

Father proves that whatever charms and talents he may have, riding wild horses and steers is not one of them. Roger Henderson is the young rancher who is accused by his fiance of trying to kill her father by daring him to ride an untamed horse. From left to right are: Lou White, as Roger; Jerry Mills, as "Pogo" Poole; Jane Gentry, as Jessica Poole. These three charming persons appear in "The Pleasure of His Company," to be presented by the Kent County Theatre Guild Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18th, 19th and 20th, at Wesley College Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. (Photo by Ross Young)
