torn down in 1944. There is a large graveyard.

Millwood Methodist Church (M.E.) is located three miles north of Milford to the west of the Highway. On Apr. 18, 1882, one-quarter of an acre of land was purchased from Elizabeth H. Mitchell upon which to build a church. The timber was reserved and there was a reversion clause. The church was built by a group of Methodist Protestants who had been meeting in Milford. They opened the church in September, 1880. Located close to a tub mill the church was commonly called the "Tub Mill Church." In September, 1883, the congregation decided to turn the church over to Avenue M. E. Church of Milford for administration of the services. It was dedicated by the Rev. J. S. Willis and was named "Willis M. E. Chapel" in his honor. An additional five acres was secured from Elizabeth W. Mitchell on Sept. 30, 1897. In 1914, a well-equipped social-hall was built beside the church. More land was donated on Dec. 30, 1932, by Harry Greenberg. The name "Millwood" was adopted sometime previous to 1897.

Mispillion Baptist Church. Three and one-half miles north of Milford on a road to the west at a distance of one-half mile is the site of the first Baptist Church in Milford Hundred. It is close to Baptist Branch which undoubtedly took its name from this church. It was organized on May 10, 1783, and after meeting in private homes for many years, it was incorporated in 1796. On Aug. 15, 1796, David Dewees conveyed to a board of trustees the land upon which the church was built and the graveyard was laid out. It was named the "Mispillion Baptist Church." Services were discontinued in 1865. Its name disappeared from the minutes of the Delaware Ass'n in 1868. The church has entirely disappeared but the old graveyard, close to the road and enclosed with an iron fence, still remains. The plot has been neglected for several years and is badly overgrown with brush and saplings.

Mushmillion Friends' Meeting, also known as Mispillion and Milford. The Friends of Milford are first mentioned in the records of Duck Creek Monthly Meeting on May 19, 1707, at which time meetings were being held in private homes. On Sept. 20, 1750, the Monthly Meeting was informed that the meetings of Mushmillion Friends had been transferred from the home of Matthew Manloes to that of Reineer Williams, it being more convenient.

A meeting-house was built, in 1760, at Three Runs. On Nov. 13, 1790, five acres of land were purchased close to Quaker Branch and a meeting-house was erected in 1795 on the King's Highway with the burying-ground on the opposite side of the road. The old meeting-house was then abandoned. The Preparative Meeting was discontinued in 1832 and the worship Meeting was discontinued in 1833. The building has entirely disappeared. The site is marked by a small clump of trees west of the Highway three-quarters of a mile south of the northern entrance to Milford.

Church Hill Sunday School. During the mid-1800's, when transportation was difficult, Sunday Schools were quite often established by Christian people who realized the real need of religious instruction for the young people of these rather isolated districts. The school were usually opened in the district schoolhouse and the teachings were of an undenominational character.

A Sunday School of this type was started in the schoolhouse at Church Hill, west of Milford, in 1876. It had a prosperous existence for many years. The last superintendent was Stephen Golan Armour. The school was closed in 1897.

Avenue Methodist Church (M.E.) at Milford. In 1777, Methodist meetings were held in the home of Reynear Williams by the Rev. John Cooper. During the year 1778, Bishop Francis Asbury preached three times at these services. On Dec. 3, 1787, a lot of land on North St., in Milford, was donated to the Methodist Society by Joseph Oliver, the founder of Milford. On this lot, a frame church was built and a graveyard was laid out. This is the present Methodist Cemetery where former Governor Peter F. Causey is buried. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Simon Miller who died on Sept. 3, 1795. The church stood in about the center of the present cemetery and faced west. Before the building was entirely completed a funeral sermon was preached in it by the Rev. Wm. Jessup. The first illumination was by candles which were replaced later with sperm-oil lamps. In 1789, the church was in charge of the Rev. Thomas Jackson and Wm. Radcliff with the Rev. Richard Whatcoat as Presiding Elder. In a report to the Conference that year, 879 white members and 236 colored members were reported in the circuit. In 1790, the frame church was fully completed with a gallery for the colored members. In 1796, Wm. Colbert, in his diary, stated that the circuit extended from Frederica to Georgetown to Lewes and included 32 preaching places. In 1800, an addition was built to the church and it continued in use for 42 years. The Methodist Conference was held here in 1821. On Jan. 5, 1827, a Sunday School was organized by Mrs. Samuel Draper.

In 1842, a brick church was built at 3rd and North Sts. This is the present St. Paul's M. E. Church, colored. Philadelphia Conference met here on Apr. 1, 1845. In 1852, the church was made a station although Cedar Neck Church continued to be associated with it until 1869.

In 1871, the brick church was built on Railroad Ave., now Church Ave. There was considerable controversy before the final selection of the present site. Some members claimed that the site was on the edge of the town, that it was low and marshy and surrounded by stables and pig-pens. They also accused those favoring the site of using unfair means to attain their end. Those favoring the site claimed that it was central, high ground and perfectly suitable as a church site.

The work of building the new church progressed gradually and by the end of 1872 the basement and lecture-room were completed. A farewell memorial service was held in the old church on Dec. 29, 1872. The first service in the new church was held in the lecture-room on Jan. 5, 1873, a very stormy day. The services were in charge of the Revs. Jacob Todd and S. W. Thomas. The church bell, a gift of Captain Henry W. Laws, was placed in position on Jan. 25, 1873.

On Apr. 3, 1874, a group headed by Nathan Pratt purchased the old church at 3rd and North Sts. They converted it into a playhouse which they named "Music Hall." It was popularly known as the "Opera House." Musical and dramatic productions were booked and appeared there. Two rooms were equipped as school-rooms by the Academy and at least one music teacher had his studio in the building.
In 1882, Messrs. Isaac Truitt, Alex Pullen and Burr conducted experiments in conserving fruits in the building. The building was sold to St. Paul’s M. E. Church, colored, on Sept. 14, 1889.

The construction work on the new church on Railroad Ave. was resumed in March, 1876. The church was completed and was dedicated on Mar. 3, 1877. The services were in charge of the Rev. Dr. R. L. Dashiell who preached both morning and evening. At this time the name “Avenue” was selected.

After extensive improvements, a rededication service was held on Dec. 22, 1889. The morning service was led by the Rev. Dr. George E. Reed, Pres. of Dickinson College. The Hon. W. F. Causey led the afternoon exercises and the Rev. T. E. Terry preached in the evening. A new organ was installed in March, 1901. Methodist Conferences have been held here a number of times.

The ground was broken for the present stone church on Feb. 12, 1939, by Governor Richard C. McMullen. The corner-stone was laid on Mar. 19, 1939. With the erection of the stone church, the spire on the former brick church, one of the most outstanding in Delaware, was removed, much to the chagrin of many residents of Milford. The church was incorporated as Avenue Methodist Church on Nov. 3, 1939. The new church was dedicated on Dec. 24, 1939, by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, assisted by Dist. Supt. Dr. W. A. Hearn and the Rev. Frank Herson, the pastor. The organ, a gift of Mrs. George H. Hall in memory of her husband, was dedicated at the evening service by Dr. Hearn.

Included in the church establishment are the auditorium, Friendship Chapel, various Sunday School rooms, dining-room and kitchen. The memorial windows were reset in the new church. A window, executed by Tiffany, in memory of Wm. F. and Anna P. Causey, was presented by their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Aldrich. The brick church will be used as a social-hall and it is proposed to veneer it with stone to conform to the new church.

Christ P. E. Church at Milford. The first Episcopalian services in lower Kent County are believed to have been held west of Milford, in 1704, by the Rev. Thomas Crawford, a missionary of the Church of England. On Feb. 12, 1755, Joseph and Isaac Mason sold to a board of trustees for thirty shillings, an acre of land on the south side of Pemberton’s Savannah. This land was located at Church Hill, three miles west of Milford, and was to be used as a site for a church of the Church of England. It was officially known as “Christ Church of Mispillion.” The church was popularly known as “Savannah Church” because of the swamp or savannah beside the church. Two wings were added to the building in 1761.

In 1773, the Rev. Sydenham Thorne arrived and took up his residence near Church Hill. When Christ Church was built in Milford the little church at Church Hill was abandoned as was the little burial-ground beside the church. In this graveyard many of the early pioneers of that section were buried including Jehu Davis, a former Governor of Delaware. This graveyard suffered the fate of many such sacred spots when the interest in those buried there had disappeared. Today the bodies of these neglected dead lie beneath the concrete highway with nothing to mark the spot.

One of the few memorials and the last one to survive was over the grave of John S. Asparagus who was born in 1781 and who died in 1847. It consisted of a recumbent slab 4 ft. by 8 ft. and about 4 inches thick. It was first broken when an ox-team became unmanageable and trampled over the stone. Later, small boys would break off pieces to be used as bases in their ball games. Finally, only a small section remained and it was removed to a nearby woods.
In 1777, Parson Thorne, a wealthy man, purchased a farm on the outskirts of the present town of Milford. He erected an imposing brick home which is still standing on n. w. Front St. Joseph Oliver owned the adjoining farm to the east and at the suggestion of Parson Thorne, Mr. Oliver began selling lots for a town site. Nearly all of the deeds given by Mr. Oliver provided for a small consideration and an annual ground rent that had to be paid promptly on Jan. 1st of each year. He deeded, as a gift, two lots at Third and Church Sts., for the use of Christ Church. At a later date more land was purchased from the Oliver heirs and this land was subject to a ground rent of $6.92. This was in effect until 1932, when the ground rent was extinguished by the purchase of a release from Mrs. Elizabeth M. L. Nutter the present owner of the Oliver ground rents.

The foundations of Christ Church were laid in 1791. It was built of brick burned closeby from clay dug on Mr. Oliver’s land. The timbers were cut from trees on Parson Thorne’s land and either hewn to size by hand or cut to size at his mill. Parson Thorne died on Feb. 13, 1793, at the age of 45 years and is buried in the family graveyard, surrounded by a stone wall, on the old Thorne property on n. w. Front St. The death of Parson Thorne caused the work of building the church to be stopped, with the building in condition to use but not fully completed. Mr. Oliver, a member of the vestry, was originally buried on his farm but was moved later to a spot close to the rear of the church. Over the grave is a well-preserved tombstone stating that Joseph Oliver died on Feb. 28, at twenty minutes of seven in the morning in the year of our Lord, 1807, aged about 80 years. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Wm. Sorden, who died on March 8, 1806.

The church was not completed, as originally designed, until 1835. This work was done by Sam. Draper and John Eubanks, carpenters of Milford. During the work a piece of lumber was placed against a stove pipe to dry. The board became ignited, and started a fire that jumped to the roof and did serious damage before it was subdued. The firemen responded with their hand-engine and a line was formed to pass leather buckets filled with water from the creek to supply the engine.

The consecration services were held on Jan. 26, 1836, with the Rt. Rev. Henry U. Onderdonk, in charge. The certificate of consecration sealed and signed by Bishop Onderdonk is framed and hangs in the vestibule of the church. The church had galleries on three sides and a high pulpit with a sounding board. The work on the building was completed in 1838. During 1861-64, the Rev. J. Leighton McKim made many improvements including enlarging the seating capacity. An organ was presented in 1868. A Bishop’s chair was a gift from the children of the Sunday School. In 1873, a bell was purchased. An iron fence was presented by Manlove R. Carlisle, in 1881.

On Thanksgiving Day, 1882, shortly after the close of the services, fire was discovered, by the rector, in a basement partition. With the help of his brother, who was visiting him, the rector extinguished the blaze. In 1890, a mission chapel was built on Marshall St., above Front St., in South Milford. In the spring of 1892, the chapel was destroyed in a gale and it was not replaced. The church tower was completed in 1893. In 1894-95, electric lighting was installed. In 1907-08, windows in memory of John R. Draper and Mary E. Torbert were unveiled. In 1910-11, a house was rented for the use of the parish societies. In 1913-14, a window in memory of Mrs. Rodney, an eagle lectern in memory of Mrs. James M. Hall and altar vases in memory of Mrs. E. Lofland were installed.

In 1914, windows in memory of Mrs. Mary E. Lofland, Wm. and Robert
J. Beswick were unveiled. On Oct. 8, 1915, a house on n. w. Front St. was purchased for a rectory. On Mar. 25, 1916, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman conducted a service of benediction in the rectory. In August, 1915, the church was damaged by lightning. In 1925, the land adjoining the church was purchased. The parish-house and rectory were built in 1926 and the former rectory was sold.

On May 23, 1923, and May 23, 1932, ground rents on the property, held by Mrs. Elizabeth M. L. Nutter were extinguished.

The Rev. J. Leighton McKim, for many years rector of Christ Church, purchased the "red house" on Second St. for his family. It became known as "the old rectory." Miss Marion McKim, a daughter of Dr. McKim, still occupies the house. It is one of Milford's early residences, having been built about 1813. Former Governors Wm. Tharp and Wm. Burton are buried in the graveyard.

The church received title to the site on Dec. 24, 1875, from E. Smith, from whom it had been purchased.

On Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26, 1942, a service was held to which all of the Milford churches were invited. The interior of the church had been renovated during the previous three months and a rededication service was included in the Thanksgiving service.

Kramlich who conducted the hotel at that time. The first agitation toward the erection of a church was started in 1896. On Dec. 8, 1909, the present site containing 11,280 sq. ft. of land was purchased from the Grier's for $350.00. The Rev. T. F. Waldron of Holy Cross Church in Dover worked and begged to secure funds to erect the present church. The contract to build was awarded on Feb. 21, 1910, to Joseph T. Rogers of Milford.

The dedication services were held on June 26, 1910. Father Waldron conducted a regular Mass at 7 o'clock. At 10:45 A. M. the service of dedication, by Bishop John J. Monaghan was started. A procession of priests was formed and circled the grounds as Bishop Monaghan, in the lead, blessed the ground and the four corners of the building while the dedicatory choral was being sung. They then proceeded into the sacristy. Bishop Monaghan conferred the Pontifical Blessing upon those present. The name "St. John's" was selected in honor of the Bishop. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Vicar-General John A. Lyons. Solemn High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. James L. McSweeney, assisted by Fathers Hanley and Dougherty. The afternoon sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Hanley. The choir from Holy Cross Church at Dover furnished the music. Between the two services the Bishop, the priests and the choir were entertained at dinner in the Central Hotel.

The congregation was organized on Thurs., Oct. 6, 1910. A frame tabernacle was built and furnished in one week at a cost of $800.00. The opening service was held on Oct. 30, 1910 and the revival was continued. A Sunday School was organized on Nov. 13, 1910 with Wm. H. Richardson as Superintendent. During that month church officers were elected and the Rev. L. A. Bennett of Harrington became the pastor on Dec. 1, 1910. The church was incorporated on Jan. 16, 1911.

The Tabernacle was used until May 12, 1912. A building committee was appointed on Mar. 11, 1911 and work was started on a large church built of cement blocks. The sand used in making the blocks was hauled from Cedar Beach and the blocks were made on location. The site was purchased from the Nutter Davis estate.

The church was completed and was dedicated on May 19, 1912. The Rev. L. A. Bennett, the pastor, was in charge of the services. The Rev. D. L. Greenfield preached in the morning with the Dover Glee Club furnishing the music. At 2 P. M., the Sunday School met at the old tabernacle and marched to the new building. Here, the exercises were conducted by the Rev. Messrs. Holmes, Mowbray, Bunstein, Carroll, Andrews, Savage and Johnson. The Dover Glee Club and the Avenue M. E. Church choir furnished the music. The evening sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. J. S. Bower. Music was furnished by the local Presbyterian choir. The church bell was a gift of Mrs. Geo. Wilson’s Sunday School class.

The parsonage was purchased on Dec. 28, 1918, from Emma C. Sipple. Land adjacent to the church was purchased on Mar. 6, 1931, from Mary L. Marshall.

The name “Calvary” was adopted in 1939. During that year the church had been redecorated.

The Pilgrim Holiness Church at Milford was organized at tent meetings held in South Milford. The organization was effected on Jan. 11, 1922. In the meantime, they held their meetings in the old schoolhouse, the Red Men’s Hall and the New Century Club. The present church site was purchased on Jan. 7, 1927 from Hettie Prettyman. The church was completed and was dedicated on May 8, 1927. At midnight on May 10, 1942, fire broke out and the church was seriously damaged. Repairs were made immediately and the reopening was celebrated with all-day services on June 28, 1942. The parsonage was secured on Aug. 8, 1942.

The Milford M. E. Chapel. In the early 1880's a Methodist Sunday School was conducted in South Milford in the schoolhouse. The chapel was built, in 1885, through the efforts of Peter F. Causey, John C. Hall and Joshua Spencer. The motive behind this effort was to interest the people of South Milford in Methodism, many of whom, for one reason or another, could not be induced to attend Avenue Church. The corner-stone was laid on Nov. 8, 1885, in a drenching rain. Taking part were Presiding Elder A. W. Milby, the Revs. J. S. Willis, W. S. Robinson and Mr. Peter F. Causey. Owing to the rain the services were brief. Services were held regularly until more recent times when the membership was transferred to Avenue Church.

The chapel was purchased by Avenue Church on June 28, 1916. The chapel was then used as a social-hall until the improvements were made at Avenue Church. On Oct. 7, 1938, the building was purchased by Ionie Council No. 13, Degree of Pocahontas who remodeled the building into a most attractive lodge hall.

The Christian Science Society of Milford was organized on Aug. 27, 1930. They hold their meetings in Grange Hall.

The First Presbyterian Church at Milford. The first Presbyterian Church in this neighborhood was the Three Run's Church. Its site can be seen on the King's Highway where the run crosses the street. This church is believed to have been organized about 1700. In 1772, the Lewes Presbytery met here. It was a frame building with a brick floor. On Jan. 11, 1819 it was incorporated as the "First Presbyterian Church and Congregation in Milford."

Some years later the church ceased functioning because the building had fallen into decay. For a time the few members worshipped in a building in the eastern part of South Milford but finally disbanded. In 1847, there were only two members remaining. During that year a Sunday School was started by Miss Hester A. McColley, (later Mrs. Wm. Marshall).

In 1850, the congregation was resuscitated and the present brick church was built in Milford. The church site at Front St., and Pearl Alley was purchased on Apr. 12, 1850, from Rachael B. Draper. The corner-stone was laid on July 4, 1850. When completed, there was a tall spire that was outstanding in those days. A tower-clock was installed in the frame part of the church tower. A newspaper story of that time stated that the clock had been presented to the church by the State of Delaware and that there was some criticism of the State for its generosity. When the people found out how convenient a town clock was, the criticism vanished.

On Feb. 13, 1835, the State Legislature passed an Act appointing trustees and authorizing them to hold a lottery to raise $25,000.00 to be used in building a Court House at Georgetown and in dredging Broad Creek. On Feb. 4, 1851, the Legislature passed an Act directing the above trustees to pay over to the trustees of the Milford Presbyterian Church $1500.00 to be used in completing the church then under construction. No doubt the critics of the tower-clock figured that State money from this appropriation had been used in paying for the clock.

This clock was a single dial movement which was hooked up to operate four dials. This placed an unusual strain on the movement with the result that the clock was worn out in a few years and it was not replaced. Parts of the clock are still strewn about in the belfry.
The land between the church lot and Walnut St., was owned by the estate of Joshua S. Layton. A short time after the church was built, in settling Mr. Layton's estate, this plot was purchased by Thomas H. Truitt. He proceeded to build "a blacksmith shop and other unsightly buildings" which was "annoying to the church members" and to many other persons. To overcome this, Peter F. Causey dickered with Truitt and finally purchased the lot. He deeded the plot in front of the church to the church trustees on Dec. 16, 1854. The consideration was at cost or $262.50 and he stipulated that "no building shall be erected in the future."

The church was incorporated on Jan. 13, 1858. The 50th Anniversary was celebrated on Dec. 25, 1900. Services were conducted for a full week. The church was remodeled in September, 1904. The manse, on s. Walnut St., was purchased on Sept. 2, 1908. It was sold at a later date.

There was a small graveyard beside the old Three Run's church and this was used until the 1870's. In 1924, Dr. Frank L. Grier, after securing permission of the State Legislature, arranged to have the bodies reinterred in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery. Six were placed in family plots and the remaining five were buried in a double lot, purchased by Dr. Grier and turned over to the Presbyterian Church of Milford.

The Sunday School celebrated its 100th Anniversary on Sun., Feb. 23, 1947. Two of the highlights of the ceremonies were a biographical sketch of the founder, Hester McColley Marshall, read by her grandson, Dr. Wm. Marshall, Jr., and an historical quiz conducted by the Rev. J. M. De Chant, the pastor.

The First Independent Church of Milford. This church was founded by the Rev. C. W. Taylor. The first meeting was held in a private home on Feb. 8, 1944. In March, the meetings were transferred to the Degree of Pocahontas Hall. Mr. Taylor purchased the old Burrs' M. E. Church at Venton, Md., and salvaged the building materials. The erection of a church building was then started on Marshall St., in Milford. The site was donated on May 22, 1944, by Wm. V. Benson. The ground was broken on May 30, 1944. The corner-stone was laid on June 18, 1944, by Mr. Taylor, assisted by the Rev. Elwood Sakers. This was the old Burrs' Church corner-stone and the old inscription, dated 1893, was not removed but faced toward the interior of the church.

The pews and altar were purchased from Parker's Chapel, near Salisbury, Md., and the large church bell was formerly a school bell at Bower's Beach. The opening service was held on Sun., July 30, 1944, with the Rev. Mr. Sakers assisting Mr. Taylor. The church lot was dedicated on Sun., Sept. 24, 1944. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. B. MacCullough, assisted by the Revs. W. T. Archer and C. W. Taylor, the pastor.

The church, free of debt, was dedicated on Sun., July 15, 1945. Those taking part included the Revs. R. B. MacCullough, Geo. W. Andrews and C. W. Taylor, the pastor.

Cedar Neck Methodist Church (M. E.) is located four miles east of Milford on the road to Fort Saulsbury. The first church was built at an early date. A new church was dedicated on Nov. 6, 1859, by the Rev. A. Manship at the 10 o'clock service. In February, 1875, the building was burned so badly that a new church was erected during that year and it is still in use. On Feb. 5, 1913, Theodore W. Shockley donated land to the church. In 1919, major improvements were made, including a new roof. There is an enclosed graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to Dec. 21, 1875.
St. Matthews P. E. Church was located about four miles s.e. of Milford near Draper's Pond. At the crossroads beyond the mill, on a knoll in a field, is the graveyard that marks the site of old St. Matthew's. The first church was built in 1707, being the first church of that denomination erected in Sussex County. It was a timber building 20 ft. by 30 ft. by 12 ft. high, had a cypress shingle roof and cypress board sheathing. It contained the usual pulpit, desk, communion table and pews. A small gallery was added later. The branch close to the church is known as Church Branch. A second church was built in 1768. It was 36 ft. by 40 ft. and high enough to have galleries and two tiers of windows. "A church-house thereon erected" is mentioned in a survey made by Caleb Cirwithin on Apr. 10, 1770.

The church was incorporated on June 28, 1788 with the following trustees: Nehemiah Davis, Thos. Evans, Isaac Beauchamp, Geo. Walton, Jacob Townsend, Bethuel Wattson and Mark Davis. The church site of more than two acres was transferred by David Thornton to the new trustees on Oct. 28, 1788. The deed states that the church-house is erected and is located near Draper's Mill Pond. The consideration was "his pious love for the church, etc.," and five shillings.

After being reconditioned, the church was consecrated on May 29, 1836, by Bishop H. U. Onderdonk. Beginning in the winter of 1844-45 services were suspended and reopened during the summer with meetings once a month. In 1851, the church was finally closed. The rector, the Rev. John L. McKim, transferred the services to schoolhouses in different locations. Meetings were held in a nearby school during 1868-69.

On Nov. 19, 1860, the land was leased to John Ingram for a term of 33 years beginning on May 1, 1858, at a rental of $2.00 per year. It was stipulated that he could erect nothing on the land but that he could use the old church building and that the burying-ground was to be undisturbed and unbroken. In 1864, Hiram Barber purchased the building, moved it to Milford and used it as a saw-mill until December 12, 1871, when it was burned. The old graveyard, rather poorly kept, contains old gravestones dated as early as 1773. A few oaken grave markers are still standing, badly rotted and with the carved inscriptions indiscernible except for a few letters.

Cedar Creek M.E. Sunday School. Cedar Creek was formerly a thriving village and as late as 1908 there were many children for whom there was no provision for religious training. To remedy this situation, Mrs. Wm. T. Sockeyrider opened a Sunday School in her home in 1908. This effort prospered and on Dec. 3, 1913, Geo. W. Clendaniel sold to Hubbard Macklin, Jas. F. Pierce and Jos. L. Chipman, trustees, a one-acre site which included a dwelling. This house was located nearly opposite to the present store of Hubbard Macklin. The trustees altered the first floor to make it suitable for Sunday School purposes. For about five years this Sunday School was conducted with Mr. Macklin as Superintendent. When the Sunday School was closed the building was used as a dwelling and was later torn down.

Slaughter Neck Methodist Church (M.E.) is located four miles s.e. of Milford on the Rehoboth Highway. In 1777, a Methodist Society was formed at Cedar Creek in the home of Mr. Shockley by a Presbyterian Minister whose initials were "J. K." This was the seed from which Slaughter Neck Church grew. On July 26, 1810, a meeting was held and trustees were elected and incorporated under the name of "Zion Trustees." On Oct. 7, 1810, Wm. Hickman, preacher, donated 70 perches of land upon which a meeting-house had been built.

It was called "Hickman's Meeting-House." It was a frame structure with galleries on three sides. This building was used until 1855. An acre of land, near the old site, was purchased from Lemuel Draper and a new frame church was built in 1856.

Mr. Draper died in 1877 and "he had failed, during his lifetime," to transfer the land to the church trustees. His widow, Hester O. Draper remedied this oversight by giving the church a deed on May 1, 1880. In 1888, the church was practically rebuilt. More land for the graveyard was purchased on May 1, 1911, from Amos G. Bennett. In 1918, major improvements were made. The present church was built of cement blocks in 1929.

The corner-stone was laid and the church was dedicated on Nov. 24, 1929. The first sermon was preached by the Rev. Otis P. Jefferson, a native of Slaughter Neck. The corner-stone was laid at 10 A. M., by Jos. E. Holland, who was also a native of Slaughter Neck. The afternoon service was led by Dist. Supt. W. E. Habbart. The music was furnished by the choir of Bethel Church of Lewes. The choir of the First M. P. Church of Milford, under the leadership of Wm. H. Richardson, furnished the music at the evening service. The dedication service was conducted by the Rev. W. E. Habbart. The memorial windows from the old church were installed in the new church. The coal-oil lamps, the pulpit and the altar rail were also from the old church.

There is a large and prosperous congregation and the large graveyard is well laid out and is kept in fine condition. The writer believes that the original meeting-house stood to the left in the rear of the present graveyard. It is here that the oldest graves are located. The earliest of the inscribed tombstones is over the grave of Mary W. Hickman, who died on Sept. 9, 1828. She was probably a member of the family for whom the first meeting-house was named.

Siloam A. M. E. Church was originally located on the road to Cedar Creek Mill a short distance west of the Rehoboth Highway. On Oct. 27, 1827, Joseph Young donated 87 perches of land on the west side of Turner's Branch as a church site. A church was built and a graveyard was laid out. The old site and graveyard are overgrown with trees and brush and cannot be located from the road.

Two acres of land were purchased at a Sheriff's sale on Apr. 6, 1921. In 1940, the church was moved a half-mile to the west on higher ground. There is a modest social-hall beside the church.

Wesley M. E. Church, colored, is located within sight of the Rehoboth Highway, six and three-quarters miles s. e. of Milford. The first church was built in 1853. The half-acre church site was donated by Anthony Shockley on Oct. 4, 1856, with the timber reserved. They were incorporated on Mar. 3, 1888. On Nov. 12, 1895, they purchased one and one-half acres of land from Molton H. Shockley. The present church was built in 1906 and is a well-kept building.

Lincoln Methodist Church (M.E.). In common with the Methodists in many communities the members at Lincoln held their early meetings in private homes. Later, a newly-built hall was rented for Sunday School services with occasional preaching. They were incorporated on Mar. 7, 1867. On May 7, 1867, Abel S. Small donated a church site on the cor. of 2nd and Baltimore Lincoln Presbyterian Church was erected in 1869, on land at 2nd and Small Ave., purchased from Abel S. Small on Sept. 6, 1869. It was dedicated on Jan. 16, 1870, by the Rev. Richard Mallory. This church had a rather discouraging existence. No church services were held after 1900 although a Sunday School was conducted until 1910. Eventually, the building was sold and, in 1919, Frank Clendaniel secured possession, tore it down, and used the lumber in erecting a large storage-house.

Lincoln Baptist Church. In May, 1867, an unsuccessful attempt was made to organize a Baptist church at Lincoln. The effort was renewed and on Apr. 28, 1869, a church was organized. The writer can find no evidence that a church was ever built. In 1873, the congregation was merged with the Milford church which was in process of organization.

Mt. Zion M. E. Church, colored, was organized at Lincoln on July 17, 1887.

Flea Town M. E. Church was located at Flea Town, on the King’s Highway, two miles north of Ellendale. The writer has been unable to get any data on this church. It was built at an early date, destroyed by fire, and not rebuilt. In those days Flea Town was well known for its popular tavern which stood across the road from the church. It was the stopping place for many prominent persons on their way down State.

Ellendale Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized in 1873. On July 16, 1873, Wm. McCaulley deeded to a board of trustees a tract of land upon which to build a church, a school, a parsonage and to maintain a graveyard. The school and parsonage were built immediately and church services were held in the school. A frame chapel was erected in 1882 and it was dedicated on Dec. 31, 1882, by the Revs. J. S. Willis and A. W. Lightbourne. After extensive renovations a reopening service was held on Sept. 10, 1893. It was conducted by the Revs. J. S. Willis and C. A. Grise. The chapel was burned on Feb. 11, 1916.

The church was incorporated on Dec. 2, 1916. Land at Main St., and Washington Ave., was purchased on Jan. 18, 1917, from Mary C. Reed. The present building, of cement blocks, was started immediately and it was dedicated on Nov. 24, 1918. The corner-stone was laid at 4 P. M. by the Rev. R. K. Stevenson. The dedication service was conducted by Dist. Supt. W. R. Mowbray. The sermon was preached by the Rev. John Krantz. Governor John G. Townsend, Jr., and the Rev. T. S. Barratt, the pastor, also took part in the services.

Additional land was donated on Oct. 8, 1928, by Harry W. Jester. The heating plant, in memory of Mrs. Sarah E. Whitney, was presented, in 1929, by her husband. On July 31, 1937, Ioka Tribe, No. 35, Idmpd O. R. M., donated to the church the Red Men's Cemetery just outside of town. The only restriction was that a member of the Tribe could buy a burial plot at a cost of $5.00. There are memorial windows in the front of the auditorium that were presented by Ioka Tribe No. 35 of the Red Men and Ellendale Council No. 32 of the Junior Mechanics, both of which have since become defunct.

Ellendale Pilgrim Holiness. In 1935 the Pilgrim Holiness started to hold services in a one-story frame dance-hall in Ellendale but, in 1936, the effort was abandoned.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church at Ellendale was built in 1906. The site had been purchased on May 20, 1905, from Nettie C. Warren.

New Market M. E. Church is located, on a dirt road, one and three-quarters miles east of Ellendale. This church was formally organized as "Wesley M. E. Church" at a meeting held in the home of Wm. Morris, near Elias Lofland’s store, on Sept. 8, 1810, when trustees were elected "for the intended place of worship." On Aug. 7, 1811, Elias Lofland donated sixty perches of land, on the road to Nathan Reed’s mill as a church site. The church was built and a graveyard was laid out. The oldest tombstone is that of the Elias Baker, one of the original trustees, who died on Jan. 9, 1821.

A new church was completed and was dedicated on Sept. 1, 1850. More land was secured, on May 5, 1858, from John Warren. The present building was erected in 1881. It was repaired and a reopening service was held on Sept. 30, 1883. More land was secured on June 15, 1904, from Wm. Short. Services were discontinued in 1936. The graveyard is enclosed with an iron fence and is well maintained. The Woman’s Society for Christian Service is still active but they meet in the Ellendale Methodist Church.

Reynolds’ Methodist Church (M.P.) is located, on a dirt road, five miles east of Ellendale, near Jensen’s Mill, which was known as Reed’s, Reynolds’ and Ponder’s in earlier days. Church trustees were elected on Oct. 14, 1869. On Nov. 18, 1869, Geo. Wilson donated 100 perches of land and on Nov. 19, 1869, James Ponder donated 46 perches as a church site.

The first church was built in 1870 through the efforts of the Rev. J. T. Melvin. On Dec. 25, 1870, the dedication was conducted by Mr. Melvin assisted by the Rev. John Jones. While the dedicatory sermon was being preached, fire was discovered between the ceiling and the roof. The congregation escaped through the door and windows. There was no means to combat the fire but the congregation did save the window sash, the benches, the stoves and the lamps. The building was completely destroyed. Although disheartened, Mr. Melvin immediately started on a soliciting campaign to gather funds to erect another church. It was completed and dedicated in July, 1872. The church was incorporated on Apr. 1, 1897. There is a well-kept graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1863.

St. Johns U. A. M. E. Church was located just north of Milton on the old dirt road to Waples’ Mill. This congregation was incorporated in October, 1908. A small church was built and a graveyard was laid out. The older members died off and because of lack of interest, the church was sold, moved some distance to the south and converted into a dwelling. The earliest tombstone is that of Fannie E. J. Brown who died on Jan. 13, 1913.

St. John the Baptist P. E. Church in the Wilderness was located about two and one-half miles s. w. of Milton beside Long Bridge Branch. The first church was built in 1728 under the leadership of the Rev. Wm. Becket, the Church of England missionary in charge of Sussex County. The church was raised on Mar. 27, 1728. The framework was of white oak, the dimensions being 20 ft. by 30 ft. by 12 ft. high. The roof was of cypress shingles and the sides were sheathed with cypress boards. Missionary Wm. Becket speaks of the church as being in the middle of the forest. The writer believes that this accounts for the belief that there was a Sussex County church named "Forest Church." The church was closed about 1800. It was last mentioned in the records in 1799. The building was used as a school for a number of years. There is no evidence of the church today.

The Rev. Cory Chambers reported that he had reorganized the Milton congregation in July, 1838. Occasional services were held. On May 20, 1847, Bishop Alfred Lee preached at one of these meetings. In 1864, the Rev. J. Leighton McKim, of Milford, started to hold services in the M. P. church. A parish was organized and given the name "St. Mary's" as this was believed to have been the name of the church in the wilderness. It was finally determined, in 1875, that "St. John the Baptist" was the correct name.

The present church building was started with the expectation of having it completed on Oct. 1, 1875. The consecration service was held on June 5, 1877, by Bishop Alfred Lee and the Rev. J. Leighton McKim. During his pastorate, Dr. McKim would very often walk to and fro between Milford and Milton in the performance of his duties. In 1894-95, a window in memory of Harold Hunter was unveiled.

On May 7, 1899, Bishop Leighton Coleman presented a fine brass altar cross to the church. During 1907-08, a mission was conducted in Ellendale. On Mar. 12, 1915, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman consecrated a Bishop's chair presented by the children of Nehemiah D. and Mary P. Welch. The beautiful window behind the altar, erected in 1929, was a bequest of former U. S. Senator Willard Saulsbury in memory of his mother, Annie Ponder Saulsbury, who was a native of this section. In 1936, extensive remodeling was done including a veneer of brick, making the building much more attractive. The church was consecrated on Jan. 17, 1937, by Bishop Philip Cook.

The parish-house was completed and was dedicated by Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry, assisted by the Rev. Benjamin F. Thompson, B. D., on Monday evening, Oct. 6, 1941.

On Sun., Dec. 1, 1946, Bishop McKinstry dedicated an American flag and a Church flag. They were presented by Mrs. Marcia Winn, in memory of her son, Joseph T. Winn, Jr., of the Merchant Marine, who lost his life in the North Atlantic and the others who served in the armed forces during World War II.

Goshen Methodist Church (M. E.) at Milton. A Methodist Society was organized in Milton previous to 1801. On July 7, 1801, a subscription toward building a church was started. The land was donated Jan. 16, 1802, by John T. Conwell. It was described as being located at Second and Apple Sts., at the Head of Broadkiln known as Federaltown. The church was incorporated on Feb. 21, 1807, at a meeting held in the church. It was 1820 before the church was entirely completed. It was located beside the present graveyard. In 1838, a brick wall was built around the graveyard. On June 18, 1874, a plot of land on Federal St., was purchased from Geo. W. S. Nicholson upon which to build a new church. After a false start in 1874, a new start was made in 1877. The corner-stone was laid on Sun., Oct. 7, 1877, by the Rev. R. W. Todd, the pastor. The church was completed in 1878. It was dedicated on Jan. 12, 1879, by Bishop Levi Scott.
On Dec. 2, 1882, a house and lot at Federal and Coulter Sts., was donated to the church by Eliza A. Fisher. Improvements were made in 1898. A new organ was unveiled on Tues. evening, Sept. 26, 1911, when a musical program was given. It was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 1, 1911, following a sermon by the Rev. R. K. Stevenson. The church was incorporated on Jan. 25, 1912. A new tower was built in 1919. There is an attractive chapel on the first floor which is used as a Sunday School room.

The Pilgrim Holiness Church at Milton was organized in 1925. The church site, on Union St., was purchased on Jan. 26, 1926, from Chas. G. Waples. The church was built immediately and it was dedicated on Easter Sunday, Apr. 11, 1926. The first meeting was held on Sat., Apr. 3, 1926. All-day services were held for a full week. On Sun. afternoon, Apr. 4, the Dover String Band furnished the music. The dedication service was held on Easter Sunday afternoon.

The Presbyterian Church at Milton was built in 1834 upon land purchased from Thara Messick, on Aug. 3, 1833. The church had been incorporated on July 4, 1833 at a meeting held in the Cool Spring Pres. Meeting-House. In 1865, the congregation was dissolved. In the adjoining cemetery the oldest inscribed tombstone is dated 1844. For many years the old cypress-shingled building was used as a school and later as a colored church. At the present time it is occupied by a colored lodge.

Grace Methodist Church (M.P.) at Milton. The Rev. Thomas A. Moore, a supernumery of the Maryland M. P. Conference, was visiting his friend Joseph Betts, a tailor, in Milton. Coming in contact with numerous friends of the Conference, Mr. Moore conceived the idea that an M. P. Church should be built there. The first meetings were held in the M. E. Church. On Oct. 22, 1857, Wm. A. Hazzard conveyed to a board of trustees a lot of land upon which a church building was started immediately.

On Sept. 23, 1880, they purchased a house and lot on Broad St., from Mary I. Smithers. The church was incorporated on Apr. 1, 1897. Additional land was purchased on June 12, 1903, from Elizabeth A. Conwell. In the meantime the church had been enlarged and improved. A service of dedication was held in the spring of 1906. Land was donated to the church on Nov. 20, 1911, by James C. Palmer. The parsonage was purchased, on July 5, 1915, from Annie L. Culver. Land adjacent to the church was purchased, on Oct. 2, 1925, from Josiah Brittingham. In 1940, the name "Grace" was adopted. The social-hall, beside the church, was enlarged by using the lumber salvaged from Weigand's Chapel when it was torn down, in 1940.

Over the entrance to the church there is a stained glass window which contains the emblem of the Jr. O. U. A. M. This window was presented by Enterprise Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M.

Union M. E. Church, colored, of Milton. When the Presbyterian Church became defunct the church was purchased by the Milton School Commissioners and used as a public school. On Sept. 17, 1892, the property was purchased by Union Church and reconverted for church purposes. In the meantime the church became defunct and the property was sold to a negro lodge.

There are three colored churches in Milton. Mt. Zion Holy Church was organized in 1940. The First Congregational Church was built in 1927. The church site had been donated by John Clark, Jr., on Nov. 24, 1926. They were incorporated on June 2, 1927. Bethel A. M. E. Church was first located on the Broadkiln Beach Road, a short distance east of the negro school. This half-acre site was donated, on Oct. 22, 1827, by David Hazzard, to a board of trustees headed by Major Millman. A church was built and the present graveyard was laid out.

The present site of Bethel Church was purchased on Sept. 8, 1896, from Francis A. Stephenson and a new church was built. They were incorporated on Mar. 8, 1897. This church was destroyed by fire and the present church was built in 1920.

Zion Methodist Church (M.E.) is located two and one-half miles east of Milton on the road to Broadkiln Beach. Old Zion Church was built in 1818, on 3600 sq. ft. of land donated on Mar. 11, 1818, by Aletta Clark, to a board of trustees. It was located a short distance east of the present church and on the opposite side of the road. The church was enlarged in 1843. There was no graveyard at that time as all burials were made in family plots located on the farms. The present church was built in 1873 and an attractive graveyard was laid out. This acre of land was donated by Hevaloe Morris on Apr. 19, 1873. The church was dedicated on Jan. 25, 1874 and it was incorporated on June 7, 1874. The old church was destroyed by fire on Wed., Apr. 25, 1877. On Oct. 9, 1899, the Rev. E. C. Atkins donated 84 perches of land to the church.

A corner-stone, bearing the dates 1818 and 1874, was laid in August, 1938. The only repairs to the building were made in 1941, when a new roof was installed and the church was painted inside and out. A service of dedication was held on May 11, 1941.

On the afternoon of Oct. 10, 1943, the church was destroyed by fire. The congregation immediately cleared up the site and started an intensive campaign to raise funds to build a new church.

A brick church was completed and the opening service was held on Sun. afternoon, Oct. 7, 1945, with the Rev. Dr. T. C. Mulligan, Dist. Supt., as the speaker. A series of evening services were held during the following two weeks. The church is most attractive and well furnished. The rose window in the sanctuary is in honor of the Rev. F. H. Truitt, the pastor. There are eight stained-glass memorial windows.

The church was dedicated on Sun. afternoon, Nov. 18, 1945. Bishop Chas. W. Flint was in charge of the service. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. T. C. Mulligan, Dist. Supt., and the Rev. Mr. Truitt, the pastor.

In the graveyard, the oldest tombstone is over the grave of P. Manuel Russell who died on Sept. 18, 1812. This, as well as several others, is a reinterment from a family plot near Drawbridge.

To the right of the church entrance is a monument erected to the memory of Helmanius Frederic Wiltbank. It is inscribed as follows: "Emigrated from Sweden in a Dutch ship which was wrecked in the mouth of the Delaware Bay. He was saved by swimming and landed on Cape Henlopen about 1650, died 1695, leaving three sons, Cornelius, John and Abraham." Mr. Wiltbank lived near Lewes and was a very large landowner. He took a prominent part in civic affairs as have many of his numerous descendants. He was originally buried on his home farm but his body was moved to Zion graveyard shortly after the new church was built in 1874. Also buried in this plot is David W. Wiltbank, a veteran of the war of 1812, who died on May 16, 1865.

Conway's M. E. Chapel. In 1885, Wm. N. Conway, usually called "Nat," built a chapel upon his own land two miles south of Milton. It was affiliated with the Independent Methodists. In 1886, dissention arose in the congregation and part of them withdrew, to build Weigand's Chapel. In 1886, Mr. Conway, an elder in the Independent Methodist Conference, applied for admission into the M. E. Conference and was accepted. His little chapel was then dedicated to the M. E. service. At the end of one year the chapel was still active but weak. It was eventually sold and converted into a dwelling.

Weigand's M. P. Chapel was located in Cave Neck two miles south of Milton on the road to Lewes. It was built in 1887, on a half-acre of land donated by Frank Blocksom on Sept. 23, 1887. The church was incorporated on Apr. 1, 1897. Land was donated to the church on Sept. 2, 1913, by Silas H. Dodd. The church prospered so long as the original members lived. The congregation gradually became smaller and in 1930, they ceased to function. The benches were sold in 1933 for $20.00. In 1940, the chapel was torn down and the lumber was used in enlarging the social-hall of Grace Church at Milton. The graveyard at Weigand's is kept in excellent condition.

White's Methodist Chapel (M.E.) is located on the Rehoboth Highway two and one-quarter miles above Nassau. The organization was tentatively called the "Coolspring M. E. Meeting-House" in 1838. Trustees were elected and incorporated on Jan. 31, 1839, "to build White's Chapel." The church site was donated by Samuel Paynter on Sept. 5, 1839. The church was built during that year. It was named for the Rev. Henry White, a Presiding Elder. The early meetings had been held in the schoolhouse. Additional land was purchased on Jan. 12, 1872, from Alfred C. Warrington. In 1872, a new church was erected. The dedication was arranged for Oct. 27, 1872.

The parsonage lot was donated by the Hon. Edward Wootten on Apr. 24, 1880. A half-acre of land was donated on Sept. 19, 1893, by Eliza A. Fisher. In 1901, the building was remodeled. Land was purchased from Mary R. Marvel on Feb. 9, 1903. In 1919, the church was destroyed by fire. A new church was completed and was dedicated on Dec. 4, 1921, by Dist. Supt. W. R. Mowbray. There is a large graveyard, the tombstones dating back to 1852.

Burton's A. M. E. Church, west of Overbrook, was built in 1870. The church site, of ten perches, was donated, on Mar. 19, 1870, by George Burton. It was described as being on the road to the Oyster Rocks in Broadkill River. Additional land was secured, on Apr. 10, 1903, from Myrus R. Fisher. The church was rebuilt in 1912. An additional quarter-acre of land was donated, on Sept. 22, 1942, by James H. Burton.

Cool Spring Friends' Meeting-House was located near the Rehoboth Highway, beside Red Mill Pond. The Monthly Meeting of the Friends at Duck Creek gave consent for a place of worship to be settled at Cool Spring. The earliest meeting-house was built in 1742. At that time Cool Spring Creek was navigable beyond this point. The meeting-house was a frame building with a burying-ground beside it. The Preparative Meeting was discontinued in 1809 and the Established Meeting was laid down in 1817. The building was abandoned and in 1839, Samuel Paynter purchased the property with the burying ground exempt. The oldest date on a tombstone is 1840. The plot is looked after by the owners of the farm upon which it is located.
Wesley M. E. Church, colored, at Belltown was built in 1873. A new church of cement blocks, was built in 1908. They purchased land on Dec. 8, 1909 from Hiram R. Burton.

A new church was built facing the Georgetown-Lewes Road and the first service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. C. W. Bagwell on June 14, 1946. The corner-stone, bearing the dates, 1873-1908-1946, was laid by the Rev. Mr. Bagwell on July 26, 1946.

Israel M. E. Church, colored, south of Belltown, was burned in 1853 and rebuilt. An additional half-acre was purchased, on Feb. 24, 1915, from Matilda W. Harmon. The present church was built in 1916.

Lewes Mennonite Church. On June 6, 1662, Peter Cornelius Plockhoy, a Mennonite, of Zierik Zee, Holland, entered into an agreement with the Burgomasters of Amsterdam to take a group of 25 Mennonite families to the South or Delaware River where he had received permission from the United Netherlands to establish a colony. The settlement was made upon the same site that DeVries had selected for his ill-fated colony. The Plockhoy colony was a community affair, each person to work six hours a day for the benefit of the community fund. These profits were placed in a strong-box having three locks, each officer of the colony having a key to one lock. Children were required to attend school one-half of each day and to work at some trade the other half of the day. They accepted the Bible in its literal meaning without any human formulas of religion. No member of the colony was to be a lord and they were not allowed to become servants although servants could be employed from outside the colony. Members were free to withdraw, when they would receive their share of the profits. Members were permitted to marry in the community or outside. Undoubtedly Plockhoy built a church which was probably also used as a school. This colony lasted for two years. Sir Robert Carr, Governor of New York, reported to the British Ministers, in 1664, that he had "destroyed the quaking colony of Plockhoy to a nail." Nothing more is known about this colony except that thirty years later Plockhoy, now blind, and his wife appeared in Germantown, Pa., where they were taken care of by the Mennonites.

St. Peter's P. E. Church at Lewes. In 1681, the people of Lewes fenced in four acres of land and laid out a graveyard. They petitioned Gov. Sir Edmond Andros for a grant of this land for the use of the Church of England. This land was granted to them on Apr. 25, 1689. As has happened in a number of other places, the citizens assumed that this land was for general use and acted on that belief. The Levy Court built a Court House upon the church land and church services were held in the Court House for several years.

In 1707, the people petitioned the Church of England to send them a minister. The Rev. Wm. Black, a missionary, arrived on July 26, 1708 and stayed until August, 1709. He seemed to think that only a native could stand the terrible climate.

On Aug. 7, 1716, Samuel Rowland donated one acre of land, near Lewes and fronting on the River of Lewes, now the canal. The deed called for an annual rental of one grain of Indian corn and stipulated that a church of the Church of England would be erected on the site.

The Rev. George Ross arrived on Aug. 5, 1717 and preached in the Court House on the 6th, 7th and 9th. The Rev. Wm. Becket arrived on Sept. 1, 1721, and the building of a church was immediately planned. The frame of the church was raised on Oct. 6, 1721. He reported on May 19, 1724 that the church was nearly finished. It had been placed in use early that year. In 1727, the dispute between Wm. Penn and Lord Baltimore as to the ownership of the three counties comprising Delaware was still unsettled. Mr. Becket believed that the decision would be against both of the claimants and that the land would revert to the Crown. So he suggested to the Church authorities that they petition the King to grant the three counties to the Church as a glebe—a glebe that would have supported many churches in fine style.

On Oct. 11, 1728, Mr. Becket described the church at Lewes as follows: "40 ft. by 24 ft. by 15 ft. high, the frame of wood, roof of cypress shingles and the walls of cypress boards. The floor was laid, the walls wainscotted with cypress as high as the tops of the pews; the pulpit, desk, communion table and rail handsomely built of black walnut and the pews made of pine plank." In 1741, the inside was wainscotted in a "plain decent manner" and the roof was arched.

The Court House at Georgetown, the new County seat, being nearly completed, the Commissioners advertised the Court House at Lewes for sale. It was purchased on Oct. 18, 1791, by Thomas McIlvain, carpenter, for 85 pounds. He sold the building to a group of Lewes citizens on Feb. 6, 1793. This group presented the building to St. Peter's Church on May 6, 1797. The vestry rented the building to various parties at a yearly rental of from 25 to 30 pounds.

On April 11, 1795, the pew rents were raised 33 1/3 %. In June, 1808, a new church was raised. It was the same size as the old church but was set 30 or 40 ft. south and west of the old site. The Rev. James Wiltbank held the first service in the new church on Aug. 28, 1808. The building was completed and the workman discharged on Sept. 15, 1808.

In 1854, the old church with its high pulpit was moved over to a corner of the lot and the erection of the present church was started on the old site. The corner-stone was laid on May 27, 1854, by Bishop Alfred Lee. The church was completed and the opening service, was held in November, 1857. The dedication services lasted for a full week with the consecration taking place at 10 A.M. on Thurs., Aug. 12, 1858, with Bishop Lee in charge. He was assisted by the Rev. Messrs. Martin, Colton, Franklin, Slack, Wright, McKim and McIlvaine.

The old church was fitted up to be used as a school and for week-day services. A colored Sunday School was opened on May 9, 1858. In 1870, the church was improved, the tower and spire being added. The second building still stands on a dairy farm near Five Points doing valiant service as a farm building. Additional land was purchased on Apr. 18, 1887, from Wm. P. Orr.

In 1890-91, the church was redecorated and a pipe-organ was installed. A new altar and reredos were installed in 1892. On Aug. 24, 1896, a new altar rail was presented in memory of Dr. Harbeson Hickman. During the summer of 1913, the church was renovated after which Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman conducted a service of benediction for a restored church on Sept. 1, 1913.

On Dec. 14, 1913, Bishop Kinsman dedicated 3 windows and also a tablet placed in the church by the Judiciary of Delaware in memory of the first Chief Justice of Delaware, Ryves Holt, who was a warden of St. Peter's and who is buried in the graveyard.

In the graveyard surrounding the church many early famous Sussex Countians are buried. Four former Governors of Delaware: Daniel Rodney, Caleb Rodney, Samuel Paynter and Joseph Maull are buried here.
Over near the south wall is the famous Feb. 30th tombstone, over the grave of Elizabeth H. Cullen. The present Gregorian calendar was laid out by Pope Gregory VIII, in 1582. It was not adopted by the English Colonies until 1752, and a great many of the colonists opposed the change. These persons continued to use the Julian calendar in which February had thirty days in leap years. The family of Elizabeth Cullen appear to have been numbered among these "diehards" and they insisted on marking her tombstone "Born Feb. 30th, 1760." Close to the front of the church is the grave of Captain Henry McCracken, a Delaware river pilot, who requested that his anchor be buried with him. One of the flukes of the anchor can be seen protruding from the grave. The oldest tombstone, close to the side of the church, is over the grave of Margaret Huling who died on Feb. 16, 1707. So far as the writer can determine this is the oldest inscribed tombstone in Delaware.

Lewes Friends' Meeting. The Friends held meetings in Lewes as early as 1692. In June, 1712, a regular Weekly Meeting was established in the home of Cornelius Wiltbank. It was attached to the Duck Creek Meeting. On Feb. 1, 1742, Christopher Topham donated six acres of land to the Society of Friends. It was located at the corner of Helmanius Wiltbank's land, beside the mill pond. The meetings were discontinued about 1800, the members attaching themselves to the Cool Spring Meeting.

On Oct. 28, 1813, Jane Cord, nee Jane Miers, donated to Ezekiel Hunn, Warren Mifflin, Daniel Neall and Joseph G. Rowland, trustees of the Motherkill Friends' Monthly Meeting, one acre of land on South St. This was a portion of a four-acre plot of which the Friends' burial ground was a part.

At the Motherkill Monthly Meeting held on Oct. 12, 1818, a committee reported that "this acre of high ground had been surveyed and laid out sometime since back by Rhodes Shankland * and the lot now rented to Wm. Coleman on written contract for seven years at the rent of two dollars per year and the said Coleman being also bound to keep the fence around the same in good repair for the said period." On July 9, 1838, it was reported "one acre of land at Lewes in Sussex County, we have no knowledge as to its situation." The word "situation" probably meant "condition."

The graveyard has been unused since 1840. An effort is now being made to give proper attention to the section known as Quakertown. The pillory and whipping-post were located here. Only one house of old Quakertown is standing today.

Lewes Presbyterian Church. Presbyterian preaching was started in Lewes about 1691 and in 1692 it was reported that there was a small congregation. On May 9, 1707, Thomas Fenwick donated to the Presbyterians 100 sq. ft. of land upon which to build a meeting-house, a schoolhouse and to maintain a burial place. A frame church was built during that year. For some undetermined reason, Mr. Fenwick gave them another deed to the same tract on May 9, 1715. It was described as being in Lewestown between the County Road and the road to the Samuel Davis plantation. The first church building lasted only twenty years.

The erection of a brick church was started in 1727 and, in common with the churches of that day, no heat was provided. Repairs were made in 1759 and in 1818. This church was used until 1832 but it stood until November, 1871 when it was sold and demolished. A new church, in course of erection for several years, was dedicated in 1832. In 1869, it was remodeled. In 1886, a steeple was built and a bell and a pipe-organ were installed. The church was thoroughly modernized in 1887. Land adjoining the church lot was purchased on July 3, 1895, from David L. Mustard. The church was incorporated on Aug. 14, 1895.

In the rear of the church auditorium there is a white marble tablet erected in memory of the Rev. John Mitchelmore who perished in the burning of the steamship Wm. Penn on Mar. 4, 1834. He had been the pastor from 1827 until his death. There is also a photograph of the little brick church built in 1727-28.

Among the prominent Delawareans buried in the graveyard are former Governors Col. David Hall, a Revolutionary hero, and Ebe W. Tunnell. The oldest legible tombstone that the writer could find is that of Comfort Edgell who died on May 11, 1760.

Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) and Ebenezer M. E. Church. Ebenezer M. E. Church was located on the western outskirts of Lewes where the graveyard can still be seen. The M. E. Church in Lewes and Rehoboth Hundred was organized and met in the new house belonging to Rhoades Shankland. They were incorporated at a meeting held on Mon., Mar. 31, 1788 at 4 P. M. On May 7, 1788, Rhoades Shankland deeded, for seven shillings, 70 perches of land to the church trustees headed by Jno. Wiltbank. The plot was located "on the n. w. side of South St., in Lewestown near the s. w. end thereof where the main branch of Canary Creek crosses the street." It was on this site that Ebenezer Church was built of frame.

Bethel M. E. Church was built, about 1790, at Third and Market Sts. Francis Asbury noted in his Journal on Oct. 23, 1790, "We have a chapel at Lewistown." This probably referred to Bethel Church although he may have meant Ebenezer. Services were held alternately at the two churches until Ebenezer was abandoned and the entire site was then used as a graveyard. The oldest tombstone is a recumbent slab over the grave of Mary Shankland who died on Feb. 6, 1803.

In 1828, Bethel Church was moved to Mulberry and Church Sts., and repaired. The church was incorporated on Oct. 2, 1834. Land was purchased from Henry Wolfe on June 25, 1870.

The corner-stone of a new church was laid on Aug. 29, 1870 and the basement was dedicated on Aug. 18, 1872, by the Revs. T. J. Thompson, Wm. E. England, Samuel Pancoast and W. M. Warner, the pastor. The church was completed and was dedicated on Mar. 1, 1874, by Bishop Levi Scott assisted by the Rev. Wm. M. Warner, the pastor.

In December, 1880, Geo. H. West donated a plot of land with the provision that a parsonage should be built upon it by Apr. 1, 1883. In 1880, a steeple was added and, in 1892, improvements were again made. The present site was purchased on Nov. 29, 1909 from John T. Jones. The corner-stone of the present stone church was laid in 1910. The church was completed and the dedication service was held on May 21, 1911. The services were opened with a love feast conducted by the Rev. R. K. Stevenson. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. John Krantz. In the afternoon the Sunday School members gathered at the old church and then marched to the new building with the orchestra furnishing music. They then circled the building three times singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," after which their regular exercises were held. The evening sermon was preached by Mr. Stevenson and short talks were given by former pastors who were present. The celebration was continued, with various services, for a full week. The old church was sold and is now used as a garment factory. It was damaged by lightning in June, 1917.

Bethel Church maintains a large cemetery on Savannah Road.

The First M. P. Church at Lewes was organized in 1842 and was disbanded in 1854.

Groome Memorial Methodist Church (M.P.) at Lewes was organized in 1906. Meetings were held in private homes and halls until a rough tabernacle was built. The corner-stone of the present church was laid in 1907. The church was remodeled in 1934.

The Full Gospel Mission Pentecostal Assembly was organized, about 1920, and have held their meetings in various halls in Lewes.

St. Georges A. M. E. Church at Lewes is located on Park Ave. On Feb. 23, 1861, Peter Lewes donated land on Pilot Town Bank Road as a church site. A church was built and a graveyard was established. This graveyard is still in use. Land on Ship Carpenter St., was donated to the church by Hannah Burton on Oct. 6, 1881. The deed stipulated that they should continue the present building or erect a new church and school. A new church was built in 1883.

The cemetery property was transferred to a new set of trustees on May 13, 1891. The description stated that the property was located between the Rowland graveyard and another burial plot belonging to the Society of the Sons and Daughters of Harrison Smith, of Lewes.

The church was rebuilt in 1891. They were incorporated on June 19, 1899. On Sept. 23, 1922, Isaac Burton donated additional land on Park Ave., formerly Ship Carpenter St. The church was rebuilt in 1930.

St. Paul's M. E. Church, colored, at Lewes is located on 4th St. The church site was purchased on Nov. 28, 1882, from Louisa R. Maull. The church was built during that year. Land was purchased from Chauncey P. Holcomb on Oct. 13, 1896. The church was remodeled in 1930.

New Ebenezer Methodist Church (M.E.) is located two miles north of Midway. This church was organized, at the home of John P. Salmons, on Oct. 1, 1856, at which time trustees were elected. On July 7, 1857, Abba Wolfe donated 110 perches of land as a church site. The church was completed and was dedicated on Jan. 4, 1858. It was renovated in 1886, 1901 and 1920. More land for the graveyard was donated on Mar. 12, 1917, by Wm. A. Blizzard.

The church ceased to function on Mar. 18, 1934. An annual meeting is now held on a Sunday early in October. There is an enclosed graveyard. The earliest tombstone is that of Temperance J. Records, who died on Feb. 25, 1832, evidently a reinterment.

Rehoboth Presbyterian Church is located east of Midway. The church was erected, of frame construction, in 1855. It became a separate charge on May 17, 1876. At the present time it is attached to the Lewes Presbyterian Church. In 1926, the church was entirely rebuilt. The length was increased to include the entrance and two small Sunday School rooms. The old gallery was removed and a recess was added to the pulpit. The six windows were enlarged and in each a memorial window of artistic glass was installed. Electric lighting was installed and the entire structure was veneered with brick. The one-acre school lot adjoining the church was secured on July 11, 1938. There is a large, well-kept graveyard. The two oldest tombstones are those of Catherine Thompson who died on Oct. 15, 1817 and Wm. Thompson who died on July 11, 1826.

When this graveyard was laid out there was a section for the burial of colored persons. When Burton's Chapel, colored, in Rehoboth, laid out a graveyard in 1881, by mutual consent, the bodies in the colored section of the Rehoboth Pres. graveyard were reinterred in the Burton Chapel graveyard.

Scotts M. E. Chapel and Epworth Methodist Church (M.E.) at Rehoboth Beach. As is known to most persons, the central part of Rehoboth Beach was purchased by the Methodists, laid out in home sites and sold to establish a summer resort surrounded with religious activities. The Rehoboth Beach Association was incorporated on Mar. 15, 1871 and a large tract of land was purchased in 1872. On Jan. 27, 1873, the name was changed to "Rehoboth Beach Camp-Meeting Association of the M. E. Church." Camp-Meeting grounds were laid out in a grove and annual meetings were started. In February, 1879, the name was changed to "Rehoboth Beach Association." In 1881, the camp-meetings were discontinued.

In the spring of 1873, Scott's M. E. Chapel was built on Baltimore Ave., under the direction of James E. Hooper. It was dedicated by and named for Bishop Levi Scott. The chapel was designed and built for the use of any denomination that desired to use it. The chapel was incorporated on Sept. 5, 1892. On Sept. 2, 1897, Epworth M. E. Church was organized and trustees were elected. A church building was completed, in 1898, at the corner of Lake and Rehoboth Aves. It was dedicated on Aug. 14, 1898. On Mar. 29, 1909, it was decided to build a parsonage. The church was incorporated on Feb. 10, 1910.

Scotts Chapel was gutted by fire on Feb. 22, 1913, after which it was decided to merge with Epworth Church. Additional land on Baltimore Ave., was purchased on Aug. 12, 1913, from Harry A. Roe. A new church was built on the site of Scott's Chapel, in 1914, and named Epworth M. E. Church. The first anniversary of the dedication services was held in August, 1915. An addition to be used for Sunday School purposes was built in the spring of 1942. It was dedicated on Oct. 17, 1943, by Dist. Supt. Walter A. Hearn.

After renovations, a reopening service was held on Sun., Nov. 19, 1944, by the pastor, the Rev. David W. Baker. The speakers were Bishop Charles W. Flint and the Rev. Dr. O. A. Bartley.

On Sun., Nov. 26, 1944, the new chancel furniture and numerous other church effects were separately dedicated in memory or in honor of members and friends of the church, by the Rev. David W. Baker.

All Saint's P. E. Church at Rehoboth Beach was built in 1893. During the summer of 1892, Episcopal services were held on the porch of the Hotel Henlopen. On July 11, 1892, Bishop Coleman conducted a morning service, an evening service and Sunday School in the afternoon. On Dec. 29, 1892, Bishop Leighton Coleman, who was confined to a dark room because of illness, dictated a letter in which he directed the Rev. J. Leighton McKim of Milford to take charge of the erection of a new church at "Cape Henlopen City," now Rehoboth Beach. Mr. McKim personally drew the plans for the church and supervised its construction. He would ride the train from Milford to Lewes, then walk to and from Rehoboth. He estimated that he walked 900 miles while supervising the erection of the church. The site was secured from John W. Causey on Mar. 27, 1893. The corner-stone was laid and the opening service was held on Sun., July 9, 1893, by Bishop Coleman. The date of the consecration is unknown.

During 1911-12, services were held during the entire year for the first time. In 1912-13 a clergy-house was secured for the use of visiting clergymen.

On Jan. 30, 1938, the church was damaged by fire. It was rebuilt and improved, after which it was reopened on Whitsunday, 1938. The consecration services were held on Aug. 21, 1938, by the Rt. Rev. Francis M. Taitt, assisted by the Very Rev. Hiram R. Bennett. Miss Mary Littell presented a communion service in memory of her brother, Dr. John S. Littell, former rector.

On Sun., May 23, 1943, at a very early hour, the church was again seriously damaged by fire. Valuable church hangings and vestments, acquired in Belgium and England, were destroyed. A valuable communion service, donated in memory of Dr. John S. Littell, was saved. Churches and other organizations offered the use of their auditoriums for services and the offer of the Veteran Employees Assn., Del. Division, P. R. R., was accepted. Services were held here during the time required to rebuild the church.

The architect in charge of rebuilding the church was Wm. Heyl Thompson, of Phila., a son of the Rev. Benj. F. Thompson, B. D., of Dover. The interior of the church is practically the same as before the fire, being an adaption of St. Alban’s Church in England. The biggest change in the exterior is the slender spire surmounted by a six foot cross. This replaces the belfry which was burned.

In rebuilding the church a small chapel was added. It was named “All Soul’s Chapel.” The chapel and a memorial window in the foyer were erected in memory of Mrs. Edwin Stalford by her relatives. The altar in the chapel is a memorial to the parishioners of All Saint’s Church who served in the Armed Services during World War II. There is a seating capacity of about twelve persons. The altar is of limestone construction. The floor is of tile which are replicas of ancient floor pieces found in English, French and Spanish cathedrals and monasteries. The stained glass window behind the altar pictures Christ on the Cross and the two side windows depict the six parables of the Lord.

The opening was set for Nov. 2, 1943, at which time the rector celebrated a requiem Mass with special prayers for those honored by the memorial altar. The church and chapel were consecrated on Jan. 16, 1944, by Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry, assisted by the Rev. N. W. Rightmyer, the rector.

A window in memory of Frederick S. Homan, presented by his children, was dedicated on Sun., Oct. 29, 1944, by the rector. A new parish-house was built during 1946. It was used for the first time on Jan. 9, 1947.

St. Agnes-by-the-Sea R. C. Church at Rehoboth Beach. The Roman Catholic Order of St. Francis de Assisi was established in the United States in the year 1855, with Sister Agnes as Mother Superior. On the 50th Anniversary of the Order, in 1905, the Most Rev. Bishop Monaghan, of the diocese of Wilmington, presented to the Order a cottage at Rehoboth Beach, where the sisters could spend a vacation each year.

In connection with the cottage, a small chapel was established for religious worship. As the community grew, the chapel soon proved too small to accommodate the worshippers who wished to attend Mass. A frame church was then built and named “St. Agnes-by-the-Sea,” in honor of the patron saint of the first Mother Superior.

The dedication was arranged to be held on Thurs., Aug. 9, 1906, by the Most Rev. John J. Monaghan. He was assisted by Fathers Wm. J. Bermingham, T. F. Waldron and the Rev. Father Felix.

It was announced on May 9, 1946 that the church had been sold. At the same time the Franciscan Nuns’ Summer Home was also purchased by Mrs. Margaret Broeders who planned to convert the property for hotel purposes.

St. Edmond’s R. C. Church at Rehoboth Beach. Built of stone, the erection of this church was started in 1939. The corner-stone was laid on July 7, 1939. The church took title to the site on Dec. 15, 1939. The first service was conducted by Bishop Edmond J. FitzMaurice on Sun. May 12, 1940, when he celebrated the Feast of Pentecost.

The church was dedicated on Sept. 1, 1940. The service was conducted by the Most Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, Bishop of Wilmington. He was assisted by Fathers Eugene J. McCarthy, F. J. Hensil, A. Tosick, and C. J. McGinley. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Lee. The church was named in honor of Bishop FitzMaurice. The visitors were entertained at lunch at the Hotel Henlopen.

Westminster Presbyterian Church at Rehoboth Beach. On Easter Sunday, 1931, the Presbyterians began to hold meetings in Horn’s Theatre. These meetings were continued there and in the Belhaven Hotel until a store-room in the Carmine Building was rented. A church was organized and incorporated on Nov. 1, 1931. The corner-stone of the present brick church was laid on the morning of Sun. July 10, 1932, by Elder A. Victor Hughes. It was dedicated during the afternoon of the same day by the Rev. John Humphrey.

Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church, colored, at Rehoboth Beach. On Apr. 1, 1881, Elijah Burton donated one acre of land for a church site and a graveyard. It was located on the old Rehoboth-Lewes Road. A church was built and it was named “Burton Chapel.” At a later date the bodies from the colored section of the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church graveyard at Midway were reinterred in the Burton Chapel graveyard. This graveyard is to the north of the cut-off road entering Rehoboth Beach.

On Aug. 22, 1884, Elijah Burton donated the present one-acre church site and the church was moved to the new location. The old site was then used exclusively as a graveyard. They were incorporated on Jan. 23, 1899, at which time the name “Mt. Pleasant” was adopted. The church was enlarged in 1946.

Cool Spring Presbyterian Church was organized in the early 1700’s. It is known to have been in existence on Oct. 11, 1728, at which time the Rev. Wm. Becket reported to the Church of England that there were Presbyterian churches at Lewes and Cool Spring. In 1734, the Cool Spring and Lewes churches were joined as one parish with one minister. A new church was built in 1735. This church was painted red, had two front doors and a gallery. A painting of this church hangs on the front wall of the present church. It was executed by the late R. B. Hopkins, M.D. of Milton. On Aug. 22, 1737, the proprietaries of Pennsylvania issued a warrant that four acres of a plot of ten acres should be granted to the members of the congregation. The survey was made on Sept. 29, 1737, by W. Shankland.

The circuit was incorporated on Sept. 1, 1787, as the “United Presbyterian Congregation of Lewes, Cool Spring and Indian River.” The present building is the third to be erected on this site and it was dedicated on Jan. 14, 1855. At a funeral, late in 1904, difficulty was encountered in getting the casket through the narrow door and Dr. James A. Hopkins, who was present, promised that this would never happen again. He had the two narrow doors replaced with the present wide door and the two side aisles replaced with a center aisle. On the front wall, inside of the church, there is a marble tablet erected in honor of “the Rev. Cornelius H. Mustard, late pastor of Cool Spring, Milton, Blackwater and Ocean View, died Jan. 26, 1870, in the 66th year of his age.” There is a large graveyard enclosed with a wall. There are quite a number of tombstones dating back to the middle of the 18th century. The earliest which the writer could find was over the grave of Elizabeth Martin, who died on Sept. 16, 1741.

In recent years one of the good friends and benefactors of Cool Spring Church has been Dr. David M. Hitch of Philadelphia. He had the social-hall built a short distance from the church on the Georgetown-Lewes Highway. It is complete with an auditorium seating 500 persons, stage, rest room, dressing room, dining room and kitchen. This site was formerly known as the “Sunken Gardens,” and was donated by Lolitie M. Smith and John F. Perry on Nov. 20, 1928 and May 11, 1929. The dedication services were held on Aug. 1, 1929. Dr. Hitch presented the keys of the building to the trustees and the Rev. Thomas Parker McKee, the pastor, responded. Addresses were made by Col. Robert G. Houston, at that time, a member of Congress and by James M. Tunnell, later, U. S. Senator, both of whom were elders of the Presbyterian Church of Georgetown.

Beaver Dam Methodist Church (M.P.) is located at Harbeson. The first church was built in 1820 upon part of the present graveyard. It was a small one-story building and faced the Georgetown Road. Beaver Dam was the name of the village at that time. A new church was built in 1874 on the graveyard lot but it faced the Milton Road. The old church is believed to have been moved into Cave Neck for the use of another congregation. The second church was remodeled in 1885. They were incorporated on Feb. 3, 1885 and one acre of land was purchased on June 18, 1885. On July 16, 1888, an acre of land was donated by Harbeson Hickman. The church was incorporated on Apr. 1, 1897. More land was purchased from Edgar R. Sipple on Aug. 5, 1897.

In 1927, the church was moved across the road to its present site and an addition for Sunday School purposes was built. On Nov. 8, 1937, the old school property was purchased at a public sale. There is a large walled-in cemetery across the road from the church, the tombstones dating back to 1855.

The Reformer’s Church at Beaver Dam. There was a church located at Beaver Dam during the period including 1850 which was known locally as The Reformer’s Church. The writer believes that this was the Beaver Dam M. P. group but has been unable to verify this.

Sand Hill Methodist Church (M.E.) is located three and one-half miles n. e. of Georgetown on the road to Milton. The one-acre church site was donated on Mar. 25, 1859, by Dr. Wm. Marshall. The frame of the church was raised on July 2, 1859. It was dedicated on Sun., Nov. 20, 1859 and called “Reed’s Chapel” in honor of the pastor of that circuit. Fifty-two perches of land were donated on Jan. 28, 1860, by James Reed. The building was repaired extensively in 1885 and in 1940. There is a well-kept graveyard, the tombstones dating back to 1857. Until more recent times a camp-meeting was conducted in the grove close to the church.
Redden M. E. Chapel. When Redden was a thriving village a group met in McColley’s Chapel, on Jan. 13, 1894, elected trustees and were incorporated as “Redden M. E. Chapel.” On Mar. 12, 1894, James A. Evans donated land on the south side of the main street as a church site. The chapel was then built and dedicated. In the meantime, three disastrous fires have almost wiped out the village. Services were abandoned in 1918 and the building finally fell down in ruins. A grove of trees and thick brush are all that remain to mark its former site. At the 1941 Methodist Conference it was decided to sell the site.

Faith M. P. Church, located on the old King’s Highway, one and three-quarters miles above Redden, was built in 1898. The church was incorporated on Feb. 28, 1900. The one-acre church site was donated on Apr. 11, 1901, by John H. S. Ewell. The church ceased to function in 1930 and stood idle until 1935. It was then rented to a Holiness group who purchased the building in 1938. It is now known as the “Faith Bible Holiness Undenominational Church.” After extensive repairs, including a new shingle roof, the church was rededicated on May 21, 1944, by the pastor, the Rev. Robert Nailor. There is a graveyard to the rear of the church, the tombstones dating back to 1899.

Grace Methodist Church (M.P.) at Georgetown was the outgrowth of a big revival held in the summer and fall of 1891 at the corner of Race and Edward Sts. A tabernacle was erected and many conversions resulted. The Rev. Louis A. Bennett had been assigned to the pastorate of the rural churches Hebron and Providence with instructions to establish a church at Georgetown. He arrived on the afternoon of Apr. 24, 1891 after a three days’ drive by horse and carriage from Kemptown, Md. Diligent inquiry within a few days disclosed that the two rural churches had less than a dozen members and that, in Georgetown there were but two persons who were affiliated with that denomination.

A survey was made which disclosed that some disunion had taken place in Wesley M. E. Church and it took but little persuasion to get some of them to break away. While the tabernacle meetings were in progress plans were made to rent a hall when cold weather should arrive. This hall was located at Cedar St., and Railroad Ave., and was owned by George Christopher Calhoun who conducted a store on the first floor. The church was incorporated on June 27, 1891. Several months later it was decided to build a church.

A site was purchased on the n. w. cor. of Market and King Sts., from Geo. W. Bennum, on Nov. 6, 1891. A frame church was built and given the name “The First M. P. Church of Georgetown.” The doors were thrown open to the public for the first time on Sun., Apr. 10, 1892. The dedication services were held on Tues., July 4, 1899. They were conducted by the Revs. L. A. Bennett, D. W. Austine and D. W. Hodges.

During the spring of 1905 a lot was purchased on the s. e. cor. of Market and King Sts., diagonally across from where the church stood. The frame church was moved under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Howard O. Keen and it was slightly remodeled. On Sun. morning, Nov. 21, 1909, while the congregation was at prayer, fire, from a defective chimney, broke out and the church was destroyed. The second church, built of brick, on the present site was finished in the late spring of 1910. It was dedicated on Sun., July 7, 1918, during the pastorate of the Rev. John T. Bailey. This church was burned between 3 and 4 o’clock on Sun. morning, Feb. 20, 1927, as a result of a severe electrical storm which caused electric light wires to ignite it.

The third church, built of brick, was started on Mar. 28, 1927. The cornerstone was laid on Oct. 27, 1927, by the Rev. M. E. Hungerford, the pastor, Among the articles placed in the cornerstone was a history of the church written by Oscar S. Wilson, the Associated Press representative in Georgetown. The church was opened for the first time on June 10, 1928. The dedication service was held on Nov. 28, 1943. It was conducted by Dist. Supt. W. A. Hearn, assisted by the Revs. R. W. Sapp, J. Earle Cummings, M. E. Hungerford and Wm. P. Kesmodel, the pastor.

A new electric pipe-organ, with chimes was dedicated on Sun. Sept. 22, 1946, by the Rev. Wm. P. Kesmodel, the pastor. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. T. C. Mulligan, Dist. Supt. The chimes were a memorial to Harold West, Arnold L. Roach, Harry E. Hill and Harold Scott who had lost their lives in World War II.

St. Paul's P. E. Church at Georgetown was founded in 1794. It was incorporated on June 21, 1794. Services were held in the Court House prior to the erection of the first church. On Mar. 8, 1797, the Commissioners for laying out the town of Georgetown donated lots No. 102 and No. 103 at Front and Pine Sts., as a church site, the consideration being one cent. The trustees sold this land on Mar. 6, 1805 to Wm. Russell for $14.00.

On July 23, 1803, four lots at Pine St. and North Lane, were purchased from the estate of Geo. Hazzard, for $28.50. This is part of the present site. The erection of a frame church was started. On Jan. 15, 1805, the Legislature provided that a lottery could be held to raise $1500.00 for the purpose of completing the church and enclosing the graveyard. The church was dedicated on St. Paul's Day, 1806, by the rector, the Rev. Hamilton Bell, who is buried beside old Christ Church, east of Laurel. On Feb. 8, 1827, another lottery was authorized but it was not held. The frame church had galleries on three sides, a high pulpit with a sounding board and a clerk's desk in front of the pulpit. The frame church was removed and a brick church was built in 1843-44. It was consecrated on Nov. 19, 1844, by Bishop Alfred Lee.

Early in 1856, during a heavy storm, the roof was blown off and the church was seriously damaged. Rebuilding was started immediately and the reopening service was held on Jan. 11, 1857.

In June, 1865, a new altar and a beautiful lectern were installed. The old lectern was placed outside of the chancel to serve as a pulpit. The church was rebuilt in 1881. The plans were drawn by McKim, Meade and White of New York. This firm was organized on June 21, 1880, and planned a number of famous churches. Stanford White was a member of this firm and Mr. McKim was a cousin of the Rev. J. Leighton McKim. The reopening service was held on Oct. 13, 1881. A frame chapel was built to be used for Sunday School activities.

On Easter Sunday, 1882, a baptismal font was consecrated. It was a gift of former rector, John Linn McKim and friends. The interior of the church was beautified and a pipe-organ was installed in 1886. In 1891, a lot was presented to the church. A credence shelf, in memory of Judge John H. Paynter was received in 1894-95.

On Nov. 6, 1895 Mrs. Elizabeth W. Williams of Middletown presented a farm as a glebe. This 150-acre farm was located at Green Branch on the Georgetown-Laurel Road. A new bell was presented on Jan. 25, 1897, by Captain John S. Atkins. Land on Pine St. was purchased from Hettie A. S. Kollock on June 14, 1897. During that year the parish-house was moved to make room for a rectory. The rectory was completed and a service of benediction was conducted by Bishop Leighton Coleman on Dec. 10, 1897.

In July, 1901, a silver paten, in memory of Miss Martha W. Fooks was presented. A tablet, in memory of the Rev. Benj. J. Douglass, former rector, was unveiled by Bishop Coleman on Apr. 12, 1902. A brass altar desk in memory of Charles C. Stockley, former Governor of Delaware, was blessed on Apr. 20, 1902. A water-motor was attached to the organ in 1911-12. A new organ was dedicated by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman, on Oct. 17, 1915. Brass candlesticks were presented by Henry M. Denning. A tablet in memory of Lieut. Lawrence Taylor was dedicated, by Bishop Kinsman, on Mar. 26, 1919.

The present parish-house was completed in 1941, but no dedication was held. The outstanding memorial window behind the altar was provided by the will of former U. S. Senator Willard Saulsbury as a memorial to his sister, Miss Margaret Saulsbury. New reredos were included in the memorial. The window is called the "Te Deum" window. The dedication service was conducted by Bishop Philip Cook on Feb. 9, 1930. He was assisted by the Revs. Samuel Van Loan and Martin Bram. Among those present were Judge Hugh M. Morris and Judge Victor B. Wooley, executors of the Saulsbury estate.

Among the prominent Delawareans buried in the church yard is former Governor Charles C. Stockley. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is on the grave of James Anderson, who died on Jan. 3, 1810.

Wesley Methodist Church (M.E.) at Georgetown. In 1791, the General Assembly of Delaware passed an Act providing that a Court House be built at the most central point in Sussex County. The present site of Georgetown was selected and a town was laid out, to become the county seat. In 1792, a plot of land was deeded to the Methodists as a site for a chapel. This would indicate that there was a Methodist Society in that neighborhood previous to that time. Francis Asbury wrote in his journal that on Sept. 24, 1779, he went from Lewes to the home of Abraham Harris, in Georgetown, where he and the Rev. Mr. Allfree preached to a gathering of neighbors. This is the first authentic record of the entrance of Methodism into Georgetown.

A lot, 60 ft. by 120 ft., on Pine St., was donated on Nov. 7, 1803, for the sum of twenty-five cents, by John Russell. Wesley M. E. Chapel was built of brick in 1806. The chapel was incorporated on Apr. 10, 1807. About 1825 the building was damaged by fire but was reconditioned for use. Additional land was secured from G. A. Ewing on Feb. 24, 1842.

A curious tradition, apparently well attested, connected with the burning of Wesley Chapel is to the effect that a big revival was in progress. Three young men attended the meetings and one night, for some rudeness, were ejected from the church. They were heard to remark that no meetings would ever again be held in that church. That night the church was burned. The young men were arrested on suspicion. In protesting their innocence, the first one said he hoped he might die if he did it, the second said he hoped he might never speak another word distinctly if he did it and the third said he hoped he might become as crooked as a rainbow if he did it. A short time later the first one was found dead in bed, the second became so paralyzed as to become almost speechless while the third grew almost double from rheumatism. This story has been told repeatedly by the old people of Georgetown and has always been accepted as true.

On Jan. 22, 1844, the church trustees "resolved that it was expedient to raise means to erect a new church," but nothing was done at this time. On Jan. 24, 1859, the trustees met to vote where the new church should be located. The vote decided in favor of the "Chase lot," Charles Tunnell, Thomas W. Hatfield and David Dodd voting for it. Mr. Hatfield transferred the site to the church on July 9, 1859. They were named the building committee and proceeded to start the erection of a two-story frame church on Race St. They succeeded in getting the building under roof when work was suspended and another debt struggle ensued. The building was completed in 1866, when it was dedicated by Bishop Simpson. At a meeting of the trustees held on Aug. 14, 1866, it was decided to sell the old brick church and it was purchased by Thomas Sipple, for $35.05. At this time a fence was erected enclosing the graveyard on Pine St. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is over the grave of Eliza Coston who died on Oct. 16, 1817.

Additional land on Race St. was donated on Feb. 16, 1878, by Chas. H. Richards. The second church was remodeled in 1882. The present brick church was built during 1896-97. More land on Race St. was purchased on Sept. 7, 1896, from Charlotte McFee. The ground was broken on Thurs., Sept. 10, 1896, on the 117th Anniversary of Asbury’s first preaching in Georgetown. The cornerstone was laid on Tues., Oct. 27, 1896, by the Revs. J. D. C. Hanna and T. E. Martindale.

The dedication services were held on Mar. 7, 1897, when the Rev. Charles A. Grise was pastor. The congregation met at the old church at 9 A. M., and marched in a body to the new building where all of the services were held. Bishop Cyrus D. Foss preached in the morning, Bishop J. M. Walden in the afternoon and the Rev. Robert Watt in the evening. Ten new memorial windows were also dedicated. On Mar. 13, 1912, land on Laurel St. was purchased from Chas. W. Cullen.

In 1929, the Willie M. Jones Memorial Community Hall, of frame construction, was built on the church property. The 150th Anniversary of the coming of Methodism to Georgetown, was celebrated with services beginning on Sun., Oct. 26, 1929, and lasting for a full week.

The carillonic bells and tower system were dedicated on Sun., June 2, 1946 at services conducted by the Rev. Omar E. Jones, D.D., the pastor. The presentation speech was delivered by the Hon. Harold W. T. Purnell. They were accepted on behalf of the church by Frank M. Jones, Esq., and on behalf of the service men by T. Stuart Russell. They were dedicated to the men who served in the armed forces during World War II, of whom Eben A. Townsend III lost his life in action on Mar. 24, 1945.

The Presbyterian Church of Georgetown was organized on Jan. 27, 1860. Elisha Cullen was elected ruling elder and served until his death on Feb. 8, 1862. The first meetings were held in the Court House. The church was incorporated on Jan. 21, 1871. The church site was donated on Oct. 13, 1871, by Edward Wooten. It was stipulated that there should be no graveyard. On Oct. 6, 1871, the contract for building a frame church at the present location was awarded to Hiram T. Downing and Peter Pepper of Georgetown. The church was dedicated on Dec. 15, 1872, by the Rev. Mr. Patton assisted by the Rev. Messrs. Hammer and Adams. Additional land was donated on Dec. 6, 1925, by Harold B. Scarborough.

The work of rebuilding the church was started during the week of Apr. 9, 1934. The building was raised and a basement was built. This is used as a Sunday School room and a social-hall. A new roof was built at this time. During the progress of the work the congregation met in the Grange Hall. An electric organ was installed in February, 1942.

The Wesleyan Methodist Church at Georgetown. The first meetings of this congregation were held in a frame building near the High School and later in the Wagamon Building. The church was organized on the evening of Aug. 31, 1940, by the Rev. J. E. Martin, Pres. of the Middle Atlantic Conference. The cornerstone of the present church was laid on Nov. 10, 1940, by the Rev. J. E. Martin. He was assisted by the Revs. Robert Linthicum, Raymond Taylor and Virgil Peters, the pastor. The title to the church site was secured from Edward B. Rust on Jan. 13, 1943. The dedication service was held on Jan. 30, 1944, by the Rev. J. E. Martin, assisted by the Rev. Zenas B. Bean, the pastor.

The colored people of Georgetown maintain three churches. Prospect A. M. E. Church was built in 1866 and rebuilt in 1907. St. James' M. E. Church was built in 1840. On Jan. 13, 1840, they purchased the "schoolhouse old field" from Wm. E. Harris for the church site. The church was remodeled in 1867. The First Mt. Zion Baptist Church purchased one acre of land on Mar. 22, 1921, from Chas. A. Wing in the section known as "Campbell Town."

Bethesda Methodist Church (M.E.) was originally located at a spot adjoining the northern end of Delaware Colony, south of Georgetown. Joshua Morris, who owned the Morris or Dodd Mill, on June 28, 1831, purchased the Morris or Anderson Mill which included a saw-mill, a grist-mill, a dwelling and ten acres of land. In February, 1832, Joshua Morris donated a half-acre of land on Mill Road upon which a Methodist Church was to be built. Bethesda Church was built during that year.

The erection of a new church was started in June, 1859. It was dedicated on Nov. 13, 1859, by Dr. Cook and the Rev. Mr. Willey. One hundred perches of land were purchased on Apr. 14, 1883 from Benton W. Thompson.

The site is marked by the old graveyard, badly overgrown with brush, in which the oldest legible tombstone is that of Wm. B. Timmons who died on Feb. 5, 1867.

In 1895, the church was moved to a new site at Stockley and rebuilt. This new site was secured from N. W. Prettyman on Jan. 25, 1896. The Benton Thompson tract was sold to Wm. L. McIlvaine on Jan. 14, 1896, for $16.00. There is a graveyard beside the church, the dates on the tombs beginning about 1900.

Grace Methodist Church (M.E.) at Millsboro. When settlements were made at the head of the Indian River, the village east of the river was called Rock Hole and the village west of the river was called Washington. When a postoffice was established at Rock Hole, it was given the name Millsboro. Gradually, this name was also adopted by the village of Washington.

In 1827, a Methodist Society was formed at Washington and on Feb. 16, 1828, a church site was purchased from Wm. Jefferson for $21.00. A church was then built and named the "Washington M. E. Church."

A new church was built and it was dedicated on Aug. 18, 1874 by the Rev. Anthony Atwood. On Sept. 20, 1894, they were incorporated as "Grace M. E. Church." In 1896, the building was sold to the Baptists, who moved it to Washington St. Additional land was purchased on Apr. 27 and Nov. 11, 1896, from Mary B. Salmons. The frame of a larger church was raised on Sept. 18, 1896. The dedication service was held on the evening of Apr. 11, 1897, by the Rev. T. E. Terry assisted by Pres. Elder Avery and the Revs. T. E. Martindale and J. D. C. Hanna.

On Aug. 12, 1905, the building was destroyed by fire. The present structure was completed and was dedicated on Dec. 16, 1906. The parsonage lot on State St. was purchased, on May 26, 1924, from Edwin C. Ryan. A property on Morris Ave. was purchased, on Dec. 18, 1928, from the State B. of E. This is the proposed site for a new church which it is planned to build.

The church was remodeled in 1933 and an oil-heating system was installed
In 1939. In the graveyard to the rear of the church, the earliest tombstone is dated Mar. 20, 1857, over the grave of Mary E. Johnson.

Millsboro M. P. Church was built in 1865. The name was changed to "Lower Sussex" in 1869 and again changed to "Sussex" in 1871. The Rev. I. T. Adkins served as pastor in 1869-70. The church was located at the edge of the town on the road to Lewes. It was improved in 1896. The church was destroyed by fire a short time later and not rebuilt.

St. Mark's P. E. Church, at Millsboro, was founded by the Rev. John A. Childs at meetings held in the schoolhouse. The erection of a church building was started in 1847. In 1848, the church was being used although not entirely completed. The church was formally organized in October, 1848. The church site had been donated by M. S. Burton. The consecration service was conducted, by Bishop Alfred Lee, on Oct. 26, 1849.

In 1870, the church was torn down and the erection of a new church was started. It was several years before it was entirely completed. In 1880, the gallery was removed and the steeple was built. A consecration service was held on May 6, 1884. Additional land was purchased in 1885. A new altar and reredos were erected, in 1895-96, in memory of Thomas Burton. The church was placed on a brick foundation, in 1896-97 as a gift of J. R. Godwin. New pews were installed in 1900-01 and a new fence was built in 1902-03.

A spire was built in 1915 and it was dedicated, on Oct. 17, 1915, by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman. On June 14, 1924, the "mansion house of the Rev. Lewis W. Wells," to be used as a rector's, was presented, by Eugene F. and Frank L. Wells, in memory of the Rev. and Mrs. Lewis W. Wells. A brass tablet was erected in recognition of this gift. In 1941, a new organ was installed. There is a graveyard beside the church, the oldest tombstone being that of Susan Watson, who died on Dec. 19, 1848.

Millsboro Baptist Church was built at a very early date. It was located close to Indian River about opposite Lingo's Garage. After being unused for many years and only a ghost of its former self, it was demolished in a windstorm on Feb. 14, 1860.

In 1896, the Baptists of Millsboro purchased the old Methodist Church and moved it to Washington St. It was formally opened on July 12, 1896. At the end of four years the church was sold and converted into two apartments. It was later destroyed by fire.

Indian River Presbyterian Church also known as "Saw-Mill Church" was located two miles north of Millsboro, near the head of Indian River. It was built sometime between 1730 and 1750.

On Feb. 4, 1786, Levi Collins sold to John Aydelott and Thos. Harney, Sr., for one pound, seven shillings, one acre of land "being part of the tract upon which the Meeting-House now stands." The circuit was incorporated on Sept. 1, 1787, as the "United Presbyterian Congregations of Lewes, Cool Spring and Indian River." A second church was erected in 1794. With the passing years the congregation grew smaller and it was closed in 1863 and never reopened.

The interior of the church was beautifully finished with wide panel work of the heart of pine and the outside was sheathed with cypress shingles. Within the memory of living men the fine woodwork of the church was carried away a piece at a time until there is no evidence of the church remaining. There is a small graveyard deep in the woods where saplings and brush have grown up all over the place. There is one group of graves surrounded by a brick wall that was originally three or four feet high but which has crumbled down so that one can now step over it. In this plot is the grave of Simon Kollock, Esquire. Mr. Kollock was buried in 1817 at the age of eighty years. It is very evident that Mr. Kollock was a man of consequence as his tombstone states that he was an elder of the church for forty years which is mute evidence that the church was built before 1777. His tombstone also states that he served his State in its Judicial, Legislative and Military Departments. Referring to the State Archives, we find that he was the Speaker of the Delaware House of Representatives in 1782 and that he was Lieut. Col. of the 6th Regiment of the Delaware Militia which was a part of the Revolutionary Army.

It is a pity that someone does not take enough interest to keep these graves and their surroundings in good shape as it would cost but little. It seems a shame that the grave of a former Speaker of the House and Revolutionary Officer should be enveloped in a deep forest, unknown and unseen except by an occasional gunner.

The First Seventh Day Adventist Church, colored, of Millsboro, is located four and one-half miles east and north of Millsboro. Seven acres of land were purchased on Feb. 12, 1924, from Able Ableman. The church was incorporated on Sept. 19, 1925. Additional land was purchased from Burton C. Street on June 10, 1927. The church was built in 1933, previous to which time meetings had been held in private homes. There is a graveyard beside the church.

Zoar Methodist Church (M.E.) is located at Zoar, four miles north of Millsboro. Tradition says that it was founded in the late 1700's and that a log church was built. Both Bishop Coke and Bishop Asbury are believed to have preached in this church.

On Apr. 22, 1802, Robert Lacey donated one and one-quarter acres of land on the east side of the road from his house. The church trustees were Wm. B. Ennis, Isaac Atkins, John Morris, Levin Records, Thos. Grice, Bagwell Baker, Jos. Morris, Wm. Harris and Wm. Lacey. A cypress-shingle church was built. The church was incorporated on Nov. 5, 1810.

Another church of similar construction was started in 1894. The cornerstone was laid on Dec. 2, 1894, by the Revs. G. L. Hardesty and C. A. Grise. This building was burned in 1910. The present building, of cement blocks, was started immediately with the Rev. James L. Derrickson, the pastor, doing most of the carpenter work. This building was dedicated on Feb. 19, 1911. In 1805, when camp-meetings were being established, one was built in the grove beside the church. The camp was closed in 1919, yet two of the frame cottages are still standing.

There was a small burying-ground to the rear of the church in early days but all evidence of it has been gone for more than fifty years.

St. John's Methodist Church (M.E.) is located four and one-half miles east of Georgetown. Meetings were first held in private homes and later in the Springfield schoolhouse near Springfield Crossroads. They were incorporated on July 3, 1852, as the "Trustees of Johnson's Society." They were also known as "St. John's M. E. Chapel." The one-acre church site was purchased on July 27, 1852, from James E. Blizzard. The church was built in 1853. Land was donated on Dec. 19, 1874, by Peter Rust and more land was purchased on Aug. 12, 1894, from Chas. H. Joseph. The church was rebuilt in 1907. An attractive graveyard is laid out beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1857.
Indian Mission Methodist Church (M.P.). Previous to 1880 the Nanticoke Indians worshipped at Harmony Church, pronounced with the accent on “mo.” A new preacher was assigned to Harmony Church in the late 1870’s. He was of the evangelical type and advocated that the Indians and negroes should mingle in every way, including their religious devotions. Part of the congregation was willing to do this but another group was bitterly opposed to it. The opponents withdrew from the church, in 1881, and built Johnson’s Chapel, located less than a mile east of Holleyville. The one-acre church site was donated on Mar. 27, 1884, by Jesse E. Joseph. The chapel was incorporated on May 23, 1915.

In 1921, a new church was built and named “Indian Mission M. P. Church.” The old chapel was moved to a farm about one-half mile south where it is used as a farm building. Indian Mission Church with its well-kept graveyard would be a credit to any race and here the Nanticoke Indians hold their religious services and their community activities. The tombstones in the graveyard date back to that of Ann W. Johnson who died on Oct. 7, 1885.

St. Georges P. E. Chapel, known locally as “The Brick Chapel,” is located one and one-half miles n. e. of Indian Mission Church. On May 8, 1706, Roger Corbett donated one acre of land upon which to build “a religious place of worship.” It was located in Angola Neck on the south side of Love Branch. It was subject to a yearly rental of one grain of Indian corn, if demanded. A log church was built that year.

The Rev. Wm. Becket reported that the first church was finished in December, 1719. The frame was of oak, 20 ft. by 25 ft. by 12 ft. high. The walls and roof were covered with red oak boards. There was a gallery. In 1725, the length of the building was increased by 15 ft. This church was destroyed by fire in 1792. In 1794, the present church was built of bricks burned near the church site. After ninety years service, the walls became cracked so that it was necessary to remodel the building in 1883. The height of the building was cut down, part of the galleries were removed and the entire style of architecture was charged.

In 1884, the wall in front of the church was replaced with an iron fence. In 1889-90, a new organ was presented by the Guild. In 1911, a new bell was presented and new chancel furniture was installed. The tower and porch were added in 1916. On June 25, 1916, these improvements and the bell were dedicated by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman. The church was renovated during the summer of 1927. There is a large graveyard in which many prominent Sussex Countians are buried. There is a broken tombstone leaning against the front wall of the church. It is inscribed to the memory of Thomas Pretyman who died on Jan. 3, 1765. This is the oldest inscribed tombstone in the graveyard. Mr. Pretyman’s grave is beneath the present church building.

In recent years the celebration of Rogation Rites has been resumed at St. George’s Church. Rogation Days in the Episcopal Calendar are the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday preceding Ascension Day. This observance, started in the fifth century in old England, consists of prayers of intercession for a good harvest of the crops being planted. There is a tree at St. George’s planted in memory of Bishop Philip Cook.

Unity Methodist Church (M.E.). On Sept. 22, 1810, Arthur Milby deeded to a board of trustees the land upon which Unity Church is built, at Fairmount. The first church was erected in 1810 and it was rebuilt in 1842. The present church was built in 1887. A homecoming service is held each year in the fall.
Conley Methodist Chapel (M.E.) is located one and one-quarter miles n.e. of Angola. This church was organized in the Angola schoolhouse and was first known as "Angola M.E. Chapel." They were incorporated on Feb. 9, 1838, as "Connelly’s M.E. Chapel" while still meeting in the school. In the meantime the name has been shortened to "Conley’s." On Feb. 9, 1838, Dagsworthy Derrickson donated to the following trustees, D. W. Brierton, Arthur Milby, Wm. S. Hazzard, David Hazzard and Wm. S. Vessels, 67½ sq. perches of land as a church site. It was described as being near the road to Angola Neck.

The first church was built in 1838, through the efforts of the Rev. Mr. Connelly, a carpenter by trade, for whom it was named.

The present building was erected in 1876. It was thoroughly renovated in 1901. More land was purchased on Sept. 3, 1912, from Dagsworthy D. Burton. In September, 1944, the building was sheathed with white asbestos shingles and the interior was completely renovated. There is a large graveyard enclosed with a low wall. The earliest tombstone is over the grave of Mrs. Hannah Lynch, who died on Apr. 3, 1862.

Trinity P.E. Chapel was located on the Long Neck Road south of the Millsboro-Lewes Road. The first services were started in a nearby schoolhouse, in 1845. In 1846, the Chapel of the Comforter was built on this site under the leadership of the Rev. John A. Childs. The half-acre church site was donated by James T. Bayliss, on Feb. 6, 1847, at which time the chapel was under construction.

It was a chapel-of-ease attached to St. George’s Church and was consecrated on May 25, 1847, by Bishop Alfred Lee. In 1870, the church was enlarged, a recess chancel and a vestry-room being built. At that time the name "Trinity" was adopted. The building was improved in 1881 and again in 1890.

In 1891, a bell was secured and a Bishop’s chair and a priest’s chair were installed. New windows were installed in 1904. The steeple was wrecked in a wind-storm late in 1916. The last services were held here in 1918. The building gradually disintegrated and by 1940 it was flat upon the ground. The all-devouring forest swallowed it up and not an echo lingers to whisper of its former glory. In the meantime the wood-lot, in which it stood, has been cut over and no vestige of the chapel remains.

Central M.E. Church is located in Long Neck about two miles n.e. of Harmon’s School. It was founded in 1867 and the present building was erected in 1887. This church was never very strong and in 1937 it was closed forever. At the 1941 Methodist Conference it was decided to sell the property.

Friendship M.E. Church, colored, is located about two and one-half miles s.w. of Fairmount. The present church was built in 1895. There is a small graveyard, and across the road from the church is their bush-meeting ground.

Harmony M.E. Church, colored. This church was organized in 1818. A half-acre church site was purchased on Mar. 20, 1819, from Eli Norwood. A church was built and it was located about two and one-half miles west of Friendship Church. They were incorporated on Apr. 21, 1875, while the Rev. T.H. Johnson was pastor. A new church was built in 1891. A half-acre of land for the burial-ground was purchased on June 4, 1915, from Wm. T. Hurdle. They also maintained a bush-meeting ground.
St. Mark's P. E. Church, Millsboro

St. George's P. E. Chapel
In 1940, the construction of a new church was started, one mile west of Harmon's School. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 13, 1942. The church was completed and the opening service was held on Apr. 18, 1943.

The old church was sold to Wm. D. Burton who moved it away to convert it into a dwelling. The large well-kept graveyard was then enclosed with a cement-block wall.

In September, 1945, Mr. Burton moved the old church to the Rehoboth Road between Westcoat's Corner and Midway, to be converted into a dwelling.

Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) of Dagsboro was built and dedicated in 1882. It was located beside the present site of Christ Methodist Church, the land having been donated on Aug. 30, 1881 by William Bright of Wilmington who owned large tracts of land at Dagsboro. The church was incorporated on Dec. 17, 1894. In 1906, the congregation decided to erect a new church and selected the site where Bethel Church now stands. They were again incorporated on June 17, 1906 and purchased land at Clayton and Hazzard Sts. on Oct. 2, 1906 from John A. Lingo. Part of the congregation wanted to retain the old site so they withdrew and joined Vine's Neck M. P. Church. It was then decided to move Vine's Neck Church to the site presented by Mr. Bright.

This was done and the two churches stood side-by-side during the building of the new Bethel Church. There was considerable friction between the two congregations during this time. When the new Bethel Church was completed the old church was sold, moved away and converted into a livery stable and an ice manufacturing plant. These were later burned down. The new Bethel Church was dedicated on Sun., Nov. 3, 1906. It was rebuilt in 1925.

Christ Methodist Church (M.P.) of Dagsboro was organized in 1890. The first church was built in Vine's Neck about one and one-half miles outside of Dagsboro and called "Vine's Neck M. P. Church." They were incorporated on Nov. 1, 1898. In 1906, the building was moved to its present location in Dagsboro. It was rebuilt, in 1907, and named "Dagsboro M. P. Church." The site was donated on Feb. 6, 1907, by Geo. W. Bright of Wilmington. The name "Christ" was adopted in 1940.

The Church of the Nazarene, at Dagsboro, was organized on July 30, 1939 at a tent-meeting in charge of the Rev. W. T. Archer. He was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Conaway, evangelists. The church was built and it was dedicated on Nov. 26, 1939. The service was in charge of the Rev. Dr. D. E. Higgs, Dist. Supt. He was assisted by the Revs. V. A. Miller, L. W. Savage, Maude A. Stuneck and W. T. Archer, the pastor.

Prince George's P. E. Chapel, at Dagsboro. There is a tradition that this chapel was established in 1706, when a log chapel was built, and that this was replaced with a frame building in 1738. The chapel was named in honor of the infant Prince George of England who was born in 1738 and who later became King George the Third.

The Church of England was established in the province of Maryland by an Act passed by the Assembly on June 2, 1692. This Act provided for the method of organization, for the support of the establishment and for the erection of churches as well as chapels-of-ease in the respective parishes.

Previous to the settlement of the boundary dispute between Delaware and Maryland, in 1767, a large section of southeastern Delaware was claimed as a part of Maryland and hence in Worcester Parish. On July 8, 1755, the Maryland Assembly passed an Act empowering the vestry of Worcester Parish to purchase two acres of land on the east side of Pepper's Branch near the main road and to erect a chapel thereon. The vestry had agreed, on June 9, 1755, to erect a chapel here and on July 19, 1755, they purchased two acres of land, at Blackfoot Town—now Dagsboro—from Walter Evans.

On Aug. 12, 1755, James Johnson agreed to build the chapel for 39,200 pounds of tobacco. On Dec. 2, 1755, Captain Derrickson was directed to buy plank to finish the chapel. On Dec. 6, 1756, there was an agreement with Daniel Hull to lay gallery floors, build wainscoating, two pairs of stairs, a pew for strangers and a table, for 20 pounds. On Apr. 14, 1757, the vestry assigned the pews and on June 30, 1757, the chapel was completed and was accepted by the vestry.

The church lot is mentioned in a deed from Walter Evans to John Dagworthy, executed in October, 1763.

About 1780, the chapel was enlarged when a transcept and small sanctuary were built on the west end. General John Dagworthy was instrumental in having this work done. The General and his wife were later buried beneath the transcept. At a later date their bodies were reinterred in the graveyard. A communion plate inscribed "Prince George's Chapel, Worcester Parish" is said to have been presented to the chapel by Queen Anne of England.

The church was incorporated on June 26, 1790. It was a chapel-of-ease for St. Martin's Church below Selbyville and the records mention on July 9, 1791, that the two churches had the same rector. On July 22, 1791, the pay of the sexton was set at 7 shillings, 6 pence per year. By the year 1804, Prince George's was on a circuit with St. Paul's Church of Georgetown and Christ Church of Broad Creek. On Mar. 15, 1806, John S. Waples was engaged to make repairs to the church on a day-work basis. This work was completed at a cost of $370.48. A sale of pews to help finance the repairs was held on Aug. 23, 1806 at which time $80.25 was realized with some pews remaining to be sold later.

The early church records contain a list of the baptisms and lists of the communicants starting on June 27, 1790.

By 1850, the chapel was quite dilapidated, the transept being entirely rotten away. At this time services were discontinued. Beginning in 1865 services were conducted intermittently in the Dagsboro schoolhouse for six years or more.

On Nov. 12, 1893, Bishop Leighton Coleman conducted a reopening service. He was assisted by the Rev. L. W. Wells. The chapel had been renovated. At least a portion of the interior is still preserved in its original state. In 1901-02, the property was fenced in. Repairs were made in 1903. In 1912 and 1913 annual services were held by the Bishop. There were no services from 1916 to 1926.

The chapel was repaired in 1928, after which the building was consecrated on June 30, 1929, by Bishop Philip Cook. In the old section of the graveyard, the oldest tombstone is over the grave of Wm. Hill Wells, Esq., former U. S. Senator, who died on Mar. 12, 1829. The building and its surroundings are kept in beautiful condition. A low ornamental brick wall, facing the road, was built in 1940. Only annual services are now held in the fall at about harvest time.

In 1908, a monument in memory of Gen. Dagworthy, was erected in the graveyard by the State of Delaware. The presentation was made on May 30, 1908, by Chief Justice Charles B. Lore and it was received by Gov. Preston Lea. In spite of inclement weather large delegations from all parts of the State, were present.
Lawsonia A. M. E. Zion Church was located in Piney Neck. The church site was donated, on Feb. 10, 1896, by Thomas B. Riggin. It has since become defunct.

Antioch A. M. E. Church is located one-half mile north of Frankford. It was established in 1856 when the old church of the Antioch Methodist, white congregation, was purchased and occupied. They took title to the property on Aug. 4, 1857, upon payment of $70.00. On Feb. 28, 1890, one acre of land, forming the present church site, was purchased from Millard F. Murray and a new church was built. The old church was sold and moved to a site on the Highway below Frankford where it is now used as a dwelling. There is a large campmeeting ground beside the church where enthusiastic annual meetings are held. Electric lighting has replaced the old fire-stands. On Sun. morning, Aug. 15, 1943, fire of undetermined origin broke out in one of the cottages. Whipped by a high wind, the fire spread to other cottages and to the church. In spite of the efforts of six fire companies, the church and ten cottages were completely destroyed.

A new building was erected and was occupied in the early summer of 1946. The corner-stone was laid on July 26, 1946 by the Rev. G. M. Purnell, the pastor. The church was dedicated in the fall of 1946.

Frankford Presbyterian Church was organized in 1875, when meetings were held in the schoolhouse. Land on Reed St. was purchased on Mar. 18, 1880, from John T. Reed. The church was built in 1880. It was arranged to hold the dedication services on Oct. 30, 1881. The church was incorporated on Sept. 11, 1894. Land on Thatcher St. was purchased on Mar. 23, 1904, from Mary A. Long.

Frankford Methodist Church (M.E.) was originally located in a woods about one-quarter mile n. e. of the John M. Clayton School on land now owned by Everett Long.

This site was purchased on Apr. 10, 1819, from Joshua Robinson at a cost of $14,371/2. The trustees were Arthur Williams, David Hazzard, Stephen Ellis, John Hazzard and Percy Pool. The lot measured 78 sq. poles and was part of a large tract known as "Security." The trustees agreed to erect an M. E. church immediately which they did. This church was known as "Old Zion" and as "Antioch." The church was incorporated as "Antioch" on Mar. 4, 1820. The road upon which the church faced took the name of Antioch Road.

- When it was decided to build a new church in Frankford, the old church property was sold to a negro congregation who took the name "Antioch A. M. E. Church."

The church site, in Frankford, was purchased on Nov. 20, 1852, from Jonathan Carey. The corner-stone of the new church was laid on Aug. 28, 1853. When the new church was completed, it was named the "Frankford M. E. Church." In 1880, extensive repairs were made and the spire was added. Additional land was purchased on June 27, 1881, from Jos. S. Carey. Repairs were made in 1901, and, in 1916, an ell containing a Sunday School room was added. There is a graveyard beside the church. The earliest legible tombstone inscription is dated 1868.

The Church of God at Frankford was organized in May, 1940 and they meet in Odd Fellows' Hall.

Grace P. E. Chapel, at Baltimore Mills, was located three-quarters of a mile north of Omar close to Lamb's Woods. This chapel was built to take the place of Prince George's Chapel which had been closed for several years. Meetings in the schoolhouse, at Baltimore Mills, were started in 1850. The erection of a church was started and at a meeting in the nearly completed church the parish was organized on May 19, 1852. The church site, of three-quarters of an acre, was secured from Wm. Fosque on May 19, 1853. The church was consecrated on May 20, 1853.

The interior was renovated in 1883. The membership dwindled and the church was closed in 1886. By 1894, the church had been seriously damaged by vandals. The pews were moved to St. George's Church and the sale of the building was arranged. It was moved away to become a farm building. The site is overgrown today but the writer did find two graves with tombstones. They were inscribed William Fosque, who died on Mar. 23, 1869 and Janet Jacobs, his wife, who died on Oct. 16, 1884.

Lamb's Camp. A successful Methodist camp-meeting was held for many years in Lamb's Woods just below Grace P. E. Chapel. About 1921, some of the leaders decided to enclose the grounds with a wire fence and to charge admission. The fence was cut in protest and this marked the end of that camp.

Omar M. E. Church was built in 1900 on land donated in January, 1901, by Chas. E. West. It was dedicated on Feb. 3, 1901, by the Rev. Vaughn S. Collins assisted by the Rev. M. D. Nutter, the pastor. It was closed about 1931 and was sold to Louis F. Daisey. For a year it was rented to the Grange after which it was used as a storage house. In March, 1945, it was rented to Christ's Sanctified Holy Church who are still meeting there.

Blackwater Presbyterian Church is located one mile west of Clarksville near the head of Blackwater Creek. There were Presbyterian services held in this neighborhood previous to 1667. This church was organized in 1667. This fact is corroborated by the records of Prince George's P. E. Chapel at Dagsboro. These records show that Wm. Tunnell resigned from the vestry and from his membership in that church in 1667. He became a member of the first session of Blackwater Church in 1667. The church was recognized by the synod, in 1690.

Services were held at Blackwater for many years on alternate Sundays, the pastor being shared originally with Old Buckingham Church at Berlin, Md., and ultimately with the Frankford Church which was an offspring of Blackwater Church.

The church ceased to function regularly in 1856, when the members of Blackwater founded the church at Ocean View. Occasional meetings were held until 1921. These meetings were usually for the purpose of granting letters releasing members to other and more active churches. The final touch came at the meeting of the Presbytery in October, 1921, at which time the church organization was abolished, the Presbytery taking over the physical assets and the Frankford Church was appointed as trustees to manage these assets. Charles Tennent who became the first pastor of Blackwater was the son of Wm. Tennent, the founder of the old Log College, later known as the College of New Jersey and finally as Princeton University.

The Tunnell family has always been closely identified with Blackwater Church. Wm. Tunnell, a member of the first session, was a direct ancestor of former U. S. Senator Jas M. Tunnell and during the entire life of the church the Tunnell family was always represented among the elders of the church. Everyone buried in the graveyard, that surrounds the church, is related to Senator Tunnell by blood, marriage or adoption. Since 1927 a Tunnell family reunion has been held each year on the Saturday and Sunday following the Homecoming which is held at Ocean View on a Wednesday in August. One of the features of the reunion is a Sunday afternoon service at Blackwater Church. The collections which are taken at that service, insofar as they exceed the fee paid to the minister, are placed in a special fund to be used for the purpose of constructing a brick wall around the graveyard. Begun in 1939, the wall in front of the church and a portion of one side wall have been completed. The tombstones in the graveyard date back to 1850.

There is an annual service held by the people interested in Blackwater Church. It is held in the fall on a date set by the session of Frankford Presbyterian Church.

More land was donated to the church on Nov. 19, 1931, by Ebe T. Murray.

St. George's Methodist Church (M.E.) at Clarksville. The first church was built on a road, now abandoned, about one mile north of the present church. When it was decided to build a new church on the present site, the old church, built of hand-hewn timbers, was torn down and used in building a barn on the farm of Wm. Steele. The old church benches were used in the new church for several years. When the new church was built, most of the bodies were removed from the old to the new graveyard. Today, surrounded by trees, only two inscribed tombstones can be found. They mark the graves of John E. Lathbury who died on Oct. 21, 1881 and Mary A. Lathbury, who died on Aug. 15, 1876.

Trustees were elected on Jan. 10, 1879. The present church site was purchased on Feb. 18, 1880, from John Steele. The church was built and it was dedicated in the spring of 1880. The parsonage site at Clayton and Waples Sts., in Dagsboro, was purchased on Feb. 3, 1914, from Virginia M. McCabe. The present church was rebuilt in 1928 and greatly improved in 1937. The large graveyard is located on both sides of the road. The oldest tombstone the writer could find is dated 1853.

Wesley M. E. Church, colored, is located on the edge of Clarksville. The church site was purchased on Dec. 18, 1873, from Miers B. Steel. More land was secured on Dec. 1, 1926, from Quimby Walker and on Apr. 6, 1938, from John G. Walter. A camp-ground is maintained with services late in July. This was the last camp in Delaware to use the old wooden fire-stands for lighting purposes. They were replaced with electricity in 1943.

Millville M. P. Church. This church was incorporated on Aug. 10, 1897. The corner-stone was laid on Sept. 21, 1897. It was dedicated on Feb. 13, 1898. There were three services which were conducted by the Revs. F. T. Little, J. L. Straughn and J. McLean Brown. The church ceased to function in 1910. It is now used as a social-hall by the M. E. Church, having been purchased by the Gleaner's Club on Oct. 29, 1938.

The Church of Christ, Disciples, of Millville. This congregation was incorporated on Mar. 27, 1922. They purchased the old M. P. Church on Apr. 26, 1922. The church became defunct and sold the property on Oct. 29, 1938.

Millville Methodist Church (M.E.) was built in 1907. The old Dist. No. 180 school lot was purchased on Aug. 3, 1907. The Gleaner's Club purchased the old M. P. Church on Oct. 29, 1938 and it is used as a social-hall.

Ocean View Presbyterian Church was founded, in 1856, by a group of members from Blackwater Church. The use of an acre and one-half of land was given by John Hall. The corner-stone was laid on July 5, 1856, and the church was opened for services in the fall of that year. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on July 2, 1907, and the dedication service was held on Dec. 1, 1907. The title to the site was deeded to the church by Mr. Hall’s daughter, Elizabeth A. Evans, on Aug. 14, 1909. There is a large, well-kept graveyard. The oldest legible tombstone is that of Mary P. Hall who died on Oct. 3, 1838. This is probably a reinterment.

The Christian Church, Disciples of Christ at Ocean View. This congregation was organized in 1880, when a church was built at Bayard. Trustees were elected on Oct. 20, 1881. The first church was burned; a second church was built and it was also burned. A church site in Ocean View was purchased on Apr. 22, 1899, from James M. Evans. It was stipulated that there should be no cemetery. The present church at Ocean View was built in 1901 and rebuilt in 1940. Their ritual includes baptism by immersion which leads many persons to refer to them as Baptists.

Mariner’s Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) was organized in 1859 and a frame church was built. It was incorporated on Feb. 14, 1878 and again on May 3, 1894. Four acres of land were purchased on June 16, 1894, from Elisha Evans. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on July 14, 1898 and the building was completed in 1899. It was rebuilt in 1904. Additional land was purchased on May 8, 1906, from Mary H. Townsend. On July 21, 1930, Geo. W. Mitchell donated a small strip of land to the church.

There is a large graveyard to the rear of the church, the tombstones dating back to 1862. During the night of Sun., July 19, 1942, the steeple was struck by lightning, ripping off shingles and doing considerable damage. Sometime later, the spire was removed.

St. Martin’s P. E. Church at Bethany Beach. Although meetings have been held in Bethany Beach by the Episcopalians since 1914, a church was not built until 1940. The erection of St. Martin’s Church was begun in May, 1940. The first service and the dedication were held on Sun., Aug. 4, 1940.

The Christian Church, Disciples of Christ Tabernacle at Bethany Beach. About 1900, a group of members presented to the church, sixteen acres of land at Bethany Beach. The tabernacle, which was then built, is of similar design to the study of Alexander Campbell, one of the founders of the church. For a number of years Chataquas were held here. At the present time the tabernacle is used during July and August to accommodate various group conferences from the Capital Area of the church, which includes the church at Ocean View and fifty-one other churches. More land was donated on April 30, 1923 by Hiram J. Penrod. A large two-story building was erected near the tabernacle, in 1939, to be used as a dormitory and dining-hall.

Zion Methodist Church (M.E.) at Roxana. The first church was built in 1839 and was named “Sound M. E. Church.” It was known to many persons as “Centerville Church,” that being the name of Roxana until 1872. The present site, measuring 40 sq. poles was secured on May 21, 1855 from Nathaniel W. Evans. At that time the trustees of Sound Church were Isaac C. West, Wm. R. Tribb, Zadoch P. Collier and N. W. Evans.

A second church was built and it was dedicated on May 2, 1858, by the Revs. Robt. L. Dashiell and Alfred A. Cookman. The present church was built in 1874. The corner-stone was laid on Tues., Apr. 21, 1874, by the Revs. T. O. Ayers and J. A. Arters, the pastor. It was arranged to dedicate the church on July 26, 1874, with the Revs. J. B. Mann and Wm. F. Talbot in charge. The name "Zion" was chosen to distinguish it from Union Sound Church east of Williamsville. The church was rebuilt in 1921. The schoolhouse, a short distance south of the church was purchased from the State B. of E. on Nov. 22, 1935. It was rebuilt for use as a church-house and was opened on July 1, 1939. Additional land for the cemetery was purchased on April 8, 1942, from Wilmer S. Evans.

Roxana Pilgrim Holiness Church was organized after two series of tent-meetings in a nearby grove. The church was built, in 1928, on a plot of land donated, on Nov. 24, 1928, by J. Frank Lynch, for that purpose only. In 1941, when the road in front of the church was widened, the State allowed them damages and moved the church across the road to a new site purchased on May 26, 1941, from Chas. E. Richards. A new wing, containing a Sunday School room and a new tower were added to the church. The Lynch land was returned to him on Aug. 5, 1941. The church was incorporated on June 30, 1942. A new parsonage was built in 1942.

Christ's Sanctified Holy Church. This church was incorporated on Aug. 1, 1896, with Chas. H. Lynch, Wm. S. Hickman, Joshua J. Stephens, Abisha D. Cooper and Chas. F. Hudson as trustees. They held their meetings in different member's homes for nine years. On Mar. 17, 1905, Orlando B. Lynch donated a church site on his farm at Long's Ridge. A frame church was then built and occupied. In 1944, the members decided to seek a new site for their activities. The church and lot then came into the possession of Dory Evans who rented the building out as a warehouse.

Christ's Church then held their meetings in a former schoolhouse at Bayard for about eight months. Late in March, 1945, they rented the former Omar M. E. Church from Louis F. Daisey and they are still meeting there.

Salem Methodist Church (M.E.) at Selbyville. A Methodist Society was organized, in 1789, in the home of David James Murray, on his farm, one and one-half miles n. e. of Selbyville. This was the birthplace, at a later date, of the Rev. W. L. S. Murray, D.D., prominent in Methodism. The farm is now owned and operated by Joshua L. Murray.

In the spring of 1790, a basket-meeting was held in the grove at Sandy Branch, opposite the present Red Men's Cemetery, at which time 28 persons were converted. A combined church and day-school was then built in the grove. The inside was unfinished, had a fireplace for heat, used light-wood for illumination at night services and the benches were made of slab wood with holes bored in them for inserting legs. The church was incorporated on Feb. 28, 1833. Fifty-two poles of land, were donated on Nov. 2, 1833, by Milburn Murray.

The second church was built in 1849 near Sandy Branch on the land of Zeno Long. He deeded the site for the church to the trustees on May 3, 1849. Tallow candles were used and some of the old ladies would light their pipes from the candles for a "drag" on the way home. There was a gallery for the negroes who would nearly raise the roof with their shouting. In the meantime, the town of Selbyville had sprung up and, in 1883, a third church was built in town. The old church was sold to Mr. Long who used it as a barn. It was in use until about 1935 when it was burned.

In the new church chandeliers holding oil lamps were used. Land was purchased, on May 5, 1886, from Wm. R. McCabe and on June 19, 1895, from
Wm. S. McCabe. In 1912, this building was moved to the opposite end of the lot and used as a school for the younger grades. Title to the half-acre former public school plot adjoining the church property was secured on Feb. 5, 1915. The old church which had been moved to this plot was destroyed by fire in October, 1922. The present stone church was built in 1911. It was dedicated by Bishop Hamilton and Dr. Krantz on Sun., July 14, 1912. A new parsonage was completed at the same time. A reopening service was held in 1934. Four young men have gone out from Salem to become ministers.

Selbyville M. P. Church was the outgrowth of tent-meetings started in the fall of 1909. A church site was purchased on Mar. 10, 1910, from Jacob M. Holloway. Meetings were continued in the tent until 1911 when a large church was built on Duke St. This church was destroyed by fire on Sun. evening, Jan. 28, 1923 and it was not replaced.

Selbyville P. E. Mission. In June, 1946, a group of Episcopalians in Selbyville started to hold regular meetings in Pomeroy’s Log Cabin with the intention of establishing an Episcopal Mission and building a house of worship.

Zoar M. E. Church, colored, is located on the outskirts of Selbyville, on the road to Roxana. This church was organized in 1883. They purchased a one-acre church site on May 13, 1884, from James R. Bishop. This church was located on the Selbyville-Head of Sound Road and was named Long’s A. M. E. Chapel.

The present one-acre site was purchased, on Oct. 24, 1924, from Philip C. Showell and the church was moved across the fields to the new site. The name “Zoar” was then adopted. On Oct. 5, 1929, the Balto. Trust Co. donated a strip of land 25 ft. wide as an outlet for the property.

Calvary Holy Church, colored, hold their meetings in an old schoolhouse about two miles east of Selbyville.

Williamsville M. P. Church was organized in 1905 and a church was built on the edge of the town. This church was destroyed by fire in August, 1910. A new church was built on the same site. It was closed in 1913. The building was sold to the Mechanic’s who moved it into the center of the town where it was put in use as Mechanic’s Hall. In 1945, the building was converted into a dwelling.

A Church of the Sanctified was built in Williamsville in the fall of 1892. It was located where Lynch’s Hatchery now stands. The building was destroyed by fire on July 10, 1894 and was not rebuilt.

Sound Methodist Church (M.E.) is located a short distance east of Williamsville. The first church was built in 1784 and was located at Johnson’s Corner where the Johnson family graveyard is located. The first church was built through the efforts of Freeborn Garrettson, the horseback-riding early missionary of Methodism.

Mr. Garrettson preached here for the first time on Apr. 3, 1779. He preached again on June 2, 1779 and he mentioned in his Journal that the Baptists were very active in this section.

The church site was donated, for 20 shillings, on Apr. 29, 1784 by John Robinson to Solomon Evans, Arthur Williams, Andrew Williams, Wm. Powell and Ezekiel Williams of Sussex County and James Law, John Aydelott, John Dier and John Coe of Worcester County, Maryland, trustees. The site "stood at the head of a small gulley making into the Branch called and known by the name of Indian Town Branch” and comprised “one acre more or less.”

The deed specified “that a preaching-house or chapel for the use of the Methodists or those of the Clergy of the Church of England that are friendly thereto.” It also specified that any vacancies in the board of trustees should be filled by the surviving trustees and that their number should be kept up to nine trustees forever. The deed was witnessed by Rackiffe Conner, Robert Wildgoose and Thomas McGee. It was acknowledged in Common Pleas Court on May 5, 1790, at which time Nathaniel Mitchell was the Prothonotary.

This church had two doors, one for the men and one for the women who were seated on opposite sides of the center aisle. At the end of the services the minister would dismiss the congregation. Only the professed Christians would remain in the church, then the doors would be closed and a class-meeting would be held.

Francis Asbury attended a Quarterly Meeting at Sound on Oct. 23, 1787. He preached there on Oct. 26, 1790. In his Journal he mentions Bro. Williams. Services were held without interruption until 1806 when they were discontinued for one year. Trustees were elected on Sept. 28, 1807 and the name “Williams’ M. E. Chapel, Head of Sound” was adopted. After this, the building was repaired and services were resumed. In 1829, the church was rebuilt.

A new church was built on the present site, adjoining Dist. School No. 30, in 1870. The quarter-acre site was donated, on Jan. 16, 1871, by Charles Collins to James Brasure, Jacob H. Brasure, Ed. W. McCabe, John R. Macolum and James L. Brasure, trustees. The deed mentions that the meeting-house had been erected and that it was called “Union Sound M. E. Church.” It also describes the site as being on the road to Finicar’s Island, which probably was Fenwick Island, misspelled.

On Sept. 2, 1911, the school plot, adjoining the church was purchased from the Commissioners of School Dist. No. 30. On Feb. 5, 1924, James M. Gray donated one acre of land for cemetery purposes only. This plot is located on a dirt road a half-mile east of the church and includes the Gray family graveyard. Up to the present time it has not been utilized as the church graveyard, most of the interments being made at the Roxana Church cemetery.

The church was destroyed by fire on Dec. 11, 1937. An altar rail around which Freeborn Garrettson had conducted revivals was burned. During the construction of a new church services were held in the Red Men’s Hall.

The church was dedicated on Sept. 4, 1938, with the pastor, the Rev. John E. Jones, in charge. At the morning service the collection of money to pay all of the bills incurred was in charge of U. S. Senator John G. Townsend, Jr., and needless to say it was successful. The sermon was preached by Dist. Supt. Dr. John J. Bunting. In the afternoon the Rev. Otis P. Jefferson preached and Governor Richard C. McMullen made an address. The evening sermon was delivered by the Rev. John Graham, a former pastor.

Early in 1947, the congregation secured the old White Oak schoolhouse and moved it to a site close to the church. It was then remodeled for use as a church-house.

In the grove beside the church a camp-meeting was held each year, until 1927, when it was discontinued.

Sound Baptist Church was organized on Aug. 12, 1779, at the Head of Sound. During the first thirteen years of its existence, six young men were schooled for the ministry. No church was ever built and the congregation gradually went out of existence.
Central M. P. Church was located on the Shawnee Road three miles s. w. of Milford. It was founded by the Rev. John Lee Straughn of the Harrington M. P. Church. The land was donated on May 1, 1894 by Orren Fenner and a tabernacle was built. After building up a good membership a church was built in 1895, the lumber from the tabernacle being used in the construction. After thirty years, interest lagged, and the church ceased to function. The building was sold, in 1938, and torn down.

Lebanon M. E. Church is located at Staytonville. This village was called Tea Town until Feb. 26, 1851, when the name was changed to Staytonville by an Act of the General Assembly. A one-acre church site was donated on Mar. 26, 1840, by John W. Stayton. The Tea Town M. E. Church was incorporated by the General Assembly on Feb. 19, 1841, with Pemberton Clifton, James Stayton, Wm. H. Stayton and Burton Prettyman as trustees. It is natural to presume that a church was built previous to this time. The present church was built in 1873 on land donated on May 4, 1873. The church was greatly improved in 1895. During the past 20 years the church has had a rather checkered career. During the 1930's, it was operated as an undenominational church. In October, 1940, Mrs. Paul F. Barkley started holding regular meetings. These services were discontinued on Jan. 1, 1942. There is a graveyard to the rear of the church. The two oldest tombstones are over the graves of Susan Hayes, who died on July 26, 1803 and James B. Stayton, who died on June 15, 1807.

The Church-House of the Conservative Amish-Mennonites is located one-half mile n. e. of St. Johnstown on the Shawnee Road. A short distance away is the day-school for their children. This Congregation was organized in 1916 and met in the Carlisle School. The meetings were later transferred to the barn of Nevin V. Bender. On Oct. 22, 1918, during the influenza epidemic, two girls, Sarah Schrock and Lizzie Bawel passed away. The Congregation's need for a burial-ground was thus made apparent. The present site was immediately purchased from Noah L. Swartzentruber and the two interments were made. The deed was executed on Apr. 7, 1920. As the Congregation grew it was decided to proceed with the building of a church-house. The church-house was completed and was dedicated on July 4, 1920. In the front part of the building there is a small room equipped as a nursery. It includes a crib and tiny bunks built in a tier against one partition. The ministers, who receive no pay, are chosen by lot from a group selected as eligible for the post. This Congregation has a Bishop and a minister. The number of ministers varies from two to four for each Congregation. They are disciples of Menno Simons, a religious reformer, who lived in the Netherlands from 1492 to 1561. He sought to imitate the humility and nobility of Christ. His followers took the name of Mennonites about 1536. The movement spread over Central Europe but they were persecuted because of their refusal to perform army service. They were then welcomed into Russia by Catherine II but toward the end of the Nineteenth Century they were ordered to do army service or leave the country. Difference of opinion has resulted in the formation of several sects. They are noted for their industry, thrift and avoidance of publicity.

The men of this congregation wear straight-front coats, no ties, black shoes and stockings while the wearing of beards is optional. They do not approve of radios or of any instrumental music, either in their churches or their homes. They have a fire-aid system under which a fire-loss is replaced by assessments upon the members.

A new church-house, built of brick, was started early in 1947. It is to the left and rear of the present frame building.

Pergamos P. E. Chapel was located on the present farm of Wm. H. Carlisle, on the Shawnee Road, about a quarter-mile above St. Johnstown. The chapel was built of brick during 1782-83. In 1786, Wm. Laws deeded three-quarters of an acre of land upon which the church stood for the use of the Episcopal Church. The deed stipulated that the land was to revert in the event that the church was closed. On Sept. 3, 1810 the church was incorporated. The building was one-story, 25 ft. by 30 ft. with a high ceiling. A few years later services were discontinued. Today the site is part of a cultivated field with nothing to mark the location of the old chapel.

Macedonia A. M. E. Church of St. Johnstown. This church was located on Shawnee Road, just north of St. Johnstown, and adjoined the lands of Wm. J. Carlisle and J. D. Knowles. The congregation purchased 84 perches of land, on Jan. 1, 1894, from Warren B. Fowler. A church was built and a graveyard was laid out. This graveyard is still in use.

This congregation became established in Greenwood in 1902 at which time the Macedonia church building was moved to the new site where it is used as a social-hall.

St. Johnstown Methodist Church (M.E.) is located one mile east of Greenwood on the old King’s Highway. A village named St. Johnstown was located at this point and is mentioned in the records as early as 1776. Situated on the route of the stage-coach lines, there were two inns, several stores and numerous homes. When the Delaware Railroad was built, in 1856, the town of Greenwood was laid out and St. Johnstown declined into a ghost town. Only two houses are there today and one of these is reputed to have been used by Patty Cannon in her slave-stealing and slave-selling trade.

St. Johnstown Church was the outgrowth of meetings held in the woods near this spot, by an old local-preacher named John Marim. Meetings were held in the home of Wm. Laws under the inspiring preaching of Francis Asbury in 1779. A one-acre church site was secured from Wm. Laws, on Feb. 24, 1786, "where a preaching-house now stands." Francis Asbury mentions St. Johnstown and Mr. Laws in his journal of Mar. 17, 1780 and again on April 13, 1815. The church was incorporated on Mar. 5, 1822. The property was deeded to the new trustees on Mar. 15, 1822.

A new building was completed and was dedicated on Sept. 29, 1872, by the Revs. Jacob Todd and L. C. Matlack. Extensive improvements were made in 1895. Sixty perches of land were purchased on Mar. 6, 1909, from Jas. H. Davis. The church was incorporated on Mar. 31, 1934. Two acres were added to the graveyard in 1934. A dedication service was held on Sat., Sept. 8, 1934, at which time Judge-Earle D. Willey was the speaker. The church was refurnished in 1938. There is a well-kept graveyard enclosed with an iron fence. The oldest tombstone is dated 1855.

Tressler Mennonite Cong., Owen's
Tressler Mennonite Congregation holds its meetings at Owens, four miles east of Greenwood, in a former district school-house. This Congregation was organized in April, 1935. In the meantime Wm. Tressler of Greenwood had purchased the old school at Owens. Mr. Tressler died in December, 1934 and when the Congregation was organized, his heirs presented to the Congregation the building and adapted it for their uses. The basic discipline of the Mennonites and the Amish is essentially the same, the chief difference being in reference to dress and worldly affairs. This Congregation is less strict in this regard than the Amish-Mennonites on the Shawnee Road. They send their children to the public schools.

Oakley Methodist Church (M.P.), at Oakley, was founded in 1898. On Aug. 30, 1898, Joshua Hemmonds donated one-sixth of an acre of land as a church site. The church was built in 1900. They were incorporated on Mar. 31, 1902. More land was donated on Oct. 8, 1926, by John L. Banning. In 1931, the church was closed with the building sadly in need of repairs. In 1937, Virgil C. Littleton, a local-preacher of Georgetown, secured permission from the M. P. Conference to reopen the church. After personal calls on many families in the neighborhood, Mr. Littleton reopened the church on Jan. 2, 1938. Stressing Sunday School activities in order to attract the young people Mr. Littleton was having good success. In 1939, a violent windstorm tore one side of the church loose from the building. In the meantime repairs were made. Because of the large number of young men serving in the armed forces, the church was closed in 1943 and the Sunday School was closed in 1944.

There is a well-kept graveyard, with modern tombstones, beside the church. The oldest tombstone is that of Jeremiah Webb who died on July 26, 1853. This is probably a reinterment.

Union Methodist Church (M.E.) is located one mile east of Oakley, then two and one-half miles north on a dirt road. There is a small graveyard and the entire site is surrounded by a grove of trees. The oldest tombstone in the graveyard is dated Feb. 26, 1874. This congregation was organized and a church, named "Smith's Chapel," was built in 1821. It was named for David Smith who donated the site on June 29, 1821. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Dec. 14, 1873. The dedication services were held on May 3, 1874, when the name "Union" was adopted. For fifty years it was an active influence on the people of that neighborhood. In the meantime, the early members died off, a new element began to buy the farms and the young people, if interested at all, attended the town churches. A prominent member of Union Church advanced this theory to the writer—"that the passing of the country schools heralded the downfall of the small country churches. The children, taken by bus to the town schools, educated by town teachers became town-minded and wanted to go to town for everything. The result was that the attitude of the children influenced the parents in this respect—a little child shall lead them."

Previous to this, the little schools would have their activities, many of which would be staged in the small churches because of the music available. Thus the parents would be drawn to the church and a general interest in the church would be maintained. Union Church was improved in 1902. With only a few families interested in the church, not enough to finance its operation, the church was closed in 1939. The church was reopened on Mar. 21, 1943, with preaching every second Sunday and Sunday School on the alternate Sundays.
Greenwood Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1880, the residents of Greenwood who were members of St. Johnstown Church became dissatisfied with having to walk a mile to attend services. A movement to erect a chapel in Greenwood was successfully completed. The site was purchased on Nov. 17, 1880, from Simeon Pennewill. The church was dedicated on June 28, 1880, by the Rev. R. W. Todd.

The corner-stone of the present church was laid on June 13, 1901. It is also known as the "Church of the Good Shepherd." On Sun., July 4, 1943, the airplane spotters of this district were honored with a special service, the first such service on record. The church was incorporated on Nov. 26, 1889, Nov. 3, 1902 and on June 8, 1922.

A new electric organ and memorial plaque were dedicated on Sun., Apr. 7, 1946 by the Rev. Dr. T. C. Mulligan, Dist Supt. Melvin L. Brobst was the guest organist. A tower music system was dedicated on Sun., Mar. 2, 1947 by the Rev. James O'Neil, the pastor. He was assisted by the Revs. S. Bradley and R. C. Graham with Mrs. J. Anthony at the organ.

Grace Methodist Church (M.P.) at Greenwood was founded in 1880. The church site was donated by Simeon Pennewill on Aug. 7, 1880. The cornerstone of a church building was laid on July 25, 1880. It was dedicated on Aug. 8, 1880, by the Revs. J. M. McFadden, J. E. Nicholson and Thomas Moore. The church was incorporated on Oct. 4, 1902. The present church was erected in 1903 and was dedicated in October of that year. On Dec. 2, 1903, at 12:20 P. M., there was a rear end collision between two freight trains at Greenwood. The wreckage caught fire and shortly thereafter there was a terrific explosion, presumably a car load of explosives. Hardly a house in Greenwood escaped damage of some sort, three were set afire and one was burned down. The recently rebuilt M. P. church was severely damaged. The Delaware Railroad paid for repairing the church. The name "Grace" was adopted in 1940.

Lutheran meetings at Greenwood have been held in private homes since 1914. During 1927-28, the meetings were held in the schoolhouse at Owens.

Graham A. M. E. Church, at Greenwood, purchased the old M. E. building and moved it to its present site. This site was purchased from Simeon Pennewill on June 2, 1900. The church was dedicated in 1902. The social-hall, to the rear of the church is the old Macedonia church building. In the top riser of the cement steps of the church there is a marble tablet listing the fourteen brothers and sisters who contributed to the erection of the steps.

Epworth Methodist Church (M.E.) is located four miles north of Dublin Hill. It was built in 1906, under the leadership of the Rev. W. R. Mowbray who was stationed at Bridgeville. He built, with his bare hands, almost all of the building. In early life in addition to teaching school Mr. Mowbray had learned the brick-mason, lathing and plastering trades. He personally did all of this work on Epworth Church. The site was donated on Apr. 25, 1906, by Robert Priestley. The corner-stone was laid and the church was dedicated at an all-day service held early in October, 1906.

Trinity Methodist Church (M.E.) is located two miles west of Dublin Hill. It is claimed that the first church was built in 1843. On Jan. 4, 1861, Lewis N. Wright donated a half-acre church site which was described as being on the road toward Roger Adams' steam-mill. It was agreed that the trustees would erect a church. Ninety perches of land were donated on May 15, 1867, by Hugh Martin. A new church was completed and was dedicated on Sun., Aug. 25, 1867, with the Rev. J. S. Willis in charge of the services. Trustees were elected on Dec. 14, 1870. In 1885, the church was destroyed by fire and a new church was built immediately. It is beautifully situated in a well-kept clearing with magnificent trees and a good lawn.

Trinity M. E. Church, colored, is located about two miles n. w. of Dublin Hill on a dirt road. It was built in 1886. On Mar. 3, 1897, Isaac K. Wright donated land to the church. The church was remodeled in 1925.

The Ladies' Guild was organized in May, 1889. Land on Church Alley was purchased on Nov. 6, 1889, from Richard W. Cannon. On Feb. 22, 1892, Hue Martin, M.D., donated additional land to the church. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Mon. evening, May 25, 1891, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. The completed building was consecrated on Sept. 29, 1893, by Bishop Coleman as a memorial to Bishop Alfred Lee. It was named "The Memorial Church of St. Mary." Holy communion was held at 7 A. M. by the Rev. M. L. Woolsey. At 10:30 A. M. the Bishop conducted the service assisted by the Revs. J. Leighton McKim and Eugene Griggs. The Bishop consecrated the church-yard at 3:30 P. M. The lectern was a gift of St. John's Church in Wilmington and the main doors were presented by the family of Bishop Lee.

A bell was secured in 1895-96. The church-yard was enclosed with a fence in 1905-06. In 1906-07, a Bishop's chair was presented by Mrs. M. C. Jacobs in memory of her daughter. New pews were installed in 1907-08.

The First Presbyterian Church of Bridgeville was started immediately after the Civil War. They were incorporated on Mar. 3, 1866. A church was built and it was dedicated in Mar., 1866 by the Rev. Alex Gulic. The church site was donated by Abraham G. R. Hale on Aug. 18, 1869. After functioning for fifty years, the congregation became so small that the church was sold, in 1917, to the Tuesday Night Club. This is an organization of Bridgeville women. In 1919, they instituted a circulating library.
The Baptists held meetings in Bridgeville in 1907.

The Apostolic Holiness Union of America at Bridgeville. They purchased a site on Walnut St., on Feb. 9, 1909, and built a church. They were incorporated on July 22, 1910. This church had been incorporated on Jan. 17, 1914. They sold the property to the Pilgrim Holiness Church on Sept. 29, 1926. This church had been incorporated on Dec. 12, 1924. They became defunct and sold the property to Alex. Tatman on Oct. 21, 1931.

There are two colored churches in Bridgeville. Mt. Calvary M. E. Church was built in 1908. They were incorporated on Apr. 1, 1911. They purchased land from Fred L. Willey on June 30, 1916, from Chas. W. Pullet on Aug. 27, 1918 and from the State Board of Education on Jan. 25, 1924. Macedonia Holy Church of God was built in 1907. Wm. W. White donated land to them on Nov. 17, 1921 and on Jan. 21, 1922, they purchased a property from Luther Rust.

Mt. Olive Baptist Church, colored, met in a former schoolhouse one and one-half miles below Bridgeville. They were organized in 1938. Previous to that time the building was occupied by a Holiness group for about a year.

Gravelly Branch Primitive Baptist Church was located at Coverdale's Crossroads. It was organized on July 30, 1785 and met in the home of John Willis. In 1788, a revival was held. On Sept. 16, 1801, one-half acre of land was conveyed by Samuel Lafferty to a board of trustees and a church was built. By 1880, the church was only a memory.

McColley's Methodist Church (M.E.) is located one-quarter of a mile west of the Highway on the road to Redden Forest. The church site was donated on May 20, 1857, by James Redden. The first church was built, in 1858, through the efforts of the Rev. Truston P. McColley, for whom it was named. The dedication was arranged for Sun., Oct. 24, 1858. A new church was built in 1898. The reopening service was held on July 10, 1898, by the Revs. J. S. Willis and A. D. Davis. A window in memory of the Rev. T. P. McColley, a gift of P. T. Hart, was unveiled on Apr. 16, 1899. There is a well-kept graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1859.

Onin's M. E. Chapel, better known as "Gulley Swamp Chapel," was located two and one-quarter miles north of Coverdale's Crossroads. The site was donated on Mar. 1, 1844, by Tilghman Layton and the chapel was built during that year. Services were held until 1860. At that time the membership transferred to Chaplain's Chapel. There was a camp-ground beside the chapel and camp-meetings were held until more recent times. There is no evidence of the camp today and the chapel was moved away to become a farm building.

Russell M. E. Church was located one mile east of Chaplain's Chapel. This church was built in 1848 and was active until 1860. At that time Gulley Swamp Chapel united with the members of Russell Church to build Chaplain's Chapel.

Chaplain's Methodist Chapel (M.E.) is located two and three-quarters miles north of Coverdale's Crossroads. Previous to the erection of this chapel the members had met at Onin's Chapel and Russell Church, both of which were abandoned when Chaplain’s Chapel was built. The land was donated by Charles Macklin and Fisher Willis. A board tent was erected and it was dedicated on July 17, 1859. The erection of a chapel was started on July 23, 1859. It was completed and dedicated in 1861. The chapel was named for the Rev. John S. Chaplain, the minister in charge of the church. There is a small graveyard beside the church. The tombstones date back to Apr. 9, 1870.

Nanticoke Hundred A. M. E. Church. This church was located four miles east of Bridgeville on the road to Redden Forest. The half-acre church site was secured from James L. Sharp, on Feb. 13, 1867, upon the payment of $10.00. A church was built and it was quite active for several years and then was abandoned. There is nothing to mark the site which was close to the present home of John Donovan. Mr. Sharp was a famous teller of “tall tales” and was given the nickname of “Lying Jim Sharp.”

Cokesbury Methodist Church (M.E.) is located three miles east of Coverdale’s Crossroads. The first building was erected, partly of logs, in 1803. On Dec. 17, 1803, Wm. Swain donated a church site on the road from Evan’s Saw Mill to Deep Creek, to a board of trustees. They, in turn, agreed to erect a building to be used as an M. E. Church and a day-school. When this school was opened, it became the first free school in that neighborhood. The church was incorporated on Nov. 22, 1816.

When it was decided to build a new church a deal was arranged with Walter Swain whereby he gave them the present site of 60 perches in trade for the old church and site. The new church was completed and was dedicated on Nov. 26, 1869. Mr. Swain’s deed to the church was executed on Jan. 31, 1871.

There is a large cemetery across the road from the church. Land was purchased on June 10, 1893, from Noah Isaacs, Sr., with four burial plots exempt. The ornamental gateway of frame construction was built in 1915. The oldest tombstone is dated 1865.

Pepper’s M. E. Church, located two and one-quarter miles west of Georgetown, was organized and incorporated on Mar. 17, 1894. The church was then built and on Oct. 13, 1894, the property was transferred to a new board of trustees. During a heavy storm on Feb. 21, 1912, it was blown down. A new chapel, on a site closeby, was completed and was dedicated on Feb. 16, 1913, by the Rev. James L. Derrickson, who did most of the carpenter work himself. The one-acre site was donated by the Georgetown Land Co., on Mar. 22, 1913. It was closed in 1929, the building was sold and is in use on a nearby farm.

Hebron Methodist Church (M.P.) is located six miles east of Coverdale’s Crossroads. The church was organized in the schoolhouse where it was incorporated on Apr. 16, 1888. The church site was secured from John A. Day, on Oct. 24, 1888, with the understanding that the church would be built immediately. Through lack of interest the church was closed in 1933. Through the efforts of Virgil C. Littleton, a local-preacher, the church was reopened and is making some progress. There is a graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1889.

Cannon Methodist Church (M.P.) was incorporated on Oct. 4, 1902. The church site was donated by James W. Ward on Nov. 19, 1902. The church was built of frame, in 1903. This building was destroyed by fire and the present church was built of cement blocks in 1924. The dedication service was held in April, 1925.

Brown's M. E. Church was located a short distance north of Hearn's Mill. This church was incorporated on May 1, 1883. The church site was donated on June 30, 1883, by Kitty Cannon. The church was built in 1883 and was dedicated on Oct. 6 of that year. The building was improved in 1895. Interest waning, it was closed in 1933. On Oct. 29, 1933, it was reopened as a Pilgrim Holiness church. In 1936, it was closed forever. It was sold in 1937 and in 1939 it was torn down, the lumber being used in building a cottage at Rehoboth Beach.

Middleford M. E. Church was located about two hundred yards north of the highway at Middleford. The old graveyard with a single vault and several tombstones can still be seen, overgrown with brush and briers. David Smith donated this land, on June 29, 1821, upon which a chapel was built and the graveyard was laid out. The site was described as being located on the road from Milford to Concord and the building was to be used both as a church and a school. The Methodists and the Presbyterians both met in the church. This, apparently, did not suit some of the Methodists and on Jan. 25, 1827, Thomas Townsend donated town lot No. 31, at the corner of Gay and Oak Sts., measuring 120 ft. by 140 ft. as a site for a new Methodist Church.

Mr. Townsend died on Feb. 22, 1827 and because he had died within twelve calendar months after executing the deed and because of the small consideration mentioned in the deed, some doubt was expressed as to the validity of the deed. To remedy this, on Feb. 4, 1833, the General Assembly passed an Act "for quieting and conferring the title to the trustees of the church." No church was built on the new site and in 1846 the Methodists took full charge of the first church. When Brown's Church was built in 1883, the church was closed and turned over to a negro congregation.

Mr. Townsend's grave is marked with a well-preserved tombstone. One gathers from the inscription that during the last few years of his life he was in a very feeble condition. The single vault is the grave of Eliza Stuart, who died on Oct. 12, 1831.

Shiloh M. E. Church, colored. When the white Methodists at Middleford moved into Brown's Church, in 1883, they turned the Middleford Church over to Shiloh Church. New trustees were elected on Nov. 24, 1908. By 1918, the building had become so dilapidated that the church was dissolved and the building was torn down.

St. Mary's P. E. Chapel was located on Chapel Branch, west of Seaford. It was built in 1704 and was closed during the Revolution. It was reopened in 1791 and became defunct a few years later. St. Mary's was last mentioned in the diocesan records in 1803.

St. Luke's P. E. Church at Seaford. The first Episcopal services in Seaford were held in 1834, by the Rev. Joseph Glover, in a union meeting-house. Mr. Glover died the following year and the Rev. Cory Chambers took over the work. He organized the parish in 1835. It was incorporated on Feb. 20, 1837. The erection of a brick church was commenced in 1838. It was completed and was consecrated on May 28, 1843, by Bishop Alfred Lee. The land was donated by Dr. John Gibbons. Dr. Gibbons was an eminent physician and the name "St. Luke's" was selected in honor of the apostle who was known as the "beloved physician."

On Apr. 24, 1872, Wm. H. Ross donated land at Third and Front Sts. to the church. A communion service was donated by Miss Laura Wright. The rectory was completed in 1872-73. In 1886, a recess chancel, an organ chamber and a vestry-room were built and new pews were installed. An organ was presented by the wife of the Rev. Edward Wootten, the rector. Additional land was purchased on Nov. 24, 1890, from Wm. Skellinger.

In 1890-92, a pipe-organ and a heater were presented by Colonel Ross. Bishop Leighton Coleman consecrated the churchyard on May 30, 1893. In 1896-97, a desk and lectern were installed. Extensive improvements were made in 1905. The rectory, at Arch and Poplar Sts., was purchased on Sept. 6, 1918, from John R. Eskridge. Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman conducted a service of benediction, at the rectory on Nov. 3, 1918.

The parish-house was built in 1931 and it was dedicated on St. Luke's Day, Oct. 18, 1931, by Bishop Philip Cook, assisted by the rector, the Rev. John R. Crosby. On St. Luke's Day, 1937, a plaque in memory of Dr. Crosby was unveiled in the parish-house. More land was purchased on Feb. 28, 1941, from Sheriff E. J. Suthard.

During 1943, the church walls were strengthened by the building of concrete abutments outside of the church. On Sun., Oct. 17, 1943, a national emblem was dedicated to the memory of Capt. Charles S. Rogers, by Bishop A. R. McKinstry. The 100th Anniversary of the church was celebrated at this time. On Oct. 18, 1943, at 10 A. M. an addition to the graveyard was dedicated by Bishop McKinstry.

There is a large graveyard surrounding the church and former Governor Wm. H. Ross is buried here. Close to the rear of the church is the grave of the Rev. Richard F. Cadle, who died on Nov. 9, 1857. He was the founder of St. Mark's Church and had won fame as a missionary in the mid-west. The earliest tombstone is dated June 20, 1821.

Bochim's M. E. Meeting-House was first located on Chapel Branch and faced the main road to Seaford. On Aug. 8, 1804, Jonathan Cannon and Jeremiah Rust Jackson donated an acre of land upon which it was agreed to erect a Methodist Meeting-House. The writer is of the opinion that this was also the site of St. Mary's P. E. Chapel, built in 1704, from which Chapel Branch took its name. The 1804 deed describes one of the lines as "passing between the old chapel and the mill pond."

On June 5, 1817, the chapel was incorporated as "Wesley M. E. Chapel," with the following trustees: Wm. Davis, Henry Little, John Allen, Sr., James Conwell and John Allen, Jr. The chapel was described as being located at Chapel Branch on the road to Crauche's Ferry. Bochim's Meeting-House on Chapel Branch was used until 1818. In 1831, it was sold to the Methodist Protestants and moved to Seaford.

On Apr. 29, 1818, James Conwell donated to the Bochim's Meeting-House trustees a church site on Front St., extending from Second to Third Sts., in Seaford. The deed stipulated "that a meeting-house for public and evangelical worship should be erected and a burying-ground laid out." More land was purchased from Henry Little on May 12, 1830. The church was incorporated on Dec. 27, 1841. A new church was erected in 1860 and the old building was sold to a negro congregation. The name "St. John's" was adopted in 1870 in honor of the Rev. John L. Taft, the retiring pastor.

On July 25, 1863, Mary Cannon donated a lot on Cannon St., as a parsonage site. The church was renovated in 1886. The present site of St. John's Church was purchased on Nov. 2, 1889, from Minos H. C. Wilson. The adjacent lot was donated on Sept. 6, 1889, by Caroline Hallowell as a parsonage site and the parsonage was built during that year.

Ground was broken for the present church on Apr. 27, 1897, with the Rev. R. K. Stevenson, in charge. The bell, a gift of the Junior Epworth League was erected on Dec. 11, 1897. The dedication services were held on Jan. 2, 1898, with Mr. Stevenson, in charge. A pipe-organ was installed in 1905. The church was incorporated on May 2, 1929 and on May 3, 1929, land adjacent to the church lot was purchased from Parker R. Knowlton.

In 1934, the church was rebuilt and the entire building was brick-veneered. The corner-stone was laid and the dedication services were held on Oct. 28, 1934, by the Revs. W. J. Duhadaway, W. E. Habbart and R. D. Bisbee. It is a large edifice and contains thirty rooms.

After moving into their new church in 1898 the old Bochim Meeting-House, on Front St., was leased to Jesse N. Wright who operated a shirt factory there. Later, he built an ice-house, at which time many of the tombstones in the burying-ground were destroyed. Mr. Wright converted the shirt factory into Seaford's first movie theatre. The buildings were destroyed by fire on Christmas Eve, 1910.

A few of the tombstones still remain, the oldest being that of Leonard H. White, who died on Apr. 9, 1837. Death struck the Coulbourne family a stunning blow in 1842, tombstones recording the deaths of Sally on Mar. 15, Chas. R. on Apr. 1, Amanda on Apr. 2 and Wm. H. on Apr. 3. The Log Cabin of Nanticoke Post of the American Legion occupies a part of the site.

Mt. Olivet Methodist Church (M.P.) of Seaford. In 1831, this congregation purchased the old Bochim Meeting-House at Chapel Branch and moved it into Seaford. It was placed on a portion of the Hooper burying-ground, which is still the church site. This burying-ground was laid out for his family by Thomas Hooper, the first owner of the present site of Seaford of whom the county has any record.

The church was incorporated on Feb. 13, 1847. A new church was built in 1862. The present brick church was built in 1897. The old church was used for the last time on May 29, 1898. The new church was dedicated on June 5, 1898, by the Rev. F. T. Tagg, D.D., assisted by the Revs. D. W. Austine and F. T. Little. All of the windows were memorial windows. A new organ was used for the first time on Easter Sunday, 1911. The organ was entirely rebuilt and was used for the first time on Sun., July 22, 1945.

Among the old and interesting tombstones in the cemetery beside the church, the earliest is over the grave of Molly Tennent, who died on July 17, 1793. She was one of Thomas Hooper's daughters.

The Church of God at Seaford was organized in 1929 and the church was erected in 1930. The church site was purchased on June 11, 1930, from Chas. H. Coulbourn.

A Lutheran Mission at Seaford was opened in the spring of 1940. The meetings are held in the Log Cabin.

St. Mary's R. C. Mission was opened at Seaford, where a store-room on Pine St. was fitted up as a church. The first Mass was said here in April, 1938. A church site on Du Pont Road at Broom St. was donated to the Catholic Foundation of the Diocese of Wilmington by Leroy B. Hurley on July 6, 1939.

It was made a separate parish on Jan. 1, 1945, by Bishop Edmond J. FitzMaurice.

Seaford Baptists. On Aug. 2, 1883, Angeline Vaughn donated a lot at the cor. of Hall St. and Harrington Ave., to the Del. Baptist Union upon which to build a church. The deed stipulated that the church should have an end gallery and if it was not built within fifteen years, the land should revert. No church was ever built.

There are three colored churches in Seaford. The Church of God was built in 1935. It was gutted by fire on Dec. 30, 1941 and was replaced by a larger church. John Wesley M. E. Church was founded in 1879. Land was purchased on May 26, 1881, from Annie K. Cannon and on Sept. 22, 1924, from Geo. W. Wright. On Dec. 5, 1930, the Seaford Special School District donated the school property adjacent to the church, so long as it should be used as a community-house. The congregation of the Macedonia A. M. E. Church purchased the frame church building from Bochim's Meeting-House and the church was established in 1861. The quarter-acre church site was purchased from Spencer Blocksom on Apr. 18, 1862. The church was rebuilt in 1879 and again in 1915.

Blades Methodist Church (M.E.) was originally called "Bladesville M. E. Church." The first church was built in 1871-72 and was located on Concord Road. The site was donated on Oct. 7, 1871, by James M. Blades. It was also called "Cannon's Chapel." They were incorporated on July 16, 1877. The old graveyard still remains and the oldest tombstone is that of John E. Taylor, who died in 1883.

On Nov. 15, 1887, a lot was secured on Main St., from Leonard J. Blades, and the corner-stone of a new church was laid on Dec. 7, 1887. It was dedicated on Jan. 13, 1889 and named "Gregg" in honor of the pastor. Those taking part in the services included the Revs. C. W. Prettyman, W. J. Duhadaway, J. H. Howard and W. E. England. The church was again incorporated on Jan. 26, 1921. The work of rebuilding the church was started in 1921 and the corner-stone was laid on Jan. 1, 1922. The church was rededicated on June 18, 1922 and the name "Blades M. E. Church" was adopted. The service was in charge of Bishop John W. Hamilton, assisted by Dist. Supt. W. R. Mowbray.

The Ladies' Aid Society purchased a lot on w. 4th St., on Aug. 22, 1928 from the Allen Pkg. Co. A large social-hall was built on this site. The name "Blades Methodist Church" was adopted in 1940.

A Church of the Nazarene was organized at Blades on Oct. 13, 1940. A new church building was finished in 1941. The church site, on w. 4th St., had been donated, by Wm. F. Allen, on Dec. 7, 1939.

Concord Methodist Church (M.E.) at Concord was organized in 1804. On Aug. 24, 1804, Robert Boyce conveyed to a board of trustees one-half of an acre of land upon which a church had been built. The interior of the church was never plastered and, in 1841, it was torn down and rebuilt. In 1870, a new church was built and it was dedicated on Oct. 9, 1870. Those taking part in the services included the Revs. J. B. Merritt, Jacob Todd, J. O. Sypherd and J. B. Mann, the pastor. The church was incorporated on Nov. 22, 1872. A parsonage for the circuit was purchased on Pine St., in Seaford, on Dec. 23, 1896 from James H. Boyce.
The church was remodeled, after which a reopening service was held on Sept. 12, 1937, by Dist. Supt. E. C. Hallman and the Rev. Louis Dennis, the pastor. The church bell hangs at the rear of the church on a framework of galvanized pipe. This is the only arrangement of this kind that the writer has seen in Delaware. There is a large graveyard, the tombstones dating back to 1862. In August of each year a home-coming is held here and many sons and daughters of Concord return for a visit.

Mt. Calvary A. M. E. Church at Concord was built in 1872. Trustees were elected on Oct. 10, 1874. Additional land was purchased on June 9, 1893, from Wm. Graham. The church was rebuilt in 1894 and in 1921. Land was donated to the church on Aug. 4, 1903, by Eliza Jane Stuart and on Feb. 1, 1922 by Joshua A. Ellegood.

Gethsemane Methodist Church (M.P.). This church is located at Reliance, formerly known as Johnson's Crossroads. The first church was built, in 1835, on land granted by Tyrus Phillips. A half-acre of land was donated, on Nov. 13, 1850, by Tyrus S. Phillips. A new church was built in 1851. It was incorporated on Feb. 17, 1853. A third church was built in 1872. It had two stories and the second floor was used for a lodge room. An opening service was held on Nov. 17, 1872. This building was dedicated in 1889. The parsonage lot was purchased on Feb. 15, 1890 from Geo. H. Huston.

When the Rev. Thomas Wheeler was assigned to Gethsemane Church, he seriously objected to any part of a church building being used for secular purposes. He enlisted so many followers that a fourth church, the present one, was erected, in 1904, with no lodge room. This church was dedicated, in 1905, by the Rev. Thomas Wheeler. Extensive renovations were made in 1941, including the installation of electric lighting. There is a social hall beside the church.

Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) is located one mile north of Oak Grove on the western boundary line of Delaware. On Oct. 23, 1780, White Brown donated one acre of land, a part of his holdings called "Canaan," to Humphreys Brown, Wm. Ross, John Flowers, Henry Smith, Thos. Lyton, A. S. Hitch, Thos. White and Edward White, trustees. They agreed to erect "a preaching-house for the use of Methodist preachers or the friendly clergy of the Church of England." The chapel was built in 1781 and was called "Brown's Chapel."

Lemuel Davis, a local-preacher, and Jacob Kinder are credited with assisting in the building of the chapel and their descendants have ever since been numbered among the leading members of the church. The Rev. Mr. Davis was known for his popularity and for the large number of marriages that he performed. At one of these, the groom failed to give Mr. Davis any compensation. About one month later the minister met the man and remarked pleasantly to him: "You did not think to present me with anything for the service I rendered you recently." The groom replied with great emotion: "Mr. Davis, if you will unmarry me, I will pay you double."

The building was of frame construction with galleries on three sides and was not fully completed until 1806. On Mar. 5, 1807, it was incorporated as "Bethel Church." More land was purchased on Oct. 11, 1871, from John W. Twiford. The present church was built in 1894. Land was secured from James A. Lowe on July 22, 1920. A large, well-kept cemetery adjoins the church. The oldest tombstone is over the grave of Mary Davis, who died on Mar. 8, 1815. A short distance south of Bethel Church on the road to Oak side of the road.

Wesley Methodist Church (M.E.) is located three miles s. w. of Atlanta. This congregation was organized in the local schoolhouse. On Nov. 18, 1861, a half-acre church site was donated by Henry Little. The deed stipulated that the building should also be used as a day-school for the white children of School District No. 138. A small church was built and it was called "Little's Chapel." A half-acre of land was donated on June 1, 1882, by Wm. W. Dashiell. A new church was erected in 1882 and it has a particularly pleasing background of trees. The dedication services were held on Sept. 23, 1883 and were conducted by the Revs. W. Underwood and J. B. Mann.

The district schoolhouse was donated to Wesley Church by the Seafor-Special School District on Dec. 5, 1930. It is located to the rear of the church, faceing on another road and has been converted into an attractive social-hall.

Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) at Bethel was originally called "Sailor's Bethel." Bethel, known as Lewisville until 1880, was quite a seafaring village with several shipyards and many sea captains. The church was organized in 1852 and a building was erected in 1855. A new church was built in 1884 and it was dedicated by the Rev. J. B. Quigg. The church was incorporated on Oct. 12, 1887. The present church was dedicated in February, 1895. The old church is now on the farm of J. Garfield Moore. The church was incorporated on Oct. 20, 1932. There is a large graveyard, the tombstones of which date back to 1814.

St. John's M. P. Church, at Bethel, was built in 1858. The present building was erected in 1884. Jonathan Moore, upon his death in 1890, bequeathed a half-acre of land adjoining the church property as a parsonage site. The old church is now on the farm of J. Garfield Moore. Services were discontinued in 1902. The building was then purchased by the Ladies' Aid Society of Bethel M. E. Church and converted into a social-hall. The adjoining graveyard is still used for interments.

Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church (M.P.) at Portsville. Portsville Chapel and Academy was organized in 1832 and a frame building for church and school purposes was erected about one-half mile west of the present site. This church site was secured from James H. Phillips on Apr. 30, 1832 and the deed was executed on Feb. 21, 1834.

The present church was built, in 1868, on land donated by James W.
Phillips and the name "Mt. Lebanon" was adopted. Land in the village was secured on Feb. 4, 1869, from Isaac G. Phillips and on Aug. 1, 1874, from Jesse Wright. The church was incorporated on Jan. 21, 1911. It was rebuilt in 1920 and again in 1935. There is a small graveyard, the earliest tombstones of which are dated 1875.

Mt. Calvary M. E. Church, colored, at Portsville. On Sept. 6, 1861, Samuel Spencer donated 15 perches of land, s. w. of Portsville as a church site.
This church was known locally as "Spencer's Chapel." On Mar. 10, 1900, they purchased the old Dist. No. 162 school property on the southern edge of Portsville and moved the church building to this site.

Woodland Methodist Church (M.E.) is located beside the broad Nanticoke River at Woodland, which was known for many years as "Cannon's Ferry." Here, is located the only intrastate ferry in Delaware, under the supervision of the State Highway Department. The ferry is a flat-boat of two-car capacity, powered by an automobile engine. It is guided by a steel cable that sinks to the bed of the river when the ferry has passed. It is operated from sunrise until sunset and there is no charge for crossing.

On Dec. 10, 1832, Isaac and Jacob Cannon donated the site to Canton M. E. Church with the provision that the church would then be built. It was incorporated on May 18, 1833 and again on June 13, 1843.

A new church was erected in 1883. In 1941, it was remodeled and the reopening service was held on Sept. 21, 1941. It has a county-wide reputation for its fine fish-fry and fried-chicken suppers which are served in the social-hall beside the church. In the graveyard there is a walled-in plot of the Nicholson family, the stones of which date back to 1811. This is undoubtedly an instance of a church being built beside a graveyard.

Wallace M. E. Chapel was organized and met in Quinton's School, between Laurel and Cannon's Ferry. They were incorporated on Mar. 4, 1881. No church was ever built.

Mt. Zion Methodist Church (M.E.) is located on the Du Pont Highway three miles north of Laurel. The original church was built on the road to Bethel. The congregation was organized in 1809. On May 19, Matthias and Charles Moore deeded 81 square perches of land at Manlove's Grove to a board of trustees headed by Elzy Moore. The church was built and was called "Elzy Moore's Meeting-House," until 1825, when it was given the name "Wesley Chapel." The building was of frame construction. In 1852, the chapel was torn down and the congregation divided; one group organized Sailor's Bethel at Bethel and the second group organized Mt. Zion Church. For a short time the second group met in a district schoolhouse.

The present church site was donated on Jan. 8, 1853, by Wm. Wheatly. A church was erected during that year. In 1872, the church was extensively repaired. A rededication service was arranged to be held on Nov. 3, 1872, by the Rev. Messrs. Wm. Urie, J. B. Mann and Ridgeway. The church was incorporated on Oct. 31, 1881.

Four acres of land, opposite the church, were secured from Robert T. Spicer on Oct. 4, 1918. The present church was built in 1921 and was dedicated on June 11, 1922. The old church was moved to the opposite side of the road where it is used as a social-hall. There are two graveyards, one to the rear of the church and one north of the social-hall.

Christ Methodist Church (M.P.), at Laurel, was organized in 1831. The first meetings were held in the schoolhouse. The first church was built in 1832 and a graveyard was laid out. It was located on West St., just west of the railroad where the old graveyard can still be seen. The oldest tombstone is that of Susan Townsend, who died on April 28, 1852. The church was dedicated by the Rev. Samuel Rawleigh. It was not plastered until 1841 at which time the benches without backs were replaced with comfortable seats. The church was incorporated on Feb. 4, 1843.

On May 14, 1866, a new church site on Wheat St.—now Central Avenue—was purchased from Geo. B. Phillips. The new church was completed and was dedicated on Nov. 10, 1867, by the Revs. J. J. Murray, R. Semple Rowe and L. W. Bates, D.D. The old church was sold to a negro congregation and moved to a new site. More land beside the old graveyard was purchased on Mar. 4, 1881, from Joshua H. Marvil.

Property on the cor. of 6th and Central Ave., was purchased on Apr. 10, 1884, from Edward L. Wolfe. Additional land was purchased on Feb. 26, 1887 from Wm. J. Hitch. Land on 6th St. was purchased from Martha A. Hearn on Mar. 23 and on Oct. 27, 1911. The present stone church was built in 1911 and was dedicated in 1912.

Centenary Methodist Church (M.E.) at Laurel. This church was an outgrowth of a most successful revival meeting held at Mt. Pleasant Church in 1801. The number of converts was so great that they were divided into several groups which met at their leaders' homes. George Adams, who lived on the edge of the present town of Laurel, was one of the leaders who took charge of a large group. His home was located about one-quarter mile south of the Odd Fellow's Cemetery gate. It was burned quite a long time ago. The scoffers called it "Daddy Adam's House of Glory." This group decided, in 1802, to build a frame church in Laurel.

The church was incorporated on Aug. 14, 1809, as "Zion Meeting-House." A lot was purchased, on Sept. 9, 1809, from Thomas and Eleanor Skinner at a cost of $100.00. It was located at Back and Corn Sts., being the present church site. In the meantime the street names have been changed to Poplar and Market Sts. The building had a gallery on three sides, no heat and was lighted by pine knots placed in earthen scones. It had an extremely high pulpit, the benches were hewn planks with no backs and the altar was also built of hewn planks. This church was called "Old Zion." In 1833, a new frame church was built on the same site. It had a rear gallery, was heated by stoves and was lighted with oil lamps. It was called "New Zion."

The old church was given to a negro congregation who worshipped in it until 1866, when they secured a second building from Centenary Church, after which the old church was used as the first negro schoolhouse in Laurel. It served this purpose until the County built a new negro school. The old first church was used for various purposes until 1924, when it was torn down.

In 1866, a new church was framed on the lot of Isaac W. Sirman. The former church was sold to a negro congregation. The new building was moved to the church site and completed. It had a high spire, the Sunday School and classrooms were located on the first floor and the church auditorium was on the second floor. The dedication services were held on Feb. 24, 1867, with the Rev. Alfred A. Cookman in charge. At this time the Methodists were preparing to celebrate the centennial of Methodism and it was decided to call the new church "Centenary." The first pipe-organ was installed in 1895. The last service was held in this building on July 23, 1911, with the Rev. George C. Williams in charge. The lumber salvaged from the church was used to build houses on State St., in Delmar.

Ground was broken for the present stone church on Sept. 10, 1911. The corner-stone was laid on the afternoon of Dec. 17, 1911, by the Rev. Dr. George P. Jones, Dist. Supt., assisted by the Revs. Samuel McWilliams and George C. Williams. While the church was under construction services were held in Bacon's Hall. The church was completed on Sept. 15, 1912. It was dedicated on Sept. 22, 1912, following a full week of services. The baptismal font was a gift of Dallas Marvil in memory of his father, former Governor Joshua H. Marvil. There is a large enclosed cemetery beside the church, the tombstones dating back to the 1850's. After extensive renovations, in 1942, the church was reopened on Sept. 6, of that year.

The church was incorporated on July 13, 1943. On Nov. 2, 1943, additional land was purchased from the Farmer's Bank. It was announced on Feb. 7, 1947 that the church intended to proceed with the plans to erect an educational and recreational building on Market St., beside the church.

St. Philip's P. E. Church at Laurel. The first Episcopal services in Laurel were held in 1834, by the Rev. Joseph Glover in a meeting-house conducted on the union plan. Mr. Glover died shortly thereafter and the mission was closed. In 1836, the Rev. Cory Chambers started a Sunday School. A dispute arose over the name of the Sunday School and it was closed in 1837.

The church site was purchased from Jonathan A. Hearn on Apr. 8, 1847. St. Philip's Church was built, in 1848, to serve more conveniently the members of old Christ Church at Chipman's Pond. The church faced 6th St., with a graveyard toward Central Ave. It was dedicated on May 22, 1850. In 1870, a lot was purchased upon which to build a rectory. Land was purchased on May 11, 1871, from James H. Tyre. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on June 5, 1874, by Bishop Alfred Lee. The old church was sold to Geo. E. Smith who used it as a theatre for three years. It was then moved to Spruce St., and converted into a double dwelling which is still in use. The bodies in the graveyard were reinterred in Odd Fellow's Cemetery. The church was consecrated on Tues., May 17, 1887, by Bishop Boone of China.

A parish-house was built in 1890-91. During that year a lectern was blessed to the memory of G. W. Horsey. Altar rails and a Bishop's chair were also installed. In 1891-92, two memorial windows were unveiled. On Sept. 27, 1896 Bishop Leighton Coleman blessed a new altar and reredos presented by the children of Mrs. S. E. Giles. In 1901-02, a new organ was presented by the Ladies' Guild. In 1908-09, St. Helena's Guild presented a silver alms basin in memory of Miss Emily F. Hearn. On Apr. 27, 1913, Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman consecrated a pulpit, presented by St. Helena's Guild, in memory of Bishop Coleman.

In 1914, the church was shifted to a new position on the lot, the parish-house was moved and a new rectory was built. It was occupied on Sept. 14, 1914 and on Oct. 5, 1914, a service of benediction was conducted by Bishop Kinsman. In 1925, the church was rebuilt and the entire structure was brick-veneered. A service of dedication was held at 11 A.M. on Sun., Nov. 8, 1925, with Bishop Philip Cook officiating. More land, on Central Ave., was purchased on Sept. 29, 1934, from the Sussex Trust Co.

The present parish-house was built in 1936, by Mrs. Harry Kandall Fooks, in memory of her husband. It was dedicated on St. Mark's Day, Apr. 25, 1937, by Bishop Philip Cook. He was assisted by the Rev. Robert Y. Barber, the rector.

The Wesleyan Church of the Nazarene. The Union Gospel Mission at Laurel was organized, in 1919, by the Rev. J. G. Chamberlain. They purchased the third floor of the Odd Fellow's Hall where they held their services.

The Wesleyan Church of the Nazarene was organized at a tent meeting held on Delaware Ave., near the cannery, on July 16, 1920, by the Revs. J. T. Maybury, and W. D. Shelor. On Sept. 4, 1920, the Union Gospel Mission, "the lawful owners," sold to the Nazarenes, "forever," their title in the third floor of the Odd Fellow's Hall for the sum of $1.00. The church was incorporated on Feb. 26, 1925 and on Dec. 5, 1925, the present church site on n. Central Ave., was purchased from Geo. T. Purnell.

The corner-stone was laid on July 25, 1926, by Dist. Supt. John T. Maybury assisted by Howard Stall, the pastor. The church was dedicated in 1930, by Dist. Supt. Daniel E. Higgs, assisted by the Rev. Daniel W. Sweeney, the pastor. A parsonage was built opposite the church in 1946.
The First Presbyterian Church at Laurel. Previous to the settlement of the boundary dispute, in 1767, the southern part of Delaware was claimed as a part of the Province of Maryland. On Aug. 11, 1747, the Rev. Charles Tennent, a Presbyterian minister, appeared before the Somerset Court and took the oath of allegiance as prescribed by English Parliament for dissenting ministers. He registered the places at which he intended to preach. He included "the meeting-house at Wm. Olliphant's and also at Broad Creek Bridge and also"—several dwelling houses were included in the list.

If the meeting-house at Broad Creek Bridge near Laurel had not been built at that time, it was built shortly thereafter. It was located on the north branch of Broad Creek and was called the "Broad Creek Presbyterian Church." When the Revolution broke out the church was abandoned and, in 1778, it was maliciously burned. On Sept. 15, 1791, a new board of trustees was incorporated as the "Presbyterian Church at Broad Creek Wading-Place."

By a deed acknowledged in Court on May 27, 1793, the estate of John Mitchell donated an acre of land on the north side of Broad Creek where a church was built. From 1799 until 1817 only occasional services were held, after which the church was closed until 1832. On Aug. 18, 1832, a new board of trustees was elected and the name was changed to the "Presbyterian Church of Laurel." In 1858, the building was moved into Laurel and placed on a lot of land, on Delaware Ave., donated by Dr. Stephen Green on Oct. 9, 1858. The building was dedicated on Dec. 12, 1859, by the Rev. J. B. Spottswood. Services were abandoned in 1864. In 1874, services were again held for a short time. The building was destroyed by fire on Aug. 19, 1886. The old graveyard can still be seen although it is grown up and matted with briers. One of the tombstones is that of Isaac W. Copes, who died on Oct. 30, 1850. The sexton's house, considerably enlarged, is still standing.

The Pilgrim Holiness Church at Laurel. The church site on e. 4th St. was purchased on Dec. 4, 1928 from Thomas J. Waller. The church was built in 1929. They were incorporated on Nov. 19, 1940. Additional land was donated on April 21, 1941, by Merrill G. King.

There are two colored churches in Laurel both located in the section known as "Suburb," with the accent on "su." Zion M. E. Church was built in 1884. Land was purchased on Oct. 28, 1902 and on Apr. 9, 1913 from Geo. W. Gunby and Elizabeth J. Whittington. The church was rebuilt in 1924 and was incorporated on Sept. 24, 1924 as "Water's New Zion M. E. Church." The new name caused so many complications in their property titles that the church was incorporated on Feb. 21, 1936, under their old name "New Zion M. E. Church." Land was donated on Feb. 26, 1936 by Annie G. Young, et. al. Mt. Pisgah A. M. E. Church purchased land from Wm. Sipple on Feb. 26, 1881, the deed stating that the church had been erected.

St. Matthew's First Baptist Church, colored, is located at Bacontown, outside of Laurel. It was founded in 1928 and built in 1931. The present church was built in 1944.

Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church (M.E.) is located five miles west of Laurel just off the Sharptown Road. This was one of the early Sussex County Methodist churches, presumed to have been built in 1780. It was known as the "Church in Broad Creek," while, at this time Laurel was known as "Broad Creek Wading-place." For many years the church was known as "Moore's Chapel." The early churches had galleries to accommodate the negro worshippers. In 1801, during a love-feast the negroes gave such a lusty shout that it caused the gallery to collapse. The white members were packed so densely that no one was injured. On Oct. 25, 1805, a camp-meeting was held beside the church; it was one of the first to be held in Sussex County.

In 1824, a second-hand stove was purchased in Salisbury and installed in the church. Previous to this time the only heat in the building was supplied by the footstoves a few of the members brought with them. In 1842, backs were added to the benches for the first time. These facts are mentioned to illustrate the development from the crude structures of the early days to the comfortable churches of today. The church was incorporated on June 25, 1853. Extensive repairs were made in 1878. The present church was built in 1895. On Fri., June 17, 1898, thieves tore out the corner-stone and stole the contents. In the graveyard beside the church the tombstones date back to 1860.

St. Andrew's P. E. Church is located seven miles s. w. of Laurel in Ellis' Grove. Services were started in Collin's School in 1877. These were continued until a frame church was built and opened on June 1, 1880. The church site was donated on Oct. 20, 1880, by Joseph Ellis. An organ was installed in 1881. In 1889-90, a communion service was presented by Mrs. Geo. W. Johnson. The church was consecrated on Sun., May 22, 1898, by Bishop Leighton Coleman. The Bishop's chair and priest's chair were gifts from St. Andrew's Church in Wilmington as memorials to Bishop Lee and the Rev. Geo. W. Johnson, the clergy stall and desk were from Archdeacon George C. Hall and friends and the font was from Immanuel Church at New Castle.

Due to lack of interest the church was closed in 1925. Through the efforts of the Rev. Robert Y. Barber of Laurel the church was reopened in 1932. After the Christmas festivities of 1932 the discarded decorations were burned in the stove which became overheated and caused a fire which destroyed the building. This was at a time when the entire country was in the depths of a serious depression. Bishop Philip Cook gathered a group of young men from throughout Sussex County who were members of the Episcopal Church. He rented a house in Laurel to be used as a dormitory and engaged a builder to serve as instructor and foreman. This group proceeded to build a church, gaining the knowledge of building as the work progressed. The church was completed and was dedicated by Bishop Cook on Oct. 27, 1933. This was the last church built by Bishop Cook previous to his death in 1938.

A boy was employed to get the building heated in time for the services in cold weather. In 1940, the stove became overheated and the building was again seriously damaged by fire. The building was repaired and an oil heater was installed. In the meantime, considerable landscaping has been done. There are two graves on the lawn beside the church.

Horsey's Methodist Church (M.P.) is located at Horsey's Grove, three and one-half miles s. w. of Laurel. The first meetings were held in private homes. Nov. 9, 1857, and is buried close to the rear of St. Luke’s Church in Seaford. The church site was donated on June 22, 1857, by Samuel Ralph. The present St. Mark’s Church was completed and was consecrated on May 28, 1858, by Bishop Alfred Lee. In 1868, the property was enclosed with a fence. In 1889-90, a communion service was presented by Mrs. Geo. W. Johnson. A new organ was installed in 1891. In 1898-99, a lectern was presented by St. Paul’s Church of Camden. In 1899 a font was secured by Bishop Leighton Coleman.

In 1917, the church was repaired and a recess chancel was built. A service for a restored church was conducted by Bishop Frederick J. Kinsman on Apr. 25, 1918. At a later date, the name was changed to “Providence M. P. Church.” Additional land was donated on Oct. 25, 1917, by Samuel M. Ellis. Through lack of interest, the church was closed in 1936. During the following year meetings were held by the Pilgrim Holiness. It has been closed since 1938.

All Saint’s P. E. Church at Delmar. In 1885, services were conducted in Delmar by a missionary of the P. E. church. A mission was organized in 1886. The services were held in a hall. On Aug. 17, 1892, the hall was burned after which services were held in the Baptist Church until a new hall was built. It was known as “Mission Hall.” A Sunday School was organized in March, 1894.
A church site was purchased on July 16, 1898, from Robt. Ellegood. The corner-stone was laid on Thurs., June 29, 1899, at 6:30 P. M., by Bishop Leighton Coleman. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Spaulding and the Rev. E. K. Miller. The church was consecrated, by Bishop Coleman on All Saint's Day, Nov. 1, 1900. In 1905-06, a new organ was purchased. A new church was built in 1872. It was dedicated on Nov. 30, 1872, by the Revs. Enoch Stubbs and W. E. England. The church site was purchased on Nov. 28, 1873, from Elijah Freeney. In 1884, a tower and steeple were added. The church was improved in 1891, and it was rededicated on Sun., Oct. 25, 1891, by the Revs. J. D. C. Hanna, H. S. Dulaney and A. D. Davis, the pastor.

On Aug. 17, 1892, in a conflagration that destroyed one-half of the town, the church was burned. After this, meetings were held in the cannery and then in the Baptist Church. A new church was built immediately.

Land was purchased from Nathaniel Hitchens on Feb. 15, 1893, from S. J. Hitchens on May 21, 1908 and from Fannie E. Elliott on Aug. 7, 1913. The church was incorporated on Mar. 11, 1929. In 1932, the steeple was replaced with a tower and the entire building was brick-veneered. The work was completed in 1933. A new organ was installed in 1939. The name “First” was adopted in 1940. The church maintains a large cemetery on e. State St. Additional land for this purpose was purchased from Chas. C. Jones, on Oct. 20, 1934 and from John P. West on July 2, 1937.

Mt. Olive Methodist Church (M.P.) at Delmar was organized in 1889. Services were held in a hall until 1890 when the first small church was built. It was located on State St., west of the railroad and was named “Bethesda M. P. Church.” The site was purchased on Feb. 26, 1891, from S. J. Hitchens. A site at the corner of 2nd and State St. was purchased and the second church was completed and was dedicated on Nov. 12, 1893. At this time it was made a separate charge and the name “Mt. Olive” was adopted. It was incorporated on Feb. 25, 1897.

The church was improved and was rededicated on Feb. 6, 1898, by the Rev. T. P. Revelle. It was enlarged and was rededicated in May, 1908. Land was purchased on Sept. 25, 1918 from Frank E. Lynch. Improvements were made, including brick-veneering the building, and a rededication service was held on Dec. 17, 1933. After extensive improvements to the chancel, rededication services were held on Mar. 2, 1940. This church maintains a large cemetery on e. State St.

The First Baptist Church at Delmar was organized in 1883. The church site at Main and Park Sts. was purchased on Mar. 27, 1883, from Elijah Freeney and the church was built during that year. It was dedicated on Sun., Nov. 25, 1883, by the Rev. Dr. G. J. Johnson, of the American Baptist Publication Soc. The church was officially recognized on Apr. 17, 1884. A rededication service was held on Apr. 20, 1884. Among those taking part were the Revs. J. T. Craig, James Hope and I. M. Haldeman. The evening sermon was preached by the Rev. M. Chandler of the Delmar M. E. Church. The church was rebuilt in 1925. A rededication service was held with Dr. Joseph T. Watts, Gen. Sec. for Maryland and the Rev. J. E. Berkstresser, the pastor, officiating. The church was incorporated on May 1, 1935.

Delmar Primitive Baptist Church was organized in 1882. The meetings were held in private homes and in a nearby grove. The church was built in 1883. The church site at Second and Jewel Sts. was purchased from Levin S. Hastings on Aug. 30, 1883.

The Roman Catholic Mission at Delmar was opened in 1941.

Metropolitan M. E. Zion Church, colored, at Delmar was built in 1919. The church site was purchased on Nov. 26, 1920, from Mary A. Hastings.

Old Forge A. M. E. Church was located beside James' Branch a short distance s. w. of the old Broad Creek Bridge. Near this point, a forge, a saw-mill and a grist-mill were erected in the late 1700's. The forge was the first to be abandoned, the saw-mill was closed about 1880 and the grist-mill was closed some time later.

On Sept. 16, 1848, James Horsey donated a half-acre church site to a group of free Africans headed by Samson Matthews. Old Forge Church was built and a graveyard was laid out. An active camp-meeting was conducted each year in the woods beside the church. The church was closed about 1909 and the land reverted to Wm. De Shields who had purchased the Horsey farm. There were no tombstones in the graveyard and there is nothing to mark the old site.

Christ P. E. Church, located three miles east of Laurel beside Chipman's Pond, was built in 1771. It was incorporated on Feb. 2, 1808. It is believed to have replaced a church built here at an earlier date.

Any definite information as to any deed or land grant to Christ Church before 1793 appears to be lost in the mists of history. As is generally known the ownership of the "Three Lower Counties," now Delaware, was in dispute between Lord Baltimore and Wm. Penn for many years. During this time, grants of land in Delaware were made by both Lord Baltimore and Wm. Penn. This applied especially to Sussex County and to the section close to the western boundary of the State. It is possible that a church site was granted to Christ Church by Lord Baltimore at the time the first church was built, but this is very doubtful.

This chapel at Broad Creek was a chapel-of-ease for Stepney Parish. Stepney Parish Church was Green Hill Church located at what was then Green Hill Town about twelve miles s. w. of Salisbury. It is built of brick, has two doors, the old box pews, a high pulpit and an arched ceiling built of pine. A tiny bell hangs on the front gable which is surmounted by a wooden cross. It is very well kept, has spacious grounds and is close to the banks of the Wicomico River. Quite isolated at the present time, only annual services are held. It is now known as St. Bartholomew P. E. Church.

The present church at Chipman's Pond was built in 1771 and Robert Houston, the great grandfather of former Congressman Robert G. Houston, was the builder. In addition to his other interests, Mr. Houston operated a ship-yard at Concord. Some persons believe that Mr. Houston used his ship-carpenters to build the church and claim that the building shows evidence of joiner work as performed in ship-yards.

At the sale of the estate of John Mitchell, Robert Houston purchased 1 acre 90 poles of land for 1 pound, 10 shillings "lawful money of Delaware State." This purchase was made on behalf of the trustees of Christ Church who were Robert Houston, Jonathan Cartrell, Henry Edger, Wm. Vaughn, Leonard Houston and Geo. Bacon. The deed was acknowledged on May 1, 1793.

In the partition of the estate of Robert Houston, who owned several thousand acres of land, between his widow and his eight children, made by the Orphans' Court on May 4, 1797, the following appears: "We allot to the use of the Episcopal Church the quantity of two acres of land called "Ramble-indeed" for which the said Robert Houston hath heretofore gave Bond or obligation to the Wardens of the said Court for conveyance of the same, etc." The description mentions one line as being on the s. w. side of the church.

In order to determine the boundaries of the land owned by Christ Church a quit-claim deed was executed on Jan. 2, 1891, by Wm. H. Chipman and Wm. H. O'Neal, the adjoining owners. At that time permanent boundary markers were set in place in accordance with this deed.

In the early days this church had a nickname variously quoted as "Old Lightwood, Old Light'ard and Old Lighter knot." The nickname is presumed to have been derived from the fact that lightwood knots were used for illumination.

It is a fine example of Colonial church architecture. It has the old high pulpit and the square family pews. Except for necessary repairs, it stands today as originally built, "changeless in a changing world." A Centenary celebration was held on July 2, 1873. The number of trustees was increased on Nov. 4, 1912. The outside walls received their first coat of paint in 1941.

Since St. Philip's Church was built in Laurel, only two services are held each year. The first is held on Whitsunday and the second is held on the third Sunday in September. The church and graveyard are well cared for by Christ Church League of which Daniel K. Short is the treasurer. Former Governor Nathaniel Mitchell is buried in a vault close to the church. The Rev. Hamilton Bell who died in 1811 is buried in a vault to the rear of the church. He founded St. Paul's Church at Georgetown and St. John's Church at Little Hill.

Broad Creek Primitive Baptist Church, known locally for many years as "Benson's Old Side Church" is located six miles n. e. of Laurel. It was organized on May 31, 1781 and was the third church of that denomination in the State. The Rev. John Benson, from whom it got its popular name, was born, in Sussex County, on July 22, 1758. He was ordained on June 14, 1790. He then took charge of this church and of Gravelly Branch Church. The first church building was erected about 1800 on land purchased from John Benson.
In 1856, the church was remodeled and completed, not having been plastered previous to that time. Two acres of land were secured from John H. Ellis, on May 25, 1889 and on Feb. 20, 1891, another acre was secured from Thomas P. Dukes.

Additional land was donated, on May 30, 1902, by Martha J. Pollitt. Services are held regularly once each month. There is a graveyard beside the church. The Boyce family plot is enclosed with an iron fence. The oldest tombstone is dated 1840. The small plot in which two members of the Short family are buried is enclosed with a brick wall probably built about 1855. The ravages of time have left its marks on the wall.

Asbury Methodist Church (M.E.) is located eight miles n. e. of Laurel. The first church was built in 1812. On Mar. 12, of that year, trustees were elected. On May 16, the plot of land was donated by Minos Tindall. They were incorporated on Mar. 20, 1813. The first building was used until 1857 when a new church was erected. The church records were all destroyed when the custodian's home was burned. There is a large cemetery beside the church. The oldest tombstone is over the grave of Elizabeth Warren who died on Oct. 1, 1831. A short distance away was the location of Tindall's camp-ground which was dismantled in 1939.

St. Paul's Methodist Church (M.P.) is located near Hearn's Crossroads. It was organized, in 1863, in Sharp's School. In 1868, an effort to build a church was started and it was completed and was dedicated in 1871, by the Rev. W. D. Litsinger. The church was incorporated in February, 1897.

Mt. Zion Holy Church, colored, is located a short distance s. w. of Hearn's Crossroads. The church was organized in 1943. They meet in a house converted for church purposes. It was the former home of a colored Methodist church.

King's Methodist Church (M.E.) is located three and one-quarter miles east of Bacons. It was founded in 1842 when the first church was built. The half-acre church site was donated by Wm. King on Aug. 12, 1842. It was first called "Oak Grove," then called "Hepburn" after which the name "King's" was adopted. The original building was not plastered until 1848. A new church was built in 1884. The dedication services were held on Jan. 25, 1885, by the Revs. E. L. Hubbard and I. T. Fosnocht. More land was secured on Nov. 2, 1886 from Wm. F. King. The church was rebuilt in 1925. There is a small graveyard and a social-hall. The tombstones date back to 1857. There is one roofed-over grave.

Little Creek Primitive Baptist Church is located three miles east of Bacons. In 1802, Gillis Smith conveyed to trustees an acre of land near Marshall Smith's grist-mill. A church was erected and was called "Smith's Mills Church." Later, the name was changed to "Little Creek Church." Meetings are held once each month. There is a graveyard and a social-hall. The oldest tombstone is dated 1858.

Trinity Methodist Church (M.P.) is located six and one-half miles east of Laurel. This church was organized, in 1866, in the Dorothy schoolhouse under the name of the "Dorothy M. P. Church." On May 14, 1873, the trustees secured from Geo. W. McGee, forty sq. rods of land adjoining the Dorothy school lot, described as being on the road to Little's Mill. The church was then built and dedicated. The name “Trinity” was then adopted. A parsonage lot was donated on Sept. 24, 1880, by Jacob M. Cannon. The church was rebuilt in 1907. There is a graveyard a short distance from the church on the opposite side of the road. The graves date back to 1882.

St. John's A. M. E. Zion Church is located at Ross' Point. They were incorporated on Dec. 3, 1892, as the Star of Zion A. M. E. Zion Church. They purchased the church site on Oct. 27, 1894, from Samuel B. West. In the meantime they adopted the name "St. John's". During 1944, the church was entirely renovated, including a sheathing of asbestos shingles.

Gray's Church, colored, was located south of Record's School near Gray's Branch.

Epwörth Methodist Church (M.E.) is located six miles n. e. of Laurel. The congregation was organized in 1889 and met in Sycamore schoolhouse. The church was built in 1890 on land secured on June 6, of that year from Benjamin H. Elliott. There is a burial-ground beside the church, the tombstones dating back to 1893.

Shiloh Methodist Church (M.P.) is located four miles east of Laurel. It was organized in 1873 and a small church was built. On Sept. 2, 1880, Wm. W. Dashiell donated a half-acre of land as a church site. The corner-stone of the present church was laid on Thanksgiving Day, 1880, by the Rev. Messrs. Ewell and Shermer. This church site is on the old camp-meeting grounds, well known throughout Sussex County. The church was incorporated on June 19, 1887. There is a social-hall beside the church.

St. Thomas' Methodist Church (M.E.) is located seven miles west of Millsboro. It was organized, in 1840, at meetings held in the home of Thomas Phillips. The first church was built of frame in 1841. The site was donated, by Levin Hopkins, on Feb. 16, 1841. The church was burned in 1857 and a new church was built. It was remodeled in 1892, 1906 and 1914. It was closed for a time in the 1920's, reopened and then closed again in 1939. Annual homecoming services are held in September. There is a graveyard beside the church, the tombstones date back to 1854.

Phillip's School P. E. Mission. Phillip's School was located about midway between Millsboro and Laurel and south of St. Thomas' M. E. Church. Services were started here in 1890 and apparently they were quite successful for a time. On Mar. 29, 1893, a church site was donated by Miss Nancy Phillips and a building committee was appointed. No church was ever built and the effort was abandoned in 1895.

Mt. Olivet Brethren Church is located at Shorty. This congregation was organized in 1925, when meetings were held in private homes. Later, they secured the use of St. Thomas' Church which was inactive at that time. When a move was made to sell St. Thomas' to the Brethren, the Methodists awakened and reopened their church for services. This was in 1930 and the Brethren proceeded to erect their present church building. This is the only congregation of this sect in Delaware. Among their customs are triune baptism, face forward, and the ritual of foot-washing.
Providence Methodist Church (M.P.) is located at Piney Grove, four and one-quarter miles s.w. of Georgetown, on the road to Shortly. The church was erected in 1886. The one-acre church site was donated on July 17, 1886, by Harrison Rogers. Charles H. Elliott donated one acre of land on Sept. 24, 1924. There is a small graveyard.

Bethany Methodist Church (M.E.) is located at Lowe's Crossroads. In 1913, a group from Jones' Church decided to build this church believing the location to be more convenient for the congregation. The church was incorporated on Mar. 5, 1914, at which time the site was donated by Sara C. Collins. The dedication service was held on June 14, 1914. It is famous throughout Sussex County for the bounteous church suppers held in the social-hall beside the church.

Bethesda Methodist Church (M.E.) is located seven miles s.e. of Laurel, near Pepper Box. The first meetings in this section were held by the Methodists at the home of Philip West in 1816. A small frame church was built in 1823. They were incorporated on Jan. 21, 1826. On Feb. 2, 1826, Geo. H. Vinson conveyed to a board of trustees, two rods and twelve sq. perches of land upon which the church stood. It was described as being near Thompson's Branch. This branch rises near Pepper Box and empties into Trap Pond.

This church was used until 1879 when the present church was built. It was remodeled in 1897. In lettering the corner-stone the stone-cutter reversed the numeral 9, creating a curious effect. There is a graveyard beside the church, the tombstones dating back to Nov. 10, 1879.

St. John's P. E. Church, located at Little Hill, formerly Greenville, was a mission of old Christ Church, east of Laurel. The church was incorporated on Jan. 7, 1808. It was a going organization in 1809 and sent lay delegates to the Diocesan Convention that year. A church was built in 1811. This church was founded by the Rev. Hamilton Bell, who died in 1811. The building was still uncompleted in 1836. There were no pews and no windows although the building was equipped with shutters. The church became defunct in 1841.

Bishop Alfred Lee visited the church in July, 1842 and, at his request, the building was repaired. The remodeled church was consecrated, on Nov. 3, 1843, by Bishop Lee. Regular services were abandoned in 1876. In 1888, the church was rebuilt and it was consecrated, by Bishop Coleman, on Nov. 14, 1889. Four acres of land were donated on Jan. 16, 1899, by A. L. Ellis. In 1907-08, a Bishop's chair, in memory of Bishop Coleman, was installed by the congregation. By 1914, only occasional services were being held. Repairs to the building were made in 1920 and 1936. At the present time annual services, only, are held on the Sunday nearest June 24. In 1870, services were conducted at Elliott's School and in 1900 services were held at Morris' School and Ricard's School.

Just across the road from the church there is a low granite monument with a sloping top upon which is the following inscription: "Ebenezer Hearne son of Thos. and Sally b 1717 d 1785 his wife Priscilla Fooks d 1796 they are buried 2 1/2 mi. s. east." Ebenezer Hearne was the grandson of William Hearne, a London merchant. He settled on a farm near Delmar where he died in 1691. In 1895, the late Wm. T. Hearne of Independence, Mo. published a history of the Hearne family and waged a campaign for funds to erect this monument and another near Delmar in memory of the pioneer, Wm. Hearne. Ebenezer and his wife were buried on a farm two and one-half miles s.e. of Little Hill.
where they had lived at the time of their deaths. Being unable to locate the exact spot Mr. Hearne erected the monument beside St. John’s Church at Little Hill.

Jones’ M. E. Church is located one and one-half miles south of Lowe’s Crossroads. The one-acre church site was purchased on Nov. 22, 1856, from Jacob Jones. The church was erected in 1857 and was rebuilt in 1896. The corner-stone states—“Presented by G. E. King.” Since most of the congregation transferred, to assist in building Bethany Church in 1913, meetings are held only once a year.

Line Methodist Church (M.E.) is located just south of Whitesville at the Maryland line. It was founded Jan. 31, 1785 and a small church was built across the road from the present church. The one-acre plot, called “Pleasant Grove,” was donated by Planker Shores, on Jan. 31, 1785, to a board of trustees four of whom lived in Sussex County and five of whom lived in Worcester Co., Md. The deed stipulated that the trustees would build a preaching-house for the use of Methodist preachers or the friendly clergy of the Church of England. Francis Asbury preached here on Nov. 12, 1788.

In 1838, a new and larger church was built. Line Church stands at the Delaware-Maryland line, hence its name. The corner-stone of the present church was laid in 1874. The site was donated on Nov. 6, 1874, by James P. McFadden. The church was rebuilt in 1895. Additional land was donated on Feb. 17, 1932 by Chauncey A. Mitchell.

A large graveyard, on both sides of the road is well maintained. The oldest tombstone that the writer could find is that of Elizabeth Jones, who died on Aug. 25, 1839. In 1938, a social-hall was built on the site of the old church. Across the road from the church is an original Mason and Dixon stone. Closeby is a concrete marker with a bronze plate placed by the U. S. Geodetic Survey, in 1932, showing only a slight deviation from the line as run by Mason and Dixon.

Bethel Methodist Church (M.E.) is located on the Line Road, south of Gumboro. It was built in 1841 on a site purchased on Feb. 23, 1841 from Jos. S. Barnard. The first services were held on February 23 of that year. The church was rebuilt in 1892 when the two doors were replaced by one door. The interior fittings are the same as originally built. In 1941, the old camp-meeting tabernacle was converted into a social-hall. In the old graveyard a few roofed-over graves can be seen, one of the few places in Delaware where any of these graves remain. These roofs are A shaped with the gables closed in, rest directly on the ground with the entire frame-work covered with shingles. One can only conjecture as to the reason the graves of a century ago were so covered yet when one considers how shallow the graves were dug at that time it is not surprising that sensitive persons felt the need of added protection for the bodies of their loved ones.

The writer is convinced that these roofs were for protection and not, as some persons claim, grave markers erected by persons who could not afford a tombstone. In proof of this, in the private graveyard on the farm of Ira West, near Trussum Pond, there are several graves over which roofs have been built and each one of these graves has both a headstone and a footstone. The most recent of these were over the graves of John C. West who died in 1858 and Mahala West who died in 1852.

Tombstones, fashioned from concrete, can be seen in a number of cemeteries but in one of the graveyards attached to Bethel are the only ones that the writer has seen which had the inscription traced with a forefinger while the cement was still soft. It is certainly a tribute to the man who was determined to have a memorial for his loved ones even though he had to fashion it with his own hands.

Gumboro Methodist Church (M.E.). In 1865, Gumboro M. P. Church was built on land donated by Ebenezer Gray, south of Gumboro. In 1870, the newly-organized Union M. E. Church purchased the building for $350.00, moved it into Gumboro and the entire congregation came with it. The church site was donated by John Ake on Dec. 25, 1877. Nine perches of land were bought from Jane S. Hearn on Sept. 25, 1880. It was incorporated by the General Assembly on Mar. 17, 1881, as "Union M. E. Church of Gumboro Hundred." The church was incorporated as "Gumboro M. E. Church," on June 5, 1890. Improvements were made during that year. Land was donated to the church by David R. Baker on Aug. 16, 1924.

A new church was built on the new site in 1925 and the old building was sold to James J. Esham who used it for a storehouse. The new church was formally opened with an all-day service on Sun., Aug. 2, 1925, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. C. S. Larrimore. Two acres of land were purchased from Norman C. Baker, on Nov. 13, 1940. A new parsonage was built in 1941.

Gumboro Pilgrim Holiness Church was organized after a series of tent meetings. The half-acre church site was purchased on Mar. 2, 1935, from Leonora E. Daisey. The church was completed and was dedicated on June 9, 1935.

Westwood Methodist Church (M.E.) is located two miles northeast of Gumboro. The church was built in 1890. Trustees were elected on Mar. 23, 1891. On that day the church site was secured from Joshua G. West at a cost of $50.00. It was located on the road to Good Hope School. The trustees were Shadrack Short, James F. Jones, Robert Short, Joseph B. West, George W. Jones, Jr., Joshua G. West and Philip T. West.

Houston Methodist Church (M.E.), at Hickory Hill, was organized in 1876. Meetings were first held in temporary quarters. Late in 1876, the erection of a church was started by the Rev. J. E. Kidney. It was completed and was dedicated, in 1877, by the Rev. E. H. Nelson. The site was secured on Sept. 11, 1877 from Robt. B. Houston.

Dickenson A. M. E. Church is located three-quarters of a mile west of Millsboro. It was founded, in 1868, when the first church was built. The church site was purchased on May 2, 1868, from John M. Burton. It was rebuilt in 1916 and in 1924. Additional land was purchased on July 28, 1928, from John S. Dobson. There is a graveyard beside the church. This church is known locally as "Old Field" from the name of the camp-ground beside the church.

Carey's Methodist Church (M.E.) is located five miles s. w. of Millsboro. This church was organized and met in Mission Hill School. The corner-stone of the church was laid in 1886. The site was donated by Elijah W. Carey on July 26, 1884. The church was incorporated on Feb. 5, 1891. More land was purchased on Sept. 14, 1908 from Ulysses G. Carey and on Aug. 17, 1925, from M. H. Mitchell. In 1933, the church was enlarged. There is a prosperous camp-meeting conducted each year in the grove beside the church. Camp-meetings have been held here by the churches in the neighborhood since 1836.

THERE has recently been published a book that will be of much interest to many church members: "The Churches of Delaware" by Mr. Frank R. Zebley of Wilmington. Covering in brief sketches the story of 900 congregations past and present, it represents a tremendous amount of research, and betokens a great interest in the subject on the part of Mr. Zebley.

UNFORTUNATELY neither the text nor the photographs (of which there is an unusually generous number) were submitted to the pastors of the various churches whose stories are detailed, for their review. In consequence the book contains some pictures which are in effect caricatures (e.g. Christ Church, Dover) and a number of inaccuracies, which could easily have been worked out before publication.

SINCE a number of our members will undoubtedly acquire the book, we would like to point out the following corrections to be made in the Christ Church, Dover, account: (We cannot help the picture any)

On page 212 Mr. Zebley says that "In 1767, for the first time, the church was mentioned as 'Christ Church'; until this time...it was still called St. Jones Church." This is not true. We have copy of a document dated 1744 which uses the title Christ Church.

In line 14 same page, he states: "At this time [1859-60] the present entrance was built." No, Mr. Z., an entrance was built in the west wall just north of the old vestry-room which is now the Church porch; but not the present entrance. It was in 1916 that the old vestry-room was converted into the present entrance.

In line 24 the name should read Lucinda Hall Bradford. The book says Ball here and B. a bit later on.

At the bottom of the page the statement is made that "a lot with a 75 ft. frontage on State St. was secured" in 1944 "making possible the present entrance from State Street." No. The present entrance from State Street was made possible by the acquisition of the corner property in 1917. The 1944 purchase is discussed in another article in this issue.

We suggest that purchasers of the book make note of these corrections in their copies. (A copy of the book has been added to the Parish Library.) One thing of interest is the inclusion of a number of missionary congregations that lasted for a while, later going out of existence. Local Churchmen will be especially interested in the mention of Cheswold, Leipsic, and more recently Lebanon, as centers of missionary activity associated with Christ Church.

Youth Invited to $1.25 Turkey Dinner

The Pilgrim Fellowship of People's Church is having a Thanksgiving banquet Nov. 25. Invitations are being sent to church Youth Groups and their leaders to come as paying guests to hear Mr. Vernon Flynn as Guest Speaker. Entertainment by the Clause Family and the Girls Septet. Mr. Geo. Henry as Toastmaster. RSVP, YP, to Rev. Mr. Edge or Mrs. Wm. B. Mitten by November 21st.

Another Invitation from Peoples Church

Women of Christ Church are invited to People's Church the evening of November 18th at 7:45 to hear Dean Gwendolyn Crawford of the University of Delaware speak on "Human Relations" under the sponsorship of the "Women's Fellowship." (This is not for $1.25)

Men's Corporate Communion

In recent years our Parish has not featured the Annual Corporate Communion of Men which is sponsored by the Episcopal Church's national Committee on Laymen's Work. (The idea was originated by the Brotherhood of Saint Andrew for the Sunday nearest St. Andrew's Day, and the date of the First Sunday in Advent is derived from this.)

We feel that a demonstration of the man-power of the Parish would be an inspiring thing, as well as a sharing in the nation-wide observance; so plans are being made to urge all male communicants to make an effort to attend the 11 o'clock service on November 30th. The corporate aspect of the Service will be made in this way: After the general communion of the women and children, the men of the Parish will come forward in a body to make their communions together, waiting until this moment to do so.

THE First Sunday in Advent Eucharist on November 30 will take the place of the usual first Sunday in the month Celebration for December. In connection with this Service, the Anthem Choir will sing for the first time the "Missa Sancti Michaelis" by Healy Wil-lan. (Published this year)

Thanksgiving Day Notes

THE annual Community Thanksgiving Service will be held this year at the Presbyterian Church with the pastor of People's Church as the preacher. We have been shocked at the way in which Christian people in Dover generally fail to go to Church on the day the only excuse for which is precisely that they should go to Church for a Corporate Thanksgiving to Almighty God. For those who find the 10 o'clock hour inconvenient, or who feel that the most appropriate thanksgiving service is the Holy Eucharist, we note that there will be a service in Christ Church at 7.30 a.m. (And at St. Paul's Camden

THE THANKSGIVING DAY OFFERING Envelopes should be used for the annual giving for Saint Michaels Nursery, in connection with which we publish the following notice:

"Your attention is called to our practice of many years of devoting the special offerings of cash and staple food articles received on Thanksgiving Day to St. Michael's Nursery, our Diocesan Institution.

The Nursery is full to overflowing. At the present time, there are 17 toddlers and 28 kindergarten children in daily attendance. The Director of the Nursery reports a desperate need for equipment to take care of this increased attendance (6 beds and 2 tables should be procured at once.) Your cash offerings will help substantially to meet an immediate pressing need.

The food should be delivered to the Nursery 709 French Street, Wilmington.* Checks to cover the cash offering should be mailed to Mr. George A. Elliott.*...&c.

* Food may be left at the Church any time over the Thanksgiving Weekend, or at the Rectory (Back porch please, don't bother to ring the door bell) The Rector will see to its transportation north.

Any offerings made marked Thanksgiving or Nursery placed in the plate, will be sent on by our Treasurer to Mr. Elliott.

1948 Kalandrs

We would be happy if those who want 1948 Church Kalandrs (carrying the latest photograph of the Church, and the dates printed in the Liturgical Colors appropriate to each day and season) would procure them at an early opportunity. We pay for these in advance, and this particular department of the budget is at the moment rather low. An envelope is attched to the Kalandrs, on display in the Church Porch, for the 40¢ involved, the envelopes to be left in the Alms Box or on the Offering Plate.

Henry Francis Lyte 1793-1847

England is observing the 100th Anniversary of the death of the Rev. Henry Francis Lyte (November 20) who gave us in that same year 1847 the beloved hymn "Abide with Me." On November 16th, by way of sharing somewhat in this observance by the mother church, we will use another hymn by the same author "Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven" one of the hymns to be sung at the Princess Elizabeth's Wedding.
