The far reaching service the American Legion gives the veteran and the community through its 10,000 posts was described at the meeting of New Castle Post No. 4 of The American Legion last night in accordance with the State Legion "mop-up" program.

The beginning of the Legion, its tremendous growth, the battles it has fought for justice to the disabled and his dependents, on the Legion's present program were outlined by Commander Alexander Gallagher of the local post. An appeal was made for every eligible World War veteran to affiliate himself with the organization. An early membership is necessary in order that the Legion may have the needed strength to launch its program and carry it out early in the season.

Irvin W. Kirk, former post commander and chairman of membership, reported that the post had reached 80 per cent of its membership quota, and expects to sign up 25 more members this month.

He stated that his committee will make a final canvass of the community to give an opportunity to all veterans to join the Legion. This committee will also pay special attention to the cases of veterans who are suffering disability, or have some matter growing out of their wartime service that has not been satisfactorily adjusted. This service will also be extended to Spanish War veterans.

In extending an invitation to the veterans of this community to join, Commander Gallagher emphasized the fact that the Legion needs the men more than it needs the dues they pay. He said that only through signing up the greatest possible number of veterans could the organization be truly representative and accomplish the most for the veteran and for the community. Commander Gallagher said that he hopes New Castle Post can make a most favorable impression in the State and nation in the membership competition by reporting a signed-up quota.
